OTTAWA, Nov. 9—(CP)—Dr. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, said Monday night Russia does not want war but that a third world conflict "would be the most prolonged and bloody warfare the world has ever known."

The left-wing dean was addressing an audience which officials of the sponsoring committee estimated at 1,200.

The dean argued that, in a third world war, the Western allies would have against them the Chinese Red army, 100,000,000 partisans in Eastern Europe and Soviet Russia.

Dr. Johnson said "terrible suspicion" had come over the Russians when they were surprised by the allied use of the atom bomb against Japan. It kept them from letting foreigners travel freely in Russia.

Will Speak

MONTREAL, Nov 9—(CP)—The "Red Dean" of Canterbury, definitely will speak here Tuesday night "despite any and all opposition," Rev. Roland Bodger, rector of St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church, said Monday night.

The dean Monday was refused permission to speak at McGill University and at Budge Hall of the Central Y.M.C.A. despite efforts of the student christian movement, the C.C.F. Club and the Philosophical Society of McGill and the student christian movement at Sir George Williams College to have him appear at one of these places.

Mr. Hodger, chairman of an unofficial group of Montreal protestant clergymen spnsoring the dean's three-day visit here, said the committee was having some trouble obtaining a "suitably large" auditorium for the dean's address. He hoped to be able to announce the location today.

Millbrook Masons At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 9 — (ENS).—Grand Master W. H. Swain, accompanied by 22 other members of the J. B. Hall Lodge, AF and AM, Millbrook, visited the local lodge on Monday night, where they conferred the first degree.

After refreshments, Right Worshipful G. S. McGill of Millbrook, on behalf of his lodge, presented the travelling square to the Golden Rule Lodge, AF and AM, of Campbellford. In making the presentation he said in part that the square belonged to the whole Masonic craft, and along with the compass they symbolized truth, loyalty and honesty. Right Worshipful Long on behalf of his Grand Master T. Gillibrand and the local lodge, received the square.

Guilty Of Forgery

COBOURG, Nov. 9 — (ENS). — Dean Sommerville of Trenton was sentenced to 15 days in jail, when he appeared on a charge of forgery, theft of a money order for $50 and of uttering a forged document. The 15 days on each charge are to run concurrently. The court was informed that Sommerville had made restitution for the amount involved.

Getting Glass Of Beer In New York City About As Tough As In Prohibition Days

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(AP).—Getting a glass of drought beer in New York City is a big project these days — about as tough as during prohibition.

You don't have to sneak up an alley, rap three times and ask for "Joe."

You walk right up to the bar, and almost apologetically state your desire. If you are lucky, you get a glass of beer on draught. Sometimes you get beer in a bottle. But likely no beer at all.

The drought started 26 days ago when some 3,000 brewery truck drivers went on strike, and it's been growing worse.

The strike started as rank-and-file protest against a new delivery time schedule, provided in a contract negotiated by officers of the Brewery Workers Union (CIO)

The men contended the schedule was an unjustified "speed-up" a hazard to their health and a safety menace to the public.

Eight city breweries are tied up, with many inside workers as well as drivers idle, and local distribution of four additional companies is shut off.

About the only bars and cafes with draught beer are those which were pre-strike keg customers of out-of-town breweries. Most of these breweries have refused to take on new customers here during the tie-up. And what draught beer the old customers do get is quickly consumed as new customers flock in from neighboring bars.

Chaos In China

In 1928 the Kuomintang party established a firm central government over China. It was in that year that this revolutionary party was accepted by the rich merchants as being powerful enough to maintain order, and in that year the Kuomintang began its active struggle against the Communists, who had earlier been among its supporters. It is true that during the late war, both Communists and the Kuomintang worked together for the liberation of China against the Japs, but the partnership was uneasy and came to an abrupt end in 1945 when the Communists demanded the right to receive the capitulation of the Japanese armies in China. Then began a struggle between the two groups for control in North China. The Communists have now won, and are in the midst of a campaign which is winning them important areas in the south.

• • •

Why are the western democracies, particularly the United States, indifferently supporting the Chinese government in its fight against the Communists? The U.S. has allocated only $400,000,000 as a kind of E.R.P. to China, and little more than a quarter of that sum has been received. That is less than has been spent to date in keeping Communism out of the western half of Berlin.

• • •

The reasons are chiefly that the western nations might be throwing money down the drain. There is insufficient evidence that the Nationalist leaders and armies are capable of withstanding Communism, even if unlimited funds and arms were provided them. Further, the Kuomintang has become the party of reaction. Government is inefficient, officials are corrupt, and crimes are committed in its name. The attempt to restore the financial balance by a new currency issue has failed. There is so much greed, blood and seeming indifference to the national welfare among the wealthy, government officials and army officers that on either practical or moral grounds, the Kuomintang seems unworthy of support.

• • •

Nevertheless, there is no other group or party in China which is strong enough to serve as a nucleus against communism in that land of continental proportions. If China is not to continue in grievous civil war for another generation and if it is to be restored as an anti-Communist bastion, the Kuomintang (reformed and re-directed) must be supported. It provides at least a semblance of democratic government; war-lords and Communist leadership do not.

A Canadian At Oxford

In 1939 Professor John Lowe of Trinity College, Toronto, was called to Oxford to become head of the university's largest college. It was strangely historic to hear Dr. John Lowe's Canadian voice in the ancient Cathedral which is within the walls of Christ Church College, accepting the obligations as Dean and therefore administrative head of the college. A scholar and theologian from the daughter country had returned to the mother country's great university —as a Rhodes Scholar he had been a student at Christ Church—and assumed a great and honoured position in the community of Oxford scholars and the annals of British history.

Last Tuesday John Lowe, Dean of Christ Church, became Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford in succession to Dr. Stallybrass of Brasenose College who died suddenly a fortnight ago. As Vice-Chancellor, Dr. Lowe is administrative head of the university, for the position is like that of President of a Canadian university. His election to the post might have been expected at some time or other, for the Vice-Chancellorship goes in periodic rotation to the heads of the various colleges. Nevertheless, it is an event which we would not pass over unremarked, for never before has a Canadian held this high and powerful office.

As Vice-Chancellor, Dr. Lowe has the normal administrative work of the head of any large university. He has also prerogatives which have descended to his office from ancient days and are still exercised. No entertainment or concert may take place in Oxford without his permission. He has legal authority over every Oxford undergraduate whether he is in Oxford in term time or travelling on vacation between John o'Groats and Land's End. He presides over a court which still has power to try an undergraduate on even capital charges, though usually a King's Court and not the Vice-Chancellor's now sits on judgement on the more serious crimes. It is a great position worthily occupied by Dean Lowe.

Plainer Speaking?

During Book Week the suggestion was made by an Ottawa speaker (Mr. F. C. Jennings) that Canadian literature would be improved by a strong injection of bold realism, even if it were offensive to public taste for a time. We feel that this suggestion has great merit, though we would not like to see Canadian writers go to extreme lengths in the use of blasphemy, obscenity and sordid description. At present there is a heavy weight of repression upon the writers of this country, and a great hullabaloo is likely to be raised if a Canadian writer uses an expression which would pass unnoticed in an imported American book.

Though it has often been pointed out and complained of, it is still a fact that literature in Canada is regarded by the mass of the people as a frill—a suitable spare-time occupation for men and women of a dreamy disposition. The books of the dreamers are tolerated so long as they are inoffensive, and so long as they deal prettily and flatteringly with Canadian manners and morals. But there comes a time in the literature of every country when its writers kick over the traces, and write of what they see about them in good set terms. This is almost always disagreeable, and for twenty years or so there is a Donnybrook between the writers, the critics, and the public. But when the smoke clears away something like a genuine literature remains.

It looks as though Canada had reached that time. There are signs that our country is entering a period of profound self-criticism, and that Canadian artists are insisting on their right to speak, even if what they say makes shocking hearing. It is an inevitable stage in our national and artistic development, and if we are wise we shall enter it with a good grace.

How's Your Agglutinative Pronunciation?

Yesterday we made mention in these columns of Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwllllandisiliogogogoch, the Welsh village which is thought to have the longest place-name in the world. Our attention has been drawn to a mountain in New Zealand which has the name Taumatawhakatangihangakoauauotamateapokaiwhenuakit a n a t a h u. This is indeed a formidable word, but unless we have miscounted, the Welsh village is still the leader by a single letter.

Welsh is an agglutinative language. That is to say, new words may be formed by combining existing words. German is such a language, and abounds in such remarkable growths as Schornsteinsegermeistergesellschaft, which means Association of Master Chimney Sweeps. Looking at the New Zealand word, we assume that Maori is also agglutinative, a fact which must lend spice to life in that Dominion.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Russian scientist says that if the sun should explode it would do more harm than any atom bomb. Don't tell us that he knows how to do it!

A medical columnist says that a child's bite is worse than a dog's. This is grim news, when so many of these savage creatures are running at large.

The Ottawa Journal beats its ancient bosom because a group of 'teen-age girls went to see Urquhart tried for manslaughter in Kingston. Just the sort of jolly, fun-loving doxies, we presume, that used to gather a Tyburn when a fascinating highwayman was to be "turned off".

Peterborough will shortly have a new telephone directory. And just in time, as we have written the cover of the other one full of numbers which are doubtless important, but which we cannot connect with anything at the moment.

Patricia Roc, British film actress, has visited this county, and upon her return to England said that Canadian film audiences were far from identical with those of the U.S.A., because "Canadians speak both English and French, and must be aware, first-hand of English, French and American cultures as well as their own". Thanks for the compliment, Miss Roc! We only wish that you were right!

Contemporary British Drawings

By GRAHAM REYNOLDS

THE use of line seems to come naturally to British artists and, aided by the discriminating taste of patrons and collectors, our native school of draughtsmen has at more than one period achieved exceptional distinction. For instance, our medieval illuminators had an unerring instinct for expressing movement and rhythm in the outlines and draperies of their figures; the great school of water-colourists of the eighteenth century thought in terms of drawing rather than of painting; and, again, the great British book-illustrators of the nineteenth century found that the use of black-and-white was a fully adequate medium for the expression of their ideas. It is a sign of the current vitality of the arts in Great Britain that the standard of contemporary drawing shows no falling off but forms a natural continuation of this ingrained national tradition.

◇ ◇ ◇

A REPRESENTATIVE collection of modern British drawings necessarily shows divergences of aim and method, for the present century has been more than usually prolific of changing art-theories and shifts of sensibility. The generation which came to maturity before 1914, and of which Walter Sickert, Augustus John and Sir William Orpen are characteristic members, were aware of the revolutionary trends of French painting but were not greatly disturbed by them. Sickert was trained by Degas and Whistler, and made good use of this cosmopolitan instruction, but he never forgot his admiration for the illustrations of Charles Keene. His modernity of subject matter—music halls, rooms in lodgings, lower middle-class life and the suburbs of great cities—took its impetus from French art, but his style of drawing, in which details are overlooked in the broad sweep of the impressionistic vision, is influenced to a remarkable extent by his English predecessor; and so he contrives to be thoroughly up-to-date, and at the same time highly traditional. Augustus John has found it equally possible in our own day to wear the robes of the Old Masters; he moves in them easily and gracefully and without a hint of anachronism. Although the Celtic origin has gifted him with sympathy for the outcast and unabsorbed elements of society, his draughtsmanship has a natural affinity with the courtly styles of the Baroque period. His studies of groups of people have the qualities of all great sketches, movement and breadth of lighting; his studies from the nude and his portrait drawings combine the same liveliness of handling and accuracy of delination, with his own romantic interpretation of the subject.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Post-Impressionist exhibitions which were held in London in 1910 and 1912 impelled the next generation of artists to make terms with the implications of Cezanne, Gauguin and Van Gogh. They found in the works of these masters a new attitude to form, a creative outlook toward natural appearances which did not hesitate to make use of distortions for emotional or pictorial effect, and a technique very different from that taught in the academies. Those British artists who were impressed by these developments reacted to them without slavish imitation, and modified foreign styles in accordance with their own temperaments. The later drawings of Gilman show the fascination exercised over him by Van Gogh, whose style of drawing with a firm reed pen outline and dotting in the tones he freely adapted, but he had also learned much from Sickert and his approach to form is fundamentally straightforward. Wyndham Lewis was the most radical exponent of the new tendencies, and the movement of Vorticism which he founded, no less than his polemical writings, enlivened the pre-war scene with an English equivalent of Futurism. His drawings of that period are a rarefied analysis of people and things into cylinders and cubes. Paul Nash combined a similar approach with his strongly ingrained nature mysticism, which has pervaded all his work and prevented it from ever becoming completely abstract. There was a natural affinity between the styles derived from cubism and the emotions of those war-torn years, and Stanley Spencer used these formulae to express a deep religious sentiment. More recently, and with the same desire for formal balance at heart, Ben Nicholson has banished recognizable shapes entirely from his designs, taking refuge in complete abstraction.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS negation of the visible world could not however provide permanent language for most artists, and by about 1930 a reaction was in full progress. It took the form of a return to romanticism, and relied strongly both on the feeling and the technique of the English artists of the early nineteenth century, in particular Samuel Palmer and other followers of William Blake. The later work of some of the artists who have already been mentioned, such as Paul Nash and Wyndham Lewis, shows their change of interest through the banishment from their drawings of geometrical forms in favour of more naturally variegated shapes. John Piper, who had started his career as a rigid abstractionist, found his true metier as an exponent of the tradition of English water colour landscape art, whose imagination has been stirred equally by picturesque scenery under lowering skies and the eccentricities of nineteenth century architecture. Graham Sutherland has evolved fascinating designs from the study of plant forms and expressed them in a beautiful and original handwriting. Henry Moore, whose sculpture depends upon extreme simplication of the human figure, has in his recent drawings combined his monumental approach with the most sensitive and variegated texture in wash and outline. The drawings he made during the war of the scenes in air raid shelters have already taken their place as a classic commentary on the Second World War.

◇ ◇ ◇

STANDING somewhat apart from this group, but showing similar affinities, are two of the finest living British draughtsmen —David Jones and Anthony Gross. David Jones fills his drawings with an allusive poetry which is almost without parallel. He expresses moods and illustrates stories with firm pencil outlines, delineating apparently unrelated objects which are somehow brought into the harmony by the underlying theme of his picture and by the delicate washes of watercolour which add beauty to the surface. The firm and assured outlines of Anthony Gross, which also are brought into a unity by coloured washes, display an infectious gaiety of mind linked to virtuosity of hand; for him at any rate the use of the pen and the etching needle have not entailed two entirely different mental processes.

◇ ◇ ◇

ADMIRATION of the Ecole de Paris is natural enough amongst the younger of those to have attracted attention and may be seen, for example, in Colquhoun's skilful adaptation of Picasso's most recent manner; but at present the neoRomantic style gives more freedom to our draughtsmen, and stirs their imaginations to best effect. Among the younger artists the dependence of Minton and Vaughan on Samuel Palmer is more thoroughgoing than that of their immediate seniors. Theirs is a sort of drawing which delights by the mixture of mediums and elaboration of texture with scribbles and scumbles: the whole surface of such a drawing is alive, and there are no simplified forms or machine-turned edges about them.

◇ ◇ ◇

A STRIKING feature is the strength of the contribution made by women artists. Gwen John, the sister of Augustus John, has cultivated in solitude a delicate, mystical style of great integrity; Ethel Walker has been the designer of some of our most largely conceived decorations; Frances Hodgkins has progressed from academism to an art of almost musical freedom, and Barbara Hepworth has recently turned from extreme abstraction to a group of figure studies which have an authentic flavour of the Renaissance masters.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT whether British draughtsmen approach their problems in an academic, modernist or neo-romantic mood, the underlying national tendency can be seen in their subtle sense of relations among flat patterns and their feeling for linear arrangement.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth.

And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or, to say, Arise, and walk?

But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house.

But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men. (Matt. 9: 2-8.)

Shooting Stars

In a world preoccupied with the risks of war and the need for rearmament, it is refreshing to hear, as listeners did ... a recent issue of the BBC's "Radio Newsreel" about an old weapon such as the bow and arrow, now used purely for pleasure and not for any lethal effect it might have.

Philip Robinson went to Yorkshire to watch the Scorton Arrow Shoot, the oldest archery competition in England, where, in the glades around Ben Riding, near Ilkley, bowmen of deadly dexterity are to be found.

He said that the prize is a silver arrow, the first thing known about it being that it was presented by Queen Elizabeth to "the College of Oxford." "What college, what year and what happened to it during the Civil War," said Robinson, "we don't know. But we do know that it turned up at the little village of Scorton in 1673, where the Gentlemen Archers competed for it, and drew up rules for future contests, rules which are still decipherable on the original musty old parchment which turned up again only a few weeks ago after being lost in the "blitz" at Hull. The records, which are complete from 1673, were shown to me before the meeting by Mr. A. G. Banks, last year's winner, who is a well-known rifle shot; he won the first Queen's Prize in 1907. The arrow, which goes to the archer scoring the first gold, that is a bulls-eye, went this year to the youngest competitor, a boy of twelve, Michael Leech of Manchester. He has the privilege of choosing next year's venue, but also the duty and expense of arranging the meeting. The one to score the first red was Mr. Banks, who now becomes lieutenant and wears an ancient silver bugle like those you see on pictures of Robin Hood. After the morning shoot, the company adjourned for lunch, where, the captain provided his customary bottle of wine, which, as the Minutes carefully state, must be of good vintage."

It was heartening to watch these gentlemen of Yorkshire pitting their skill against each other so skilfully and yet peacefully. Is it possible that four hundred years from now tanks and Sten guns will have become as harmless?—B.B.C. London Letter.

Note To Housewives

(Montreal Star)

Dear Madame Housewife:

We know you would like to hear the latest news about this butter and margarine situation that we have written to you about before.

You know that there's a butter shortage in Canada, and that our Government (which keeps up a 12-cent a pound tariff on butter) has managed at great expense to buy us some foreign butter from Denmark. This butter costs more than 70 cents a pound on the Montreal docks. We don't know what it will cost you. There may be a subsidy to make it a little cheaper to you.

We are all supposed to be grateful to the nice, kind Government for getting us this butter. Perhaps, however, you would like to know that in the United States, just across the line from us, butter was selling at 67 cents a pound, eight cents less than it was a week before.

In the big Chicago butter exchange, butter is selling at the lowest price in 18 months.

Margarine too, you will be interested to hear, is selling on the grocery counters at 35 or 40 cents a pound. Let us repeat: 35 or 40 cents a pound.

Yours truly,
A FRIEND.

P.S.—Here in Canada there is no margarine. It's prohibited by law. But we hope you will enjoy eating that good Danish butter which costs almost twice as much. We should be very grateful to our Government. Don't you agree?

VOICE RECORDING is made by Pete, hippo at the Bronx Zoo, who doesn't take kindly to the whimsies of scientists. Les Compagnons Acquire Private Theatre

By PIERRE DUBOIS

MONTREAL, Nov. 9 (CP) — The dream of a lifetime— a private theatre—has come true for Les Compagnons, Montreal's unique group of French-speaking players, to start them on the second decade of a history already well punctuated with success.

No blare of trumpets heralded the opening of the new theatre, a converted red-brick, Anglican church in Montreal's East End. But Les Compagnons celebrated by kicking over the traces in a professional way.

For their house-warming they served up for the first time a modern, standard commercial success. It was the French translation of Tennessee Williams' popular Broadway play "The Glass Menagerie."

It surprised no one that the customers like both "La Menagerie de Verre," and the cosy little theatre with its smart, wide, stone foyer, its 450 red-plush, comfortable seats, good sight lines and deep-set stage. For 10 years Montreal audiences have accepted Les Compagnons as a group that can do no wrong.

Gained Acclaim

Under expert directorship of Father Emile Legault the company gained acclaim on a tour of provincial centres, now a part of their annual routine. Soon their founder had given up his vicarship at St. Laurent to devote all of his time to directing Les Compagnons.

Today this going concern operates with a full administrative staff, including a cook, located in the former Anglican rectory acquired along with the church. Father Legault operates a school or drama as well, and soon hopes to start an English-speaking section.

Two years ago Les Compagnons gained Dominion-wide prominence after entering the Canadian Drama Festival at London, Ont., and capturing top-ranking with Moliere's "Le Medecin Malgre Lui." Their performance won over a London, Ont., audience which advance reports had described as "difficult."

MARCEL MACHABEE stands on the Canadian side of his grocery counter, which is right on the international boundary at Dundee, Que. Grocer Machabee is now involved in a controversy with Canada's Foreign Exchange Control Board. Since last August he has been involved in a controversial case with Foreign Exchange Control Board. At Valleyfield, Que., he was charged with failing to declare US currency, with paying Canadian currency to non-residents of Canada and with failing to keep records and books of accounts at his place of business in Canada. The hearing was postponed until Dec. 3.

Godse Collapses At Murder Trial

NEW DELHI, Nov. 9 (CP) — Narayan Vinayak Godse collapsed in court Monday as he read his lengthy explanation of the slaying of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

After reading from his 93-page statement for an hour, Godse faltered, dropped the manuscript and slumped to the floor. He revived quickly after he was lifted by guards.

Godse, who said he shot the Hindu leader last Jan. 30 "purely for the benefit of humanity," was serious and tense as he invited the court to pass the maximum sentence of hanging.

The special court for four months has been trying Godse, a 35-year-old Brahmin, and 11 others accused of aiding and abetting him.

Godse's statement expressed confidence in the "moral justification" of his act in shooting Gandhi. He appealed to posterity to "weigh my act and find the tru value thereof."

He said he respected Gandhi saintliness and "before I fired the shots I actually wished him luck and bowed to him in reverence."

The assassin said he opposed Gandhi for his concessions to the Molems which "brought ruin to millions of Hindus."

Lions To Hear District Governor

LAKEFIELD Nov. 9 —(ENS)— E. H. Northey gave an inspirational address on Lionism at the November meeting held at Deyncount Manor on Thursday evening.

The possibility of the club putting on a minstrel show in the spring was discussed.

Secretary Paul Ricker remarked that there had been many favourable comments on the Hallowe'en Party which the club had arranged.

Attendance at Teen Town has been decreasing and it was suggested that the Lions Club assist in arranging a program that would keep the Teen-agers interested.

Lion Bill Morrison gave a report on a Lion's meeting he had attended in New Toronto.

Deputy District Governor Dr. George Miller of Bowmanville will address the local club on November 25. Lion E. H. Northey generously offered to supply venison for the dinner.

Committees were appointed as follows: First named to be Chairman.

Oil, Gas Not Alter Insurance Policies

Fears of householders that their fire insurance policies would be invalidated if they used coal oil amps or stoves during the Hydro power emergency are groundless, according to insurance officials. They also deny that storing gasoline, benzine, etc., in certain quantities is contrary to provisions in policies.

Fire insurance policies in Ontario have statutory conditions which were enacted by parliament and are printed on the back of standard policies. These are often modified by "permission clauses" controlled by the Canadian Underwriters' Association. In this connection the association has agreed on the following permission for lighting and heating arrangements during the power shortage.

One gallon of gasoline may be kept on the premises without extra charge against the policy. The one gallon is the total allowable without extra charge and includes gasoline in the devices. The use of coal oil and kerosene lamps and stoves will be allowed without extra charge. When any other emergency lighting arrangements, such as generators driven by internal combustion engines are used, the arrangements should be submitted to the association for approval.

The standard form of fire insurance on dwellings states: "Permission granted to complete construction or to make alterations, additions and repairs and to keep and use coal oil or fuel oil, but not exceeding one gallon in all in addition to that contained in the tanks of cars."

The emergency permit, it is pointed out, overrides the statutory conditions in policies. Where there is no explicit permit to store oil in stores, warehouses and factories, it is suggested the agent be consulted.

Family Allowances Act Constantly Under Review

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 — (CP) — Health Minister Martin said in an interview Sunday night amendment of the government's $270,000,000-a-year family allowances act was "constantly under review."

But he said he could not go beyond that in commenting on a report that the government intends introducing a measure at the next session of parliament broadening the scope of the act to make more money available to parents with large families.

However, from other sources it was learned Sunday night that such an amendment, wiping out a regulation which reduces payments to the fifth and succeeding child in a family, now is under government consideration.

The amendment would, in effect, subsidize large families in Canada at an estimated additional cost of about $5,000,000 a year.

Currently, a spokesman said, the government shells out about $270,000,000 a year to about 1,700,000 families in Canada.

Costly Business

Since the act was brought into force in 1945, it has cost the government approximately $750,000,000, with the greater part of the money going to the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

The act was brought in as a measure to improve the health and welfare of Canadian children 16 years and under. Payments are made to the parents, usually to the mother.

Here is the scale of payments: Child up to six years of age, $5 a month; 6-10 years, $6; 10-13 years, $7; 13-16 years, $8. But where a family has more than four children eligible, payments to the fifth child drop $1 a month, to the sixth child $2 a month, to the seventh and succeeding child, $3 a month.

The amendment, wiping out the payments restriction to the fifth and succeeding child, is expected to boost the average family allowance from $14 to $16 a month.

Figures were not available as to how many families would benefit by the increase if approved by parliament.

Colorful Military Jumping May Go From Horse Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP). — The National Horse Show, which winds up its eight-day run in Madison Square Garden to-night, will be back again next year, but there is an even chance that military jumping will not be included on the program in the future.

The theory that the horse no longer has a place in the modern military machine has extended to this fashionable extravaganza and threatened to deny it one of its most colorful spectacles.

As the 60th annual Show entered its final day, President Alfred G. Tuckerman disclosed that:

1—Attendance has fallen off this year, apaprently because of the absence of the United States Army team, disbanded shortly aftr the 1948 Olympics.

2—Unless the United States Army returns its team to competition, international military jumping—as such — may be left off the 1949 program altogether.

3—As a substitute, a plan is being considered whereby the international jumping events will be opened to combination teams of civilian and military riders, similar to those which compete in the Olympics.

Tuckerman pointed out that if the combination plan is adopted, such countries as Italy and Switzerland, where civilians and army horsemen ride on the same teams, might be represented in the show.

In addition, a military team from Chile, which has not been represented in recent years, might be invited, along with those of this year's competitors from Canada, Mexico, and France.

Sharing the concern of the National officials over the situation are the Pennsylvania National Show and the Toronto Royal Winter Fair.

The military jumping is a feature of all three shows, which share the expenses of the teams from foreign countries.

Without the United States Army team, the Mexicans have made a runaway of the military events here. They have won nine, the Canadians two, and the French one.

Artists moved into first place in the YMCA Men's Bowling League last night when they defeated Commercials 4-2. The two teams were tied for first place previous to last night's games. Artists had high team score of 3266 and high single game of 1200.

Four-to-two wins were registered by Quakers over Canada Packers, Aberdeens over Jay Bees winning the first game by four pins, and Tip Tops over B'nai B'rith.

Ab Guerin took down high individual honors with a smacking 802 triple and single of 328. Other good triples included Bob Dyer 756, Joe Weir 717 and Nelson Routley 703.

Fans Jostle For Tickets At Rider Game

By H. DENT HODGSON

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—(CP).—The home-and-home, total points series between Montreal and Ottawa for the Big Four football championship this week already has turned into a strenuous spectator sport as fans of both towns jostle at the wickets for tickets.

Roughriders, top dogs in the play-off series, planned a special excursion train to Montreal for Thursday's Remembrance Day opener, with 3,500 spectators expected to make the trip. Meanwhile the Ottawa club, which shipped 550 reserved seat tickets to Montreal Monday had a frantic call for more pasteboards.

J. P. (Jimmy) McCaffrey, manager of the Riders, said special bleachers were being sought for next Saturday's game here. He forecast a crowd of at least 16,000 in the limited Lansdowne Park facilities for the final game.

Although Riders sustained some bruises in the bone-crushing final scheduled game with Toronto Argonauts last Saturday, it was expected Ottawa will probably be at full strength for Thursday's contest.

Centre Don Loney who sat out the last half of the Toronto game, was considered a doubtful starter, but it was considered likely that linesman Jack Waggoner's knee injury would be better by Nov. 11, as well as Bob Paffrath's ailing ankle and Doug Smylie's injured foot.

The major league draft meeting at Cincinnati Nov. 10 shapes up as a headache for bonus-minded baseball club owners.

Of the record total of 5,370 eligibles in the annual draft, 270 are bonus-tag players. These are the athletes who received figures exceeding $6,000 to sign, but were not recalled from the minors by the big league clubs at the close of the season.

Among the most publicized—and highest paid—bonus players falling into this category are Hugh Radcliffe and George Zoeterman. Radcliffe, property of the Philadelphia Phillies, is listed on the Toronto roster. Zoeterman, Chicago Cub chattel, is on the Seattle list.

A light aircraft carrying six members of the Czech International Hockey team from Paris to London was several hours overdue at London's Crowdon airport Monday night. The plane was bringing the Czechs to London to appear in a hockey game between Britain and Czechoslovakia. Eight other members of the Czech team already in Britain took the ice against Britain but the non-arrival of their colleagues left them short of substitutes.

From Sydney, N.S., comes word that Larry Travis, Sydney Millionaires defenceman, has been ordered to report to Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League. He is expected to leave Sydney Wednesday. The 21-year-old Winnipegger talked with Springfield owner Eddie Shore by long-distance telephone Monday night but Shore refused to give him permission to remain with Cape Breton Senior League Millionaires.

The Canadian racing season wound up Monday with the closing of Toronto's Dufferin Park Ascot meet. Polly Last, two-year-old filly owned by Doug Ness, won her fourth straight start at Dufferin, by taking the featured fifth race from Addison Stable's Blue Regent.

Nearly 50 of hockey hopeful's reported Monday as Coach Ace Bailey called the first practice for his University of Toronto Blues, inter-collegiate hockey champions for the last two seasons. Bailey has nine members of last year's title team returning this season.

Ray Powell and Bert Olmstead of Kansas City Pla-Mors, each with 20 points, topped the United States Hockey League scoring list in games through Sunday, officials announced today at Minneapolis. Powell has 10 goals to his credit with an equal number of assists while Olmstead led the assist department with 12. Hank Blade, also of Kansas City, tied with Powell on goals but his five assists dropped him into fourth position.

After giving an impressive demonstration of his famed two-fisted punching power, heavyweight champion Joe Louis Monday night at Boston came out of an exhibition boxing bout with Johnny Shkor of Baltimore with a slightly scraped upper left eyelid. That minor injury, resulted from an accidental head bumping just before the end of the four-round no-decision engagement.

Following the game in Orillia on Saturday, quite a "rhubarb" broke out as opposing gridders fought for the ball as a souvenir. The final play of the game was a kick to Panthers, who had possession at the last whistle. As they tried to race off the gridiron with the pigskin, the Bombers swarmed around and a free-for-all started. Some of the players grappled good-naturedly but others began jerking hard and throwing the odd punch. Referee Hiltz of Toronto tried to break it up and then warned they'd all be suspended if peace wasn't restored promptly. As they cooled off, he took possession—and a bit later turned the ball over ot Harry Yudin of Panthers. In Big Four and senior ORFU circles, the usual routine is to give the team last in possession the football at the end of a playoff—but scrambles often occur, regardless.

Walter Ward of this city has been re-elected president of the Lakeshore Basketball League. Vice-prexy is R. Salway of Oshawa, with E. Gillen of Port Hope the secretary-treasurer. Walter DeGeer of Bowmanville will be intermediate convener for the 1948-49 season, and Bev Goulding of Peterborough convener for the minors of the district. These are usually school teams which go into OABA playdowns. The intermediate setup, starting play early in January, may include: Oshawa, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Peterborough and possibly Lindsay. The Marines' "B" bunch are drilling regularly now with Gord McIntyre the coach and Ross Pulkinghorn manager. Two good chaps and former cage stars.

Some Puck Workouts

Both Petes and Legionnaires have hockey workouts this week in Lindsay. The Petes pull out tonight at 5.15 from the bus terminal, those thinking they can make the team—and newcomers here—being invited by Coach Red Creighton. Likely another drill for them in Bella Villa this week-end. And on Thursday, Legion leave their hall at 5.30 for a long practice on the Scugog sheet. Coach Ned Vitarelli has most of his prospects and players lined up at present, we hear, having held a players' meeting recently. Their workout in Belleville last week-end was cancelled when trouble developed in the ice plant.

* * * * * *

Ray Harding will be back betwixt the pipes for the Petes this winter, and the quick-moving Ray has no peer in these parts as a puck goalie. Though a veteran of many hot campaigns, he is not old, and should have another fine season, this time in the Civic Arena. He broke into the Junior City League back in the 30s with Bill Murphy's team and has starred consistently since. A fine fellow, if a bit short-tempered when opponents crash into his crease, and goals gained against him are invariably earned. Yeah, the Petes will be strong again in the twin tepee.

For Which We're Glad

Some early action on the Memorial Centre is contemplated by committee and council members, and it might be that a start on the building will be made by spring. Which is all to the good. And we're glad to note that some of the officials now feel that this auditorium should seat 5,000 when completed. Also, that a revision in plans may be required to do the job within a reasonable cost. Times change, building costs keep mounting and the city keeps growing—hence original plans will probably be switched somewhat, accordingly. But we hope some action is really taken shortly. Problem of a site remains the first thing to solve.

Jack Matthews will be one of the halves with Western Mustangs as they invade Varsity on Saturday for an important intercollegiate grid game. A Toronto victory would mean a playoff between these two teams, and the Blues usually give the men of Metras a tough time of it. Mustangs haven't been beaten in 27 games but Varsity have scored three straight shutouts in their last starts this season. Johnny Metras, who loses seven players this year, keeps an eye on PCVS talent, and he's pleased with the plunging and kicking of Matthews in this his first season up.

According To Scribe

Oshawa writer says: "Here on Saturday, Oshawa Collegiate dropped a 16-6 decision to the powerful junior grid team from Peterborough in the first of their COSSA series. This is a home-and-home series and the Oshawa students face the task of wiping out that 10-point deficit when they play the return game in Peterborough on Thursday. The OCVI boys rallied after the visitors had scored the first touchdown and Mowesky carried the ball over for a major and then converted to give Oshawa a 6-5 lead. They held the lead until the final quarter and then faded as the Young-to-Evans forward pass combination for Petes set up a couple of major scores. The Liftlock City boys played well and looked strong but the OCVI players can do better, and they have hopes still of surviving the round." The next tilt is at the Oval on Thursday aft.

The 1948-1949 curling season blew wide open last night when almost every sheet of ice was in use. There were many old-timers out and also many new ones. There was nothing special at stake—just some of the boys going through their "limbering-up" exercises.

We imagine that there will be more than one stiff back for the next few days. To-night will be another open house, especially for the new players.

Torrid Boston Trio Heads NHL Scoring

MONTREAL, Nov. .—(CP).—If Boston Bruins had another line like their Sandford-Warwick-Babando combo, the National Hockey League race wouldn't even be close this season.

Official N.H.L. statistics released today show the Bruins' high-production unit still running one-two-three in the scoring parade.

Grant Warwick, the hard-driving little winger obtained by Boston last year in a trade with New York for ill-fated Billy Taylor, has taken over first place from line-mate Eddie Sandford. Warwick picked up two points in the Bruins' only game of the week to up his total to 12, one more than Sandford. Stocky Pete Babando holds down third spot with 10 points.

Detroit's Ted Lindsay, top goal-getter in the circuit last season with 33 markers, is tied with Warwick for most goals so far with six. Warwick, Sandford, Billy Reay of Montreal, and Gordie Howe of Detroit share leadership of the assists department with six apiece.

Bill Durnan of Canadiens chalked up his third shutout of the campaign when the Habitants blanked Detroit 2-0 Saturday night and now tops the goalies in that column. Harry Lumley of the Red Wings has the best goals-against average among the net-minders. He has allowed 12 counters in nine games for a 1.33 percentage.

Jack Stewart, Detroit's solid blueline blocker, has taken over badman honors with 23 minutes of penalty time. Close behind with 22 minutes is Canadiens' Ken Reardon.

Find Pro Hockey Becomes Young Man's Game

MONTREAL, Nov. 9 (CP) — Pro hockey today is a young man's game and just to make it official, statistics released by the National Hockey League show the average age of NHL players this year is 25.4 years.

Only 19 of the 101 players in the league have reached he 30-year mark.

Toronto Maple Leafs have the youngest team this year but they also have the oldest player in 34-year-old goalie Turk Broda. Silver-thatched Neil Colville of the New York Rangers is three months younger than Broda.

The Leafs also have the youngest player in right-winger Fleming Mackell who is 19. Montreal's Eddie Dorohoy is the second youngest by three weeks.

Detroit has the second youngest club this year with an average age of 24.9. Two players on the Red Wing squad have just seen 30. They are Jack Stewart and veteran Sid Abel. Gordie Howe, young Detroit point-maker is the youngest on the team at 20.

Boston Bruins ice the fourth youngest crew with the average player being 25.9. The five in the 30-or-over bracket are Jack Crawford, 33; Frank Brimsek, 33; Woody Dumart, 31; and Milt Schmidt and Pat Egan, 30. Ed Sandford and Paul Ronty are the Bruin cubs at 20.

Alouettes Feel Chances Good

MONTREAL, Nov. 9 (CP). — Although two of their stars may be sidelined for the opener of the Big Four finals here Thursday, Montreal Alouettes feel they are no worse than an even-money bet to jolt Ottawa Rough Riders.

The football fever hit this Metropolis after Alouettes clinched a playoff spot by beating Hamilton Wildcats on the week-end, and early ticket sales point to a crowd of 20,000 fans or more for the first game of the home-and-home total-point series.

Steve Nhamko, one of the granite blocks in the Als forward wall, was injured Saturday in Hamilton. He spent the week-end in hospital.

Half-back Bob Cunningham is down again with a recurring shoulder ailment which kept him out of the first four games of the season.

"I believe the club, man for man, has reached just the right pitch where they will win against any odds," said Coach Lew Hayman. The Ottawa club is at full strength and that will give them a superiority complex. We beat them twice before and our club has its mind made up that it can and will do it again."

Four Bouts Headed By Hi Lee and Morgan Feature Wednesday's Mat Card At Brock

Pat Flanagan

Big Ben Morgan, who is one of the very few men in the whole world to hold a decision over Whipper Billy Watson, will get another and perhaps even more acid test here tomorrow night in the Brock Arena ring. Big Ben meets Sky-Hi Lee, the Ozark Giant from Mark Tree, Arkansaw. Hi Lee is even bigger than Morgan for his 300 pounds stretch quite leanly over his enormous six feet eight inches. The Ozark Giant has no beef on him at all and possesses the broadest back and shoulders in the world of sport. And he is determined to oust Big Ben from the large men's leading position which the Tennessee Mountain-man has gained.

Pat Flanagan meets the tough new-comer Myron Cox in the semi-final. Cox has quite a reputation and the popular Pat will have to be at his best to gain a decision from the Californian.

Ralph Martin, who made quite an impression with local mat fans here last week, takes on the English champ, Lancashire Charlie Green in the third bout.

In a special additional match Nick Viccharelli risks his local reputation against Nick Futa, the big light-heavyweight who beat the local lad here last spring. It looks like a large evening for the wrestling devotees.

Ike Williams Kayos Buddy Garcia In First Round Of Lightweight Go

PHILADELPHA, Nov. 9—(AP).—The status of Buddy Garcia as a lightweight title contender is a moot question after the Texan's one-round kayo Monday night by champion Ike Williams.

The discussion arose as the principals and fans at Monday night's non-title bout divided into two camps.

One group insisted Gaarcia, the Galveston, Tex., hopeful, was knocked out by a stomach blow landing after the bell ending round one.

The other was equally insistant the payoff punch and the bell arrived together.

Garcia, who weighed in at 136 to Williams' 140, gave evidence of making it an interesting evening for the ringsiders in the three minutes' action of the first round.

He lived up to his pre-fight declaration that he would trade the champion blow for blow and waded in, apparently undaunted by the Trenton, N.J., champion's famed bolo blows to the body.

As the bell ended the round Williams landed a withering right bolo to Garcia's mid-section and the Texan droped to the canvas, writhing in agony. The fight was awarded to Williams when Garcia's manager, Eddie Walker, indicated his boy would be unable to come out for the second round.

The fight had been arranged as an over-the-weight 10-round contest with the object of testing Garcia as a title contender. What happens now is anybody's guess.

In another 10-rounder, Lil Arthur King of Toronto, recently crowned British Empire lightweight champion, took only 24 seconds of the second round to knock out Nat Harden, 140, of New York. King weighed 136.

Report Mills Barred At Club

LONDON, Nov. 9 (CP)—Morning newspapers today display prominently Cape Town dispatches saying that Freddy Mills, world lightweight champion, Monday was barred from the members' enclosure at South Africa's Newlands cricket ground where the touring Marylebone cricket club was playing Cape Province.

The stories say that Mills, who Sunday knocked out John Ralph, South African heavyweight, flew in from Johannesburg to visit his wartime friend, Dennis Compton, who invited him to the club dressing rooms to visit him. The accounts continue:

Depite protests of team captain George Mann and Brig. Michael Green, tour manager, Club chairman Walter Mars upheld the gateman's ruling that "you can't come in."

When the team emphasized Mills was at the grounds by invitation Mars was reported as replying:

"This is a private club and such people are not required here."

Frank Roston, Daily Express reporter, says that Mars, interviewed later, said "I have no objection to professional boxers as a class but I only had to take one look at Mills and his party (Manager Ted Broadribb and trainer Don McCorkindale) to realize they were not the type we desire to mix with our members."

Indians Down Mercurys 7-2

By The Canadian Press

Stratford Indians moved by two idle teams into third place in the Senior Ontario Hockey Association race by downing the second-position Owen Sound Mercurys 7-2 Monday night.

Indians counted once in the first period, three times in the second and three more in the third as they hoisted themselves out of a cellar-spot.

George Blake gave Stratford a one-goal lead in the first stanza. Joe Nelmes and Doug Mullen put them three up in the second before Murray Fife and Buck Forslund scored for Owen Sound.

Before the second period ended playing coach Billy Woodward and Blake gave Indians a 4-2 margin.

Woodward, Blake and Joe Nelmes scored for Stratford in the third period.

Tonight, Stratford meets Owen Sound while Stratford Kroehlers clash with the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees in the junior loop.

The Mayor Speaks TONIGHT Over Radio Station CHEX 6.45 p.m.

A NEW TYPE of fruit spraying machine, shown during its demonstration at Marden, Kent, Eng., is hauled by a tractor to the site to be sprayed. The invention is unusual in the fact that previous machines have used high pressure while the "Autoblast" uses low pressure insecticide with high pressure air. This mobile plant virtually created its own hurricane, which, impregnated with insecticide, is carried to the topmost branch of the highest tree, and so applies a fog-like drench of pest destroying insecticide that completely envelopes the tree. The machine is rightly named because it creates a 100-mile-an-hour gale, at the point of ejection, by means of a fast revolving fan rotating in an enclosed cylinder while the machine roves freely over the ground that is to be covered.

UNWELCOME VISITOR — Residents of Cap Blanc, Quebec City water-front settlement on Wolfe's Cove, anxiously await the transfer of a potassium nitrate cargo from the Portuguese freighter Ines Corrado which has been tied up at Cap Blanc since a collision in the St. Lawrence several days ago. A similar cargo was responsible for the blast which almost wiped out Texas City in 1947. The vessel is shown here 200 yards from Champlain street homes.

Report Hotelkeeper Buys Two Newspapers

QUEBEC, Nov. 9 — (CP). — L'Action Catholique in a front page story Monday said that a Quebec hotelkeeper, Oscar Gilbert, has purchased the Quebec newspapers L'Evenement-Journal and Le Soleil.

L'Action said the transaction was completed Saturday, and that "Mr. Gilbert has taken over the management" of the two French-language dailies.

L'Action added: "The news was confirmed officially. The amount and conditions of the transaction were not divulged."

Mr. Gilbert has been proprietor of the St. Roch Hotel in Quebec since 1920. He is an honorary lieutenant-colonel in the Laval University Officer Training Corps.

L'Evenement spokesmen would neither confirm nor deny the L'-Action story. One said that "an announcement will be made in due course.""

Milk Control Act Branded As 'Disrupting'

TORONTO, Nov. 9 — (CP) — Ted Isley, CCF member of the Ontario Legislature for Waterloo South, said Monday night that the Milk Control Board Act passed during the last legislature "is disrupting" orderly marketing of milk.

The CCF opposition will demand at the next session that the act be amended to meet farmers' needs, he said in a speech prepared for delivery over the Ontario network of the CBC.

Mr. Isley, a milk producer, said that under former legislation, milk producers' negotiations with dairies were undertaken on a province-wide basis through the farmers' provincial organization.

"This new act has changed all that," he said. "There is a trick clause in it which enables the dairies in any town or city to insist on bargaining only with the producers who actually sell milk to them—not with the provincial organization . . they play one group against another and force poorer conditions on all of us."

The result was that producer groups were able to reach a new agreement with the dairies after weeks of negotiations. The problem was aggravated by the fact that farmers were finding it harder to dispose of their milk due to high prices.

Mr. Isley said that farmers despite rocketing production costs were only getting about 10½ cents a quart for milk that costs consumers 18.

He claimed that since last April no regulations under the new Milk Control Act have any legal force because when the former act was repealed all regulations then in force died with it. No new regulations had been passed.

None of Kaiser's Family Try For Return of Old Monarchy

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN, Nov. 9 (AP).—On a cold, rainy night just 30 years ago, two automobiles skidded to a stop at the German-Dutch border. The two cars proceeded into the Netherlands.

That was the end of a monarchy in Germany — Nov. 9, 1918. Two days later the once-great German armies capitulated to the Allied forces.

In the two cars were Kaiser Wilhelm II, his wife Augusta Viktoria, and their staff. The Kaiser had quit because his country was in revolution, his armies in defeat. His generals had told him there was no other course.

Empress Augusta Viktoria died at Doorn April 11, 1921. The next year ,on Nov. 5, Wilhelm married Hermine, Princess of Schoenaich-Carolath.

Wilhelm himself lived out 23 years under the benign sanctuary of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, a haven arranged for him at the request of his cousin, the late King George V of England. He became the woodchopper of Doorn, interviewed every birthday, but generally ignored until he died in June, 1941.

Don't Want Any Princes.

The German today is in no mood to be saddled with another crown prince.

The "Crown Prince," Friederich Wilhelm, knows that. Living today in a cottage at Hechigen in the French zone of Germany, "Prince Willie" at the age of 64 make it plain that he is not plumping for return to the monarchy.

The Kaiser's second wife, Hermine, stayed with him until the end, then returned to Germany. She lived in Frankfurt-on-Oder, now the Soviet zone, and died there in 1947 after a heart attack.

Only two of the Crown Prince's brothers still are alive. Adalbert died this year at Montreauz, Switzerland, at 61. Joachim died in 1920.

Oskar and his wife live at Holzminder in the British zone.

August Wilhelm (always nicknamed "Auwi") has had the roughest time since war's end. For a long time he was in various jails, charged with being a more than ordinary supporter of Hitler. Auwi once held a commission in the Nazi street-fighting "Brownshirts."

Should such a thing happen as restoration of the monarchy, the man to step onto the throne by ordinary rules is Louis Ferdinand, son of the Crown Prince, who is a dealer in Ford parts in Bremen where he lives with his wife, Princess Kyra, daughter of the old Czarist Grand Duke Kyrill of Russia. They have six children.

Transfer Nitrate To Second Ship

QUEBEC, Nov. 8 — (CP). — Quebec harbor officials said today transfer of the cargo of the freighter Ines Corrado whose presence at Cap Blanc has alarmed water-front residents awaits the arrival of another ship from Montreal.

In the meantime the Portuguese freighter which must make the transfer because it was damaged in a St. Lawrence River collision remains tied up at Wolfe's Cove docks right in front of the little Cap Blanc settlement.

Reason for the distress among the households along narrow Champlain Street is that the 3,000-ton freighter is laden with nitrate of potassium, a chemical used chiefly for fertilizer.

The people of Cap Blanc recalled it was a ship laden with ingredients for chemical fertilizer that touched off the disastrous Texas City explosions of 1946.

While they wait for the fertilizer to be transferred from the damaged ship, the people of Cap Blanc are going about their normal business. They will be glad when the second vessel, due some time to-day, takes on the nitrate and sails for South America — where the cargo is destined.

Top Film Stars Average Age Near 40 Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9 (AP)—So you think being a movie star is a young person's job?

Would it surprise you to learn that the average age of top male stars is 40 years?

And for the women—32 years?

Those are two of the startling facts I have uncovered in a survey of the 100 top stars in United States movies.

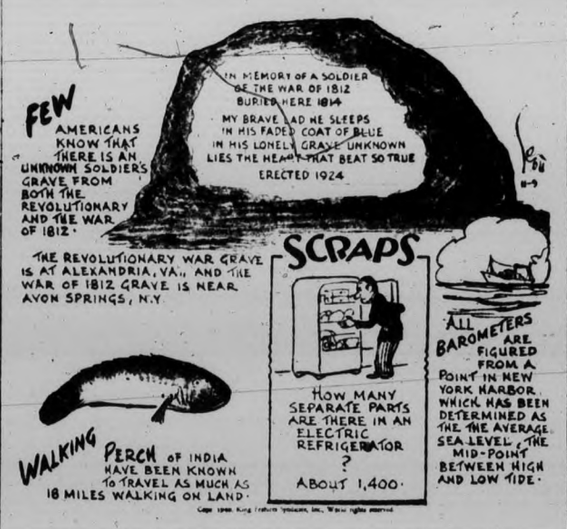
First of all, we must understand what a star is. Not every film personality is a star. The best way to judge is whether the person's name means anything at the box-office. Does the person attract a large audience on the strength of his or her name alone?

Strangely, there are more male stars than female. Thus it was harder for me to narrow down the men's list to 50 names. But I finally reached a count of 100 names, equally divided between the sexes, and the list contains very star who is really important in Hollywood.

The matter of ages is a big eye-opener. The male average of 40.7 and the female of 32.4 years may cause some controversy about whether the screen is giving youth sufficient opportunity. Of course, it can be argued that some of the younger players have not reached star status, and it takes time.

Beery Oldest Star

Oldest male star is Wallace Beery, 59, and yaungest is Mickey Rooney, a mere striping of 28.



Marlene Dietrich, the world's most glamorous grandma, is the eldest of the ladies at 44. Film veteran Shirley Temple ranks youngest at 20.

The hundred stars have served a total of 1,341 years before the cameras. Male stars have averaged 14.4 years in the movies, the women 11 years. It should be noted that some of them worked here several years before reaching stardom. The highs and lows: Myrna Loy and Joan Crawford 23 years apiece, Lizabeth Scott 4, Wallace Beery 35 years, Burt Lancaster 3.

Does a college education help one become a movie star. The record answers no.

Only 38 of the 100 stars went to college. And several never got beyond grammar school.

Eire Has Farming Program In Case New War Comes

By MICHAEL O'MARA

DUBLIN, Nov. 9 (CP).—Eire has an agricultural program cut and dried to employ effectively every acre of arable land in the country should war came again to Europe.

Agriculture Minister Dillon told farming students about the scheme when he visited Ballyhaise Agricultural College in County Cavan recently.

"If the Cominform succeeds in disrupting international peace," he said, "every citizen will be required to hold himself at the disposal of the community to help in minimizing hardships of war conditions and the farmers will be required to carry out duties assigned to them."

Output Lower

Meantime, however, falling agricultural output worries the government.

A recently published review shows Eire's farm output in 1947 was £112,659,000 ($450,636,000)—an increase of 168 per cent compared with 1939. But only 20 per cent of output was exported last year compared with 38 per cent in the last pre-war 12 months.

Dillon himself says: "The fertility of the land has reached a degree of degradation lower than has been known for 100 years."

Tired Land

Reasons for Eire's present agricultural shortcomings are, roughly, three-fold:

1. Much of the land, worked for centuries often by backward and short-sighted methods, is at least temporarily "worked out."
2. During the Second World War the country's whole agricultural economy was upset when supplies of feedstuffs, fertilizers and machinery were seriously hindered.
3. During the inter-war period, successive administrations attempted to build up uneconomic secondary industries behind a tariff wall, frequently at the expense of longer-established and basically more profitable agricultural undertakings.

Writing Novel, Not Gambling Lawyer Declares

TORONTO, Nov. 9.— (CP).—Was Sol Allen writing a novel during a National Hockey League game here Feb. 1, 1947?

Allen claimed that Robert F. day claimed he was—and that was the reason he left his seat for a period during a contest between Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks.

He is suing various defendants, including Maple Leaf Gardens, for unstated damages, claiming they damaged his reputation by treating him as a gambler.

The game was dull he told an assize court jury, so he went across the road to work on his novel. What's more, he succeeded Monday over defence objections in entering a chapter of the novel into the evidence, along with notations he said he made in his office during the Feb. 1 game.

There was frequent mention during the hearing of the "bull peb," the lounge at the Gardens where, it was suggested, open gambling as carried on in the fall of 1946 before the Pinkerton National Detective Agencies, Inc., another of the defendants, was called in.

Allen claaimed that Robert F. Clark, a Pinkerton employee, seized him by the arm and dragged him to the exit on the night in question after he returned to his seat.

Allen admitted having been warned at times on Toronto race tracks, but maintained that police became suspicious merely because he carried a battered brown brief case and liked to read novels between races.

The case is continuing.

DRIVING PILES

Piles are being driven at Lake Chemong in preparation for the forms for the piers on the swing span bridge. This bridge will be on the short causeway between the Smith shore and the former site of the bridge. The gap was dredged several days ago. A new span being brought from Hastings county is not expected for a month.

WORK PROGRESSING

Workmen of the Peterborough Utilities, are making rapid progress laying the 24-inch pipe, in the fields to the west of the waterworks, as a machine digs the trench to a depth of six feet. At this job nearly a month, they have completed a distance of three city blocks, with heavy rock formations slowing the work, at times.

BUILDING BRIDGE

Peterborough county workmen start pouring cement today for the new piers of the bridge being built across Eel's Creek near Haultain. This bridge is on the road to Big Cedar lake which was completed last summer. It will carry considerable traffic because the lake shore lots are being built on rapidly. At present building of the bridge is working a hardship on hunters because they can drive cars only as far as the bridge, and have to carry supplies beyond that point.

HAIR-DO'S UP

To bring Peterborough in price line with other cities of comparable size, members of the Peterborough and District Hairdressers Association, since November 1, have increased the price of finger waves and shampoos to $1.25 and upsweeps and shampoos to $1.50. Permanents remain at about the same price level.

OVERSEAS MAIL VOLUME

Post Office officials say that overseas Christmas mails have averaged about 35 bags per day for Friday, Saturday and Monday and that this volume will increase considerably by the time deadline date, November 15, is reached. They are not able to offer the comparative figures just now, but will be able to compute them later as the peak is reached.

FIRED RIFLE ON SUNDAY

First case of its kind in months here, Robert Tanner of Chandos was today fined $10 and $2.50 costs for firing a rifle on Sunday. The written plea of guilty was received to the charge, which was laid by Game Overseer Robert H. Trotter of Anstruther. It was laid under the regulations of the Fish and Game Act.

SIMCOE ST. SEWER

For the past three weeks city workmen have been layin a sewer line on Simcoe St., from the large pipe at the corner of the Milling Co. building to the main line on Queen St. Digging was hard as many large rocks were encountered. The job should be finished this week as the men are presently placing cement around pipe at corner of building and filling the trench.

HUNTING SHACK BURNS

A metal-clad hunting camp about 20 ft. square was burned to the ground shortly after four a.m. Friday morning. The building was located about a mile west of highway 28, and three miles south of Haultain. A party of hunters had been using the building, but all appear to have escaped as they were seen cooking breakfast near the ruins later the same morning. By Friday night they had left.

APPEALS DELAYED

Because evidence has not yet been transcribed, no court order was made at Osgoode Hall Court of Appeal on appeals of six Lindsay men. The men are Gerald, Lionel, Leo and Earl Tracy, John Hopkins and Lorne McGee. They are appealing convictions of Judge McGibbon at the Lindsay General Sessions of the Peace last June on charges of fighting in public and assaulting police.

FOUND—ONE HOUND

With the hunting season on, hunters are getting right into the old routine of losing themselves, their reason, their lives and their property. They can't even keep track of their dogs. Provincial constable Bert Howden of Apsley found one hound—a young black-and-tan — wandering aimlessly around close to the Crown Game Preserve on Monday. It was roughly "five miles from nowhere" when he found it, he said. The pooch is waiting at PC Howden's home for its owner.

Bancroft Man Shot In Chest Bullet Caroms

BANCROFT, Nov. 9—(ENS)—First known shooting casualty of the deer-hunting season in the Peterborough district is Douglas Robinson, 19, of Greenview. He is in the Bancroft Red Cross Hospital today as the result of a chest wound which is believed to have been caused by a bullet from his own rifle.

The youth was out with a hunting party near his home on Monday afternoon and it is believed that when he discharged his rifle the bullet ricochetted from a tree or a rock and struck him in the chest.

He was rushed to the Red Cross Hospital where he was given medical attention by Dr. O. W. Anderson of Bancroft. Dr. Anderson later said that the bullet glanced off one of the ribs and punctured a lung.

Robinson's condition is satisfactory today according to Dr. Anderson.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Robinson who have a farm near Greenview.

5 Hunt Clubs On The Watches

The annual deer hunt brings many Peterborough men's names into print each fall as they leave for various old-established clubs where their fathers and grandfathers went before them. Some have been going to the same spots since they were boys and later new-comers have harkened to the call of the wild, to some sleeping instinct of the hunter that awakens with thfe first frosts.

The Ketchecum Hunt Club roster this year includes Dr. N. D. Buchanan, Max Comstock, James Turner, Dr. S. Y. Walsh, G. H. Cutmore, V. M. Eastwood, O. A. DeGraw, Clarence Simpson, David Montgomery, Thomas Gentles, H. C. Southeran, Hugh Waddell and cook Harold Chapman.

Members of the Trout Lake Club are Dr. R. C. Honey, A. L. Elliott, Max Swanson, Dr. W. J. Gordon, Dr. J. J. Long, Vern Ferguson, Roy Brown and Wallace Shearer.

The Club identified chiefly by members of Outboard Marine and who will hunt at Six Point Lodge are C. B. Neal, J. G. Rayniak, vice-president, Waukegan, Ill., F. Irgens, vice-president and chief engineer, Milwaukee, H. M. Campbell, L. L. Tremblay, E. E. Estlick, J. W. Madden. Sidney Black also joined this group and possibly president Ralph Evinrude may have time to fly up for a few days.

At Eels Lake Camp are Lorne Bateman, Michael O'Leary, Arthur Lewis, Jack Russell, Jack Loucks, Howard Doolittle, Ross Hood, Joseph Ross, Joseph Torpey and Jack Fallis of Bancroft.

Among those at the Bottle Lake Club already on their watches are Harry Green, Burley Reid, Norman, Orvil, Donald and James McConkey, Harry Laing, Rodney Nicholls and Harry Corner. Ray Best will go up there next week together with William McRae, Harry Nicholls and John Adams, the last three men from Toronto. William McIntosh is the cook.

Two Hurt As Car Rammed By Train

PORT HOPE, Nov. 9.—Blinded by the sun while crossing the CNR crossing at Dorset Street, about 2 p.m. on Monday, Melving Miles of Hybla, drove his car into the path of a slow-moving engine, proceeding north to Peterborough.

Mrs. Kenneth McConnville of Port Hope, and Ruth Parks of Bancroft, both passengers, suffered injuries, and were removed to Port Hope General Hospital for treatment. Mr. McConnville, his baby son and the driver escaped with a shaking-up.

Engineer on the train, William Madison, Mimico, was warned of the approaching car when about 25 feet from the crossing by Fireman Edward Reeves, Lindsay.

The car was shoved about 30 feet along the track by the stopping train.

Damage to the car was estimated at over $600.

John Lillico Heads Canning Crop Men

John Lillico of North Monaghan was elected president of the local canning crop growers Monday, succeeding W. W. Dawson.

Harold Tate is vice-president; Harold Millen, secretary-treasurer; and the directors are: Graham Eastwood of Smith; Leo Fitzgerald, Otonabee; Leo Scollard, Ennismore; Wm. Morrison, South Monaghan; Ira Robson, North Monaghan; Len Henderson, Cavan.

Mr. Lillico and Mr Millen were appointed to attend the annual meeting in Hamilton, and Mr. Tate to atend a district meeting at Port Hope.

The pea growers decided to ask for a meeting with the canning processors, Canada Packers, to discuss matters relating to the 1949 crop program.

Ald. Armstrong Won't Stand For Re-election Dodds, Sands, Young, Swanston Terms Up

Ald. Gordon Armstrong informed the Examiner today that he did not intend to be a candidate for re-election to the council.

"I find that the longer you are in the council, the greater is the responsibility you have to assume," he said. "The work of the city's administration takes increasing time from year to year, and I can't possibly do the job as it should be done. Just these last three weeks I have had meetings or some other business of the council nearly every night, and also three or four calls during the day.

I have enjoyed the experience. There is satisfaction in this work for the city, but you can't neglect your own business. Friends have been asking me what I was going to do about the nominations, and I told them I did not think I would stay in the field for election."

The members whose two year terms are expiring are: Aldermen Swanston, Dodds, Sands, Armstrong and Herbert Young.

The announcement of Ald. Armstrong will be regretted by every ratepayer who knows the quality of his aldermanic service. He is chairman of the property committee and special housing committee, and possesses a faculty of clear thinking, and particularly a marked ability to weigh the facts and express them on both sides of a question or problem. He has been a strong acquisition to the council, especially this year with the advantage of his experience of his first year in 1947. He has been regular in attendance at committee and council meetings, and has earned a high rating as a young alderman.

2,500 War Vets To March Remembrance Day Parade

At least 2,500 ex-service men and women are expected to march to the War Memorial on Thursday morning to once again honor their fallen comrades. A non-denominational memorial service will be held which will include the laying of wreaths and the sounding of the Last Post and Reveille.

On Thursday night the annual Legion Remembrance Day dinner will be served in the Legion Hall with an estimated attendance of 300.

Most of the large companies have permitted their employees the morning off to participate in the parade and service. But the employees must first report to work.

The largest single group will be the CGE Ex-Service Employees' Club. About 1,000 men and women who at some time served in the Armed Forces will form up in front of the gatehouse at 9.05 a.m. They will then march to the Armories where they will join the other veterans' groups.

CGE Order of Parade

Their order of parade will be: the Union Jack, carried by Chris. Jay; the CGE Pipe Band; the Ex-Service Club standard carried by representatives of all the services —Lyla Gerow, RCAF (WD); Milly Curtis, CWAC; J. H. Palmer, Army; W. L. Flint, Navy; J. Ridyard, RCAF and R. Henderson, USAAF.

Behind the standard will come the wreaths, carried by Lowery McQuade and Bill Bennet. Then the parade officials, Lt.-Com. Otto Laderach, acting as O.C.; Fred Lockhart, M.M., Parade Sergeant Major.

Following the officials will come the navy section, commanded by Jack Archibald and David Fowler; one army section commanded by Cyril Whatley and Archibald Weir; the Salvation Army Band; the second army section commanded by R. T. Bogle and C. Curtin; and an air force section commanded by Herbert Butcher and Jack Cranfield.

Transportation from the plant has been arranged for disabled veterans and others requiring it.

About 50 employees at Westclox will also fall in at 9 a.m. and will march to the Armories led by the Senior Boy Scout Band. The marching column will be swelled by representatives from Raybestos, De Laval and Outboard Marine.

Addresses at the memorial will be made by Padre Walter J. Gilling, O.B.E., the Rev. C. McCarney, President of branch 52, Canadian Legion, Harold Yelland and Mayor William Ovens.

The full parade will move off from the parade ground in front of the Armories at 10 a.m. and will march down McDonnel St. to Aylmer St., then south to Charlotte St. and east along Charlotte to George St. The column will then march north on George to the war memorial.

At exactly 11 a.m. they will bow their heads for two minutes of silence. During that time industry and traffic will come to a standstill as a token of respect for those who died in the service of their country.

The Peterborough Pipe Band and the Salvation Army Band will march with the veterans. And the Citizens' Band will play at the Remembrance service.

Percy Thompson Heads Legion

Percy E. Thompson was elected president of the Apsley Canadian Legion at a recent meeting. Other officers elected were: First vice, W. R. Caverly; second vice, Frank Tanner; secretary, George W. Booth; treasurer, Charles F. Alphey; sergeant-at-arms, Victor Caton; chaplain, Rev. C. A. G. Spence; pensions advocate, Dr. J. C. McFetterly.

They were installed last Thursday evening with past president, G. T. Nicholls, acting as chairman for the ceremony.

At this meeting, plans were laid for the Remembrance Day service, and for weekly entertainment during the winter months.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday night, Nov. 18, when a social night will be held.

Cleaning Plant Yields $40 To Intruders

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 9 — (ENS)—Sometime last Saturday night the local dry cleaning plant was entered through a side window and about $40 in cash and two cheques were stolen. One cheque was in favor of Joe Ender, the proprietor, for a considerable amount. Mr. Ender who lives near the plant thinks that the robbery took place about 2:30 Sunday morning because at that time he was awakened by the frantic barking of his dog.

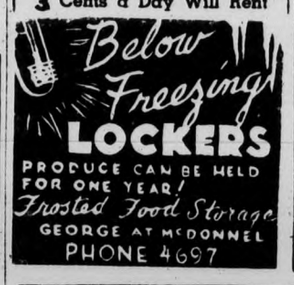
Radio Advances Outlined To Optimists

Frequency modulation radio theory was illustrated on Monday evening at the Peterborough Optimist Club by O. S. Cameron, sales engineer, electronics division, W. J. McWhirter, sales promotion manager and Gordon Murdock district sales representative, all of the CGE, Toronto. All staff from Radio Station CHEX, that could be spared from duty, were guests of the club as well as technical men from various radio appliance stores in the city.

Since FM radio is a very new approach to transmission and reception that only technicians are familiar with, the demonstrators showed a splendid animated film which told the story and action of FM as against Amplified Modulation that is now in use nearly everywhere. Its advantages increase listening pleasure in the home by the elimination of static, station interference and fading and in the improvement of tone control.

In order to enjoy this modern improved reception, radio broadcasting companies are obliged to spend a great deal of money on new equipment as well as to make application to the government to beam their programs in a listening field that is already crowded. Improved home receivers are also required to pick up the new transmissions to enjoy them at their best. Mr. Carkner said that there are over 700 American FM stations on the air besides several hundred more with applications pending. In Canada there are about twelve FM stations as well as several others whose applications have been approved.



Following the address, Mr. Carkner headed a discussion interval and judging from audience queries there is more interest in the subject in Peterborough than one might suppose. However, the subject is still too technical to interest more than those directly concerned with radio operation and sales at the present time.

Although this week is Optimist week throughout Canada and the United States, the Peterborough Club held back their business discussions to a minimum to enjoy the FM radio feature in full. Jack Rodgers reported favorably on progress at Boys' Town and told members that the building was undergoing final painting both inside and out. He advised that a Montreal paint firm had contributed 15 gallons of paint toward the project and that, with contributions of like nature from Peterborough merchants, there would be ample material to complete the work satisfactorily.

An appeal was made by Stewart Gardiner to increase the efforts of ticket sales for the first annual Optimist Ball being held on Wednesday evening.

LATE BASEBALL

Monday afternoon in Victoria Park, a dozen boys were getting in their final scrub ball game of the season. Most were anxious for a turn at bat, leaving few in the field to run after the ball.

Aldermen Say Ward System Could Not Speed Essential City Projects

If there is any reflection of neglect against the City Council in recent discussion of the ward system of electing its members, it is denied by some of the aldermen and also at the City Hall. At the recent meeting of the Labor Council it was said that the south ward has no representative on the aldermanic board. That is a fact. No resident of that part of the city is a member of the council.

"But, if five of the aldermen were from the south, I can't see how they could have got anything more for that section than the councils of the last few years have provided," Alderman Swanston said.

It is recalled that some years ago Roy H. Parsons, then city engineer, drew up a plan of local improvements, chiefly sewers, for the south end beginning around Sherbourne and Morrow streets north of Brinton Carpet plant and gradually swinging around to Brown and High streets. City Engineer Chalmers reports that this program is now almost complete.

In the meantime further annexations of Monaghan took place, involving additional sewer construction, road improvement, sidewalks and so on. Circumstances forced the south end upon the attention of the council, and a large part of the municipal money has been spent there.

Have No Quarrel

The several aldermen who mentioned this matter said they were not quarrelling with the Labor Council and Mr. Maurice Ketcheson. They simply say councils of the last five years have necessarily paid more attention to the south end than to any other section of the city.

And there is still much to be done. Sometimes it seems that the board of works will be still in the south end five years hence.

"I have not seen any evidence of log-rolling in the council as it is now formed," Alderman Swanston added. "The members try to get the most pressing work done first, wherever it may have to be done, and they are not concerned about the opinion of their immediate neighbors."

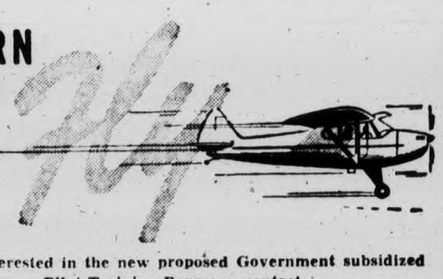
Incidentally, the ratepayers of the centre ward are the least vocal in such matters as representation and also the distribution of expenditure. It includes the down town area. Nobody ever sems to notice whether it has direct represenitation, and as for appropriations by the council most of the streets are paved and concreted, and there is no spending outlet left.

Too Much New Work

"If we spent all our money in the south end this year and last we still wouldn't be caught up with the new work that has to be done there. The city has taken it in from the township, and street after street is requiring attention.

The filling of Park St. drain is still quite a large job, but the board of works department first has a lot of the detail of providing sewer connections for the new housing, demands that are necesstiies, and that is where most of the effort is going."

Whatever the residents may thing about it, the aldermen are certain that even if the 10 members of the council were all from south of Lansdowne St. or even Sherbrooke St., and west of Monaghan Road, they could not have accomplished anything more than has been done for that large part of the city.



Ald. Hurrell Dodds, chairman of the board of works, confirmed those sentiments today.

"Without discussing the ward system, I think every citizen knows that the bulk of our work is where the most new houses are building, and that's in the south end," he said. "Your simply have to give priority to housing accommodation. There was some of that work over in the McFarlane Ave. area, in Ashburnham, Brookdale subdivision in the north, and our Weller St. and along Charlotte St. west."

Materials Scarce

"The board of works has been slowed down by lack of materials. There is an acute shortage of cement, for instance, but as for leaving any part of the city without considerate representation I don't see how anyone could say that as far as practical results go. There were petitions for sewers for the Manor Hill subdivision on Weller St., I suppose two or three years ago. That job was set down until recently because the other housing projects in the south had to come first. Not once did any of the aldermen who live in the west end put in any demand for consideration of their "ward". There isn't any bickering or dealing or things like that to get preference or priority for work. That is one things the chairman of the board of works doesnt have to bother about."

WINTER DRIVING CAN BE HAZARDOUS IF MOTOR NOT EFFICIENT

Lubrication For All Seasons Very Important

The most important essential for trouble-free motoring is correct seasonal lubrication, a car service expert reports.

"Cars are turned out at the plant in perfect condition," he said. "To maintain that perfection and to insure safety and comfort, it is necessary to have the car serviced at regular intervals.

"Even under the best driving conditions the effect of the constant jarring and wear on the parts, which is inevitable in driving, causes maladjustments in suspensions, motor mountings, wheels and other parts. This affects the steering, braking, and road-holding. Loss of control may often be the result of poor steering and especially of bad brakes."

The service man also drew attention to the constant stream of dirt, mud and water which is splashed on to the underpart of the car, making efficient lubrication an absolute essential. Canadian road conditions in winter months, he said, are particularly bad, and a special pre-winter check-up involving complete winter lubrication is recommended by all automotive experts.

Safety depends not only on careful driving, but also on the condition of the vehicles. During the winter months particular attention should be paid to the condition of tires and brakes, in order to reduce the possibility of accidents through mechanical difficulties or mechanical failure.

SWITCHING TIRES CAN INCREASE MILEAGE BY OVER 25 PER CENT

Change Positions Of Tires To Boost Mileage

To minimize irregular wear on tires their positions should be changed after every 2,500 miles of driving. This change will result in greater over-all tread life for the whole set of tires. Tests have shown that tread mileage may be increased as much as 50 per cent if such procedure is followed regularly.

It is very important to include the spare tire in the regular switch of positions. A tire not put in service deteriorates as rubber requires exercise to keep it in good condition. Giving a spare tire its due share of the work means longer life for each tire.

The front tires are more or less free-rolling and not subject to the strains borne by those in the rear, but camber, toe-in, and the turning of the wheels in steering affect the front tires and not the rear.

Rear wheels of most cars are the drivers; they take the hardest wear. But the right rear tires wear more than the left, because it is on the "dirch wheel". It must work harder to push the car into motion. It is subject to extra wear because it is on the down side of the road.

Changing the wheel positions of tires not only saves many dollars but gives greater satisfaction with the tires.

When We Service Your Car
We Are Thinking of
"DAY AFTER TOMORROW"

We may be wrong but we still believe there will be a time when we will be asking you to please drop in and see some of the nice automobiles we have in stock for immediate delivery at new low prices.

And if our hunch is right, the time will come when we will be very glad that a lot of motorists have learned to depend on us for motor car service.

Our business here is selling and supplying automotive transportation to this community in the form of new cars, used cars, parts, materials, and skilled labor. We expect to continue in this business when the market again becomes truly competitive.

That is why we are investing in more facilities, building up a bigger plant, sparing no effort nor expense to learn more about our business and to become more proficient in all that we do.

The only real profit to be gained in this era of easy sales and high prices, as we see it, is the good will of people who will make this establishment their permanent motor car home. On this basis we solicit the patronage of local motorists.

PROMPT SERVICING OF CAR FOR WINTER USE IS ECONOMICAL MOVE

Drivers Stress Winter Care

The high price of new automobiles together with the increased cost of repairs on older models has probably done more to make the driving public preventive service minded than all the fancy advertising and sales promotion schemes that an idea factory could turn out in a month of Sundays working three shifts a day.

How many new car customers have said in a confidential tone of voice, "I'm going to drive this baby until the radiator ornament wears out?"

Today's driver wants every protective device on the market which in his opinion will make his car last longer; oil filters, fuel filters, gasoline additives, oil additives, undercoating, seat covers, have become an absolute necessity to say nothing of plenty of wax to preserve the finish. Such items to millions of motorists.

Already many owners are having their cars prepared for winter driving. And they're smart. They are getting a better brand of service and they are getting it when they want it. There will be no standing in a jungle of steaming radiators waiting for an open stall to get thawed out for these motorists.

U.S. Shipping Tie-up Avoided On East Coast

NEW YORK, Nov 9—(AP)—A tie-up of shipping along the East Coast of the United States, which had been threatened for any time after midnight tonight, was avoided early today by tentative settlement of pay demands of 45,000 longshoremen.

The agreement with ship operators, subject to ratification by the employers and the members of the International Longshoremen's Association (A.F.L.), provides a basic wage increase of 10 cents an hour and other benefits.

SURLY AND DEFIANT, 15-year-old Rafael (Rocky) Villasenor is shown after he was picked up by police for questioning in the brutal strangling of 13-year-old William Gervais in Chicago. The body of the boy was found stuffed into an electric conduit box in Fuller Park a short time after his mother had dropped dead of a heart attack while reporting his disappearance to police. Young Villasenor is described by police as leader of juvenile delinquents who used Fuller Park for sex and drinking orgies.

Carburetor Can Cause A Fire

A good many bad truck and bus fires have started at the carburetor. When the float level is excessively high, fuel may spill over into the carburetor throat, where, as an over-rich mixture, it promotes a back-fire through the carburetor, which, in some instances may mean a bad fire. An over-rich mixture caused by a high float level can also result in after-burning through the muffler, burning the excess fuel left by the over-rich mixture in the exhaust pipe and muffler, another potential fire source. It is advised that the float bowl be checked frequently to see that no gasoline spills over into the carburetor throat or causes after firing.

Say Speed, Clowning Cause Many Accidents

We're not ones to blame the kids" for everything nor do we continually wail that "we don't know what the younger generation is coming to." It is a fact, however, that the "kids" do account for a good number of motor accidents. The Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee, in fact, says that the 16-20 age group is involved in five times as many fatal accidents as 45-50 year-old drivers. (The Canadian figure probably isn't as high.) Regardless of figures, when the kids themselves put the finger on the cause they're worth noting.

General Motors in the United States recently asked 10,000 high school students what were the chief causes of accidents amongst their own age group. Speeding and clowning got top ratings. Many listed the "smart alecks" as the worst offenders but the overall rating put the mania for speed at the top of the list. These two had a wide margin over the others which were: mind wandering off the driving; disregard of traffic signs; failure to give signals; one-armed driving; too many in front seat and road-hogging.

The survey was not just to get facts. By indirection it was intended to makes the teen-agers safety-conscious by expressing their bad driving habits.

USES RUBBER NOZZLE TUBE

Some service stations are using a rubber nozzle tube on their gasoline pump hoses that won't scratch up car or pump finish among other advantages like quicker filling, more flexibility, less spillage, etc. It is made of a new static conducting synthetic rubber compound, without metal reinforcement, that is imperious to action of gasoline and oils.

Gadgets Often Just A Swindle

The motoring public has always been peculiarly susceptible to the sale of gadgets sold by "pitchmen" in public places to cheaply cure the ills of faltering ignition in automobiles.

Such was the case in Indianapolis recently. Two "sharpies" were putting on a good show for the "yokels" in a parking lot, and really cleaning up. Apparently the gadget they were offering at not $5, not even $4, but the small sum of $3 could restore the smooth performance of an engine "with the same identical spark plugs," when without its use it knocked terrifically with two cylinders obviously not firing at all.

Myrnn M. King, assistant manager of the Indianapolis Better Business Bureau, knowing something of the requirements for properly correcting such a condition in automotive ignition, "detected the odor of something decayed." He had members of the police force present when he purchased one of the $3 gadgets. The department then impounded the money paid for the device, and gave the operators free lodging while they investigated.

The police radio technicians said the gadget seemingly improved motor performance through the use of two distributors and a cleverly hidden "switch" which enabled the "salesmen" to short out two cylinders at will, and cut them back in again when they installed their gadget, which was proved to be absolutely worthless.

A great many persons, who were convinced that they could avoid the outlay for a real tune-up, fell for the swindle—but most of them are not talking.

Ignores Alliance

LISBON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Portuguese officials showed lack of interest Monday in the Western European Alliance. These officials said Portugal is content with her six-centuries-old ties with Britain "and the more recent agreements and special facilities granted to the United States."

Two Ring Ceremony Unites Audrey Bocock, John Brown

A pretty double-ring wedding ceremony took place in George St. United Church Saturday afternoon when Audrey Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Bocock, became the bride of John Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Brown, all of Peterborough. The Rev. Dr. Jas. Semple officiated as they exchanged vows and rings.

Yellow 'mums decorated the church and Mr. Chas. Allen played the wedding march, and during the signing of the register he contributed an organ solo, "Through the Year."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white satin with yoke of fine net appliqued with flowers, extending from the right shoulder to the waist, and the skirt with bustle back extended in a short train. Her veil of fine white net fell to full train length and was caught to her heart-shaped crown headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Betty Drummond, her maid of honor, chose a frock of yellow nylon taffeta with full skirt and fish-tail back on a moulded bodice with short sleeves and she wore elbow length gloves to match. Miss Donna Brown, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, wearing powder blue sheer in a full skirted style with short sleeved bolero with decorative stitching on the sleeves and at the waistline, and she wore short blue gloves. Each wore a matching shoulder veil caught with flowers and they carried bouquets of mauve 'mums and yellow roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Ernest Kirkus. Ushers were Art Sanders and Bill Brown, brother of the groom.

A reception was held afterward at the bride's home where her mother received, gowned in black crepe with draped front and black lace trim, and she wore grey hat and accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother also received and was gowned in mulberry crepe styled on princess lines with black accessories and pink carnations at her shoulder.

For going-away the bride chose a hunter's green tailored suit with long jacket, a green hat and black accessories and her topcoat was in burgundy shade trimmed with moulton. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live at 584 Donegal St.

Science of Physiotherapy Described to Auxiliary

Physiotherapy, a science which deals with management of disease by physical and mechanical agents, as light, heat, electricity, ice and water, was outlined by Miss Ruth Bradshaw, qualified therapist of the Peterborough Clinic Staff, to Civic Hospital Women's Auxiliary members Monday afternoon.

The speaker pointed out that the agents employed in treatment are those used in daily living and the aim of physiotherapy is to enable patients to continue their way of life in the best manner possible. Physicians have been slow to adopt the method of treatment but have recently begun to realize what it can do. It has become a specialized science of modern times but is practiced only and always under doctor's orders. "Growth of public interest in physio and occupational therapy in the past ten years has been truly phenomenal," Miss Bradshaw said.

"It is at once the newest and the oldest form of treatment," she continued. History up until its recent introduction in the course of study for medical students is mostly in' ancient times. "The first man who crawled into the sunlight, bathed a wound in the stream, or rubbed a bruised muscle was employing this system. Thermo-therapy or heat treatment was used as far back as Roman times, and electro-therapy was practiced in Rome in 10 AD when the shock from stepping on a "torpedo fish" or "electric eel" cured a man's gout. Books as old as 5,000 years are written about gymnastics and their corrective use, and from the Swedes has come the modern concept of massage." Miss Bradshaw opined that the reason for delay in growth might be that so little study has been given to the effects of these physical treatments, and that when furher research has been done it will become even more specialized.

Miss Bradshaw gave the scientific name applied to the type of treatment used for various ailments. Thermo-therapy, the use of infra-red rays, or beneficial rays of the sun, is extensively used for skin diseases. Electro-therapy, a short wave shock, stimulates paralyzed muscles. Hydro-therapy, the use of water, cannot be given in Peterborough, but elsewhere children who cannot walk on dry land are taught to walk under water. Thereis also the use of whirlpool baths, hot or cold, to stimulate circulation. Mechano-therapy is massage, gymnastics and the use of all forms of mechanical devices. "Exercise is the greatest of the physical agents in my opinion" the speaker said. "In this form of treatment the patient is shown what to do, but he has to do it himself and determination to comply will bring about marvellous cures."

Physiotherapy in general medicine is used for many forms of TB, and in food deficiency diseases as a general strength measures along with irradicated foods and drugs. Asthmatic patients can be helped to control spasms by teaching them to breathe properly, and those with pleurisy and lung diseases also get help from breathing exercises. After strokes, palsy with paralysis of the face, shingles and diseases of the nervous system, therapy treatment can help to regain co-ordination and balance and keep paralyzed muscles in tone so they will operate when the nerves become alive again.

Victims of injuries are taught to walk without a limp if they start treatment in time, and therapists teach use of artificial limbs. Value of physiotherapy was doubly proved in the last war, after receiving recognition during 1914-18, particularly in the mobilization of scar tissue, and muscle training for paralytic cases.

"Worst hit of the war are the victims of paraplesia" said Miss Bradshaw who spent six weeks at Lyndhurst Lodge working with boys who have no feeling, no muscle and no power of limbs below the waist. "Majority of them are now employed at useful occupations, have been taught to walk on crutches and are adept at handling wheel chairs," she said. This work in particular has been developed since the last war.

The speaker also told of orthopedic treatment usually dealing with deformities after the doctor has operated; of polio, most tragic of all diseases, when the therapist re-educates the patients muscles. "Spinal curatures and postural deformities can be cured by plain active exercise as they are usually the result of a "can't be bothered" attitude," she said.

Arthritic patients in all stages can be helped by therapy treatment but improvement is slow in coming and many get discouraged. For such cases it is essential to keep moving no matter how much pain she explained for if pain and stiffness get ahead of them little can be done. She also spoke of chronic backache which sometimes can't be cured, but can usually be helped through treatment. Agreat deal of post-natal work is being done to help mothers feel well and get on their feet quickly as well as getting their figure back.

Occupational therapy employs crafts and specialized exercises to help the patient back to his previous occupation or teach him a new one. Often they are given bricks to pile, carpentry work and leathercraft is popular. As used in the local hospital this is mostly diversional treatment to get the patient's mind off his illness.

Following Miss Bradshaw's address, Miss A. L. Thomson, director of nursing services at Civic Hospital, told of a patient who has lost his hands, but through the interest of Miss Margaret English he is now doing fine art work, holding a pencil in his teeth. For a recent nurses' refresher course he supplied posters and directions, she said and expressed the hope that he will receive further encouragement.

Mrs. H. A. Mitchell introduced the guest speaker and she was thanked by Mrs. E. Chambers.

20 Plus Club Membership Tops Expectations

Popularity is a fickle maid, bestowing her fancy where and upon whom she chooses, but it is nice to see success is her close companion. The few couple who first thought out the idea of a 20 Plus social club at the YWCA litle realized that early in the third year popularity would become so great, the building would be taxed to accommodate its members.

On Saturday evening so many of Peterborough's young people came to enjoy the Club activities that a new program had to be arranged to ease the already strained facilities. True to the saying, "the more, the merrier" it became a happy and hilarious evening under skillful guidance of Dave Graham, master of ceremonies. Games, sleight of hand performances and novelty dance numbers were introduced.

Spot prizes of chocolates and tickets to local theatres were won by Miss Lindy MacIntosh and Mr. Dave Hatherly, Miss Eileen Thompson and Mr. Norris Hisner.

"Dogpatch Night" was announced for next Saturday's meeting and everyone is expected to attend dressed as a character from the famous comic strip, "L'il Abner." It is rumored that a local group known as "The Shmoos" will be there.

Asks Auxiliary To Boost Hospital Bylaw

Mr. J. R. Marshall, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital, told the Women's Auxiliary Monday afternoon that "progress at the new hospital is advancing rapidly." He explained that the entire building has been closed in with exception of the main entrance and a space above, and will be completed this month. The Department of Health has approved the plans submitted and grants will be paid for the full amount applied for he said.

"We have only the guarantee of sufficient money to partially finish construction." Mr. Marshall said. "An additional $1,500,000 is needed to complete the entire project as planned." The city is going to ask citizens for permission to makes a bylaw through which to supply the money and the vote is to be taken Monday, December 6.

"Success of the vote depends on the Women's Auxiliary and the influence they can exert on members to go out and vote in favor of the bylaw,' Mr. Marshall declared. He concluded with a plea to each and every one to do all in their power to have the bylaw go through. He also said he had every reason to believe the building will be ready for use 12 months from now.

DOROTHY DIX

Women Should Share Cost Of Entertainment With Men

DEAR MISS DIX: The women of today are just leeches. They have no mercy on a man's pocketbook. When they go out on a date they expect to be taken to the most expensive clubs and to order dinners at a price they never would consider if they had to pay it. And they rarely, if ever invite the boy friends to nibble on even a chop in their homes.

Dorothy Dix

Now the practice of the man footing all of the bills when he takes a girl stepping is a hang-over from the old days when women did not work outside the home, had no income and were dependent on men; but that is all changed, and customs should change with it. Most girls are self-supporting. They have jobs and good salaries, and there is no more excuse for them being social deadbeats than there is for men. They should pay their part of the expenses of an evening out. It should be automatically understood that it is Dutch Treat.

If we men had the courage to get together and organize a club for the protection of men against the lady-grabbers, I would be willing to be president of the ANTI-LEECH ASSOCIATION

FOOTE LE BILL

Social Abuse

ANSWER: Heaven send you success in your undertaking, brother. For if there is one social abuse that needs to be reformed more than another, it is women's propensity for grafting. No matter what other virtues a woman may possess, fair play rarely is included among them, and she just naturally can't see that a man has any right to the money he makes She feels that he should spend it on her.

So, somehow, she has been foxy enough to keep alive the old tradition that a man is a heel if he don't pay all the expenses when he takes a girl out on a date, even if her pocketbook is ten times as heavy as his is. When there is no man in sight, Angelina walks to save bus fare and lunches on a sandwich, but when some poor dub of a man is paying for it she rides in taxis and eats caviar.

Girls make a fatal mistake when they do not institute the 50-50 schedule in dealing with their boy friends. They would have twice as many good times if they would split the price of an evening's entertainment between them. Reciprocity is the key word to popularity. Try it, girls.

DEAR MISS DIX: (1) which is proper—for a daughter to visit her mother-in-law first out of respect to her husband or go first to her own mother? (2) Whose parents pay the expenses of an engagement, the girl's parents or the man's parents? Also, who pays the expenses of the marriage?

G. VITA

ANSWER: If you have to be so all-fired formal about the matter, the man's mother is expected to pay the first call on a prospective bride's family. This is merely a gesture of good will. After marriage there is no rule about whether a woman should go to see her own mother or her mother-in-law first. It is a catch-as-catch-can arrangement in which convenience and circumstances play a part.

Engagement parties generally are planned and paid for by the bride-to-be's family. However, there is no reason why, if the groom's family and the bride's family have been friends over a period of time, a special party may not be given by the groom's parents in honor of his fiancee.

The girl's family is expected to pay practically all the expense of daughter's marriage.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: At school, people make remarks about the gloomy way I act. I simply can't think of anything to say. And I don't use any tact. Is there any way I can develop a nice personality?

L. M. B.

ANSWER: Don't worry about not having anything to say. Most people talk too much and are tickled to death to get somebody who will lend them his ears. All you've got to do to make yourself popular is just to look thrilled and murmur "how interesting" every now and then.

You can cure yourself of looking glum by cultivating the smile that won't come off. Practice it before the mirror until you learn how to do it.

You can cultivate a nice personality by being kindly, friendly, simple and unpretentious and doing something to make other people happy. Quit thinking about yourself and concentrate on those about you, and you will be popular.

Of Interest to Women

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may anticipate a period of experimentation, fresh adventures or revamping of plans and operations. Then a static, delayed, obstructed or impractical condition seems to threaten the wished-for progress. Launching a new procedure by bold ideas, fresh ways and means, could benefit by sound study, keen analysis, or through shrewd or long-range revamping. Business, employment, finances and purely personal interests could benefit by a move in the direction of novelty, or ingenuity. Originality and innovation i nthinking as well as tactics are urged.

A child born on this day while possessing an urge to strange, fresh or novel ideas and experimental notion or "hunches" will also have the determination, shrewdness and diligence to put them over. A dramatic and eventful life should crown its efforts.

LEARNING AERO ENGINE AND AIRFRAME MECHANICS

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security . . . and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. To produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. Thatsis why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by industry. Veterans receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts veterans off on the road to skilled craftsmanship. Taught to use their hands in general aero engine and airframe work, both on military and civilian aircraft, these veterans may qualify for a Department of Transport license, authorizing them to declare aircraft airworthy. In aircraft manufacturing plants and on flying fields throughout Ontario, these newly-skilled veterans will have the opportunity to apply their talents and training. Their efforts will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and will contribute to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

PUTS THE WEIGHT ON

WHENEVER you deliberately select No Trumps as the final declaration for a grand slam while knowing that you have an absolutely safe suit in which you could play it, you are putting the weight on yourself. If it develops then that there are not thirteen consecutive tricks in sight, and there is no finesse or suit-establishment play that will build the thirteenth trick, you have only one recourse left. You can not simply ruff out a loser or two, as in a suit contract, but must depend entirely on a squeeze of one kind or another. So, if you are going to seek the extra points provided by No Trumps in such a spot, you had better know your squeeze plays.

Pass	6 ♦	Pass	7 NT

When the 6-Diamonds Blackwood response to 5-No Trumps showed North holding one king, two of the Souths in a tournament decided to select No Trumps for their grand slam, whereas all the others picked the cinch clubs, which anybody could make by merely ruffing one spade after taking out trumps. One of the No Trump declarers got top score when he made his contract, the other bottom when he was set.

Against both No Trumpers West avoided leading his partner's diamonds, selecting the 2 of the unbid hearts. The defeated declarer played low from dummy, topped the 10 with the K and then ran twelve tricks, hoping somebody would make a discarding mistake, but nobody did. So he wound up losing a diamond.

The other chap, knowing his squeezes, saw that with East having to guard the diamonds he had bid, and with his length betokening spade shortage to put on West the job of protecting that suit, neither could defend against hearts. So he won the heart lead in dummy, then ran tricks so that on the eleventh, when he led the last club, dummy held the spade 9 and heart 6, and he the heart K-8 and diamond J. East, having to hold the diamond K, discarded a heart, so South tossed the diamond J. Now West was squeezed between hearts and spades.

Begin Moving Nitrate Cargo

QUEBEC, Nov. 9.—(CP).—The freighter Digby County, flying a red danger flag, started today to take on the fertilizer cargo of the damaged Ines Corrado whose presence at Cap Blanc has worried residents of the water-front parish. The parishioners feared the cargo might explode.

Four gangs of laborers wearing rubber shoes went aboard the Portuguese ship at 8 a.m. and started to move the 6,000-ton cargo into the Canadian ship tied up alongside.

The fertilizer in 100-pound paper bags, previously described as potassium nitrate, was said today by harbor officials to be ammonium nitrate.

It was stories of explosion of a similar cargo at Texas City in 1946 that brought complaints against the presence of the ship from people of Cap Blanc to their parish priest, Maurice Tessier.

The publicity annoyed harbor authorities, who had ordered full precautions. Firemen and police are on hand, fire hoses are ready and night work on the cargo transfer has been ruled out because it would mean use of electric wiring and lights.

Find Pitchblende Near The Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Nov. 9 (CP).—Discovery of a deposit of pitchblende, in a field 72 miles north of here, a radio active ore containing uranium and radium, today was substantiated by local metallurgists.

Feverish activity surrounds staking work in a seven-mile stretch bordering Highway 17 where prospectors from all over the Dominion have centered interest in what one mining journal calls "the most important uranium discovery in Canada."

Chance work in the area extends all the way from Pancake Bay to the mouth of the Montreal River, a stake task of about 22 miles.

George McLeod, general manager of Algoma Ore Properties and Chief District Metallurgist for many years, said today "The discovery is quite authentic and the radio active ore is of very high quality."

"The only thing we don't know," said Mr. McLeod, "is how much there is of it."

Geologists of the Ontario Department of Mines have been on the site for several days.

U.S. Citizens Flee Riots In Nanking

Starvation Stalking Ahead Of Reds; 6 Regiments Desert

NANKING, Nov. 10. (AP) — Emergency flights of American dependents left China's rioting capital today as starvation stalked ahead of advancing Communists.

First to go were expectant mothers from the United States advisory group. They were flown in American military planes to Tsingtao, United States far eastern naval base. Most of the 500 Nanking dependents will go aboard the navy hospital ship Repose.

From Shanghai northward the situation worsened. Millions milled in cities, towns, villages and over the countryside.

Food riots swept Shanghai and Nanking. Shops, trucks and carts were looted by the hungry. Shopkeepers were clubbed.

Workers demanded their wages in rice. Government railway employees went on strike when they got none.

Chiang State Crumbling

The whole economic structure of the Chiang Kai-Shek government appeared to be crumbling in the wild melee along coastal China. The national gold yuan plummeted downward.

Alarmed European Nationals confronted with anti-foreign feeling in many quarters, sought means of escaping.

There was a hint here that an American warship from Tsingtao might be sent up the Yangtze to protect foreigners and speed evacuation.

Gen. MacArthur in Tokyo had at least one army transport on its way to Shanghai to evacuate Americans there. Two more were reported ready to sail from Japanese ports.

Three Communist forces converged on Suchow, government base 170 air miles north of Nanking. The Reds came from the north, east and west. Fighting was reported in the Suchow defence perimeter.

Six national regiments, possibly totalling 10,000 men, are reported to have deserted to the Reds around Suchow.

German Recovery Too Rapid French Threaten Slow-Down

BERLIN, Nov. 10—(AP).—A French threat to try to slow down western Germany's recovery may give the United States a new foreign-policy headache. The French military governor, Gen. Pierre Koenig, protested at a military governor's conference last week that western Germany was recovering "too rapidly." Unless it was slowed down, he threatened to withhold approval from the western German constitution, now being formed, and the merger of the French zone into a "trizonia," authoritative sources said.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay of the United States and, to a lesser extent, Britain's Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, replied that as long as the American and British taxpayers were putting millions into German recovery, such recovery would be pushed as rapidly as possible until Germany could pay her own way.

Germany is not expected to be self-sufficient before 1952.

Koenig likewise protested phases of the German constitutional assembly in Bonn and the European recovery arrangements for a delay in dismantlings and reparations.

When pressed by the western military governors whether he was willing to carry out the London six-power agreement on setting up a limited state in western Germany, Koenig said his statements were not intended to abrogate this agreement, but expressed the opinion France was dissatisfied with the "trend in Germany."

Since the dismantling question now is on a governmental level where France agreed to a delay pending study, Koenig's views did not seem completely in line with those of Robert Schuman, French Foreign Minister. Koenig is known as a strong De Gaullist.

Britain Donates Nearly 2 Billion

LONDON, Nov. 10—(Reuters.—Britain has given £401,343,000 ($1,605,380,000) to other countries since the end of the war, Christopher Mayhew, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, said in parliament Tuesday night.

This covered free supplies and services, straight grants, debt cancellations, contributions to international relief organizations and other non-recoverable items.

They included £155,000,000 to UNRRA, £55,000,000 to Italy, £49,000,000 for civil affairs following liberation in Europe, £31,000,000 to Greece, £30,000,000 to Malta, £16,000,000 to The Netherlands, £16,000,000 to Austria, £15,000,000 to Burma, £11,200,000 to the international refugees' organization and £5,000,000 to Poland.

In Paris, Britain told the United Nations last night she is ready to contribute £1,000,000 as her share of relief for 350,000 Arab refugees from the Palestine war.

Change Charge Against Lamb

LINDSAY, Nov. 10. — The charge of manslaughter against Douglas Lamb of Lindsay, was Tuesday afternoon reduced to reckless driving. Mr. Justice Treleaven reserved his sentence until Thursday morning.

Several witnesses were examined Tuesday, interest centring in the evidence of Provincial Constable G. Milton and the expert Mr. Hastings regarding tire marks on the pavement and the broken spokes in a front wheel. The expert contended that the spokes in the old car might have been disturbed and broken before the car hit the bank of a foot and a half ditch.

Mr. Justice Treleaven addressed the jury for one hour and pointed out that, according to the evidence there was evidence of drinking in the car, as well as the evidence of Dr. C. W. Blackwell that his observations led him to believe that the accused was intoxicated at the scene of the accident. Col. R. I. Moore suggested that the nervous condition of the accused might have been due to shock.

Jumps Out Window Of Russian Building

VIENNA, Nov. 10.— (AP). — Austrian police said today an Austrian who may have been implicated in the desertion of Soviet officers to the western zone leaped to his death Tuesday night from the third floor of the Russian Kommandatura.

The man was identtified as Friedrich Boehm, 38, who had been employed for the last year as a driver for the Russians. Previously he had been employed by the United States Army, also as a driver.

Only 7 World Countries Raise For Own Needs

WASHINGTON, Nov 10—(AP)—Only seven of the world's 57 recognized countries outside of the Soviet orbit raise enough food to meet their own needs.

This was reported today by the Food and Agriculture Organization, a United Nations agency set up to improve food production methods and uses. Russia and Soviet-dominated countries are not members.

F.A.O. said those countries which could feed themselves if their production is equally distributed in proportion to domestic needs, are: The United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Norway, Switzerland and Denmark.

Outside those seven, the F.A.O. found this picture:

"For the world as a whole per capita supplies of food and fibres are far below pre-war levels.

Can't Meet Needs

"Even taking into account government plans for substantial increases for 1949-50 and beyond, it is apparent that present plans meet the great need for the prodeven if fully carried out, can not uets of agriculture and forestry."

Reports of the member countries also showed these worldwide trends:

Forestry—"The whole appears to be heading toward a chronic wood shortage with cutting continuing at a rate so rapid it exceeds replacement."

Economic and social policies—"Many countries seem to need clear policies for improving living conditions of rural countries."

Land and management nutrition—most countries have increased efforts along two major lines: "1. Special attention has been given to reducing waste, which in pre-war years cut deeply into the supply of food for human consumption. 2. Action has been taken to increase the flow of farm supplies to urban groups and, in some instances, into export channels."

Premier King To Resign Next Monday

Announcement Read By Legion President At Council Meeting

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King will tender his resignation to the governor-general next Monday, Nov. 15, he announced officially today.

Mr. King made the historic announcement in a letter read to a luncheon meeting opening the annual three-day meeting of the Dominion executive council of the Canaidan Legion. Six cabinet ministers were present as the letter was read by Lt.-Col. L. D. M. Baxter, Dominion president of the Legion.

The prime minister said he had hoped to associate his resignation with Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, and announce his retirement from the prime ministership after placing the government's wreath at the base of the National War Memorial here.

However, the ill-health which confined him to his home at Laurier House had made this impossible.

Regrets Cancellation of Plan

"I had hoped," his letter said, "that my last official act as prime minister of Canada might be in the nature of a silent tribute to the memory of those who gave their lives in the cause of freedom. I deeply regret having to forego this cherished hope.

"After conferring with his excellency the governor-general and with Mr. St. Laurent, I have decided to continue in office for the remainder of the present work, and to tender my resignation as prime minister to his excellency on Monday next, Nov. 15.

"While I much regret not being able to convey this word in person to yourself (Col. Baxter) and others who may be present at today's luncheon, I am happy to have the privilege, through the Legion, of making known to my fellow-countrymen the day on which I shall seek to be relieved of the responsibilities of office."

Still confined to Laurier House, in Ottawa's Sandy Hill district, the ailing 73-year-old leader of the party in power conferred with the governor-general Tuesday.

Gang Injures Police Officer

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — (CP)—Police officials today said a gang bent on vengeance was responsible for a brutal assault on Police Constable John Gaw in an East Toronto park late Tuesday night. Gaw suffered blackened eyes and a broken nose. One knee cap was broken from repeated kicks of his assailants.

Police said the gang was one which Gaw had scattered several times. He was waylaid on his way home from duty.

His wrist watch and wallet were taken by the thugs who left him unconscious.

During a search of the park police found the body of William Clancy, 55, of Toronto, in a clump of bushes. Officials said they believe the man's death was due to natural causes, and said there is no connection between the two cases.

Hamilton Bus Driver In Critical Condition

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP) — Frank Rowe, Hamilton bus driver injured in Saturday's bus-tram collision here in which six persons were killed took a turn for the worse today and hospital officials described his condition as "grave."

Rowe's condition had improved Tuesday and he was expected to live. Two of the 25 persons taken to hospital following the crash were discharged from hospital today. They are Katharine Doyle, 25, and Vernon Loftus, 22, both of Toronto. All the others were said to be progressing satisfactorily.

Police said the chartered bus which was returning to Hamilton from Toronto after an Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders reunion party, swerved into the path of the street car.

450 Searchers Find Small Child In Bush

Missing From Farm Home 23 Hours, Dies On Way To Hospital

HARDEN, Man., Nov. 10—(CP) — The most intensive search ever carried out in this district 95 miles northwest of Winnipeg—extending over 23 hours and involving 450 volunteers—has come to a tragic ending.

The object of the search, 18-month-old Rose Marie Lemky, died en route to hospital at Neepawa Tuesday after being found semi-conscious by six searchers. She had been missing from her farm home since Monday afternoon.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lemky, were reported to be in Neepawa, 15 miles away, when the tot was found in a clump of bushes 1½ miles from her home.

An R.C.A.F. helicopter from the joint air school at Rivers, Man., and used in the successful search for five naval personnel rescued from Northern Saskatchewan in September, participated in the hunt for the little girl for two hours yesterday.

Exhaustion evidently had overtaken her. She appeared to have fallen in her tracks and to have made no effort to protect herself from an overnight temperature of 20 degrees.

Dr. W. A. Howden of Neepawa attributed death to exposure. A postmortem examination will be made.

Relatives said Mrs. Lemky had left the girl and her four-year-old brother, Kenneth, alone in the house while she visited neighbors. She had locked the door, but on her return found both children missing and the door forced open.

The boy responded to her calls and returned, but apparently was unable to bring his sister back with him.

Says Britain's Fault Bacon Cut

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner, in a statement today, said Canada could be supplying the United Kingdom with "at least twice as much bacon as she is" if Britain could have followed a different policy since 1943. The Minister took exception to a dispatch which quoted Food Minister Strachey as telling the Commons a temporary decline in Canadian supplies for export was responsible for cutting to half the British bacon ration—to one ounce weekly for the four weeks starting Nov. 211.

"I do not wish to comment on Mr. Strachey's reported statements in particular because I know from experience that unless one has the complete pronouncement the meaning can be misrepresented," Mr. Gardiner said.

However, he recalled that in 1943 Canada has been given to understand that the UK would not be able to import as much Canadian bacon after the war. Production at that time had been built to a level at which Canada could deliver 700,000,000 pounds of bacon a year.

Warned Orders Cut

Mr. Gardiner continued:

"In 1943 when a turn came in the fortunes of war and victory was assured, Mr. Scott Watson, agricultural adviser to the British Embassy at Washington, and now to the United Kingdom Minister of Agriculture, came to Canada and addressed meetings of farmers and warned farmers that the United Kingdom would be unable to buy such quantities of bacon after the war.

"These speeches were delivered as an explanation of the reduction in the contract for 1944 and 1946 from 675,000,000 pounds to 450,000,000 pounds annually, and were a warning to our farmers that if their production remained up they could not depend upon the UK market."

He quoted from a statement by Mr. Watson issued in Washington at the time, saying that Britain would want Canadian wheat and cheese after the war, but that after such purchases, she would likely be hard up for Canadian exchange to buy bacon.

Canada Moves Out of Red In United States Trade

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP).—Canada is moving out of the red in her trade with the United States. During September, the Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday, she achieved a favorable balance of trade with the US for the first time since August, 1945, when the heavy flow of war shipments from this country was tapering off. The September favorable balance was $11,400,000—the first substantial peacetime credit balance since the middle 1930's. In that month, exchange gold shipments, Canada sold the US $162,000,000 worth of goods and imported only $152,700,000.

The credit balance in September, together with successive decreases in the adverse balance in earlier months of this year, brought the cumulative debit balance for the nine months to $265,700,000, compared with $718,300,000 in the corresponding period of 1947.

The improvement in the country's trading position with the US stems from the Government's so-called "austerity" program.

Balance With Britain

September commodity trade balance with Britain was favorable to the extent of $24,100,000 against $27,900,000 in August and $39,400,000 in September last year. For the nine-month period, the balance in favor of Canada was $300,100,000 compared with $11,500,000 a year ago.

The favorable balance with all countries during September was $64,400,000—highest for the year to date—compared with $20,000,000 in August and $13,400,000 in September, 1947. The all-countries credit balance during the nine months was $261,600,000 against $135,000,000.

Imports from abroad during September totalled $221,700,000 against $208,100,000 a year ago. The nine-month total was $1,923,300,000, compared with $1,896,200,000.

National Sports Parley Called

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP) — A national sports conference has been summoned for next Jan. 7-8, the government announced today in a move seen as a probable consequence of Canada's fiasco in the last Olympics.

Aim of the Ottawa conference, to which more than 30 amateur and professional sports bodies have been invited, is to promote "greater participation of sports in Canada."

A health department announcement said the meeting has been called by the government-sponsored national council of physical fitness, but the council made clear in the invitation it is not trying to take—and will not accept—any responsibility for governing sport in the Dominion.

"Members of the council feel," according to the announcement, "that the time is opportune for a meeting at which problems of mutual concern may be discussed by representatives of the sports groups and solutions considered for any difficulties which may exist.

"The over-all aim is to foster both the fitness and pleasure arising from greater participation in sports."

Paratrooper Jumps To Death

RIVERS, Man., Nov. 10 (CP)—Individual error, not failure of equipment, today was blamed for the death of Lieut. Gerald A. Lynch of Montreal, 30-year-old instructor in parachute technique at this joint school.

The young officer dropped 700 feet to his death from a Dakota aircraft when his main and emergency parachutes failed to save him during a routine jump Tuesday as part of a demonstration of combined operations put on for a party of 30 press and radio reporters.

The jump, timed to coincide with the visit of the press party, was made by a special company of about 45 men whose assignment was to seize certain targets on the camp site.

Three Dakotas carried the company. Mustang fighter planes covered the group and the Dakotas followed up by dropping supplies.

Lieut. Lynch, a French-speaking Canadian, was one of the leaders of the group, being in charge of a "stick" of 14 men. His death represented the first fatality in more than 20,000 training jumps by Canadian soldiers since the Second Great War. He had made between 35 and 40 jumps previously.

One in a Million

Camp officers described the chances of such an accident as "one in a million." A formal inquiry wil be conducted.

High officers on the station said a "stick leader's" duties required him to check the equipment of his men before checking his own.

HAIFA, Israel, Nov. 10.—(AP).—Two United Nations observers were arrested by Israeli military police Tuesday on the Negev front while watching "a full-scale Jewish attack on Egyptian positions," a U.N. spokesman said today. The Jewish attack on Iraq Suweidan was launched early Tuesday, the spokesman said.

Moscow Plays Up Story Truman May Visit Stalin

MOSCOW, Nov. 10—(AP)—The Moscow press gave heavy play today to a Tass dispatch from Washington quoting an American newspaper as saying President Truman may come to Russia for a personal talk with Prime Minister Stalin.

The fact that this item was published here at all is not without significance. Its publication caused much comment in the foreign colony of Moscow.

The Soviet news agency dispatch said the Washington Times Herald printed the report. (The dispatch may have referred to a syndicated column, Tris Coffin's Daybook, published in the Times Herald. It said Monday President Truman wants a conference with world leaders on peace and might even go to Moscow.)

The dispatch said that, "although no definite decision has been reached, Truman presumes he can meet Stalin at his place (presumably Washington) instead of going to Moscow."

"However," it added, "if Stalin does not leave the Soviet Union, Truman is filled with such determination to put into effect his program of peace that possibly he will himself go to Moscow."

Walter Bedell Smith, United States ambassador here, planned to leave for Berlin this week, but an informed source said there was no connection between this and the Truman-Stalin report. Smith is said to be going to Germany on personal business.

While the Soviet press published this talk of peace, it continued to hammer away on the Korean question. The press said the rebellion in South Korea still was in progress on a big scale, but that American troops were helping to smother it.

A foreign source said that, while a meeting was possible eventually, a three-power meeting of British, French and American representatives was likely to precede it in order to work out an agreement on the approach.

Defence Asks Suspension Of Sentence

Sympathy Letters Seeking Her Freedom Deluge Officials

By BOB BUCHANAN

LINDSAY, Nov. 10 — Three years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence passed on red-haired Mrs. Jane Kelly McAllister today on the jury verdict of guilty of manslaughter arising from the pistol slaying of her navy veteran husband. Last week, after five days' trial, the jury reduced the verdict from the original charge of murder.

With the strain and tension over, the 35-year-old prisoner today looked "much better." During the last few days of the trial the mounting tension had given her a haggard, sick appearance. Today, she was almost cheerful as she was taken from the courtroom.

Interest in the case has not lagged, as shown by the crowds again in the Victoria County courtroom as Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven imposed the sentence. There were more spectators than any other day this week, although the Supreme Court sittings are now considering a manslaughter charge.

Mail Suggestions

The mail to those connected with the case has also borne testimony to the public following since the Sept 5 shooting. Most of the letters—to the defence and crown counsel, court officers and the Justice—are reported to have expressed strong sympathy for the woman who told her own story in the witness box of her life with John McAllister. The jury, after its verdict, said that it "believed entirely" Mrs. McAllister's story of the taunting and brutal treatment she had received during the period when surgery had made her sterile.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, who conducted the crown's case, did not address the court on the question of sentence.

Maximum penalty for manslaughter under the Criminal Code of Canada, is life imprisonment. The term begins when

Tractor Upsets 2 Boys Burned

STAPLES, Ont., Nov. 10—(CP).—Two 12-year-old boys, Russell Burton Waites and Clair Will, were burned to death Tuesday night when a tractor they were riding overturned and exploded in the Michigan Central Railways stock loading yard here.

The school chums, who lived on RR 1, Staples, about 10 miles north of Leamington, in Essex county, had left the Will farm shortly after eight p.m.

Apparently the boys drove the tractor into the stockyards to turn around and head back to Staples, when the machine upset and burst into flames, Provincial Police said.

Rescuers pulled Waites clear of the overturned tractor but he died a few minutes after being released.

Efforts were made to rescue the Will boy but he was pinned under the tractor and rescuers were kept back by the intense heat.

Factories Ordered To Work Sundays

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 10 — (CP)—More than 89 large and small industrial power consumers here were ordered today to shut down one full day a week and work Sundays in order to keep the city within its daily power quota of 348,480 kilowatt hours.

The Public Utilities announced the order this morning in the face of mounting power consumption. Earlier it had threatened such action, but voluntary methods had brought the city under quota. However the new seven per cent cut last week, plus higher demand caused by shorter colder days, produced the new order which is effective Monday. A schedule of daily shut downs has been drawn up.

Save 10 Million In Timber In Fire Areas

BLIND RIVER, Nov. 10.—(CP)—One of the biggest timber salvage jobs ever tackled in Canada is going full blast in the fire-blackened Missassagi forest northwest of here.

Its object is to reclaim as much as possible of the valuable white pine and jack pine scathed last summer by Northern Ontario's giant forest fires. Fire-killed timber, worth perhaps $10,000,000 altogether, is being cut down and put into the Mississagi river as protection against insect damage.

Lands Department officials estimate that the 900 men engaged in the operation will save up to 200,000,000 board feet of timber, equivalent to one-third of the total normal yearly yield of Ontario forests.

The men, crack woods workers supplied on a contract basis by some of the north country's largest timber operators, are working against time. Unless the most valuable stands of pine are salvaged before spring, insect attacks next summer could cause heavy damage.

Less Pressing

The case of second-rate timber and the pulpwood in the burnt-over stands is less pressing. Operations next year and in other seasons to come will deal with it. Insect attack on pulpwood inflicts little damage, so far as the market price and the demand for pulp logs is concerned.

The best of the salvaged timber may find its way into railway ties or gold-mine props and shoring. Some of it will be used in heavy construction calling for high-grade material.

In the most heavily burned limits of the Missisagi, the fires, which burned from late May until the end of July, destroyed much of the fruits of 100 years of growth. But the ashes had barely cooled before foresters started replanting the trees by dropping seeds from planes. Already most of the seeds have sprouted and taken root.

Loses His Appeal

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—(CP). — Harris H. Richardson's appeal against a sentence imposed in Hamilton Dec. 27, 1947, upon his conviction on a charge of assault and robbery while armed was dismissed Tuesday. Richardson must serve eight years in penitentary and undergo 12 strokes of the cat-o-nine-tails, together with a concurrent two-year term for automobile theft. Time already served will count.

Fire Levels Farmhouse In Manvers

BETHANY, Nov. 10. (ENS) — Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shea on the 11th Concession of Manvers township about four miles north of Bethany village Monday night.

The family had retired for the night and were aroused by the barking of their dog to find the house enveloped in smoke and the partition from the outer kitchen into the bedroom, in which the children were sleeping, already in flames.

The telephone alarm was answered by neighbors and villagers, but the fire spread so rapidly in the frame building that no contents of the upper floor could be saved. Most of the furniture was removed from the downstairs, with the exception of the kitchen and the children's bedroom. No clothing of the children could be saved.

The family spent the night at the home of Mr. Shea's brother, Murray Shea, and Tuesday went to his father's Eldridge Shea, until living accommodation can be found.

Mr. Shea had just bought the farm about a year ago, coming there from Oshawa. There are three children in the family, aged four years, two years and fourteen months. The local Red Cross Society and the Women's Institute are arranging temporary help in the way of clothing and furniture.

Fined $10 For Taking Ducks At Oshawa

WHITBY, Nov. 10.—Convicted of stealing ducks from the farm of J. J. Fleming, where he was employed as manager, Clifford Marnien was Tuesday fined $10 and costs or ten days. His wife, Bernice Marnien, was acquitted on the same count for lack of evidence.

The charges were an aftermath of the "Hallowe'en hoax" in which Clarence Smith, 18, hired hand, and Cecil Winacott, 16, Mrs. Marnien's brother, claimed "we were fired upon by at least six armed men and shot back in self-defense."

Both youths pleaded guilty last week on charges of "causing a public mischief" and admitted the whole story to be a fabrication. Prior to their arrest they said over 50 ducks had been stolen from the premises by mysterious marauders. They were each given a year's suspended sentence by Magistrate F. S. Ebbs.

Industrials Continue Downward In Trading

TORONTO, Nov. 10—(CP). — Industrials continued downward as trading slackened on the Stock Exchange here today. Golds firmed after slipping in early trading and base metals moved irregularly easier.

Steels and papers continued to lead industrials as they slipped steadily downhill. Utilities also weakened and foods and refining oils were fractionally easier. Losses were generally confined to fractions with key issues showing the widest changes. International Paper added ¼.

Base metals bounced up and down with action slowing up. Smelters recovered an early fractional loss only to slip in mid-session 1¼. Noranda, Quemont, Waite Amulet, Labrador and Falconbridge were among the later losers.

Junior golds continued active on mild advances. Hollinger and Wright-Hargreaves brightened in the seniors.

TO ADDRESS VETERANS

Col. G. M. Fitzgerald, Orangeville, will be the speaker at the annual Remembrance Day banquet to be held in the Legion Hall, Thursday evening. Col. Fitzgerald is one of the most active veterans in the affairs of returned men, and is known across Canada for his work in the Legion.

Social Credit Urges Canada Aid In Air Lift

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Solon Low, National Social Credit leader, believes that what the Allies need in Berlin are bigger planes and radio stations to counter Russian propaganda.

There was also the need for Canadian participation in the Berlin airlift, he said Tuesday night in an address before the closing convention of the Ontario Social Credit Association.

The Allies must stay in Berlin. "If they do not, they will lose prestige—and Berlin."

Recently returned from a trip to Germany, Mr. Low said larger planes are needed to carry supplies into the beleaguered allied sections of Berlin.

"Canada should do her share by supplying pilots for some of these planes."

"I believe Canada should stand beside the other members of the Commonwealth to see that Germany does not surrender to Russia."

Radio stations should be established in Berlin by Britain, France and the United States to counteract Russian propaganda being transmitted daily over the powerful Russian stations in that city.

Mr. Low added that the Berlin situation was 'one of the slender threads by which the peace of the world hangs today."

He admired the "magnificent restraint" shown by the Allies in the face of Russian antagonizing behavior. If this restrain continued, there would not be a war in the "near future."

Defence Asks

sentence is passed by the court.

It is believed that Mrs. McAllister will be taken to Kingston penitentiary later this week.

One letter, sent to defence counsel Harry E. Richardson of Lindsay was from a man who urged that a public petition be started to have the accused pardoned and that "the government" send her back to her home in Scotland.

Mrs. McAllister herself has also received mail from well-wishers.

Not Suspend Sentence

Mr. Justice Treleaven said he could not accept the suggestion of Mr. Richardson that the sentence be suspended, which is possible for a manslaughter charge. In reaching the three-year sentence, His Lordship said that he had taken into consideration the "strong recommendation for mercy" which the jury had added to its verdict. He said he had also considered the prisoner's ill-health and that "she is not criminally inclined."

Mr. Richardson urged the suspended sentence on the grounds that "her need now is for medical treatment, not punitive confinement."

He said that "imprisonment is designed for those persons who have menaced society." By the jury's recommendataion, he felt, it showed the "slight degree of blame" which the jury had placed on Mrs. McAllister. He pointed out that His Lordship had also commented that he was satisfied that "there was great provocation here."

The young lawyer added that Mrs. McAllister has been offered a home and friendship by a Scottish girl, Miss Ada Bond of Hamilton. Miss Bond, who worked with the accused "Jean" for some time in a Hamilton factory, has been her "closest friend" throughout. The young woman, who had wanted to return to Scotland, now seems to favor the idea of remaining in this country.

Mrs. McAllister still wore the same outfit she had worn throughout the trial: black coat, small hat, wool sweater and hair ribbon and dark red plaid wool skirt. Her face, which had been pale and drawn as the trial drew to a close, now showed healthier color.

Paratrooper

It was believed Lieut. Lynch, after inspecting his men, had failed to close completely the hook which locked his "static line" to an anchor line in the transport aircraft. The "static line" hauls the main parachute out of its pack.

All paratroops in training were impressed with the danger of failing to close the locking hook, authorities said.

Control tower officers, who followed the jumpers through binoculars, were the first to know an accident had occurred. An ambulance reached the scene five minutes after Lieut. Lynch fell, but he died about an hour later.

Fog Blankets London

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Reuters)—Aircraft were grounded and road and rail traffic delayed in southwest England today by the thickest fog since last winter. In London, after a spectacular crimson dawn, the fog settled down and blurred roads, railroads and airfields. Aircraft could neither take off nor land at London Airport, and early flights were postponed. Normal conditions were not expected before noon.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(AP).—Russia called on the Security Council in secret session today to order negotiations between Jews and Arabs for peace in Palestine.

German University Snubs Russ Big Shot, Now Purged

BERLIN, Nov. 10 — (AP). — Jena University snubbed a Russian big shot two weeks ago. Now it has been purged.

Dr. Friedrich Hund, internationally known president of the venerable institution, had to resign, and Professor Hans Leisegang, 58-year-old philosopher, was fired by the Russian-controlled Ministry of Education in the Soviet-occupied Thuringia.

The charge: They were "hostile to our new democracy."

Dr. Marie Torhorst, Moscow-trained Minister of Education, said:

"On October 25 one of the most important representatives of Soviet science, dean of the philosophy department of Moscow University, Professor Tschemodemoff, held a lecture at Jena University.

"Of this lecture, which was highly important from a scientific as well as a political viewpoint, Jena University took no notice at all, although the president had been informed well in advance.

"Realizing his severe neglect of this occasion, Dr. Hund offered his resignation.

"Professor Leisegang stated his hostile attitude toward our new democracy in a manner so unveiled and harsh that his immediate dismissal had to be ordered by Frau Dr. Torhorst."

There have been previous reports of rebellion at the university in the form of student strikes against the education ministry.

Remembrance Day

THIRTY YEARS ago to-day the "Cease Fire" command ended World War 1. And on that day we honored those who had died to give us peace. To-day, added to that honor roll are those who gave their lives in the second great world conflict. It is not enough this Armistice Day to honor the brave dead of two wars by bowing our heads in prayer. Only by each of us working assiduously to prevent another war—working to build an everlasting Peace—can we pay them deserving tribute.

Rumor Annoys Newsmen; No Body Found

COBOURG, Nov. 10—(ENS)—One of the wildest rumors ever to start in Cobourg, commenced rolling on Monday evening and reached such a stage of circulation yesterday that provincial police, bombarded with enquiries, issued a statement denying that a girl's body had been found in the Shelter Valley district. The rumors ranged from an unknown girl to one named Betty Anderson.

It is correct that 16-year-old Betty Anderson, who lives out near Creighton's Hill, north of Cobourg, has been missing since Oct. 30 and municipal and provincial police have been provided with her description. However she has not been found, and police are not of the opinion that any foul play has been involved.

Her mother, Mrs. Henry Anderson, said that her daughter left to go to the show on the night she disappeared and that since then she has received no word. However, she concedes it possible that the girl may be visiting relatives at Sarnia. Police have been informed that the missing girl was seen with a girl who had been out on probation from the Ontario Training School for Girls, and who had been working at a local hotel. This girl has also left her job and left town.

The rumors received an impetus when a beverage room patron misunderstood when he heard two insurance men discussing payment of a policy to a person with a name similar to "Anderson" and immediately started to broadcast that the rumor of the Anderson girl being found was correct and that he had heard arrangements for payment of her insurance policy, discussed.

The weekend death of a Cobourg woman who was found dead in her apartment, apparently from natural causes, was another factor which led to confusing the incident with the Anderson girl. By Tuesday the yarn was going through the town like wildfire and just to be sure, newspapers plagued by calls checked with the police who had been kept busy denying the story.

"There is nothing to the story of her being found," was the statement from the provincial police office.

"Absolutely nothing to it," declared Chief of Police W. J. Carey.

Plan 100 New Homes In Lindsay Next Year

LINDSAY, Nov. 12.—There is a move in Lindsay to build 100 new houses under the Integrated Housing Plan sponsored by the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation. The local builder interested is L. T. Braunton, who told the town council this week that he required two pieces of town property.

These are a field in the East Ward, where he says he can build about 60 houses and the property on the north side of Howard Ave., where he claims that providing the town moves the new street, Margaret Ave., to the south, they will be able to erect 32 houses.

Reeve McFadden said that the council would consider the matter. A committee will immediately contact the Central Mortgage and the property owners on Kent St.

Mr. Braunton added that he hopes to start in the spring.

Finds Driving Car An Expensive Habit

WHITBY, Nov. 10. — Driving without a license is getting to be a habit for Fred Chomisky, Whitby. In Oshawa police court Monday he was convicted of driving while his license was under suspension, fined $100 and costs, and had his car ordered impounded for three months. In addition, he had to post a bond of $500 that he would not drive again during this period.

Ordered to take his car to Whitby, where it was to be impounded, Chomisky drove to the Oshawa liquor store instead and embarked on a grand tour which included Lindsay. Re-arrested early Tuesday morning, he appeared before Magistrate F. S. Ebbs on the same charge, pleaded guilty, and was remanded until Friday for sentence. At yesterday's hearing he was also fined $25 and costs for speeding.

Thirteen New Cases

COBOURG, Nov. 10—(ENS)—Thirteen new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending November 6th, the counties health unit said yesterday. Of these nine were chickenpox, one each of red measles and scarlet fever and two of tuberculosis. With the exception of three cases of chickenpox in Cobourg, all the instances of communicable disease are in rural sections of Northumberland and Durham.

Drew Stresses Strengthening Party Group

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

HALIFAX, Nov. 10.—(CP). — George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, told a group of supporters Tuesday night that organization will have to be strengthened if the party is going to win the next Federal election.

In a speech at the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Drew said that if the party's candidates were going to win, organization was vitally necessary. But party organization alone would not bring victory unless the people believed that the Progressive Conservatives would carry out the policies for which they stood.

The meeting was one of a number of events on the heavy schedule being followed by the 54-year-old former Ontario premier during his current tour of the Maritimes. He arrived here Tuesday from Charlottetown.

Drop Party Criticism

In his pep talk on organizational work, Mr. Drew said he does not think the party should criticize Liberals as Liberals. The Progressive Conservatives should rather make their purpose clear.

'Many Liberals will support us because they know that the present government has abandoned all Liberal principles."

He stressed that in the vote uncast in the last Federal election rested the possibility of the party's victory in many ridings. But at the same time he warned against trying any "shortcuts to power."

"I hope our party will stand party attempt to imitate Socialism or any other Allied form of government which has undermined every country in which it has been trned.

"$I hope our party will stand without any fear or equivocation as a bulwark against Communism ever becoming a threat in Canada."

Needs Going-Over

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 — (AP). — The 150-year-old White House has given new evidence it needs a going-over: Margaret Truman's grand piano almost fell through the floor. The story came Tuesday from Mrs. India Edwards, head of the women's division, Democratic National Committee.

Mrs. Edwards said the President's daughter made the discovery recently when she returned to the White House and found the piano sitting lopsided in her room on the second floor. Investigating, Margaret found one leg of the piano had gone through the floor. Space between prevented it from punching a hole in the oval ceiling of the family dining-room beneath.

MIGRAINE: "I suffer periodically from migraine headaches which nearly drive me mad. Is there any cure for them? By the way, what does migraine mean?"
Usually the ache is in one side of the head; hence the name "migraine," a corruption of the Latin term "hemicrania" meaning half the head. Migraine headaches, the doctors tell us, result from eye-strain, nerve-strain, worry and too much fussy attention to detail. Such headaches usually attack high-strung folks who try to load too much into one day. The doctors' advice —take it easier.

VITAMIN E: "What is the source of vitamin E? I've read that Dr. Vogel advocates vitamin E for heart and kidneys."
Sources of Vitamin E are: wheat-germ oil and leafy green vegetables such as lettuce, spinach and watercress.

FLOUR BAG LETTERING: "I have saved up forty flour bags! But can't remove the lettering. Do you have a good solution? The cotton is so firm."
One successful method is to wet the lettering in vinegar, rub lard into all the lettering, roll up and leave overnight. In the morning, wash in warm soapy water. Another method is to soak the bags in a solution of half water glass and half water overnight, then wash out in the morning.

LIPSTICK: "How can I remove lipstick from my chenille bedspread? My small son got hold of my lipstick and I wish you could see the spread!"
Tamblyn's have a lipstick remover called Liporem, which should make short work of the stains.

Mines Of Power

Coal and iron spawned the wealth and power of the nineteenth century. Petroleum has pullulated the twentieth century's. Uranium may be the vital force of the twenty-first. These minerals propel civilization into ugliness, cruelty and destruction; they can also serve it. They scar the face of the earth and harden mankind's; they can also provide ease and material benefit. These are the resources of power, for good or evil. Whatever use civilized man puts them to, they will be used, for they are power: iron, petroleum, and now uranium.

• • •

From uranium has come the atomic bomb and from it may come civilized uses. For both reasons, the realized one and the possible one, the ore is critically important. Three days ago an American research scientist estimated gravely that the United States' uranium reserves would be exhausted in thirty years if the rate of production is constant. What effect that scarcity will have on American wealth, political power and foreign policy in the next fifty years can not even be guessed. Canada is more fortunate in its known uranium deposits. The day after the American scientist's warning, news came from Sault Ste. Marie of the discovery of another large uranium deposit. If uranium means power in the twenty-first century, Canada will not be the least powerful among nations. It is not comforting to realize that Russia has also vast quantities of the radioactive ore.

The Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood

We are deeply grieved to have to announce that almost nobody except ourself seems to be giving two hoots in celebration of the centenary of the founding of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood in 1848. We cannot let the year pass without noticing the centenary and paying our mite of tribute to the ideals if not to all the works of the group of men who were pleased to suffix to their names the initials P.R.B. Another such group is needed in our cold, harshly modern and unornamental times, even in Ontario. That is another reason for calling our readers' attention now to the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood.

In 1848 seven young Englishmen, most of them painters, united to resist existing conventions in art and literature. Their purpose was to break away from the bad taste and empty artificiality of the times. They expected to do this by a return to art forms as they supposed them to exist in European art before the time of Raphael — therefore they took the name "Pre-Raphaelite". They sought to bring back the old ideal of the craftsman who could make things not only useful but beautiful in shape, line, pattern and colour. It was to be a brotherhood of craftsmen.

Among the seven young men were John Everett Millais, who painted the pictures 'Ophelia', 'Chill October' and 'The Princes in the Tower', and was knighted; Holman Hunt whose painting 'The Light of the World' is his best known but extravagantly over-rated by sentimental Christians; and the great poet and painter D. G. Rossetti. John Ruskin was a champion of the group and Burne-Jones and William Morris were sympathizers.

These men attempted to make things that were beautiful as well as useful, decorative as well as serviceable, to fuse art and daily life. They made stained-glass windows, textiles, dyes and furniture. They decorated walls. They painted panels. They designed cartoons for tapestry and wallpaper. They printed and illustrated books. And of course they painted pictures and wrote poetry. As a pendulum swings from one side to the other, so "movements" in the arts go to extremes. Thus did the Pre-Raphaelites and particularly their imitators. Too many decorative lilies appeared on too many canvases; ornament became a burdensome principle of art. Furniture developed odd knobs and twists, buildings fantastically decorated appeared (for instance the chapel of Keble College in Oxford). Nevertheless, the Pre-Raphaelite movement did give richness through ornament and colour, and brought artistic design back to the daily world.

The P.R.B. deserves to be honoured in these times of angular furniture, antiseptic living rooms, rectangular buildings and cold chromium.

Is This A Dominion?

An interesting controversy has arisen as to whether our country is properly called "The Dominion of Canada" or simply "Canada". A few days ago Mr. St. Laurent said that although the name had long been thought to be The Dominion of Canada a bright young lawyer had done some investigating and had discovered that it was Canada and nothing else.

The British North America Act should provide a decision on this point, and in the opening of Part II of that document these words are found:

"It shall be lawful for the Queen, by and with the Advice of Her Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, to declare by proclamation that, on and after a Day therein appointed, not being more than Six Months after the passing of this Act, the Provinces of Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick shall form and be One Dominion under the Name of Canada; and on and after that Day those Three Provinces shall form and be One Dominion under that name accordingly.... The Name Canada shall be taken to mean Canada as constituted under this Act".

That seems clear enough. The name is simply Canada.

Nevertheless, there is evidence that Queen Victoria preferred the longer title. Lord Carnarvon, who saw the B.N.A. Act through the British Parliament in 1867 wrote; "Her Majesty has been pleased to express her approval of the name, and henceforth the United Provinces will be known as 'The Dominion of Canada'." And as everyone knows it was the wish of many Canadian statesmen of the period that the word Dominion should be used.

And thus, although our official name appears to be Canada—pure and simple —we think that the richer title of The Dominion of Canada will continue in use. We have grown to like it, and have brought honour to it.

Courtship Under Difficulties

Recently a Toronto man forcibly interrupted a young man and a girl who were sitting in a car which was parked on a public road adjoining his property; they brought a charge of assault against him, and this was dismissed by a Toronto magistrate, who said that the young people had no business parking where they did. There is, we feel, a lack of justice, common humanity and wisdom in this decision.

The young people had parked in order to make love; the place was dark and obscure, and they were not offending against decency in any way. An officious snooper intruded upon them and when they appealed to the law, the law rebuked them and upheld the snooper.

Snoopers who prowl the night, eagerly hoping that they will discover something discreditable, are common enough; they are usually impotent men and half-cracked women who, though malignant, are incapable of much harm. But a magistrate should be a man of broad sympathies and discernment; he should know, for instance, that the present housing shortage has made it impossible for thousands of young people to have privacy anywhere except in a parked car. He should know how vitally necessary privacy is to courting couples. And he should know that what goes on in parked cars is rarely prejudicial to public morals, although it is not suitable for public examination.

In this case we feel that the magistrate might have shown greater sympathy with youth.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A lawyer in Indiana says that the U.S. constitution gives people the right to go naked if they want to. Fifth Freedom—freedom from clothes.

Somebody who is interested in such things says that fathers age faster than mothers. It's rough doing the shopping, but it's even harder paying the bills.

A man has testified in a Californian court that ten women married him before he was 24, "because he appealed to their motherly instincts". It seems a funny way to gratify such instincts.

A British movie actress resents a report that her nose has been "reconstructed". Nevertheless, as the job was done in Hollywood by a French surgeon she can now boast that she possesses the shortest international bridge in the world.

A Chicago doctor says that taking exercise that you don't like will not keep you fit. We have long supported another school of health, which relied on the teaching of the music hall song, "A little o' what you fancy does you good".

CANADIAN CAUSERIE

More Untidy History

By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

THEATRE people have a phrase about that incomparable pair of actors Alfred Lunt and his wife Lynn Fontanne; they say that they could hold an audience simply by reading out a Telephone Directory to each other. I feel rather the same way about Historian Gourlay. When he plunges into one of his great lists of families who settled the Ottawa Valley over a hundred years ago I find myself reading it with all the interest that one gives to yesterday's Births, Deaths, and Marriages. And my reaction is much the same: how irrespressible is the human race!

'Gibsons, Richards, Munroes, Aldridges, Penneys, Youngs, Floods, Shouldices, Taylors, Ross, Dolans, McDonell's, Capells, Keegans, all settled in between 1824 and 1840....In 1825 the McCormicks, Owens, Grants, Thomas and Henry Fraser, Gleeson, Haliday, Willis, Marshall and Keeting all settled on the banks of the Carp or near them. The McVicars, Russels, Ritchies were nearer Pakenham. The Rodisons, Moorheads, Moorhouses, Armstrongs took up all the lands eastward and into Huntley, south of the Carp. On its north side were Frasers, Gourlays, Laughlans, Stevensons, McMillans, Bairds, Greens, Fergusons, Gabies, Hodgins, Bradleys, Featherstones'....

On and on they come! Like Moses looking down on the promised land Gourlay views the great procession winding up his beloved green valley....

'The outlook is on the north side with the clear blue waves of the flood rolling along bearing on their bosom to man and everything that breathes, health-inspiring breezes, building up bone and muscle, enriching the blood, invigorating the brain, and the mind, contributing to the health and pleasure of a race of men as hardy, patient and laborious, brave, intellectual and scholarly as are to be found in any clime, or in any division of the human family on the face of the wide world.'

✧ ✧ ✧

EVEN the old ones seemed preternaturally robust and virile. In Huntley, for example, which Gourlay visited in 1833, "one man was ninety and his wife 80. The man's hair was still black, though his wife's was gray. They had five sons and two daughters. The youngest was a beautiful girl then in her teens." And there was the Episcopal Clergyman "who went home to England at 70 or more and brought out a young wife." All around honest craftsmen were creating satisfying things: "Bob Boyd made carts where Steinson lived, carts for oxen with great hubs, flat iron bands put in to take a great axle-tree that could not be broken. They were beauties in their way."

✧ ✧ ✧

AND the girls—ah there's a picture indeed! "The day being over and the work done ....the music of the human voice divine puts life and mettle in their heels, and dancing follows, the young ladies looking as bright as bottled ale."

Is this then Utopia? Is nothing wrong? Oh yes—plenty!

'Alas! Falsehood seems to be perpetuated down among our politicians in overflowing measure, having inherited it from their father who was a liar from the beginning and abode not in the truth." Governors must have made lying somehow respectable, for there are many members of the House who are such known stretchers that no one believes them even if they stumble on the truth at odd times. How the abyss is enlarging itself for these fellows! How sad and humiliating to think, that men for a little unreal distinction in this world, voluntarily bind themselves in chains of everlasting darkness of heat without light for ever and ever.'

SO much for politicians in general. But there is more mischief in them than mere lying. For their lying they will go to Hell; but for their extravagance with public money —no mind can conceive punishment extreme enough. One form of extravagance especially enrages him. It strikes an unexpected note nowadays:

'What they waste wilfully in a year on the Experimental Farm to no purpose would deepen all the streams in the flat lands and drain and make healthy the large tracts of country under their very eyes but never looked at....We have carefully consulted the farmers on every side, they are unanimous in their opinion, that it is an experiment ten times more costly than profitable, that it serves neither for ornament nor use, but only to assist in beggaring the people. No practical farmer can adopt its plans, unless he has an income behind it to carry out the projects, and then he would be the loser every year. A gentleman from Quebec said he need not take home his horses after they stood some hours in the equi-palatial stables of the Experimental, as he would not be able to get them to enter their own poor establishment under the whip.'

I SUPPOSE we still have politicians amongst us who are hell-bent. But everyone will agree that the Experimental Farmers have worked their passage to a better place. And I'm sure that Gourlay, looking down from the heights upon the golden harvests now streaming into the elevators of the West, would offer these men handsome apologies and make a little place for them on his shining cloud.

SPOOKY

A house agent had a farm on his books which was supposed to be haunted, and to prove rumour wrong he decided to engage a man to stay there for one night.

The following day he was up early and went round to see how the man had fared. But the man was not to be found. On the lawn he discovered the remains of a window, sash and shutters completely wrecked, but of the watchman there was no sign.

Four days later the house agent came across him tramping along a country lane three miles away.

"Hello, George!" he cried. "Where have you been all this time?"

The man wiped the perspiration from his brow. "Boss," he replied, "I've been coming back."

Letters To The Editor

DESPOILING OUR PARKS?

Sir: I quite agree with "Taxpayer's" letter regarding the way our outstanding beauty spots in parks are more and more being deliberately blotted out as it were. It is as though some one were setting out to do away with all our natural beauty spots. "Here is a lovely view or landscape, let's hide it."

Take our city parks for instance. There is not one now that has not been taken over by some service club and filled with amusement devices and the green lawns made into sand heaps. Noisy clanking devices of one kind and another. I know the accent is all on youth now-a-days but surely the adult population has a right to some place where they can sit and be quiet and enjoy the beauties of nature on a hot summer day. Where can they go? Certainly not to the parks which have all been handed over as playgrounds."

I maintain there should have been other sites available for these playgrounds.

Think of the lovely spot "Riverside" Park was in the late Walter Stocker's time and just view it as it is now, all broken up into land heaps and various equipment which to say the least, do nothing to enhance the surroundings. I venture to say there will be very little grass there even in a few years' time.

Then too these yards of ugly looking snow fences stretched around our parks spoil the whole surroundings. I notice even in the Oval, the last outpost that has hitherto remained untouched, there are signs of deterioration, the beautiful green torn up by spikes on football boots and places where cars have ground away all signs of grass that once was untouched.

Is there to be no halt to this continual depreciation of our loveliest natural parks? Or is sport the only consideration? Who is responsible for the handing over of all these places to certain interests?

Yours truly,
"ANOTHER TAXPAYER."

MEMORIAL CENTRE SITE

Sir: I read with interest in Friday, November 5th edition of the meeting the finance committee of the council Thursday night in reference to the Memorial Centre.

I think like Mr. Jebson that it is high time the site for this Centre should be decided. I am sure most people, especially the South Enders are weary of the meetings of the council and building committee trying to decide where this Centre is going to be built.

But surely both these parties should realize what a pity it would be to build it where already is a park of great beauty. King Edward Park is used by hundreds of children through summer to play. Many of these children would be deprived of this, and would have no other place to play as they with their parents live in apartments or one and two rooms. It is also used by many out of town shoppers who wish to eat out in the fresh air in the hot weather, by people who come to visit our city and picnic there, and also by many families who in their cramped rooms get relief from the torrid heat by eating their meals under the shady trees.

When the Examiner quotes Mr. Outram (our City Clerk) as saying "they don't use it enough to keep the grass down", I am sure Mr. Outram has never visited or driven by in this vicinity or attended any of the football, baseball games or band concerts. I am greatly surprised at a man holding the position Mr. Outram does, to make such an unfounded statement.

Without taking into consideration of using this park for the above mentioned, it would be nothing short of sacrilege to cut down any of these beautiful old trees.

The council I believe paid a certain Dr. Faludi, I think his name was; something in the matter of ten thousand dollars to plan our fair city and this said gentleman stated that already Peterborough was short of parks so why tear up King Edward Park and again make one less.

Then also the Children's Aid is also a lovely spot with its nice big home, spacious lawns, beautiful flowers and trees. The council and property committee are always maintaining they do their utmost in practicing rigid economy in all their plans, so surely they would not dare to go to the further expenditure of thirty-five or forty thousand dollars to buy a situation where they would have to knock down the buildings already there and again fell trees, which would take another forty or so years to replace.

Let us build the Centre where now is a sore spot in our city, like across from George St. wharf where there would be no hazard of a traffic tie-up. We all know it could be built there with a little engineering from those who know. Many hundreds of places all over Canada have been built on just such foundations, similar to the one we have at the wharf. Then there is the Exhibition Grounds which surely is anything but a beauty spot, although tearing part of that old wooden fence down did improve it a little. It would be a fine spot for the Centre, and some landscaping would make it quite lovely. Again we know the council could figure out a way and means of procuring part of these grounds. The ample space would afford ideal parking space. The residents would be able to call their peace their own then and not find it necessary to have their peace bombarded by people parking all over, tracking their lawns, throwing out empty beer bottles and all sorts of paper wrappings.

When Ald. Doug. Miller states that he thinks the petition about King Edward Park was only half-hearted, I believe he will change his mind as we South Enders do not want our property depreciating any, especially when our taxes are soaring the way they are, and believe me, we are going to put up one good fight to keep this site from going in what now are two of the most beautiful spots in the city of Peterborough. I am doubly sure that not a man in either the city council or the building committee would care to have this site built at their front door.

Thanking you sincerely for this space, I am,
Yours very truly,
A SOUTH ENDER.

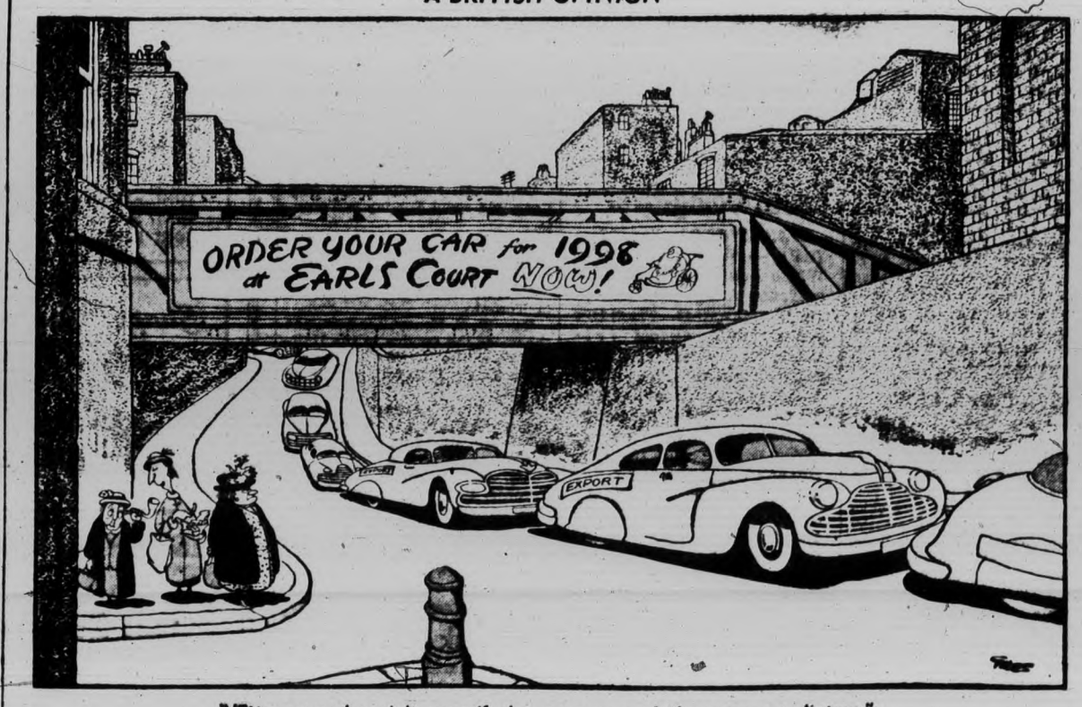
A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)



Lord, what is man, that thou takest knowledge of him! or the son of man, that thou makest account of him! Man is like to vanity: his days are as a shadow that passeth away....

Rid me, and deliver me from the hand of strange children, whose mouth speaketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood. (Ps. 144: 3, 4, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, vanity of vanties; all is vanity....One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever. (Eccl. 1: 2, 4.)

(In New York, Cunard-White Star officials said the Aquitania should arrive in Halifax Nov. 17.)

The public mischief charge was laid in connection with the disappearnace last Sept 13 of Mrs. Emma Pohl, 37-year-old housewife.

(The decomposed body of Mrs. Pohl was found near Plattsville, Oct. 15.

(Police who questioned William Stuart quoted him as saying he met Mrs. Pohl the day she disappeared, paid off a $600 debt he owed her for two yeears and was given a receipt. A handwriting expert described the receipt as a forgery.)

A week ago in London, where she had been visiting friends, Mrs. Stuart said she had what she believed was vital evidence concerning the money which allegedly passed between her son and Mrs. Pohl.

She said Mrs. Pohl had told her in private that she had given William $600 to buy a car for "mutual pleasure."

BACK FROM PALESTINE—Tanned but wearied by the long overseas trip, David Croll, MP for Spadina, Toronto, and former Mayor of Windsor, passed through Montreal recently on the last leg of his return trip from a fact-finding tour of the Palestine area. A military man himself, he led the Scottish Essex Regiment to the Near East to get some first-hand information on the political and military situation in the Holy Land. He also attended sessions of UN.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Have you ever been out in the great alone,
Just getting a bead on a deer,
When gun gets shaking as knees start quaking—
Well, brother, don't you feel queer?

Yeah, that's buck fever, likewise applicable to a doe or fawn. It's not good, folks. Just set to fire a slug as that big hunk of venison bounds into the sights when—wham!—the shakes hit you. As the barrel waves, the deer bounds off and you either miss it by two city blocks or the finger just freezes helplessly on the trigger. Relax, brother, hold the rifle loose and steady, hold your breath and squeeze the trigger. After all, a deer doesn't shoot back.

Oshawa Collegiate and the junior PCI-ers tangle at the Oval tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon. On Remembrance Day. Return game of their COSSA group finals, points to count. Finishing strong in the Motor City last Saturday, Coach Alex Londry's lads of PCVS won the opener 16-6 to tote a 10-point lead into the return joust here. They should win the round but will likely have a stiff battle before Oshawa will concede it. Both pretty well matched teams with good aerial attacks, and they play it wide open. Classy local gridders are well worth watching, and this game should draw a big crowd.

'Twas All Too True

Ed Haynes of Cobourg writes: "This fellow was one of a scouting safari to Orillia on Saturday where the Bombers of that city qualified to meet the Galloping Ghosts in ORFU playoffs this Saturday. A sudden-death contest in Orillia as the locals lost the toss at a committee meeting in Toronto. In the game against Peterborough, which the Bombers won 15-5 to take the round 23-5, Orillia looked very much the masters of their victims. The Panthers had little to offer in the way of offensive strength except a numerical superiority in players and this was just not enough.

* * * * * *

"Orillia appear to be about 25 per cent stronger than in 1947 when the Ghosts shunted them into the discard. All of their '47 mainstays are back on the job with a few newcomers. The Bombers have kept their club pretty well together for three consecutive seasons and now have just that much more experience. Certainly on their performance Saturday they must be rated as an even money choice or better against Cobourg for they are this year presenting the strongest Orillia squad ever to seek gridiron glory. With the forward pass, they have added the necessary ground attack. Both majors against Peterborough resulted from the land route. They tackled viciously and fought at times to display again that old college try so typical of former Orillia squads." And you're not kidding.

Brintons Hit Them

Cracking the timber at a 3023 clip, Brintons took high pinnage this week in the Girls' Bowling League. With J. Alexander of Brintons rolling top threesome of 707 as well as winning on the blind score, a figure of 753. Towne Togs hit 1076 for the best team single count, and Betty Castle of Outboards slammed a nice 316 to lead individual singletons. Whitewash was slapped about quite carelessly as four teams daubed it on their opponents for 3-0 victories, only one set winding up in a 2-1 decision. Usually, the competition is pretty keen in the colleens' trundling circuit.

Petes had their puck practice last gloaming in Lindsay and we'll have something on them soon. Meantime, Legionnaires pull out from their hall at 5.30 tomorrow eve for a workout on Lindsay ice, and they go to Belleville on Sunday, leaving at nine a.m. from the Murray St. hall. This club, too, is playing it pretty close to the vest and it's like yanking hens' teeth to get any info on prospective players. But we know some of last year's group champion squad will be wearing Legion livery again, and there'll be several newcomers, no doubt. A little later in the week we'll deal with a few sure bets on the 1948-49 lineup, and after Sunday's practice should have a fair line on the club for the coming hockey campaign.

Juniors Shape Up

Andy Price of the Triple Link junior "B" club tells us the boys will have a workout in Lindsay on Saturday, leaving the hall on George St. at 3.30. Prospective players under 20 by Nov. 1 of this year are invited, but bring whatever equipment you have. Some 30 players so far have been lined up, including a number of young chaps who came to Peterborough the past year, and also some promising local talent. A number of drills are in prospect so that the squad will be in real shape when the schedule opens. With a good grouping likely and home games in the Civic Arena each week, things look quite bright for the junior Oddfellows this puck season.

MONTREAL ALOUETTES are ready for their Big Four two-game championship series against Ottawa Rough Riders after walloping Hamilton Wildcats, 26-9, at Hamilton. Here Big Jim Oldenberg, the ball carrier for Wildcats, is wheeling around ready to get going, as Bovaird and Valiquette block out a Montreal player, with No. 24, Frank Gnup, the Wildcat playing coach, watching the play.

Cunningham Will Play In Big 4 Opener

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—(CP).—Montreal Alouettes' hopes received a shot in the arm today when it was announced that halfback Bob Cunningham would play in the Big Four play-off opener here tomorrow.

Cunningham has been one of the most potent Alouette groundgainers this season.

"Cunningham will be ready but he may have to be used sparingly in the opener," coach Lew Hayman said.

This cuts the Als injured list to two men. Definitely out for the season is Steve Chamko who was high up in the running for the Joey Richman trophy, awarded annually to the best Montreal lineman. Steve is in hospital with a kidney injury received in last week-end's game at Hamilton.

The other Alouette sidelined for the remainder of the season is Ralph Webber, 220-pound middle. He received a wrenched knee earlier in the fall.

The betting boys around Montreal who set the prices are rating the Rough Riders as 7-5 favorites to win the series. The Als are favored to win the opener with a three-point margin and the Ottawa squad is figured to win the second in Ottawa Saturday with an eight-point edge. The play-off is a two-game total-point series.

The Eastern Canada football final will be a two-game, total-point series for the first time in history if Hamilton Tigers beat Toronto Beaches Indians and make the finals.

President Jack Lang said in Hamilton Tuesday night both Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes—Big Four playoff contenders—had agreed to play two games.

Tigers won the first game of their best-of-three playoff series with Toronto.

FRANK FILCHOCK, kicked out of pro football in the US in a New York bribery scandal, was awarded the Imperial Oil trophy as outstanding player in the Ontario Rugby Union. The 32-year-old native of Pittsburgh, Pa., is the second US import in succession to win the trophy. Last year it went to Bob Paffrath, former Minnesota gridman. Filchock's Hamilton Tigers went through an undefeated season, and are one game up on Beaches-Indians in the ORFU playoffs.

At Saskatoon, Kent Phillips, Canadian Rugby Union president, said Tuesday night that unless arrangements for an East-West Junior football final can be made before Saturday, there may not be any final. He was commenting on a report from Myer Insky, head of a committee set up to arrange for the Canadian Junior final, that the group would meet to discuss arrangements as soon as the eastern finalist is decided.

Montreal Canadiens split up into two teams for an exhibition game in Valleyfield, Que., Tuesday night with the Whites defeating the Reds 6-3.

Proceeds of the game went to the Valleyfield Braves Junior team of the Quebec Junior Hockey League Association compensation for the transfer of star forward Bernie Quesnel. Quesnel, league leading scorer in the J.A.H.A. last season when playing with Valleyfield, joined Nationales, a Canadien farm team, this season. Valleyfield refused to give him his release unless they received something in return, and as a result the National League Canadiens agreed to play an exhibition game.

Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champ, protecting a puffed left eye, toyed Tuesday night with 181-pound New England heavyweight champ, Bernie Reynolds of Fairfield, Conn., in a four-round exhibition bout before some 5,000 fans.

Reynolds proved a willing, but cautious opponent. The champ was in charge throughout and emerged unscathed. The Brown Bomber received a slightly scraped upper left eye-lid in the opening bout of his exhibition tour Monday night.

The Professional Golfers' Association let go with an inflationary note today.

It announced in London that it will charge $3 a day to see professional golfing aces of the United States and Great Britain play for the Ryder Cup at Ganton, Yorkshire, next Sept. 16 and 17.

That's twice as much as it cost in 1937, the last time the matches were played at Ganton.

Canada's badminton team which meets India in Toronto Dec. 3-4 in the first round of the 10-country Thomas Cup competition will be named Nov. 23, R. B. Banks of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Badminton Association, announced Tuesday. Trials will be held in Toronto and Vancouver.

First trials will be held in Toronto this week-end with singles and doubles players from Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba on view.

Edward Hanlan (Ned) Ten Eyck the first American to win the Diamond Sculls at Henley-on-Thames, England, will retire as the Syracuse University's rowing coach, in June it was reported Tuesday.

Ten Eyck, who succeeded his father, James A. Ten Eyck, as Syracuse's rowing coach in 1938, reached the University retirement age of 65 a few years ago.

An ice "World Series" between the American and National Hockey Leagues is not far off, Maurice Podoloff, AHL president said in Buffalo Tuesday night.

Podoloff told sports writers and broadcasters that relations between the two leagues have never been more harmonious. A central registry for the two was being considered.

The Philadelphia Rockets of the American Hockey League announced Tuesday they had borrowed Billy Walsh, promising young defenceman, from Stratford Indians, Ontario Hockey Association Seniors.

Walsh will play with the Rockets against Springfield tonight and return to the Stratford lineup for a Friday night game. The 22-year-old Canadian will replace the injured Chuck Kraiger.

IT'S A HALF-WAY-ROUND-THE-WORLD trip Mr. and Mrs. Adjutor Lachance (above) are embarking on so they can attend their son's wedding. The Quebec couple left Montreal Airport recently to fly to Europe, and eventually to Africa, where they will attend their son's wedding in Nigeria.

Bushers Leap To Major Ball Leagues

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10 (AP)—A score of "Bushers," more or less will leap to the major leagues to day as the two top loops hand-pick talent from the minors in the annual baseball draft.

This is no catchas-catch-can affair, for the big leaguers know just which players among the more than 5,000 eligibles they would like to add to their rosters.

Chicago Cubs get first chance, having finished last in the National League, and Chicago White Sox, cellar dwellers in the American, reach into the grab bag second. Then the opportunity to choose player alatrnates between the leagues, in reverse order of the finish in the standings, until Cleveland Indians get the final first-round chance.

Then they start all over until everyone is satisfied, or until a club's roster, including the drafted talent reaches the player limit. Once a team passes its chance, it is out of the game.

Wrong guesses on the draftees have been numerous. A year ago the major league bosses, most of whom are willing to trade a bucket of ashes for a load of coal anytime, picked up 29 players for $272,000 in the draft.

Thirteen clubs grabbed off the talent but, of the 29, only seven stayed "up" for the year, four were recalled after being farmed back to the minors, and 18 failed to stick at all.

Edgar Kennedy Dies

SAN FERNANDO, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Edgar Kennedy, 58, one of the original "Keystone Cops" who wowed silent film audiences, died Tuesday at the motion picture hospital after a long illness. Kennedy's last movie appearances were in RKO's "Average Man" comedies, and he had appeared in more than 500 pictures since his screen debut in 1911.

HE CLICKED — Jack Matthews of Peterborough clicked this season with Western Mustangs as a fullback, kicking and plunging well with the intercollegiate leaders. An official recently said of him: "He has played consistently well all season."

Brintons Best With 3023

Brintons had high team total this week in the Girls Bowling League with a 3023 mark, while J. Alexander of that team took top triple of 707 as well as blind score of 753. Towne Togs single of 1076 was best in this department, while Betty Castle of Marines led individual singles with a neat 316. Mercurys Gain Revenge Swamp Stratford By 8-2

By The Canadian Press

Owen Sound Mercurys, smarting from the shellacking they took the previous night from their same opponents, swept back with a revenge Tuesday night to wallop Stratford Indians 8-2 and ease the memory of their earlier effort. On the two games the Mercurys came out on top a goal better since they lost to the Indians Monday night by a 7-2 score.

Led by fleet Tommy Burlington, with three first-period goals, Mercurys' win strengthened their hold on second place in the Senior Ontario Hockey Association race with the win.

In a Junior OHA game Tuesday night, Stratford Kroehlers edged out the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees 3-2. It was Teepees' second defeat of the season.

Burlington's three-goal splurge shot Owen Sound in to a 3-1 first period lead. Johnny Messmer started Stratford off early in the period when he beat netminder Tommy McGrattan on a slose-in shot.

Lengthen Margin

Mercury were quick to lengthen their margin in the second frame. Murray Fife and Pat McReavy beat goaler Bobby Bindernagel before the midway mark.

Freddie Smith scored for Owen Sound within six minutes of tht final session when he took a pass from Art Hayward. Bill Woodward counted his second goal for Stratford on a lone rush minutes later. Murray Fife and Dick Forslund each counted once to finish the scoring.

Joe Bragagnolo gave Stratford a first period 1-0 lead scoring on a blue-line screened shot past Don Campbell on a three-way play with Pierre Cadieux and Bob Houston.

Con Switzer, who scored both St. Catharines goals, got his first tally early in the second period on a pass from Gerry Toppazzini. Jimmy Penfuss came back to put Stratford into the lead minutes later.

A third period breakaway by Switzer gave St. Catharines the equalizer, but Pernfuss drove back and notched the deciding goal with less than five minutes remaining in the game. The win leaves Stratford in sixth place in the scoring race.

To-night Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen clash with the league-leading Hamilton Tigers in the senior division. In the junior circuit, St. Catharines meets Stratford and Barrie Flyers clash with Guelph Biltmores.. The cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros play Oshawa Generals and Galt Rockets meet the undefeated Windsor Spitfires.

Oilers Down Dallas Hold League Top Spot

By the Associated Press.

Tulsa Oilers carried the prestige of first place into Dallas today for their second United States Hockey League game in as many nights with the Texans.

The Oilers downed Dallas 8-2 Tuesday night at Tulsa. A second-period drive that produced six Tulsa goals turned the trick.

Fort Worth, idle on Tuesday night, shares the Southrn Division lead with Tulsa, each team having 10 points in the standings.

Jud McAtee and Dick Butler were the individual stars in the Tulsa victory. Both scored twice in the big second period and Butler pushed in another tally in the final period for the hat trick.

Continual Headaches Bothering Don Black

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—(AP).—Continual headaches may force pitcher Don Black of Cleveland Indians to go back to the hospital soon, physicians reported Tuesday night.

Dr. Edward Castle, team physician, said X-rays will be taken tomorrow to determine whether an operation is advisable. If it is, Black will have to return, probably next week, for several weeks.

Black left hospital only a few weeks ago in the belief that he had just about recovered from the brain haemorrhage he suffered during a game Sept. 13 with the St. Louis Browns.

Remember When . . .

Bruins Hoping To Get Revenge

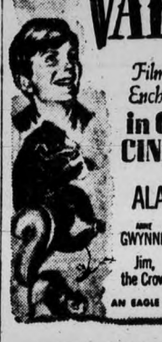
By The Canadian Press

Bruins will be on their home ice tonight when they seek revenge for the 7-3 beating they took Sunday from the first-place Detroit Red Wings.

While the National Hockey League's two top clubs are battling in Boston, Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers will be fighting in Madison Square Garden for the cellar spot.

The Boston-Detroit game means a lot to both teams in the early-season race. A win for Boston would put them—temporarily, at least—into second place all alone, two points ahead of Montreal Canadiens. Red Wings are riding a three-game winning streak.

After losing 4-2 to Chicago last Sunday, the crippled Rangers—all but goalie Chuck Rayner—got the worst tongue-lashing of the season from Coach Frank Boucher.



"You're big boys," he told them Tuesday, "Let's see you dish it out instead of taking it all the time."

Defenceman Bill Moe is expected to play part of the game, despite a stick in the mouth in Chicago Sunday which has been troubling him ever since. He had just recovered from head injuries in Rangers disastrous pre-season auto crash.

KRESGE'S RE-OPEN IN RECORD TIME

Local Contractors Rebuild Peterborough Store After Disastrous August Fire

The completely renovated Kresge store at the corner of George and Simcoe Streets re-opens for business tomorrow after being closed down for only two months when it suffered heavy loss during a disastrous fire which took place August 17.

A landmark in Peterborough since 1929, when the Kresge Company first opened a store, its re-opening marks the completion of a wonderful effort made by local contractors and builders who went all out in repairing the ravages done by fire. "The local contractor, Walter Mortlock," said Mr. W. G. Adamson, head of the Kresge Construction and Engineering Department, "had his men on the job while the fire was still smouldering. It is mainly through his efforts and the efforts of his sub-contractors that the Kresge store was able to reopen within two months and once again resume business. So completely burnt out was the store that Mr. Mortlock can almost be credited with having built a new building."

Follows General Pattern

Renovated in many ways, the store still follows the general pattern laid down by the original blue prints. Immediately noticeable will be the completely new acoustic ceiling replacing the old metal ceiling adding to the beauty as well as the quietness of the store. Also apparent will be the modernization of the walls finished in buff color plastic with the old plaque and scrool work removed and smoothed out. Not so apparent will be the replacement of steel beams under all portions of the sales floor to make for greater strength and security.

The pillars running the full height of the store have had new mirrors replaced on them. Fluorescent lighting replaces the old incandescent lighting.

All the familiar departments such as kitchenware, lingeries, millinery, toilet articles, toy department, sanitary candy counters, hardware and clothing items will again be available to shoppers. In addition, the tea room and fountain will again be opened with some new features. Finished in stainless steel and marble the island bay fountain will seat 38 people and adjacent to it will be a tea room capable of sitting 40 people at table. A new feature of the store where food is served will be the grease proof asphalt tile floor to not only make for the safety of members but to carry out the high standards of sanitation insisted upon by the company.

Kitchen Enlarged

The kitchen servicing the lunch counters has been enlarged and modernized with the addition of new refrigeration and other equipment.

The counters on the sales floor have been modernized with the addition of a special linoleum on the other surfaces. The finish is [illegible] in walnut or mahogany.

During the two months that the store was closed many Kresge employees were kept on the pay roll doing work in connection with the rehabilitation of the store. At least 95 per cent of the original help will return.

J. G. Lewis who has been manager of the Peterborough store since 1933 will again be in charge. Mr. Lewis who is a native of St. Louis, Missouri, has been with the company since 1924. A graduate of Washington University in his home town, he is also a veteran of the United States Navy. He first came to Canada in 1929. He is married to the former Miss Mary Reid of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. He is active in many lines of endeavor in Peterborough.

All labor and contract work on the new building was done by local firms. Under the supervision of Mr. Mortlock, the firms listed below were responsible for placing the store back in operation in amazingly good time: Adamson & Dobbin, plumbing, heating and ventilation; Grant & Loucks, electrical contractor; Smith Bros., painting; Ontario Marble Co.; Comstock for asphalt tile and linoleum. In addition, Hobbs Glass supplied mirrors and plate glass; Liquid Carbonate Canadian Corp. reinstalled the fountain, and Wright Refrigeration installed compressors and refrigeration machinery.

Guilty Of Stabbing

OTTAWA, Nov. 10. — (CP). — Percy Foley, 42-year-oid civil servant, yesterday was found guilty of stabbing a crippled fellow roomer with a military sword last Sept. 12 and remanded until next Monday for sentence. County Judge A. G. McDougall found Foley responsible for the serious wounding of Lawrence (Jack) Ault, 37, another civil servant, suffering from paralysis of the lower limbs. The wounding was reported to have taken place during an altercation over a bottle of rum.

Stormy Liquor Vote

WEST LORNE, Ont., Nov. 10.— A stormy liquor vote is forecast today in this traditionally "dry" town following outbreaks of near violence between young "dry" and "wet" handbill deliverers Tuesday night. A Chamber of Commerce spokesman, representing the "wet" factions of the Elgin county community said six children delivering literature favoring liquor were attacked by other youths of the "dry" faction.

Wins Acquittal

THREE RIVERS, Que., Nov 10.—(CP).— A cheering crowd Tuesday gathered around Fernand Grenier, 26, when a jury acquitted him of the scarf hanging last Jan. 29 of 15-year-old Rita Lafontaine. The jury deliberated half an hour before returning the not guilty verdict.

Trappist Monks' 'Secret' Still Secure

OKA, Que., Nov. 10. (CP) — The secret of the Trappist Monks of Oka is still secure.

That today was the only news —and not much news at that — from this silent community scarcely 30 miles southwest of Montreal, a community of unknown men and a secret that is one of the best-guarded in Canada.

The unknown men are the monks of this largest of six Canadian Trappist monasteries. Their's is the silence, since they are enjoined not to speak by the fifth century rule of their order.

And the secret is the formula for making the now-famous Oka cheese, the stand-out product of their 1,800 acres of farmland which roll down from the hills to the shore of the Lake of Two Mountains.

The monastery has a personnel of 180 composed of priests who chant the offices of the church, and lay brothers. There are 78 of the former.

These tonsured men follow the life pattern of St. Benedict of Italy who founded the order. Aside from making full use of modern agricultural technique and construction one day goes by after another in about the same manner it did in 1881. It was then that Oka's founded took root here in 1881.

Process Secret

None but members of the community are allowed to learn the monks' process whereby they make their cheese, rich in aroma, mild in flavor.

The monastery is more than self-supporting.

Ordinarily the monks rise at 2 a.m. Sundays they sleep less, get up at 1.30 a.m. from their beds of board and straw mattresses. On solemn feast day the rising is at 1 a.m.

They eat a diet almost entirely vegetable, shunning meat, fish or eggs. Cheese is permitted and the 5 a.m. breakfast follows church services. Most monks live to an old age.

The day includes seven hours of prayers for the priests, or choir monks, and four hours at manual labor. The lay-brothers do most of the monastery work while the priests chant their office in church.

Blitzing Of London Has Left Nice Field For Archaeologists

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP). — The blitzing of London left bare many acres of foundations which offer a tempting field for archaeologists And they are taking advantage of it.

Two years ago leading British antiquaries created a fund which paid for the first year's work. Archaeologists penetrated to the level of Roman occupation — now buried to an average dept of 16 feet below the modern streets.

Digging trenches at various carefully chosen positions they cut through the confused accumulations of post-Roman London right down to virgin soil.

Leading antiquarians say, however, that little more than negative information was gained and it will be necessary to cut a "long exploratory trench" before the positions of Roman streets and buildings can be determined. Before the trench can be cut more funds will be needed.

National Task

"If the first four centuries of London's history are to be adequately explored, the task must be a national — even an international—one," said antiquarian Gordon Hume.

"A good many thousands of pounds must be spent if the opportunity is not to be wasted before rebuilding begins."

Antiquarians point out that the massive brick and concrete blocking the way of archaeologists will inevitably have to be moved by the contractors of tomorrow, so that the cost of drilling and removing would not be wasted even from a utilitarian viewpoint.

"Until the middle of the last century," Hume said, "little was known of Roman London. So few were aware of the city's Roman origin that next to no interest was taken in the chance discoveries of Victorian times."

Farmer Divorces Teen-Ager Wife

BLACKSHEAR, Ga., Nov. 10—(AP).—A young Georgia farmer has been granted a divorce from his teen-aged wife who spent a six-day "honeymoon" with an old sweetheart.

It all began last February.

Fifteen minutes after Mr. and Mrs. Doniver Teston were pronounced man and wife, Sittie, the bride, who was 14 at the time, was whisked away from her husband's side by a boy friend and taken on a "wedding trip" that lasted almost a week.

The boy friend, 22-year-old Buddy Davis, was driving the newlyweds home from the wedding. When Doniver left the car for a drink at a roadside stand, Buddy simply drove off with blonde, blue-eyed Sittie, and away they went.

All that happened last February. Monday, Doniver, who is 19, got a divorce. His petition recalled Sittie's travels with Buddy and said also that Sittie had begun tossing blue-eyed glances at other men.

Johnson Speech 'Sabotaged' As Wires Cut

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—(CP).—Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red Dean' of Canterbury, was sabotaged here Tuesday night as he spoke to members of the McGill University Student Christian Movement—somebody had cut the loud speaker wires before his arrival.

As the S.C.M. has no large assembly room, students had rigged up a system of loud speakers so that groups could listen in rooms and halls on each floor.

Only those on the main floor could hear Dean Johnson as he told students that discussions for lasting peace would ultimately begin on the basis of the six points made by Henry Wallace, unsuccessful candidate for the United States presidency.

Dean Johnson said he felt 'a dash of and spice of illegality" about the meeting.

"It would be that I am addressing a body of very valiant McGill rebels."

Dean Johnson was constantly heckled and at times stopped speaking until the crowd quieted.

The Anglican clergyman will speak here again tonight and Thursday night. His speech tonight was scheduled for the Church of St. John the Devine after an earlier request for use of the Montreal high school auditorium had been refused.

1,500 Flee Fires

SANTA ANA, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP).—Gale-whipped forest fires drove nearly 1,500 persons from their homes in the Santa Ana mountain communities of Silverado and Modjeska canyons Monday. The residents later were forbidden by fire fighting officials to re-enter Silverado canyon to get personal belongings, lest they would be trapped. Silverado and Modjeska are box canyons in which roadways deadend in the mountains, creating true fire traps.

Duck Hunters Clip Farmer's Flock

Those alleged "sportsmen" are at it again.

Frustrated by the lack of the natural wild prey—or maybe just too lazy to go after it—a couple of them turned to "sitting ducks" over the weekend—literally.

Provincial police here are investigating a compaint of William Stewart, whose property is located one and a half miles north of Wallace Point on the Otonabee. Two hunters, he reports, shot some of his tame ducks on the river.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "Canada Unlimited"

In 1617, Canada's first farmer, Louis Hebert, used a scythe to reap his harvest. Working by hand, he could barely provide enough grain to supply his own family.

The pioneer farmer and his sons, with their one horse, worked long and hard to grow enough food for their own use.

In 1852, farmer Daniel Massey made the first mower in Canada. Later Alanson Harris designed the reaper. Their combined efforts in 1891 helped develop the wheatland of the West.

The introduction, in 1910, of the combine, made it possible to reap and thresh 25 acres a day. Now, one man with modern equipment can cut and thresh 50 acres a day.

It is Canadian people and Canadian machines that prove . . . there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

Lay New Charge Against Welch

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP) — A manslaughter charge will be laid against Vernon Welch of Aylmer, in connection with the poison death of his wife there, Deputy Attorney-General C. R. Magone announced Tuesday.

Welch was tried earlier this year at St. Thomas on a charge of murder but a jury reduced the charge to manslaughter and convicted him on the lesser count. On appeal, the conviction was squashed without a direction for a new trial.

Mr. Magone said the appeal court did not direct a new trial because there was no indictment on the manslaughter charge, the verdict of manslaughter having been brought in while the accused man was charged with murder. He added that the judgment does not prevent the manslaughter charge being laid now.

Welch is serving a one-year term for escaping from the Elgin County jail at St. Thomas last summer while awaiting the result of his appeal.

New Transport Line Uses Cheddar Road

A truck transport line is scheduled to open between Peterborough and the Haliburton district some time this month. A charter has recently been granted to Percy Tighe, Wilberforce, allowing him to operate the line.

It will give a direct connection between Peterborough and the villages of Highland Grove, Harcourt, Wilberforce, Tory Hill, Essonville and Haliburton

One of the biggest difficulties in the way of making the transport business a success, in the opinion of Mr. Tighe, is the 12-mile stretch of road that connects the Peterborough-Bancroft highway with the Lindsay-Wilberforce Rd., usually known as the Cheddar Rd.

Mr. Tighe believes that the amount of traffic on this cut-off now justifies that stretch of road being converted into a King's Highway. He claims that at present it is a bar to commerce between Peterborough merchants and Haliburton buyers.

Glasgow People Warm-Hearted Canadians Say

Mrs. Harry Tarkington and her 20-year-old daughter, June, had an excellent sample of that famed Glaswegian hospitality a few weeks ago.

The two left Canada late in August and arrived at the beginning of September in Liverpool. Mrs. Tarkington, who was making her first visit to Britain in 26 years, was on her way to visit relatives in Dundee.

When the train reached Glasgow, the transfer point for Dundee, it was 4 a.m., so the ladies decided to catch a few hours of badly-needed sleep before continuing their journey.

But hotel accommodation in Glasgow was pretty much the same as everywhere else these days: there just wasn't any to be had. The first three hotels they asked in the vicinity of Buchanan Street Station were filled.

Glasgow was unknown to the Tarkingtons, so they asked the help of a policeman. Eager though he was to lend some assistance to the stranded ladies, the Glasgow bobby had to admit he knew of no place to stay; all the hotels to his knowledge were filled.

Things Looked Bad

It looked like a cold, cheerless wait in the uncomfortable quarters of the station for both of them.

As a last resort Mrs. Tarkington asked a lady who was standing on Argyle St. if she knew of any hotels that were open. The lady said "No," but added she would have a word with her husband.

"Wait with my wife and I'll see if I can fix you up something," said the man. The Scottish couple then introduced themselves as Mr. and Mrs. Boyd of Canal St., Paisley.

Mr. Boyd was away for nearly an hour but when he returned he had no better news than when he left.

"There's just one thing for it," said Mrs. Boyd. "You're coming home with us."

The two Peterborough ladies protested but the Boyds insisted that they should. A meal was speedily whipped up by the Boyds and they then insisted that their visitors take the sole bed in their single apartment. Mrs. Boyd slept on the settee and her husband took to an armchair.

After breakfast the Scottish couple escorted them to the 7 a.m. train at the station.

"Money in payment —Indeed not," said the Boyds. "The only payment we want is a letter to say you've arrived in Dundee OK."

The Tarkingtons will be returning to Peterborough later this month.

Win Cold War Officer Urges

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—(CP).—Western civilization must win the cold war, Maj.-Gen. J. F. M. Whiteley, commander of the National Defence College and the Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston, told a meeting of the Montreal Rotary Club Tuesday.

"If we lose this war," he said, "the alternatives are either surrender or hostilities. Surrender is unthinkable. Hostilities would lead in all probabilty to the destruction of our civilization. Hence we have to win this cold war."

Maj.-Gen. Whiteley said that the only way we can win is by convincing our enemy that we have no thought of surrender and that he stands no chance of success if he embarks on hostilities.

Payment of Taxes Down Need $28,000 By Dec. 31

Peterborough's payment of taxes is not quite up to the satisfactory level of the last three or four years, Mr. A. S. Couper, city treasurer, informed the Examiner today. The total of collectible taxes as shown in the current tax roll, monies due and payable to the city treasury, is $1,404,335.50.

And the amount paid into the treasury to the end of October was $1,344,739.81.

The percentage of payment is 95.75, a substantial proportion, indicating the outstanding balance is comparatively small. The unpaid amount of 1948 at the end of October was $59,595.69.

"We have been showing 97½ per cent. paid at the end of December in recent years," Mr. Couper remarked, "and no doubt everybody would like to keep payments up to that level. That means we need another 2 per cent. to reach that figure.

If we got half the outstanding taxes paid by the end of the year, say $28,000, we would again be in a strong position. People are going to pay their taxes anyway, and it greatly helps the credit of Peterborough if we close the year with only a small amount of tax money not paid."

Mr. Couper remarked that he could make this report to the citizens, submit it as a reminder that there is still a month and a half to jack up to 97½ or 98 per cent. the payment of the taxes due for this year.

UNLUCKY HUNTER

William Woytko, Hamilton, an employee of the International Harvester Company, has some choice things to say about hunters who hi-jack deer carcasses. Because of the power shortage, the plant does not operate on Monday so Woytko and six colleagues motored to the Apsley district for a deer hunt. He shot a two-year-old doe early in the afternoon, attached his deer seal to it, and hung it up. Then he searched for some of the gang to help haul the carcass to the road, a mile distant. When they reached the spot, the carcass, seal and all was missing. Now Woytko's hunting is over because he has no seal, and probably the thief will either take a chance getting the deer out with the wrong seal or will snip it in two and substitute his own. It was the only deer shot by the party.—

The deer tag number is 60857.—McG.

Police Headaches Grow As Cyclists Increase Peak Traffic Periods Worst

There are an estimated 7,500 bicycles in the city of Peterborough at the present time — and the number is growing. With the increase in the cycling method of transportation, comes a set of problems for traffic police. "Bikes" can—and do—cause their particular kind of street snarls, driving hazards and nuisances.

In common with other cities where bicycles are on the increase (Ottawa, for example, reports a flurry of new accidents), the officers glumly predict a jump in accidents and injury rates on city streets. They are keeping a worried eye on the swelling lists of "pedal pushers" and their accident sheets.

Peterborough now has more bikes than at any time before. During the last seven years about 7,000 were registered. There have been nearly 5,500 licenses granted so far this year alone.

Convictions for bicycle affences have taken a jump this year. Because most of the owners are teen-agers and younger, the police feel that by clamping down on violators of common-sense safety rules, they can impress others with the necessity of sane driving.

Seek Help of Students

"The Highway Traffic Act and the city bylaw dealing with traffic apply to 'all vehicles' under regulations," stressed Police Chief John Thompson, "and that phrase certainly includes bikes."

Dozens of cyclists in Peterborough have already paid fines and costs for offences and the "bad news" that police do not regard the matters lightly is taking effect.

Biggest single problem in the city created by bikes is the mass of them which fly out from all schools in every direction right at the noon hour rush.

"Look at the pile there," commented Traffic Officer Harold Mesley of the city force, pointing to the hundreds of machines grouped outside the Peterborough Collegiate grounds.

"When you get a thousand youngsters tearing out of there in the rush hour, it's apt to be a dangerous situation. We're trying to tame them down for their own good."

He listed the most common foolhardy acts which they meet: riding two-on-a-bike; plunging down George St. or Aylmer St., six and seven abreast; zooming over sidewalks and skimming around corners at high speed, endangering the riders and pedestrians; ignoring stop lights and signs; cutting recklessly in-and-out of vehicular traffic.

One of the "show-off" tactics of the offenders is that of riding with "no hands on the handlebars." Police are not stumped for a way to deal with this. It is specific and carries the teeth of a fine up to $10 if one cares to argue:

"The rider of every bicycle shall at all times when riding the same keep his or her feet on the pedals and hold the handlebars, and such rider shall not ride more than two abreast."

There have been some violators caught by the police who protested that, after all, traffic signs and such like applied to cars and trucks. Again, comes out the bylaw, this time Section 1, subsection 15:

"Vehicle shall include all drawn, propelled or driven by any kind of power, including muscular power..."

"That means you, bub," they comment.

Tuesday Black Day Hydro Quota Topped

Tuesday was a black day in the local consuming of power. Peterborough exceeded its 229,700 kwh by 300, not an offending margin, but still on the wrong side of the record. These sunless days with night encroaching earlier should be kept in mind by every householder. Don't use any more electric power than you need, and consider that idea of need restrictively. The alternative is Hydro intervention, and it has not happened here yet.

Steel Shortage Worries Factory Heads

The continued shortage of steel is making the lives of purchasing agents anything but happy these days. Total Canadian steel output is far below the demand and it is allocated on a quota basis.

Recently three Chatham industrialists said that the "bottom of the barrel had been scraped clean," and they joined in a pessimistic prophecy that unless the shortage is eased there will be employment cuts in early 1949.

O. D. Cowan of Ontario Steel Products Limited stated that "if we don't get more steel in the first quarter of 1949, we will be forced to cut production again and that will mean a layoff of men."

Here in Peterborough the large industrial plants requiring steel in the manufacture of their products are getting by, but spokesmen say a further cut might affect the employment situation here as well.

Ian McRae, CGE works manager, described the situation as "tight," but he said the company had been able to meet all its commitments.

"We are not anticipating any employment cuts," he said.

Harry Pounder, Outboard Marine purchasing agent, said that the company was able to make do with what it was alloted from the Steel Company of Canada, plus purchases from the United States.

"Right now we're getting by," he said. "But if in a month or two a ruling comes in lowering the allotment of steel we'd be up against it.

Sheet steel is particularly difficult to obtain, Mr. Pounder said.

"Steel is one of the most important things we use," stated John H. Vernor, vice president and general manager of the Western Clock Co. "Without an adequate supply we would be unable to run this plant full time."

"Unfortunately there is no substitute available," said Mr. Vernor who explained that about three-quarters of a pound of steel is used in the manufacture of one Big Ben. "Some people have suggested that we use aluminum instead, but it's just as scarce".

He said that at the moment the plant was getting along all right on available supplies and would continue to do so for the next six weeks at least.

$100 Cash Stolen

More than $100 cash was "lifted" from the till and a strong box in the refreshment counter of Nick's Camp on No. 28 Highway, north of Peterborough, Tuesday night. The loss was discovered by Mrs. Margaret Lewis, who operates the camp. It is estimated that the money was taken some time between seven and nine o'clock in the evening while the counter was still operating.

It is not known how the thief got behind the counter, got the money and escaped without detection. Provincial police are investigating.

More than 200 invitation were sent to shut-ins, elderly or semi-invalid people, and already 60 acknowledgements have been received. Private cars will call for the guests and return them to their homes. The entertainment will include three films, "Call of the Kawarthas," "Battle of Britain" and "Desert Victory" Refreshments will be served and there will be a lively singsong. Miss Myrtle Sargent will give a brief talk on her recent trip to England.

This entertainment is a follow-up to the picnic held at the Oval last summer for this same group.

Can't Maintain Outdoor Rinks

Recreation Commission has informed the Council that it cannot assume maintenance of the public rinks this winter.

W. B. Gordon, secretary, wrote that the Commission estimates do not provide for the additional expenditure "which we assume were provided in the parks committee estimates this year. We are unable at this late date to arrange for a supervision and administration staff that would be required."

The letter was referred by the council to its parks committee.

Remembrance Day Is A Statutory Holiday But Observance Depends On Local Custom

Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, is a statutory holiday, but like other statutory holidays, its observance will depend on custom.

Listed as one of 11 public statutory holidays, Remembrance Day will be observed generally by the federal civil service and by banks, but the federal government has no power to enforce its observance beyond this. Generally, the provinces observe the day and provincial civil servants also receive the holiday, but this rests with the individual provinces.

Other statutory holidays — apart from Sundays—are New Year's Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Labor Day, Christmas Day, Thanksgiving Day, which is fixed by proclamation, and the King's birthday or the day set by proclamation for its observance.

In Peterborough all schools will be closed for the full day. Both public and separate grade and high schools are included in the full holiday.

Few stores in the city will mark the day by closing, although the two minutes silence will be observed by all.

Mayor Discusses Hospital As It Affects Taxpayers

Lacking sufficient accommodation, Peterborough Civic Hospital had to refuse admission to 548 patients during the ten months period from the first of the year to the end of October.

At the time of their application for admission the hospital did not have an available bed.

This was one of the facts quoted by Mayor Ovens in his radio address Tuesday evening on the new hospital and the proposed financing of its completion.

In that same period there were: 4,763 patients treated in the main building of the present hospital; 304 patients in the isolation branch.

Total number of days' stay of patients: 37,772.

The hospital took care of an average of 124.2 patients daily, with facilities only for 97 patients a day. And, there were 2,122 operations performed during the ten months.

"You will find a similar condition at St. Joseph's Hospital only on a smaller scale, and it has been necessary to make temporary accommodation to receive the most needy cases.

You can therefore understand why your council and a very large group of citizens are vitally concerned about providing proper facilities for the sick and chronically ill, thereby heartily endorsing this project for your earnest consideration."

Much could be said regarding the wisdom of continuing to operate this building or part of it —when it costs such a large amount each year to take care of the operating deficit—for here again due to the obsolete condition it is very costly to operate and maintain. The aspect of need of the Hospital could be discussed for a great length of time. I do however feel that I have given you the main points for your consideration—to this you could add a great many more very readily.

Financial Aspect

The next matter that comes to our minds is that of financing—so for a moment let us review the total cost of the new hospital, power house, laundry and nurses' residence, also the present revision [illegible] The total maximum cost for the above is $3,564,985

Under revenue we have:

County Grant	$150,000
City Grant	600,000
Utilities Com.	50,000
Surplus from City Trust	300,000
Nicholls Hosp. Trust	240,000
Provincial Govt. Grant	230,000
Federal Govt. grant	230,000
Estimated value of present hospital	200,000	2,000,000
Balance required		$1,500,000

I might add at this point that should they agree to turn over the present old buildings to the Provincial Government for use as a chronically ill hospital, after renovating it, they will allow us $3,500 per bed. So it is reasonable to assume that these buildings have a market value of at least $200,000.".

"The by-law calls for the balance of $1,500,000 to be financed over a period of 20 years. It has been suggested from several sources that we finance this project over a period of 30 years in place of 20. This matter received careful consideration, and we realize that this would cost an additional $300,000 in interest charges. I question the wisdom of proceeding on that basis, while it would reduce the yearly amount payable, the cost of doing it this way is very high."

"To the majority of us our chief interest is, what is it going to cost. Well, in the first place, we are fortunate in Peterborough in having about 50 per cent of our total assessment levied against industry and commercial establishments. Leaving $350,000 of the amount needed to be raised against real estate, or partially by either means which I will discuss with you in a few moments."

"Let us take as an example a house assessed for $3,000 and I find according to the debenture schedule it would mean an additional $9.75 each year on taxes, or approximately $3.25 per $1,000 assessment, or less than 1 cent a day per $1,000 assessment and knowing your own assessment you can readily work out what it is going to cost you yearly. As you are by no means assessed the full value of your house—mill rate each year is of secondary importance. Another example you will find of interest is to take your annual taxes—a reasonable rate of interest on your investment plus depreciation and fire insurance. Total this and divide by 12 which will give you the average monthly rate you are paying for your house. If this amount is higher than what a neighbour is paying for a similar type of house —then you have every reason to be concerned."

"Financing a hospital is only a small portion of the yearly tax rate, for we have the cost of education, general city maintenance, fire protection, welfare work, etc. While council is recommending to you for your favorable consideration the Hospital By-Law, it does not mean that after receiving your authorization it will approve of the spending of this total amount, as we are hopeful that only part of the needed funds will be debentured for."

All Classes Benefit

"As all classes of people use the hospital it is only reasonable to expect that all classes should contribute to its cost rather than assess it against industry, commercial and private homes. How, therefore, can we approach this other group to pay their share. I am hopeful that in the near future municipalities will be permitted by legislation to place a tax on theatres, candy and other luxury items, similar to our sister province to the east, where they have had similar taxes for a good many years and use the money for hospital purposes. The Council of 1949-50 would be well advised to press for this enabling legislation, and I am sure they will. For property owners cannot and should not be expected to carry the ever-increasing cost of social and welfare services. I will therefore qualify my original remark by saying that you are asked to approve of the total amount, yet only a portion of this may be issued to cover the cost of the buildings as other means of municipal finances must be forthcoming."

"One question that is asked of me quite frequently is—what will the operating experience be after these buildings are completed? I might add that this is a very difficult question to answer. However it is reasonable to assume that having all our hospital activities under one roof in a building so constructed that the maximum of efficiency can be obtained, the annual operating deficit of the Civic and Queen Mary hospitals should be substantially reduced under very capable management."

Paper Presses For Pact Signing

LONDON, Nov. 10 — (CP). — The Times in an editorial pressing for an early signing of an Atlantic pact to-day links Prime Minister Mackenzie King with President Truman as those 'who first envisaged a close association between the democratic nations on each side of the Atlantic Ocean."

While suggesting that historians might have chosen between Trygvie Lie, Secretary-General of th United Nations, and columnist Walter Lippman, the newspaper says:

"For practical purposes the story begins in March this year just after the signature of the Brussels Treaty. On March 17, President Truman, addressing a joint meeting of Congress, welcomed the treaty and expressd confidnce 'that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations support the situation requirse'

"The same day Prime Minister King, speaking in the Canadian House of Commons, promised Canadian support 'in every movement to give substance to the conception of an effective system of collective security by developmnet of regional pacts under the charter of the United Nations.'

"In Canada this idea was later developed by Louis St. Laurent, who has played so large a part in giving it substance."

Springville Couple Honored Presented With Chair

SPRINGVILLE, Nov. 10 — (ENS).—Springville Church was the scene of a happy gathering on Friday evening when Clarence Johnston and his bride, formerly Helen Rowan of Bethany, were guests of honor. Mr. Johnston has been a very active worker in the church, the Sunday school, the Young People's Union and the Dramatic Club.

In the absence of Dr. C. S. Reddick, Mr. Bernard Preston was chairman for the program. Three of the school pupils who had prepared speeches for the oratory competition, gave them. Lila Seymour and Howard Johnston each spoke on "The Plowing Match" and Irma Shaw had "Coal" as her topic. Raymond Kelk contributed a solo, and Mrs. Reddick two readings and Mr. S. S. Stables led in community singing.

Following this, the bride and groom were called to occupy the seats of honor, and Charles Whittington and Harley Cathcart, on behalf of the congregation, presented them with a Cogswell-type rocking chair, and Mrs. Bert Visee read and presented an address in rhyme.

After the groom had expressed his thanks for the gift and the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," Mr. Staples was called and Raymond Kelk presented him with two rugs from the congregation for his daughter, Eleanor, who was married to Mr. Wildman of Peterborough last month.

Speeches of congratulation to the newlyweds by Messrs. Bruce Elliott and Walter Brown and M. H. Johnston brought the program to a close. Then in the basement refreshments were served by the ladies, and a social hour was enjoyed.

Thirty Years Since Kaiser Whipped and Left Germany

It will be 30 years tomorrow, November 11, since the first Armistice Day on Monday, November 11, 1918. How well some of the boys remember the cease fire at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of that fateful year.

Men who were 26 when World War I broke out on August 4, 1914, will be 60 this year.

Men who were 25 on the first Armistice Day will be 55 when they celebrate the anniversary next Thursday.

Lovely Day

But, even though these young fellows of that era are bald and fat, or gaunt and gray, or possibly little changed at all, they will be thinking to themselves or will be chatting with one another and they will be recalling what a lovely autumn day it was around Mons on November 11, 1918.

[illegible] especially when the old timers tell of it. They recount tales of heroism and incidents of humor. It was all part of the general winding up of the war.

By the beginning of November, 1918, there was a feeling among the troops that the war might collapse before winter. Through September and October everyone believed that winter was closing in and the Allies and Germans would entrench themselves and hold the line until spring arrived.

Indeed in the middle of October none other than General Sir Arthur Currie, Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Corps, told one brigade that there would be a lull in the war soon, as winter was almost at hand. And, said General Currie, during the winter the Canadians would train constantly for the one big battle that would end the war in the spring or early summer of 1919.

Less than one month after General Currie had said that, the Boche had quit and the shooting war had ended.

Troops Surprised

That was an indication of how surprised the troops in the field were when the Armistice came.

But, when November arrived and the Allies were going forward at a good clip for those days, news began to filter to the front lines that all was not well within Germany.

Then, on November 6, a brigade of Canadians set out from Anzin and marched through Valenciennes and on to Onnaing.

On November 7, the next day, these same Canadians left Onnaing and moved up to Quievrechain on the French-Belgian frontier. They crossed the short bridge from France into Belgium and entered the town of Quievrain.

Patrols Advance

Late that night the Canadians sent out patrols and the next day, November 8, they had gone through Thulin and Hainin.

Those are names that were not familiar in this recent war, but the men of 1918 knew them all.

The general advance was along the Conde-Mons canal and up the main road leading from Valenciennes to Mons.

There were St. Ghislain, Wasmuel, Quaregnon, Quesmes and Jemappes. That last town is four miles from Mons and Canadians were there on November 9.

The fighting was stiff and the Germans were putting up a strong defence. They deployed machine guns and used them with all the efficiency the Boche has always shown for that weapon.

Word Comes

On November 10 word came through that the Kaiser was quitting Germany for Holland and that everything was going topsy-turvy within the Reich. It was not until then that the Candians realized that perhaps the war might end before the spring.

By the night of November 10 Canadian patrols were in the outskirts of Mons. During the night of the tenth Canadians were right in Mons ready to push ahead.

Everyone who was there will always remember that Armistice Day in Mons. While children shouted and clapped their hands, older people just stood and smiled happily. Many of them seemed to have forgotten how to cheer. But, they were glad. Elderly women danced jigs in their wooden clogs and waved their hands.

Flowers in Streets

Chrysanthemums grow in profusion around Mons in November Canadians marched along streets that were carpeted with the great yellow flowers as happy Belgians threw them there as welcome.

The boys—for they still think of themselves as boys—will be talking it all over again to-morrow. They will be remembering, for there was so much to remember.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Piston Packing Serves 20 Years

Recently your Johns-Manville reporter saw an Asbestos Packing that had more than 30,000 working hours to its credit. This particular seal had been in service 14 hours a day for over 20 years, on the piston rod of a large air compressor. Even after these hours of gruelling work it was still good!

Of course, air compressors are by no means the only place in which packings are used. Hardly a machine can run without these vital industrial servants. For example Johns-Manville makes hundreds of styles and types of packings—they are used wherever a seal is needed to prevent leakage of steam, air, gas, oil, water or other liquids.

In addition to the many standard forms of sealing materials, Johns-Manville also specializes in "tailor-made" packings for specific jobs. Years of research and development enable J-M to supply a packing for every application.

Tribunal Supports Hull Condemnation

TOKYO, Nov. 10—(AP)—The International Military Tribunal Tuesday gave support to Cordell Hull's condemnation of the 1936 Anti-Comintern Pact.

Japan, Germany and Italy signed the pact, purportedly to combat the spread of Communism. But, the former United States secretary of state charged, "actually it was a preparatory move for subsequent measures of forceful expansion by the bandit nations."

"Our opinion," said the tribunal after quoting Hull's words, "formed independently, is the same."

The tribunal reported there was ample evidence Japan was prepared to attack Russia at any favorable time during the period covered by the war crimes indictment—from 1936 to the end of the war.

Such a plan, the findings said, "was one of the principal elements of Japan's national policy and its object was the seizure of territories of the U.S.S.R. in the Far East."

Memorial Service Theme Of WI Meet

BETHANY, Nov. 10—(ENS)—Mrs. Clara Armstrong was hostess for the November meeting of the Women's Institute. President, Mrs. L. Challice, conducted the opening exercises.

Mrs. T. Jackson reported that a box of goods had been sent to the Bewcastle Bailey Women's Institute in England. Mrs. R. Carr read a letter from this adopted British Institute, telling of its activities.

It was decided to apply for the Legislative grant for this year, the money to be used for educational purposes.

It was decided to give last year's grant to the pupils of Fallis' School, which their teacher, Mrs. Patton, will use for craft work materials. Mrs. Ralph Mulligan reported the fire hose and pump had been moved to new premises in the United Church parsonage barn and that repairs were needed.

The program was in charge of group four with Mrs. James Milby and Mrs. Clara Armstrong, joint conveners and took the form of an Armistice Day service. Mrs. Ruth Jennings gave several violin selections and also accompanied the singing by the members. Mrs. Carlton Patton told a story of the Canadian Graves in Holland. B. Taylor read a poem. Two minutes silence was observed in the memory of the fallen.

Special mention was made of three men from Bethany village, Roy Whiteside, Garnet Sheckleton and Alfred Waddell.

Mrs. Ona Thorndyke gave a paper on home economics, giving the personal experience of Mrs. Dunbar in remodelling an old home with a minimum of expense.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. H. Ryley, Mrs. G. Longfield, Mrs. O. Thorndyke and Mrs. J. Millby. Mrs. Carlton Patton moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Armstrong.

Blames Troubled World

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP) — Prime Minister Attlee said Tuesday night the troubled world situation led Britain to approve in principle the proposed North Atlantic treaty. He made the statement in a speech at the annual banquet of the Lord Mayor of London. "There is a good deal of unrest in various parts of the world and there are those in the world who seem to have an interest in creating trouble," he said.

Emergency Landing

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — A transatlantic plane with 23 passengers—and only 17 minutes of fuel in its tanks—made an emergency landing in pea-soup fog Tuesday night at International Airport. The Air France Constellation circled the huge airport at Idlewild, Queens, for more than an hour and a half while field officials tried to track down a small aircraft lost in the fog. The small plane later landed at another field.

MISS HELEN MAUD ROWE, of Camden-road, St. Pancras, is to attend Princess Elizabeth when her baby is born within the next few days. She will stay at the palace from four to six weeks to attend the royal baby. A temporary nursery has been set up in Buckingham Palace. If blue satin bows mean anything, the Princess is expecting a boy. The centre piece in the nursery is a cradle with blue satin bows, which could easily be changed to pink if the baby is a girl.

Weatherman Has Seasons Mixed Lilac, Dandelions Still In Bloom

By The Canadian Press

Golfers tramped Calgary links and dandelions were still blooming this week in Winnipeg as most of Canada enjoyed the mildest fall weather in the memory of many an old-timer.

There were butterflies at the Lakehead and Ottawa could still boast nine lilac trees in bloom and one white rose. Brantford gardeners tended the last lingering apple blossoms and bunches of chrysanthemums which should have withered with frost long ago, a Canadian Press survey showed today.

Toronto weather experts explained that great currents of air which usually sweep east across southern Canada and the Great Lakes at this time of year, bringing icy polar air, were moving across the sparsely-populated far north, leaving more southerly sections to bask in almost spring-like weather.

Somewhere, (the weather men couldn't guess where) a kindly anti-cyclone, an area of extremely high pressure, had disrupted the normal pattern of the world's air currents.

Vancouver was foggy, rainy, cold and damp but Vancouverites were used to that. Edmonton was bright and sunny and snow that fell Sunday had disappeared. Calgary enjoyed one of the longest and brightest Indian summers on record. There had been only a trace of snow—last Sept. 23.

Highest In Years

At Fort William and Port Arthur temperatures of 50-60 degrees above zero, which the twin cities enjoyed until Monday night when a heavy frost set in, are believed to be the highest for a number of years. Strawberries were picked late in October.

Toronto temperatures for the first eight days of this month were 11 degrees above normal, [illegible] below the 1938 record for the same period. The first brief flurries of snow fell on Toronto Oct. 18, a phenomenon.

An almost week-long fog which settled over eastern Canada recently paralyzed Great Lakes navigation and played havoc with airlines schedules but Galt, mushroom growers had no complaints. They say the fog produced one of the biggest harvests of mushrooms known in those parts.

Cornwall residents picked strawberries, raspberries and late blooms.

Suggest Canada Plane Arsenal In Next War Building Bombers Job Left Her By West

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (CP). — Business Weeks says in its current issue that Britain, the United States and Canada have framed a plan to make the Dominion an aircraft arsenal for the Commonwealth in the event of another world emergency.

The magazine says in a feature titled "Washington Outlook," that under the plan Canada would "take on the job of building transports and bombers." The United States contribution would be largely "engineering know-how" on high-speed aircraft.

(In Ottawa Monday, a source commenting on the report said: "That will cost money. Who will pay for the supplies?")

Business Week says that under the plan — "quietly framed" in London, Washington and Ottawa —Britain would be able to concentrate on producing the jet fighters.

The magazine says "a buildup of Canadian production is under way." It adds:

"Also, Fairchild and the Royal Canadian Air Force are dickering on Canadian production of the Fairchild C-82 packet transport; Electric Boat's Montreal subsidiary, Canadair, probably will get the job on licence from Fairchild."

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—(CP).—According to 1946 figures, the ratio of civil servants to population is substantially lower in Ontario than in any other province except Prince Edward Island. 25 Jap Leaders To Be Convicted

TOKYO, Nov. 10.—(AP).—The International Tribunal held today that a charge of "conspiracy to wage aggressive wars has been made out" against Japanese wartime leaders. Prosecution and defence lawyers agreed the finding presaged conviction of all 25 Nipponese leaders on trial for war crimes.

The judgment convicted Japan of waging aggressive war against the British Commonwealth, the United States, France, the Netherlands, China and Russia.

Only in the case of Siam (Thailand) did the court hold for the Japanese. The tribunal found that Siam had permitted Japanese troops to move freely through the country and thus held that Japan was not guilty of waging aggressive war against that country.

The court is expected to reach the individual cases of Hideki Tojo, former Japanese premier, and his 24 co-defendants Thursday or Friday.

Japan was found guilty of "unprovoked attacks" on the countries in question. The motive the court found, was "the desire to seize the possessions of these nations.

The court also upheld pre-war measures to restrict Japanese trade, speaking of the mesaures as "an entirely justified attempt to induce Japan to depart from a course of aggression on which she had long been embarked and upon which she had determined to continue."

Toronto Fails To Make Power Quota

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Toronto blacked out for the second straight night last night. But it saved only one-quarter of the power it must save to get within its quota.

Officials estimated the city saved 55,000 kilowatt hours by the blackout starting at 7 p.m. It still is using 216,800 kilowatt hours more than its quota

Hydro officials have warned if the city does not meet its quota, feeder lines may be cut to the city, blacking out street lights, street cars and hospitals, so far untouched by the regulations.

At a city hall meeting called to discuss the situation, Mayor Hiram McCallum said he would ask for federal control of electric power if the city didn't make it.

"Some people will not co-operate voluntarily and it might be that we will have to use compulsion," he said.

Only One To Fail

Toronto is the only city in Ontario that has failed to "work out its own salvation," Robert Saunders, chairman of the Provincial Power Commission, told the meeting.

Elsewhere in the province, cities were escaping cut-offs. St Thomas had its first afternoon cut Tuesday while Wiarton decided on a one-hour daily cut to get within its quota.

In New Toronto, police chief R W. Weatherup warned merchants to keep valuables out of store windows during blackouts. He said it was an invitation to robbery Owen Sound merchants decided to stop using electricity for display purposes for at least 2½ hours daily, instead of closing one day a week. Hamilton has avoided cut-offs by switching working hours in industry.

Toronto theatre operators were frantically shuffling performance times to cope with the afternoon and evening cuts and service station operators complained it took five minutes to give a motorist five gallons of gasoline when power was cut off to the pump.

Dies Natural Death

RAPIDES DES JOACHIMS, Que., Nov. 10 (CP)—Mystery surrounding the death of Leo D. McLellan, 52-year-old boiler maker whose body was found in a ramshackle inn Sunday, ended Tuesday night. District Coroner Dr. L. P. Renaud said an autopsy on the body, discovered with three taped head wounds, will not be held. He believed death was due to natural causes. The body will be shipped to Cornwall today for burial.

Give Industry Back To Germans

FRANKFURT, Nov. 10— (AP) —The vast German coal, iron and steel industries in the British-American zone will revert to German ownership in the "near future," the British and United States Military Governments announced today.

"The military governors, however, are retaining a certain control of powers," the announcement said.

The industries, including those of the Rhur, have technically been owned by the military governments since the end of the war.

New German companies will be established to operate the companies, subject to these stipulations:

1. There will be "excessive concentration of economic power."
2. Persons who "permitted and encouraged" the Nazi party will be banned from positions of ownership and control.
3. The drastic reorganization shall not prejudice a possible future decision by a German government as to whether the industries will be socialized.

Charge Hotel Keepers Break Liquor Laws

ROUYN, Que., Nov. 10.—(CP). —Three Rouyn hotel keepers will face charges of selling liquor after hours, George Descent, head of the Noranda unit of the Quebec liquor police, announced here today.

Mr. Descent said that the three hotels were known to have sold liquor as late as 5 a.m. Monday, five hours after regular Sunday closing time. He added that special Montreal investigators for the Q.L.C. were here to investigate charges of Mayor M. Paul Cuddihy of the after-hours sale of liquor in hotels.

Mr. Descent said he was not officially advised that orchestras would be banned in Rouyn hotels despite rumors to that effect. He said, however, that acting on instructions from provincial headquarters he instructed hotel keepers not to renew contracts with their orchestras.

Dog Eats With Guests At Mayor's Dinners

LONDON, Nov. 10 — (CP) — A dog sat down to dinner Tuesday night with 800 dignified and somewhat amazed members of the London society at the Lord Mayor's banquet.

A disdainful-looking black-and-tan pekinese named Black Knight, whose ancestors go back to the time of the Ming dynasty, arrived for the dinner at the Guildhall in a limousine. He was carried by Lady Munnings, wife of Sir Alfred Munnings, president of the Royal Academy.

Black Knight lapped up a little turtle soup, then took a couple of licks of champagne—Bollinger 1937— and tackled a little roast partridge.

Only when the speeches began did he get bored. Then the only dog ever to go to Guildhall din-

Garson Faces CCF Contestant

SHOAL LAKE, Man., Nov. 10. —(CP).—The opposition that Premier Stuart Garson of Manitoba will meet when the contests the Dec. 20 Federal by-election in Marquette constituency should be known soon.

Neither CCF nor Progressive Conservative parties as yet have a candidate in the field, and while the former party is expected to provide one, the stand of the latter is not known.

Mr. Garson, who is quitting provincial politics shortly for a federal cabinet post — probably that of justice minister—will be nominated as Liberal candidate Nov. 15 in the riding being vacated by J. A. Glen, former federal resources minister.

The CCF had planned to run J. W. Ewbank of Birtle, Man., unsuccessful candidate in the last federal election, but Tuesday he said that for personal reasons he would not be available.

However, Donovan Swailes, CCF member of the Provincial Legislature for Winnipeg, said there are a number of possible candidates from his party, including one woman.

May Have Talk With De Gaulle

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(AP).—Premier Henri Queuille tried today to hold together his faltering government and there were reports he may meet next week with Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

Observers said Queuille wishes to learn how determined De Gaulle is to force the fall of the government.

De Gaulle, whose forces won about 40 per cent of the membership of the Council of the Republic—Upper House of the French Parliament—in balloting Sunday, has been advocating new general elections which he thinks would swing him back to power.

Mouvement Republican Populaire, a heavy loser Sunday, already has pulled two of its members out of [illegible] National Council of the party votes this week-end whether to withdraw the rest of its members from the Cabinet. Such an action would precipitate the fall of the government.

The Socialists, who also fell off badly in the Upper Chamber elections, were to meet this week-end, probably to consider the questions of prices and wages. Any Socialist demand for further wage raises also could topple the government.

Even if Queuille survives these two meetings, he must prepare the Cabinet to withstand the shock of Parliament's return Nov 16.

Liaison Worker With Israel HadassahSpeaker

"Though living under a constant tension in Palestine, the morale of the people is something it would be well to emulate here" Mrs. Ayala Zacks, of Toronto, a Palestinian by birth, told members of the Peterborough Chapter of Hadassah at their 25th anniversay dinner meeting this week. She spoke of conditions as she found them when in Palestine last month to see what Hadassah might do for the families of Jewish soldiers.

"Everyone is mobilized, regardless of sex" she said. "They have less than those in concentration camp of Europe but they do not bewail themselves." Things appear normal and no friction is visible to the outward eye while in the city. The women are hard at work trying to bring a bit of beauty into their lives with flowers and yet a few miles away members of their family may be killed at any moment." She described the gardens they have produced from the poorest of desert soil as gorgeous as any she has seen.

"The Jews are fighting with a zeal few soldiers have, because cause" Mrs. Zachs said. "Though in terrible need of food and clothing their spirit carries them on." At ther home in Tel Aviv the speaker found Arabs and Jews living side by side and maintaining normal relations in spite of war. Mrs. Zachs is the daughter of a prominent Zionist family there, but has been in Canada two years with the Zionist Organization of Canada. She is a graduate of Sorbonne in Paris and Cambridge University, England.

As head of the administrative board of Toronto Hadassah Chapter, Mrs. Zacks is continuing liaison work between Israel and this country, having gained experience in working between the French Free Government and Britain. For her prominent social service work during the war she was twice decorated by the French government, once receiving a medal of very rare distinction, and was also decorated by the American Government.

Her war work was first with a French underground agent, and as the conflict neared an end she organized a corps of women who were landed right behind the Allied Army just before D-Day. She then helped in the repartiation of Frenchmen, and later joined the American Joint Distribution Committee which was providing food and clothing for DP's. Her record includes many other outstanding fetes of service for her country.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Jacob Low and thanked by Mrs. Louis Zacks.

Rev. Horace Kaye Addresses St. James' WMS

"The Kingdom of God" was the theme upon which Rev. Horace Kaye based his address to the large gathering of WMS members and visitors at the November meeting Tuesday in Wesley Hall, St. James United Church.

After a brief devotional period, conducted by the president, Mrs. E. G. Johnston, reports were heard from the various secretaries of departments. For community friendship, Mrs. G. H. Rowe reported six hospital calls and 18 community calls, while Mrs. W. K. Sloane gave a short temperance talk and Mrs. F. W. Craik assisting, gave a reading, "Feed My Sheep."

The regular offering, as well as the special Thanksgiving were dedicated by the treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English and the president. The program for the day was arranged and presented by Mrs. Sloane and her group on the subject: "Thy Kingdom Come". Mrs. Sloane, Mrs. Doig and Mrs. Pitchford gave short readings. Among which was the Scripture lesson, selected from various chapters dealing with the healing ministry of Jesus. A beautiful duet in keeping with the theme was contributed by Mrs. Les McLaren and Mrs. Earl Wood, who were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Doig.

The guest speaker, Mr. Kaye, was introduced by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Craik, and brought an optimistic message to the Auxiliary. He compared the growth of the kingdom of God in this present day with that of the past, showing that there had been real advance in modern times.

The speaker brought a vivid picture of God's kingdom, "as we should know it, and live to build it." The hymn on medical missthankoffering service.

Hospital Donation Discussed By Silver Cross

Silver Cross Chapter, Women of Canada, held the monthly meeting Monday evening in the green room of the YWCA. Mrs. B. W. Harvey presided, opening with prayer, followed by the pledge. Mrs. F. Patterson brought in the flag in absence of the standard-bearer.

Two calls had been made and one card sent, as reported by the sick committee. The members are now deciding what can be done toward furnishing a room in the new Civic Hospital. A letter was read from Mr. J. Hornel and ideas were discussed. The matter will be settled at the December meeting. Mrs. J. Patte, Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Hall are to enquire further about this.

Mrs. E. Pruner and Mrs. C. H. McWilliams were appointed to look after a rummage sale early in December, other members offering to help. A wreath will be placed on the monument on November 11 in memory of the fallen sons of members.

Next meeting will be held on December 13 with social evening following business. Mrs. J. Younge will be in charge.

Study Life Of Chinese Girl Ordained Minister

Women's Missionary Society of George St. United Church met Tuesday in the board room.

Mrs. R. Parnall lead in prayer. Secretarial reports were given by Mrs. R. Powell, Mrs. J. Fanning, Mrs. J. Bickell and Mrs. H. Girven.

Mrs. McMillan read an article on temperance. Worship service was in charge of Mrs. E. Brown's group. Mrs. Brown said a Chinese woman's prayer for the world.

Mrs. J. Bateson and Mrs. A. Rosborough read short stories of medical missions.

Guest soloist was Mrs. E. Kitney, accompanied by Mrs. Weames.

The study book was ably given by Miss E. M. Stuart, telling the story of a Chinese girl known as "Helen Pen." This girl was born into a family who were not Christians, but was allowed to attend the mission and normal schools. She taught school and then became secretary of the YWCA and a social service organizer.

Helen Pen's ambition was to become a minister of the gospel, so she entered college, and after four years was the second woman in China to become an ordained minister. Her life was one of service and dedication to God, as she said, "For me to live is Christ."

YWCA Fellowship Celebrated With Program

Meaning of the annual celebration of World Fellowship Week by YMCA members, as explained by Miss Leta Brownscombe, is: knowing about people around the world, being interested in customs of different countries, making our prayer the Lord's Prayer, and theirs as one. "The real thrill comes from remembering we are members of a world organization" she told members assembled Tuesday evening for the annual program.

Flags of 70 countries decorated the walls of the recreation room, and were put up by residence girls. The blue triangle of the Y framed pictures showing native costumes around the world. Numbers selected for a sing song included a negro spiritual, Australian, Czech, Scottish and Irish songs and Miss Hazel Wilson was leader with Mrs. R. R. Baker at the piano. Miss Frances Clyke, guest singer, contributed a group of three very pleasing songs.

The symbolic candle lighting ceremony was conducted by members of the '38 Club: and opened by Miss Jean Hammond, with Miss Aileen Paton holding the light for World's YWCA, Miss Hazel Mutton for China, Miss Beth Jackson for America, Miss Muriel Ball for India, and Miss Hilda Thurston for new Canadians. Miss Hazel played accompaniment for singing of "In Christ there is no East or West." A skit illustrating Y work in other countries was put on by T.N.T. Club members, Miss Sonya Bissett and Helen Griffin. Mrs. Jean Hodgson of the Overseas Club read a letter of appreciation for parcels sent to Sussex, England. A friendship letter from a YW secretary in Belgium, simply addressed "Miss Jean Carew, Canada" ha reached its destination and was read aloud by Miss Hazel Wilson of the Gym Business Girls' Club.

Natives dances in costume, introduced by Miss Caroline Littlefield, physical director, with Mrs. M. McBride at the piano, were: Highland Fling by Violet Sanderson; Irish Jig by Helen Zakos, Fern Van Nest, Velma Adamson, and Nancy Rose, wearing shamrock aprons and green hair bows; Sailor's Hornpipe, by Maxine Johnston, Shirley Orde, Pat Peel and Marie Waite; Mexican Dance by Christine Monk, Violet Sanderson and Doreen Larry.

Miss Kay Hales, president of the Senior Council, was chairman. Refreshments were served by Gym girls.

Miss M. English Honored By St. John's WA

Devotional and business meeting of St. John's WA, afternoon branch, was held Tuesday when the president Mrs. H. C. Sootheran, presided. The service was led by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, who afterward spoke briefly on "The Christian doctrine of man as outlined at the recent Lambeth Conference."

Highlight of the meeting was the presentation of a life membership in the WA to Miss Margaret English. Mrs. G. S. Cameron spoke of her devotion to the work and Mrs. W. M. Cruthers presented the pin as a token of their appreciation.

Attention was drawn to the large Christmas bale of new and used clothing, books and toys on display, prepared by Mrs. H. Kelsey. This is to go to the Rev. Horace Ashmore at Loon Lake, Sask. A letter of thanks is being sent to Mrs. Record for generous donation of new clothing. Mrs. R. Crocker reported on food parcels which Mrs. E. G. R. Clarke has been in charge of sending to England. This month they included Christmas cake and other dainties. Mrs. H. Kelsey suggested a pan-cake supper be held as a means of raising money for these parcels and Mrs. E. Nicholls is to report on this.

Mrs. A. W. Turner reported on plans for a bazaar and congregational supper on Thursday, November 18, in the Parish Hall and tickets were given out. The president reminded members of the corporate communion on St. Andrew's Day, November 30. Mrs. T. H. Floyd, Girls' Auxiliary leader, told of presentation of pins and badges to her girls, two also receiving rings of merit.

Correspondence read by the secretary, Mrs. Brown, included a letter of thanks for a food parcel sent to England, invitations to attend the showing of slides on the Study Book at St. Luke's Parish Hall on Friday evening, November 16. This exhibition is also open to the public on the 16th and 17th.

The meeting closed with refreshments served by hostesses for the month, Mrs. R. Cooper and Mrs. Wm. Dyer.

Y.W. Secretary Compares New Zealand and Canada

A native of New Zealand, Miss Hazel Williamson, visiting YWCA secretary, compared life in her country and her impressions of Canada for Y members gathered Tuesday evening to celebrate World Fellowship Week. "We need to keep before us the fact it is also a week of prayer, and remember the command 'Love thy Neighbor,'" she said.

New Zealanders feel somewhat more attached to the Pacific area, she said, and supported a YW secretary in China until they had to recall her because of the inflation. Like Canada they have been helping with the re-establishment of Greece and the training of YW personnel there, but they do not take the same interest in European relief, though parcels of food and clothing are continually forwarded.

The YWCA there is similarly organized and some of the clubs go under the same names. There are teeners by the dozen registered and the parallel organization for them is called "Gaiety Club."

The girls are very fond of camping she said and as their summer comes at Christmas time when everyone is on holiday, industries and shops usually closing for at least two weeks, there are always many ready to go.

Miss Williamson spoke of the social security legislation in New Zealand though she is not quite sure if the cost is worth the feeling of security it gives. In her country there is a compulsory 40 hour week which means that things are "pretty dead" on Saturday and Sunday. "Two leisure days each week present a challeng to the YWCA to meet the needs of active girls and boys," she said.

All citizens are of British stock except the native Maoris she explained, and told amusing incidents of her difficulty in being understood when shopping in United States and Canada. Through force of habit she continually forgets and asks for "frocks", a "reel of cotton" and wants to go up in the "lift." She reminded mothers of the audience that Canada has copied their Mothercraft system.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Annabeth Wright and thanked by Miss Kay Hales.

Former Resident Wed in Detroit

A wedding of local interest took place in the Metropolitan Church, Detroit, when Gladys Madeline, only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John S. Deyell, formerly of Peterborough, became the bride of Edwin Seth Loveless of Detroit, and formerly of Wheatley, Ontario. Tall standards of white chrysanthemums with a background of palms decorated the candle-lighted altar.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frank Deyell, the bride was gowned in ice blue satin with matching hat. Her only attendant, Mrs. Earl Becker of Detroit, was in cinnamon lace.

Mr. James Moore of Richmond, Michigan, was groomsman. Ushers were Leonard McCarthy and Earl Becker.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Whittier Hotel for about 200 guests, including friends from Peterborough, Leamington and Toronto.

For a motor trip through the Smoky Mountains, South Carolina, and Washington, DC, the bride chose a forest green suit, matching hat, brown accessories and a brown squirrel cape. They will live in Detroit.

Smith-Chandler

ROSENEATH, Nov. 10.—(ENS).—In a quiet ceremony at Northminster United Church parsonage, Oshawa, the Rev. S. Norwood recently united in marriage Hazel Dorothy Chandler and Merwin Sidney Smith. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Chandler of Kindersley, Saskatchewan, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith, Roseneath.

The bride wore a brown pinstripe bengaline dressmaker suit, matching accessories, and corsage of white gardenias. Her bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Smith of Parkwood Stables, Oshawa, wore grey feather flannel, black accessories, and corsage of red roses.

Mr. Hilton Down, Roseneath, was groomsman for his cousin.

A reception was held at the groom's home in Roseneath and a candlelight supper served.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith spent their honeymoon at Hamilton and other points and will live at Roseneath.

25th Annual Recital Held at St. John's

A large audience on Tuesday night heard the 25th annual recital by pupils of Frederic G. Mann, L.Mus., held in St. John's Parish Hall. Mr. Mann is the hon. local secretary of McGill University Faculty of Music.

Certificates were awarded to successful candidates in the Peterborough centre by the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. The archdeacon said he was making this presentation for the 13th time since Mr. Mann began teaching here a quarter century ago.

He praised the high standard of the pupils and said he was particularly appreciative of their efforts in an age when "canned music has replaced that of personal effort."

Donald Pollock was awarded the hon. secretary's special prize for the highest marks. Mr. Pollock passed the Toronto Conservatory grade two musical theory examination with a mark of 98.

Two successful pupils received the degree associate in music during the 1948 term. They were Kenneth S. Madill, who received his diploma in October at Montreal, and Mary W. Lackey, a registered nurse.

The program was considered one of the best that Mr. Mann has yet directed. One of the most appreciated numbers was a piano solo, "Church Scene," played by a war bride, Mrs. Edna Stephens It was an expressionistic composition emphasizing the overtones of church bells and then the quieter tones of church music. Composed by V. Archer, a McGill Conservatory graduate, the piece is believed to have been played in this city for the first time.

Pupils were marked as (HD) for high distinction, a mark of 90 or more; (D) for distinction, 80-89; (H) honors, 70-79, and (P) pass, 60-69.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*
brings that tired, "middle-aged" look!

Is your face pale and worn-looking? Are you low on energy and enthusiasm? Do you seem "old before your time"? These effects often come from a blood condition. You may have a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron.

Yes, if you look pale and feel overtired, your red blood cells may be too small, faded and weak to transmit full energy to every tissue of your body. Many people — women, men and children — drag through life with this Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor

If your color and vitality are fading due to this blood condition, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size. Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may be due to other conditions — so consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood. Take them to start your energy shifting back into "high" — to help restore your natural color! Take them so you can enjoy life again!

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Patience and Kindness Cure-All for Jealousy

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married to a jealous woman for seven years and two people couldn't be happier. My family and friends warned me against marrying her; but I loved her and determined to risk it, even though we had had several fights all caused by jealousy.

I made up my mind to make her sure of my love, for I realized that her unhappy family life had made her anxious to "possess" everything she had. After our marriage I had considerable difficulty in adjusting myself to her outbursts of temper, but with patience and kindness I did.

The result is Dorothy Dix that my wife forever is telling me how happy she is and what a different outlook I am giving her and, in her own way, she has rewarded me greatly. I am happy, though married to a jealous woman. I would not walk out on my wife if she were ill, so I treat her jealousy as an illness. Maybe someone can benefit from my experience.

J. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is not uncommon for optimistic men and women to take mates whom they know to be afflicted with the green-eyed malady and who live scrappily ever afterward, for jealousy is one of the diseases which rarely yields to treatment.

Heartening Letter

So it is heartening to read this man's letter and learn that he has found a cure, or at least a palliative, for this malady that afflicts so many otherwise nice people. If it works, it entitles him to rate with the scientists who have given us insulin and penicillin and the other wonder drugs.

But what shakes my faith in this magic cure-all for jealousy is that it seems to depend on the husband making a doormat of himself for his wife to walk over, and to his having to continually administer large doses of flattery to her, flavored with ardent lovemaking. This soothes the wife's suspicions of all other women, temporarily at least. But the dose has to be continually repeated, for the jealous wife always believes that her husband is a heel without a decent bone in his body.

Perhaps there is a cure for jealousy. Maybe there are men who fancy green-eyes wives. Yesterday I got a letter from a man who wrote me that his wife was so jealous of him that she measured the gas in the car every evening when he came home from work to see whether he had driven more mileage than just to his office and back again. And he loved her still.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a man for five years and he tells me that he loves me. Sometimes he writes me three or four letters a day saying how much he longs to be near me. But my problem is this: He always proposes to me when he has been drinking. He never mentions marriage when he is on the water wagon. This makes me afraid to accept him because I don't know if he is on the level when he asks me to be his.

Should I accept these proposals, or wait until he is sober enough to know what he is doing?

UNHAPPY GIRL

ANSWER: If a man has to be drunk before he pops the question, you may be very certain that he has no serious matrimonial intentions so far as you are concerned, and if you are wise you will not waste any more time waiting for him to sober up to propose to you.

When a girl marries a man while he is too intoxicated to know the nature and quality of his acts, as the law puts it, she signs her own death warrant so far as any happiness goes. He will despise her for taking advantage of his weakness. He will have a contempt for her for playing a scurvy trick on him. He will drag her down into the gutter with him, and her whole life will be a bitter regret for the folly she has committed.

Don't marry any man who doesn't love you and want you while he is sober, and who doesn't intend to make you a good husband.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We have a neighbor who is a pest. She is always Sally-on-the-spot. She barges into our house when she knows we are busy with our work. She has no car; but she camps in ours, and we have to haul her around wherever she wants to go. When people come to see us, she rushes in to see who they are, whether she knows them or not. And, worst of all, she tries to vamp our husbands, who loathe her.

What can we do about it?

THE NEIGHBORS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: That's easy. Lock your doors and refuse to let her come in. It will make her furious and that will be your salvation. There is no sense in letting yourselves be victimized by a professional deadbeat.

For Bad Winter Cough, Mix This Syrup Yourself

If you want a splendid cough medicine, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet the way it takes hold of distressing coughs, giving quick relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps to clear the air passages. This three-fold action explains why it relieves an annoying cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a very reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

OVERCOMING SUB-ARCTIC difficulties and hazards, engineers of the Federal Resources Department have harnessed a new source of power for development of rich mining lodes in the Yellowknife area of the Northwest Territories. Started in 1945, the project to utilize the tumbling Snare River, 200 miles south of the Arctic Circle was officially opened last month. This aerial photo by the National Film Board shows the general area of the development, which yields 8,350 horsepower for this rich mining area.

Harness New Source Of Power For Northern Yellowknife Area

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP).—An electrical shot-in-the-arm has been injected into the dreary land of muskeg and snow just south of the Arctic Circle. Resources Department engineers, overcoming sub-Arctic difficulties and hazards, have harnessed a new source of power for development of the rich mining lodes in the Yellowknife area of the Northwest Territories.

It is the Snare River storage and power project, launched by the Department in 1946 and now spilling out 8,350 horsepower from the tumbling Snare River just 200 miles south of the Arctic Circle. The project was opened officially Oct. 4.

As Canadian Hydro projects go, the Snare River job doesn't bulk large; it turns out about enough energy for a town of 5,000 or 6,000. But its completion in the face of major obstacles represents an important page in the story of man's mastery of the north.

It is the most northerly power development of its size on the continent. And it was put into production only after a long and carefully - planned campaign against the trick Northern seasons, which fought the engineers at every turn.

Transportation Obstacle

Because of the short navigation season on Northern rivers, transportation was the major obstacle. The builders utilized everything including barges, planes and sleds to get their 2,400 tons of material and equipment to the power site.

In the Summer of 1947, part of the gear was moved by water. From the railhead at Waterways, Alta., it was floated down the Athabaska River, toted over a 12-mile portage to the Slave River and down the Slave to Great Slave Lake. It was ferried across the lake to assembly points for winter haulage to the damsite.

Because of pressure ridges and gaps in the ice, a lake haul during the winter was a ticklish job. Tractor trains made the haul, preceded by scouting snowmobiles testing the ice. The route was inspected daily by a small plane.

Driver Escapes

One tractor broke through and sank in 24 feet of water, but its driver escaped with the rest of the train. The tractor was recovered later. That was the only mishap in the hauling of 500,000 worth of material across the ice.

Power from the project now is going to the giant Yellowknife Gold Mines, Ltd., so far the only actual customer, but by next Summer it will be piped to the town of Yellowknife near that mining site 94 miles south of the Snare River site.

A town of about 3,000, Yellowknife now gets its power from its own diesel plant and from Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. The Snare River horsepower will enable the townsfolk to indulge in such luxuries as electric stoves.

IT IS THE SAME sandy beach, washed by the same waters of the English Channel but there all resemblance ends. Taken in August of this year, the top Canadian Army photo shows residents of Calvados province enjoying the pleasures of the beach at Bernieres in Normandy. The bottom photo was taken D-Day, June 6, 1944, as Canadian troops poured into Normandy. Here many Canadian soldiers who will be remembered this Thursday lost their lives.

Three Scientists Sent To Africa

LONDON, Nov. 10—(CP)—Dr. G. Berkeley of the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, St. Catharines, is en route to the African gold coast with two other scientists to study methods of fighting the swollen shoot disease which threatens cocoa trees.

"We hope to make a full report to the British Colonial Office by the end of the year," Dr. Berkeley told The Canadian Press before leaving by air for Accra.

With him are Dr. W. Carter, head of the entomology department of the Pineapple Research Institute, Hawaii, and Prof. Van Slogteren of Holland.

The three scientists were chosen from a list prepared by the United Nations food and agriculture organization. Their appointment followed the recommendation of a commission which inquired into causes of recent disturbances on the gold coast.

"The cocoa industry is vital to trade in this part of the world," Dr. Berkeley said, "and we shall stay there as long as is necessary to complete our researches."

Dr. Berkeley, a native of St. Catharines, has been with the Dominion Laboratory there for 20 years.

S. Africa Tells UN Closer Union Plans

PARIS, Nov. 10—(CP)—South Africa told the United Nations Tuesday she made plans for the closer union and integration of Southwest Africa with her own union territory.

In a statement to the trusteeship committee, the Dominion's chief delegate, Eric H. Louw, said flatly his Government rejects any moral or legal obligation to submit the former mandated territory to indirect United Nations control under a trust agreement.

South African forces took Southwest Africa from Germany in 1915. Since 1920 it has been administered by the union under a mandate from the League of Nations. Gradually the laws of the union have been introduced, and on April 11, 1947, the Union Parliament decided that the territory should send representatives to the Union Parliament.

Auxiliary Meets

NORWOOD, Nov. 10—(ENS)—Members of the Young Woman's Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, were guests of Mrs. Harry Morgan for the meeting on Thursday. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ed Kavanagh. Mrs. Wilfred Bongard read the Scripture, Mrs. Kavanagh led in prayer. Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. H. J. Ford for her report of the Sectional Rally in Lakefield recently. Mrs. Harry Morgan gave a reading and Mrs. W. Golloher gave a recitation, "Flanders Field," Mrs. J. Rogers gave the topic.

Father O'Gorman Dies After Long Illness

TIMMINS, Nov. 10 (CP)—Rev. John R. O'Gorman, 68, English-speaking vicar-general of the Canadian Army Services in the Second World War, died Tuesday night after a long illness.

He was the first Roman Catholic Priest to say mass in such towns of Northern Ontario and Northwestern Quebec as Earlton, Englehart, Elk Lake, Gowganda, Larder Lake, Tomstownmatheson, Val Gagne, Cochrane and Amos.

Father O'Gorman spent 25 months overseas as a Canadian Army Chaplain during the First World War.

When the Second World War broke out, he enlisted immediately and was appointed head Roman Catholic chaplain of Military District No. 3 with headquarters in Kingston and was named English-speaking vicar-general of the entire armed services. He assisted in much of the organizational work of the chaplain service.

He was discharged from the army in 1944 with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel and returned to his duties of Parish Priest of the Church of the Nativity here.

How television makes jobs for Canadians

The eye of the television camera is an image-orthicon tube. The heart of the receiving set is a cathode-ray tube. Most metal parts of these tubes are nickel or nickel alloys.

In television receivers there are also from 16 to 32 or more radio tubes of which the metal parts are nickel, nickel alloys or nickel coated. Nickel is also used in x-Ray tubes and in long distance telephone systems, including those using the new coaxial cable.

Television has been developed through long and exhaustive research by individuals and manufacturers of electrical equipment, and in this research the International Nickel research laboratories have co-operated to the fullest extent.

The development of television has given rise to an entirely new market for Canadian Nickel. New jobs are created for Canadians both in the Nickel industry and in industries which make equipment containing Nickel.

Thus does research develop better products, create more employment.

ORDER OF EVENTS VITAL

MUCH of the science of able card play consists of ascertaining and then following the correct order of events. This applies to the matter of what suit to attack first, and also what card of a suit to play first. Just one single error in the correct succession can leave you with the lead in the wrong hand at the very time you urgently require it in the other. In social rubber games there are probably more mistakes in this matter of proper order, otherwise called timing, than in any other problem of play.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♥	3 ♣	3 NT
Pass	4 ♦	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Dbl	Pass	4 NT
Pass	5 ♠	Pass	6 NT

North did not have within miles of a two-bid, since there was no hope of game unless South had enough to answer a bid of one. But most social players like to bid two on the least excuse. East of course stuck his neck away out when he interfered with his bids of two suits. After South made his forcing pass of the 4-Spades to see if North wanted to double the suit, the double enabled him to try a slam in No Trumps. Only his carelessness kept him from making it.

West led the spade 10, whereupon South deduced that West's reason for not leading his partner's first-named suit of clubs must be possession of the K. If he had that, he probably did not have the 10, sound thinking. So the club 9 was brought from dummy and, after East played low, the 8 was put on. Sure enough, it forced the K, setting up the Q and J. The next spade lead was followed by the three club honors, and South was ready to tackle the diamonds.

Not stopping to realize that East's bid of two black suits indicated probable diamond shortage and hence diamond length with West, he took the first diamond with the K in his own hand, then led to the A. When East discarded, he saw he was licked, and had to give up the setting trick in diamonds because he couldn't reach his own hand to take the marked diamond finesse. Proper play of the diamonds was to win the first trick in the dummy, then lead low to the K. Even if East had been able to follow, South would then have been in position to finesse or seek the drop as he chose. Since East would have discarded, the winning play would have been made transparent to the veriest tyro.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

How should South play the trump suit after West leads the club Q against his 4-Spades?

N.B. Tidal Power Project May Be Revived

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP)—Possibility of reviving the Passamaquoddy tidal power project on the New Brunswick-Maine border will be reviewed by the International Joint Commission, the external affairs department announced Tuesday.

The department said the commission, which has jurisdiction over Canada-United States boundary waters, will undertake a limited review, without committing either country to even a full investigation of the Quoddy power prospects.

The new reference to the commission apparently has been instigated by Maine interests, Senator Owen Brewster, Maine Republican, has been prodding the U.S. state department for some months to have an investigation made of the prospects of going ahead with the development.

As originally proposed in the 1920s, the project called for developing some 3,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity per year through harnessing the great tidal range of the Bay of Fundy. It would involve damming Passamaquoddy Bay, on the border, and Cobscook Bay, wholly within Maine. Electricity would be generated by controlling the flow between the two basins.

The Roosevelt administration spent some $7,000,000 in shore installations on the Cobscook end before abandoning the project in 1936. Canada has not spent anything on the scheme, and the Cobscook phase did not reach the point where the Dominion even was consulted.

New Royal Baby Next In Succession To Throne

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP). — The baby expected to be born to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh this week-end, whether a son or a daughter, will inevitably be next to Elizabeth in line of succession to the throne.

"If the child is a son it will always keep that place; if a daughter it would be displaced if a son were born later. Whether boy or girl, the child will move Princess Margaret from second to third place in line of succession — and Margaret will drop one place farthem down for every child that is born to Elizabeth.

In the meantime, Princess Margaret remains second heiress to the throne. She could only be heiress presumptive if her sister came to the throne without children. (At present Princess Elizabeth is heiress presumptive).

Official records show that the line of succession passes from the Sovereign through his eldest son, or if there is no son, through his eldest daughter. Therefore, even if Princess Elizabeth is never crowned Queen, her children will be heirs to the throne after the present King.

Question of Names

The royal baby, if a boy, will almost certainly be given four names, including George (after the King), Philip (after his father), Louis (after his uncle, Earl Mountbatten), and probably Andrew as a compliment to Scotland.

If a girl the baby will probably be named Elizabeth, Mary and Alice — the latter after Philip's mother.

The baby will be born with the title of Prince or Princess under a ruling by the King made public Tuesday. It will be addressed as "Royal Highness."

The King amended a 1917 edict by his father, King George V, which limited the title of Prince or Princess to the children and grandchildren of the King in the male line only.

Under the 1917 ruling, princes transmit princely title only to the next generation. Thus the son of the late Duke of Kent, a brother of the King, is HRH the Duke of Kent and a prince. But if he marries, a son would not be considered royal and would be His Grace the Duke of Kent.

Heir Apparent

If Elizabeth has a son when she comes to the throne, he will automatically be heir apparent — the title given to the eldest son of the sovereign.

As heir apparent, her son would become Duke of Cornwall in the Peerage of England and Duke of Rothesay in the Peerage of Scotland.

The heir apparent, however, does not automatically become Prince of Wales, as this title is conferred at the Sovereign's pleasure. In fact there have been six Dukes of Cornwall who were not created Prince of Wales.

The last Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor, became the Duke of Cornwall on the accession of his father to the throne on May 6, 1910, and was created Prince of Wales on June 23 the same year.

Duck Crisis Over On St. Lawrence River

MONTREAL, Nov. 10—(CP)—The duck crisis on the St. Lawrence river between Montreal and Three Rivers, Que., Tuesday appeared over with reports that ducks were moving normally now in waters which last week were oil-polluted to the extent that thousands died.

W. A. McNutt, head of Chaplain Air Services, flew over the previously-affected waters and said no more oil-logged ducks were sighted.

The pollution was caused by oil let into the St. Lawrence by a damaged tanker but by now it has drifted ashore and congealed sufficiently to be harmless.

THE EARL OF ATHLONE, formerly governor-general of Canada, is shown in London as he left Kensington Palace in full dress for the House of Lords and opening of parliament.

Find New York Lucky Place For Film Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10 (AP). — Do you want to be a movie star?

Well, it might help if you hailed from New York.

And were born in May.

And had brown hair and stage experience.

These are some more conclusions from a survey of the "Golden 100" top stars in Hollywood.

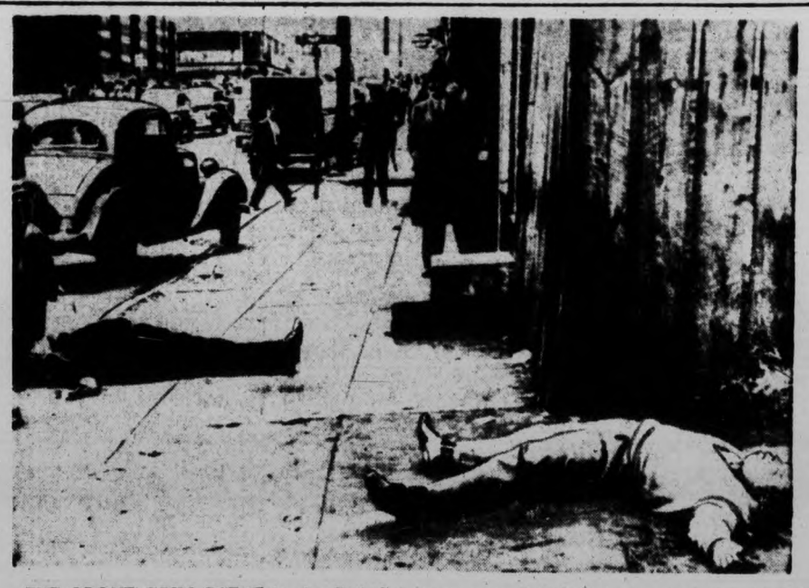
New York State is far ahead in the number of stars it has donated to the screen — 19 out of the 79 born in the United States.

Twenty-one of the stars are from outside the United States—eight from the British Isles, four from Canada and the rest scattered.

Horoscopers may find some reason, but it beats me why so many film stars were born in May—14 of them. Closest months are August with 12 and September with 10.

Stage Best Source

The stage is still the best source for top film talent. Of the hundred, 77 have had footlight training. Fourteen had no previous acting experience and five came from the music field. Two apiece come from sports (Esther Williams, Sonja Henie) and radio (Gene Autry, Roy Rogers).



The average female star is five feet, 4½ inches tall and weighs 116 pounds. Top gal is Lauren Bacall at five feet eight; June Allyson and Ann Sothern tie for shortest at five-feet-one.

The average male star is a fraction under six feet tall and weights in at 172. Tip-topper is Dan Dailey at six-feet-four; low man in the glamor poll is Mickey Rooney with a rugged five-feet-two.

Brown hair is the most popular among the stars, although this is a category that fluctuates more than the others. As we went to press, there were 19 brown-haired gals in the top 50, 16 blondes, 11 redheads and four with black hair.

Brown-haired males are even more predominant. There are 38 of 'em. Blondes total a mere four; redheads two; black-haired two.

The remaining four are hard to classify; they're in the toupee boys.

THE ABOVE GRIM SCENE in the Bethel Court area of Chester, Pa., shows several of the eight dead victims of a madman who posted himself at a second-storey window with a 22-calibre rifle and wantonly shot down passers-by until he was cornered by police and committed suicide. Three others were wounded before the madman, identified as Melvin Collins, 38-year-old Negro of Virginia, ended his life. Among his victims were a city detective and a seven-year-old boy. All except one of Collins' victims were Negroes. Police were unable to find any explanation for the shooting.

Says Vocational Guidance Need Greater Today

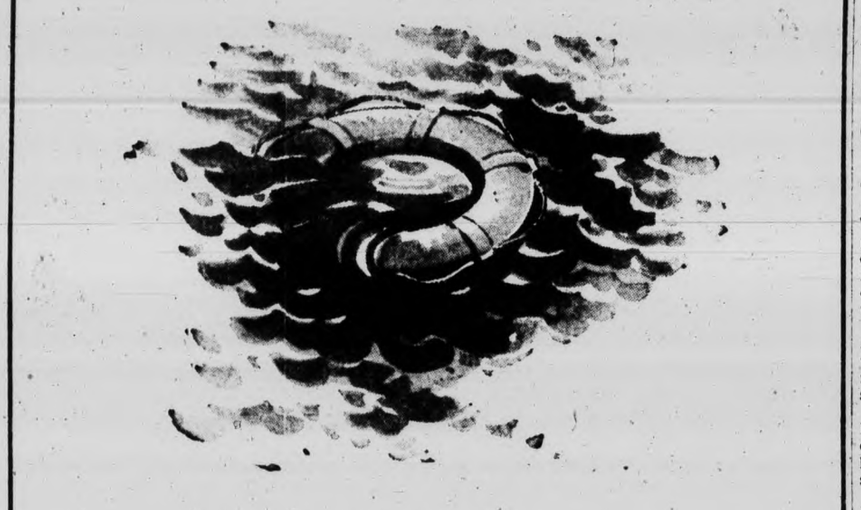
MARMORA, Nov. 10—(ENS)—Marmora Home and School Association met on Monday evening with the president, Mrs. W. G. Chrysler in the chair.

Minutes were read by Miss Eleanor Serson. Mrs. R. E. Neal gave the treasurer's report. W. J. Cottrell, publicity convener, gave his report Mrs. C. Jones gave the report of the membership committee.

Two solos were sung by Rev. J. M. Brownlie with Mrs. H. Rennie as accompanist.

Guest speaker was James Musgrove, Director of Vocational Guidance for South Hastings. He was introduced by W. R. Hamilton, principal of Marmora High School, and gave an enlightening talk on the subject of vocational guidance.

He said that vocational guidance was more necessary today because of the change in the educational system. More is expected by industry and business of the graduates of the school. The frequency of taff changes and the increases in the size of many schools, also increase the need for vocational guidance. New techniques are being developed.



There is also an increase in personal problems among students. Our living tension is increasing and the tension in the adults goes back to the pupils, he said.

The vocational guidance program has five phases which he enlarged upon: Group work, counselling service, accumulative records, testing and placement.

He concluded with suggestions by which the Home and School Association could be helpful. The speaker answered questions put to him.

C. I. Frederick, principal of Queen Mary School, Belleville, who accompanied him, conveyed greetings from the Queen Mary Home and School Association.

Say Allies Wrecked Berlin Talks

Vishinsky States West Crossed Out Pact; Marshall To Confer

PARIS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Russia today charged anew that Britain and the United States wrecked attempts to end the Berlin deadlock.

In an angry speech, Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, told the 58-member United Nations political committee:

"We were told if we took one step in the Berlin question, then international confidence would prevail. We did take that step, but it was wrecked."

Vishinsky said Britain and the United States "simply crossed out and pigeon-holed" agreements with Russia in Moscow on the Berlin deadlock, as well as agreements reached at Yalta in 1945.

Vishinsky's latest tirade came during a debate on a Soviet proposal for a one-third reduction of armaments by the big powers and a ban on atomic weapons.

American delegation sources confirmed that State Secretary Marshall will meet President Truman in Washington later this month for a complete review of foreign policy problems.

No Definite Plan

While the survey would include all aspects of the current policy conflicts between the United States and Russia, the American delegation said it knew of no definite plan for a meeting of Truman and Prime Minister Stalin.

Dispatches from Moscow Wednesday reported all newspapers carried stories of a possible meeting between the two chiefs of state.

At Key West, Fla., where Truman is vacationing, a spokesman said there are no plans of any kind for a Truman-Stalin meeting.

The Moscow dispatches, interpreted by some delegates here as showing a new Russian willingness to attempt to settle the east-west conflicts, were just one move in the Soviet Union's fresh diplomatic pattern.

2,000 Egyptians Give Up Arms

TEL AVIV, Israel, Nov. 11 (AP)—A reliable source said Egypt surrendered Faluja village and 2,000 troops to Israel today.

It was the last inland position the Egyptians held in Southern Palestine. Elsewhere, they hold only Gaza and a thin coastal strip to the south.

The informant said a white flag rose over the village at noon and a delegation walked to Israeli lines. The Jews started occupying the village immediately.

Huge quantities of war material were believed taken. The Egyptian troops were in the village and its perimeter of hilltops and all were reportiing surrendering.

Canada Mourns Her Dead Of Two Wars

By The Canadian Press

Canada mourned her dead of two world wars as communities across the land today held their annual ceremonies of remembrance.

Thousands of Canada's big and little people massed around the national war memorial in Ottawa in a Remembrance Day ceremony that left the stately monument alive with the red of poppied wreaths.

On the 30th anniversary of the 1918 armistice, the Governor-General, wearing the uniform of a field marshal, stepped forward and placed the first of the many wreaths.

He was followed by Mrs. C. H. McDonald of Ottawa, mother of two men who fell in the Second World War and the representative of the Mothers of Canada who have been bereaved by war.

The third wreath was placed by acting prime minister St. Laurent and then there were many more. Foreign wreaths included those of Russia, Britain, the United States, Italy, Czechoslovakia and other countries.

Many of the religious observances connected with this 30th anniversary of the First World War armistice were held last Sunday. Veterans' organizations held church parades and former chaplains and padres recalled wartime sacrifices by the Canadians who fought on land, on the sea and in the air.

Manitoba and Alberta declared today a statutory holiday but in the east, except for the two-minute silence at 11 a.m. local time, many business houses operated as on any other day. Some schools closed and the 35,000 Federal civil servants in Ottawa had a holiday.

Financial and commodity markets throughout Canada and the United States closed for the day.

Agreement Now Reached On Some Union Problems

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—(CP). — Agreement has been reached on "at least a half dozen" more of the secondary problems involved in union between Canada and Newfoundaind.

Justice Minister St. Laurent announced the fresh agreements at the end of a two-and-a-half-hour plenary session Wednesday night between the Newfoundland delegation and the Canadian cabinet minister assigned to the talks.

"You can say tha both sides appeared pleased with the progress," Mr. St. Laurent said. A. J. Walsh, chairman of the negotiating committee, nodded his agreement as Mr. St. Laurent made the statement to a reporter.

The Justice Minitser, who succeeds Prime Minister Mackenzie King next week, said that financial terms of union between the two countries were discussed at the meeting, which broke up just before dinner. Progress was made in this field as well.

It has been known for several days that the Newfoundland delegation has sought an improvement—from its points of view—in the financial terms which were offered when the union was discussed with representatives from the island a year ago. Neither side has divulged the extent of the improvement.

Other sources in touch with the talks said Wednesday night that the gap between the Newfoundland request and the original terms has been narrowed. They indicated that the difference, while vast, is not negligible either.

Earlier in the week sources in close touch with the negotiations predicted that final agreement would probably be reached as soon as next week.

Continue To Work On Plan For 60-Cycle Changeover

TORONTO, Nov. 11—(CP).—As new power cutoffs spread across Ontario, the province's Hydro Commission today prepared to go ahead with its plan of changing from 25-cycle to 60-cycle power. Commission Chairman Robert Saunders said an immediate start would be made on the program. It will cost an estimated $200,000,000 and may take up to 15 years to finish.

Some cities have escaped cutoffs, but they still were struggling to keep under the quota. In St. Catharines, which has not pulled switches, more than 80 industries were ordered to shut down one day a week. Niagara Falls had its first cut and in St. Thomas cutoffs were extended to 45 minutes daily.

Galt has had no cuts so far.

The frequency conversion scheme— which former Premier George Drew asked voters to approve when he called Ontario's election last June — involves a change in nearly every piece of electrical equipment in the province.

Mr. Saunders said new 60-cycle generating stations were coming into production and it was necessary to be ready to use the power.

Both the recently completed generating plants at Stewartville on the Madawaska river and at Sarnia generate 60-cycle power. The Des Joachims, Cheneau and Cave Rapids plants on the Otta-

Douglas Lamb Gets 3 Months

LINDSAY, Nov. 11.—(CP). — Douglas Lamb, 26-year-old son of Lindsay's mayor, Charles Lamb, today was sentenced to three months definite and two months indefinite on a charge of rangerous driving. An assize court jury convicted Lamb Tuesday, reducing the original charge of manslaughter laid after the death of John Horton Sept. 9 in a traffic accident.

Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven said he could not do otherwise than impose a jail sentence. "I am sorry for your wife and child, but so many times the innocent must suffer."

An appeal of clemency was made by Lamb's counsel, R. I. Moore. His father and Rev. W. J. Scott were called to give character evidence. Mr. Moore mentioned Lamb's four years service overseas and said he did not rehabilitate himself as readily as some veterans.

There was evidence at the trial of drinking among occupants of a car which overturned, killing Horton, who was a member of the party.

Rifle Boxes But Leave $15,000

Police Say Duplicate Of Carp Robbery Official Loss Uncertain

MAXVILLE, Nov. 11 —(CP)— Thieves broke into the Bank of Nova Scotia here Wednesday night, rifled safety deposit boxes in the vault and escaped with undetermined loot in a duplicate of an unsolved bank robbery at Carp last year. Unofficial estimates placed the loss at $100,000.

Bank officials said they did not know how many deposit boxes had been smashed open and had no idea of the value of the bonds and securities they presumably contained. The bank's own funds, contained in a separate safe in the vault and amounting to more than $15,000, were not touched.

Inspector S. Hunter of the Ontario Provincial Police said the raid on the bank "looks like a duplicate of the Carp robbery."

Thieves who have never been traced broke into the Bank of Nova Scotia's branch at Carp, July 29, 1947, and looted safety deposit boxes of $229,000 in bonds and securities. The loss at Carp was not finally established until months later and it has never been known whether it represents the total taken by the thieves.

Expert Cracksmen

In the Maxville robbery expert cracksmen entered the bank by smashing a washroom window at the rear and then cut their way into the vault with an acetylene torch. They cut a small hole straight through a 2½-ton door to the main locking bar behind, without touching the combination. Destruction of the heavy locking bar enabled them to enter the vault.

T. J. Bourke, manager of the bank, said no estimate even of the number of safety deposit boxes rifled could be made until finger-print experts from the provincial police criminal investigation branch in Toronto arrived to examine the vault.

"We aren't touching anything until the finger-print expert gets here," he said. "We don't know how many boxes have been broken into—we're trying to make up a list but we don't know whether it's complete."

It was believed three or four men must have been involved. After the thieves entered the vault they lifted down to the floor

Bus Driver Dies

TORONTO, Nov. 11—(CP).—The death toll of a tragic streetcar-autobus crash rose to seven Wednesday night when the bus driver, 24-year-old Frank Rowe of Hamilton, died in hospital. Six Hamilton persons killed Saturday in the accident were buried in Hamilton on Tuesday. More than 50 people were injured.

New York Port Paralyzed By Ship Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—A major part of American shipping was crippled today by longshoremen's strikes on the east and west coasts.

The port of New York, foremost in the world's commerce, was almost paralyzed as thousands of men stood idle.

The blitz also hit the important harbors of Philadelphia and Boston, where other thousands joined a rank-and-file protest against a wage settlement negotiated by A.F.L. union leaders.

The S.S. America, queen of the United States merchant marine, was due to steam into the New York strike area today with nearly 1,000 passengers from Europe. They faced the possibility of toting their own luggage—as passengers did on several ships sailing and arriving Wednesday.

Changes Ports

The British liner Mauretania, which had been due here tomorrow with more than 1,000 passengers from Southampton, has been diverted to Halifax. Special trains will carry passengers from there to New York and other major United States cities.

Shipping operations in the east and gulf-coast ports depended upon three-day voting on the wage pact by 65,000 members of I.L.A. locals in ports from Maine to Virginia. The voting ends tonight.

Final tabulation of the voting was looked on as the determining factor in whether the walkout would be short or long.

The New York port tieup, which affects several piers on the New Jersey side also, came after locals in Manhattan and Brooklyn rejected the tentative settlement with the New York Shipping Association. The pact, announced early Tuesday, would raise the day-shift straight-time pay from $1.75 to $1.85 an hour and the night and week-end overtime rate from $2.62½ to $2.77½.

Million Soldiers Battling For Control Of China In Fierce Yangtze Fight

Report Communists Have Slight Advantage As Chiang's Men Withdraw; Martial Law Brings Order To Nanking

NANKING, Nov. 11—(AP).—The greatest battle in Chinese history, involving more than 1,000,000 men by government estimate, raged north of the Yangtze today with Communist troops having a slight numerical advantage. Government spokesman Lt.-Gen. Teng Wen-Yi said the battle was joined along the Suchow defence line which guard the road to the national capital. Teng said government troops outfought the Reds during the opening phases of the giant battle but that they had made successive withdrawals to "shorten their lines."

He said Reds under Generals Cheng Yi, one-eyed Liu Po-Cheng and Chen Keng already were throwing all available manpower into the fight, on which hinges the fate of north central China.

Teng said the Reds had hurled 21 armies numbering 500,000 men into the battle.

Bottle Up Nationalists

The government spokesman said the Communists had already suffered 30,000 casualties around Suchow. He said that was more

Woman Injured Left In Ditch

TORONTO, Nov. 11 — (CP) — Police today are investigating the case of 35-year-old Mrs. Ruby Ing, who was found in a ditch beside a suburban road north of Toronto. They believe the badly-injured woman may have been struck by an automobile which failed to remain at the scene. Police said, however, that her shoes were laced on the wrong feet. They are puzzled why she should have been walking along the lonely road and said there was a possibility she was thrown from an automobile.

Mrs. Ing suffered fractured skull, broken left arm and severe cuts and bruises. Police are waiting until she recovers consciousness so that they can interview her.

She came to Toronto from Petreborough about six weeks ago, and has been employed as a waitress. In Peterborough she was employed downtown as kitchen help. Her husband died a year ago.

Guide Is Killed When Pal's Rifle Discharges

BURKS FALLS, Nov 11—(CP)—Bill Phillips, 20-year-old Burks Falls hunting guide, died Wednesday night a short time after he was shot in the back with a bullet from a .303 calibre deer rifle. Provincial Police said the shot was accidentaly fired by a fellow guide, Jimmy Weber, 17, of Burks Falls.

Police said the accident occurred late in the afternoon while Phillips and Weber were guiding a party of deer hunters in the woods a mile south of Burks Falls. The two youths were preparing to set the dogs loose when Weber accidentally discharged his rifle. Two doctors who were in the hunting party rushed the injured guide to hospital in Bracebridge but he died either on the way to the hospital or immediately upon arriving there.

Phillips was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips, whose home is about a mile outside of Burks Falls.

Constable B. R. Ball of Burks Falls investigated the accident.

Whitby Man Dies Marching In Parade

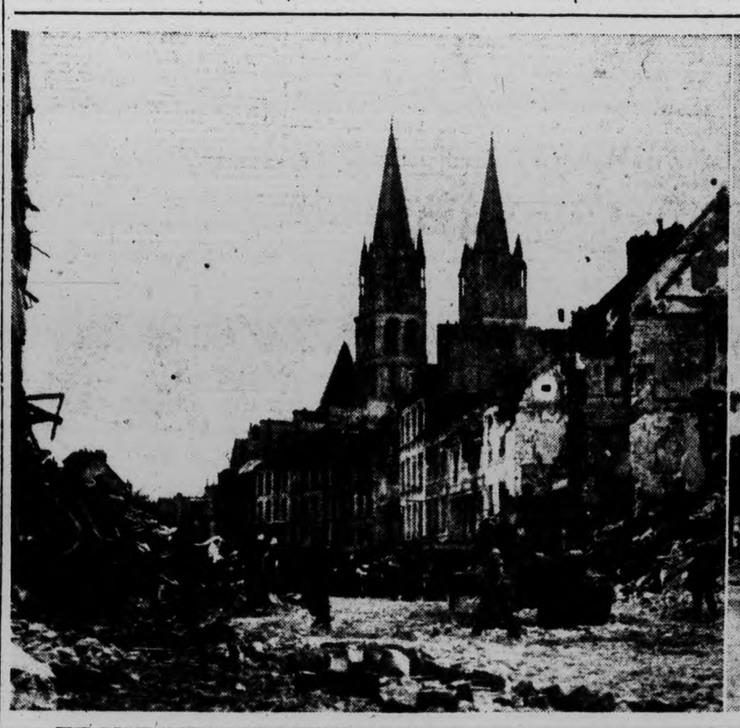
WHITBY, Nov. 11—(CP)—John W. Bateman, about 80, mayor of Whitby 25 years ago, died today while marching with veterans to attend a Remembrance Day service.

Prominent in Baptist Church work here, Mr. Bateman had been asked by church officials to be only a spectator to the parade. But the old man insisted on marching and he died as he fell to the street.

Besides his widow, two sons, Ralph of Detroit, and Gordon of Whitby, survive.

Mystery Travellers Sailing For Europe

HALIFAX, Nov. 11—(CP)—More than 100 mysterious travellers will board the liner Batory here today for Europe, most of them to stay.



The 116 persons of all ages, many travelling on Russian passports, arrived here by train Wednesday night.

Peter Budzik, assistant manager of the Montreal office of the Gdynia-American Line said there was "nothing sinister" about the travellers.

Members of the party, he said, in most cases had lived in Canada many years. Now, finding they can not affford to bring out wives, families and friends, most of them have decided to return home. A few had made return trip arrangements.

Order 100 Engines

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP).—The India Supply Mission in Washington has ordered 100 Pacific type locomotives from two Canadian firms, the Indian High Commissioner's office announced here today. The order was placed with the Montreal Locomotive Works and the Canadian Locomotive Works in Kingston, the announcement said. The order follows one for 150 broad-gage locomotives with a value of more than $13,000,000 placed in 1947 with the same firms.

THE SAME WITH A DIFFERENCE—The towering spires of the Abbe des Hommes shown in above photos were a distinctive landmark to thousands of Canadian soldiers who passed through the ancient town of Caen in Normandy during the last war. In those days the streets were c[illegible] with rubble from the ruins of hundreds o[illegible] and shelled buildings and it took the Army Engineers with bulldozers as shown left to clear a path through the streets for the advancing troops. Taken this summer (right) from the same spot shows how the citizens have managed to bring some order out of the chaos which existed.

Russians Threaten To Force Air Lift Planes Down Straying Out Of Corridor

Clay Promises To 'Keep Them Flying' Will Hold Soviet Responsible; Pilots Told To Obey Russ Fighter Planes

BERLIN, Nov. 11—(AP).—British and United States planes flew the supply route to Berlin today in the face of a Russian threat to force down planes straying from the 20-mile wide air corridors to the former German capital. The American answer to the Russians' threat, made Wednesday night, was a terse promise from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor that "we will keep them flying."

Both British and American authorities said publicly the Russians would be held responsible for any action they take.

The Russians, citing a long list of alleged violation of their territory, also said they would force down "all aircraft without identification marks of nationality" flying over the Soviet zone, including the three air corridors.

The second threat presumably refers to non-military planes, which do not carry nationality markers.

Orders To Obey

Although both Britain and the United States have said in the past they would use fighter escorts if necessary to keep the air lift going, American pilots said they had standing orders to obey any Soviet fighter plane seeking to force them to land.

One group of Allied officials took a more serious view of the Russian threat. They pointed out previous threats of action against the air lift had been threatened in the Soviet press but the Russians had not heretofore committed themselves in official notes.

The three air corridors between Berlin and western Germany were established by four-power agree-

Milburn Fights Cheap Food Plan

MARKDALE, Nov. 11—Farmers have tried to stop inflation, but they need to fight a cheap-food policy—"a cheap-food policy will destroy this country," stated V. S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, at the Grey County Federation of Agriculture annual meeting here. Mr. Milburn warned that farmers should not become complacent, due to the present high prices. "The price of farm commodities is the last to rise and the first to fall," he said.

One of the most important resolutions passed during the lengthy session was the one urging that the Ontario Hog Producers' Association take over the hog condemnation insurance The federation will also request that any hydro interruptions in this area take place other than between the hours of 5 a.m. and 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., as these hours are busy chore times for the rural residents.

Both President Howard I. Graham and Secretary Wesley Magwood urged the large gathering to stand behind their organizations to the utmost and at the same time warned all farmers not to become complacent due to the high food prices which are prevailing at the present time.

Takes 6 Hours To Sink Cruiser

SEATTLE, Nov. 11 (AP)—The heavy cruiser Pensacola, survivor of an atomic bombing, took every punch the United States navy could throw for six hours and 30 minutes Wednesday, then quietly sank.

The first task fleet undertook the job of sinking the ship in practice manoeuvres 90 miles off the coast of Washington.

The veteran of 13 battles with the Japanese was listing far to port just before she went down.

"Heavy cruisers were pouring shells into her at long range when we arrived," said Paul Wagner, Associated Press photographer. He hovered over the scene in a navy patrol bomber.

"They moved up, swung into single file past the Pensacola and poured broadsides into her. Dive-bombers, rocket-firing planes and destroyers all had their turns."

A torpedo finally ripped her bow away, but she stayed afloat for another 64 minutes.

The navy said the manoeuvre was designed to test fleet tactics, weapons and personnel.

In 1946 the Pensacola sailed into Bikini for the testing of the atom bomb and two blasts failed to sink her.

Remembrance Day Lacked The 93rd's 'Lass o'Gowrie'

Just to have heard again "The Lass o' Gowrie," the marching tune of the old 93rd, and Peterborough's greatest and warmest expression of remembrance this morning would have seemed complete to the last overtones of sentiment and tribute.

If one of the bands had only blazoned forth its lilt, its careless defiance and its signing of the stout hearts that had taken it to themselves so long ago, it would have sharpened memories of that Peterborough regiment of the First World War swinging up George St. from long route marches in the townships.

Some there must have been who heard this morning's music only dimly. They were caught up in the memories of brass of the 93rd, the trombones blaring far down the street and the gradual crescendo of the old marching song.

To those whose memories are lengthening, and more replete with incident than others, there seemed to be a recurring impression that it was the 93rd stirring again the echoes of the familiar rhythm of parade. They were gathering about them the massed ranks of Peterborough veterans of two World Wars. Remembrance travels far and fast when unreined by the restraints and pre-occupations of everyday living on this anniversary of the silence that hushed the guns along the Western Front 30 years ago. It sees them all as they once were, the youth of 1914-18 and the succeeding generation of 1939-45.

The men of the 21st, the C.M.R., the R.C.A.F., the Glengarrys, the Navy, will not question this fancy that the old 93rd seemed to live again this morning as typical of them all and embracing them all

Memory Lingers

Their many hundreds, a splendid body of men, suggested the Peterborough Regiment of 1916 at its full strength, Col. Tom Johnston at their head.

Walter Hughes, now living at 595 Bolivar St., was the bandmaster. He had gathered to him a fine company of bandsmen. Some day it would be worth while to call their roll again. They played exceedingly well, but the only lingering memory of their music was the martial spirit of the simple notes of "The Lass o' Gowrie."

The echoes of its challenging brass were heard again this morning, and it might be suggested that henceforth, as a musical tribute to the 3rd and to all the Peterborough men who fought in both wars it should be included in the music of future parades of Remembrance.

The men of other units will not begrudge those nostalgic notes, for in the sense of their enlistments and their service that music represents them all, those who live on to march again and the comrades they left behind on many battlefields and in the sea, and those of the Air Force whose last resting places are here and there in Europe and Asia and Africa, and in Canada, too.

Peterborough's sentiment of Remembrance seemed deeper than ever on the 30th anniversary of the historic Armistice of 1914. Its recalling of others was wrapped in gratitude, and with sadness, too. For the splendid rally of veterans the citizens will be grateful to all those who paraded this morning, the graying men of the First World War, and the still youthful veterans of the Second. Their muster was worthy of themselves and of the men who once marched with them. They gave Remembrance Day a fresh and heartening significance.

TOO MANY MEMORIES

An airforce veteran standing on the sidlines this morning with a look of bitterness on his face was hailed by another vet and asked: "Why aren't you walking with your buddies". The reply was quick and brief, "My buddies all died in the plane crash I survived"—and that was the end of that conversation.

Four Hunters Escape As Camp Burns

Four deer hunters, James King, Edward Freeman, Neil Brooks and Paul Imming, all of Peterborough, were sleeping in their hunting camp three miles south of Haultain near Herb Windsor's farm early Monday morning when Brooks, first to rise, noticed the shack roof on fire. He had lit the stove and was going out to the Haultain School pump for water when he first saw the flames.

He aroused his three companions immediately who formed a bucket line in an endeavor to put out the blaze which had caught in the attic, presumably from overheated pipes. The fire had too much start to enable them to put it out and the building was destroyed. They were able to get out most of their belongings but lost some blankets, ammunition and money. King received a slight burn on his left hand.

They were without a roof on Tuesday night but moved north along the south side of Long Lake to stalk deer. Paul Imming bagged a very large buck that scaled close to 200 pounds dressed and the hunting party was quite satisfied with their two-day hunt regardless of being burned out on the first night.

7 Youths In Court After Gang Fracas

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—(CP). — A fracas between gangs of youths from Toronto and suburbs last Saturday and Sunday nights at a suburban Malton dance pavilion will bring seven youths into nearby Brampton court, police said today.

Three boys were charged with causing a disturbance Saturday when some Malton boys tangled with a Toronto group.

Police said the Sunday night affray developed into a riot after Malton youths said some "zoot-suiters' looked like members of the Beanery gang, a group of Toronto youths who were blamed for several other disturbances during the last few months.

About 100 youths were reported to have taken part in the Sunday night fracas before police arrived and arrested four on disturbance charges. Two Malton boys were reported injured during the fights.

Silent Tribute Paid To Dead

LONDON, Nov. 11 (CP) — A prayer for peace girdled the world today as people paused at the 11th hour in silent tribute to the dead of two world wars.

Still known as Armistice Day in most parts of the world, the memorial date is celebrated as Remembrance Day in Canada and Britain.

In Britain, where Remembrance Day was observed last Sunday, there was only one Armistice Day program. A plaque in memory of 10 United States and six RAF airmen killed in crashes at Much Wenlock, Shropshire, kas unveiled there.

The 30th anniversary of Armistice Day in the United States found military and civilian leaders calling for renewed dedication to universal peace.

President Vincent Auriol led France in paying homage to the men and women who gave their lives for the country in wartime.

In Germany the United States army observed the anniversary by giving a holiday to all but essential personnel. There were no parades or oratory.

A CONTROVERSIAL SUBJECT

"Should dogs be used in deer hunting," is a subject that crops up in discussions every year. Tonight at 11 o'clock over CBL, Toronto, this subject will be discussed on the Sportsmen's Show, and deer hunters will probably take sides fast, once they hear a portion of this argument. Those taking part in the discussion are Jack Hambleton, Dave Price, formerly of Peterborough, and Pete McGillen, city editor of The Examiner.

$50,000 Fire Sweeps Seed Plant 3rd Time

TILLSONBURG, Nov. 11 — (CP).—A $50,000 fire Wednesday night raged through two sections of the Sam G. Vance Co. Ltd. seed drying plant and elevators and destroyed a large quantity of seed corn before 25 local firemen controlled the flames.

For a time the blaze threatened the Canadian National Railways Station and other nearby buildings but firefighters confined the outbreak to the immediate area.

During early stages of the fire, it was reported that a freight car loaded with seed corn was destroyed. But workmen with a truck towed the freight car to safety

The fire, third in the Vance factory within 10 years, was blamed on spontaneous combustion in the corn-drying kiln. A blaze struck the plant in 1939 while another fire caused $100,000 damage Christmas Eve, 1941.

The flames attracted hundreds

Hunter Lost 24 Hours In Bush

BOBCAYGEON, Nov. 11 (Staff) —After more than 24 hours lost in the bushlands around Gull Lake (Mississauga), 36 miles north of Peterborough, 22-year-old Kenneth Malloy of Toronto was located late Wednesday afternoon unhurt. One of a party of Toronto hunters he had been staying at a lodge on Gull Lake during the trip.

Late Tuesday morning, he wandered away from the group, who missed him and spread the alarm in the early afternoon. A search party of 20 men scoured through the area most of the night for him. He was located by another group of hunters, who had cut over to Gull from another lake.

He told them that he had spent the night in a cottage along the lake when he was unable to rejoin his own party.

complete "nests" of 18 deposit boxes at a time. Using the acetylene torch and wedges they then smashed the backs of the entire nest of boxes. Mr. Burke said he thought each nest must weigh more than 200 pounds.

Na Papers Scattered

Mr. Bourke said that when he reached the vault this morning no papers were scattered about. The bank's records, as well as the money, had been left untouched.

Inspector Hunter said there were indications that all the deposit boxes had been rifled but he was not certain.

The robbery was discovered at 6.45 a.m. when the janitor, Steve Saunders arrived to make his morning rounds. He saw the vault door open, phoned Mr. Bourke and called the local police officer, Constable Calvin Mackenzie.

Value of the thieves' loot could not be determined at once since bank officials have no record of the contents of privately-held deposit boxes. The loss must be computed from the records of the individuals who had bonds and securities in the boxes. A completely unofficial estimate, not confirmed by bank officials, said the loss would probably run as high as $100,000.

Roseneath WI Reviews Year Rev. N. Coles Guest Speaker

ROSENEATH, Nov. 11 (ENS).—Thursday was Remembrance Day and Citizenship Day in the local WI. Mrs. R. C. White was convener of this program for the fourth consecutive year and the guest speaker was Rev. N. Coles, minister of Hastings United church, and World War One padre. He spoke on the Quebec boundary question. He went back to 1763 and traced the history of the Quebec-Labrador boundary up to the present time. "The demand," he said, "Quebec makes for a change in boundary farther east in Labrador means 300,000 square miles more land, vast water powers, river basins, and spruce timber. The Grand Falls in Labrador are the greatest known falls," he said. "The demand to determine the boundaries," said Mr. Coles, "reached the Privy Council in 1927, but as yet have not been settled."

The speaker was introduced by Rev. R. C. White and thanked by Mrs. White.

Miss Jessie Johnston opened the remebrance program with a prayer for peace. "O Canada" was sung and two minutes' silence observed. Mrs. C. Grigg read "In Flanders Fields," and five children, whom Mrs. White said were the leaders of tomorrow, assisted with "The White Cliffs of Dover," sung by Carole McMillan and Mary Halstead; a song by Lynn Pacey, a piano solo by Mary Halstead; a reading by Nelda Brown, and a song by Helen Sandercock. Mrs. Frank Brown read "Cobalt Near the Mine," Mrs. J. W. Pacey read "Poppy Day". The program concluded with a poem, "Lest We Forget," by Miss Johnston, and an appeal from Mrs. White, who said, "let us work for peace, pray for peace and think peace."

The meeting was held in the town hall. Mesdames E. and C. Sandercock were the hostesses, and president Mrs. John Beatty presided.

Mrs. B. Thackeray, secretary-treasurer, reported $60.51 bank balance, and announced 31 attended the 2 day short course; 31 attended the lecture by department speaker Miss E. Slicter; 19 attended the Belleville area convention.

It was decided to have an exchange of Christmas gifts at the December meeting when Mrs. F. S. Harnden, Grafton, district president, will be guest speaker, Mrs H. Taylor hostess and Mrs. A Pringle program convener.

Reports of the area convention held in Belleville were presented by Mrs. C. Grigg, Mrs. R. C. White and Mrs. Frank Brown. Mrs. Brown is area convener for historical research and presented a report at the convention.

Mrs. J. W. Pacey was named convener to arrange quilting of 2 custom quilts.

Grant Wins Acquittal In Manslaughter Case

LINDSAY, Nov. 11.—Alex. G. Grant of Woodville Wednesday was acquitted on a manslaughter charge arising out of an accident in which Alex. McDuffy was killed July 12. Only three Crown witnesses were heard. The Supreme Court jury was out one hour.

The car driven by Grant, in which McDuffy was a passenger, left the road near Woodville, travelled 250 feet in an open ditch, hit a guy wire and turned over. Police evidence was that Grant's breath smelled of alcohol shortly after the accident.

Mr. Justice Treleaven, in his charge to the jury, said there was no evidence of speed. Referring to a bottle of ale found near the crash scene, the trial judge said little of the contents had been consumed, and he described this evidence as weak.

ANNE SCOT, 23, of Glasgow, Scotland, waves a cheery goodby from the stern of the Mauretania as she leaves Southampton for Canada and the United States to fulfil singing engagements. Known as the "Highland Nightingale," she won her new career after she sang to actor and radio-artist Hugh Green, who was so impressed with her voice he had recordings made of it. It was on the strength of those recordings she got a radio contract.

Cabbie Chases Thief Recovers His Car

OSHAWA, No. 11— The driver of a stolen Oshawa cab made his gateaway early Wednesday morning after a high-speed chase to Whitby. Clarence McHugh, Oshawa cab driver, noticed that one of his cars was gone, and after cruising along the highway spotted the stolen vehicle and gave chase.

During the pursuit McHugh radioed his office dispatcher, who immediately notified city police, and they also joined in the hunt with a cruiser. McHugh finally brought the stolen car to a halt in a Whitby side street, but the thief climbed out and ran off into the darkness.

A car stolen from George Mowat, Mary St., Whitby, was recovered undamaged on an Oshawa street later Wednesday morning. Police believe the same man is probably responsible for both thiefts.

Let's Not Be Hasty About The Memorial Centre

The building of the Memorial Centre has been hanging fire for a long time, and both the Centre Committee and the City Council seem to feel that it is their duty to do something about it as soon as possible. But in order to begin work on the Centre next spring it will be necessary to revise the present plans, and the resulting building will be something considerably less than a Community Centre. Several gentlemen who are concerned in this project have visited an arena in Guelph, and they appear to be ready to modify the Peterborough plan to suit the Guelph model. But as the Guelph Arena is nothing more than a skating-rink which can be used as a roller-skating rink in summer, we do not think that it would suit Peterborough's purpose. The money for the Memorial Centre was collected on the understanding that it would be a focus for a wide variety of sports and entertainments. A simple skating rink will not do.

* * *

Peterborough needs a rink, and in the Secondary Arena it has one near to completion. We therefore suggest that the City would be wiser to vote the Secondary Arena the few thousand dollars it needs to complete its construction, and put the Memorial Centre plan on the shelf for five years, or at least until building costs are markedly lower than they are now. That would give the city a hockey rink, and would mean that, in due course, the Memorial Centre could be built in a manner which would not give the lie to its name.

* * *

Peterborough's memorial to those who died in the First Great War was not put up in a hurry, but when it was done the job was done well, and we have a memorial which ranks as one of the best things of its kind in Canada. The subscribers to the Memorial Centre were not chiefly concerned with providing the city with a hockey rink; they subscribed their money for a building which would, in a variety of ways, enrich the life of this community, and in that way form a fitting memorial to the sons of Peterborough who gave their lives in defence of their principles and their country. A hockey rink would never fulfill this purpose, many subscribers to the Memorial would feel that they had been misled, and bitter discussion of the alteration in the project would go on for years.

* * *

We have the utmost respect for the sincerity of the Memorial Committee, and we know how they have been harried by demands that they should get on with the job. (Indeed, we have harried them on this very subject in these columns.) But in the light of what we now know, we urge them not to be panicked into hasty action at a time when building costs are at their peak. It is possible for Peterborough to have both an arena and, in the course of time, a fully adequate Memorial Centre as well. Some assistance to the Secondary Rink, a final decision on the site for the Memorial Centre, and a promise that it will be built when it can be built according to the original representations would, we feel, satisfy everyone.

Three Years For Mrs. McAllister

We think that there will be some surprise at the remarkably light sentence of three years' imprisonment which has been passed upon Mrs. Jane McAllister, who shot her husband on September 5. If Mrs. McAllister behaves herself in prison she will be a free woman in thirty months. That may be considered a happy prospect for a woman who was originally charged with murder.

A remarkable degree of sympathy attended Mrs. McAllister during the whole period of her detention and trial, and we feel that this sympathy says more for the hearts than for the heads of Mrs. McAllister's friends. They did everything that lay in their power to enlist sympathy and public support for the accused woman, apparently in the belief that such support could influence the decision of the court when she came to trial. It was unfortunate that an officer of the court allowed himself to be allied with one such demonstration; there was a most objectionable suggestion of trial by public opinion about the whole affair, and more than a hint of the circus atmosphere which sometimes makes justice ridiculous in the smaller centres of the U.S.A.

Admitting that there were special circumstances attending the killing of John McAllister, that Jane McAllister's life had been filled with misfortune, that money troubles added to the miseries of an unhappy marriage, and that Jane McAllister had undergone an operation which may have unsettled her wits, the fact remains that she killed her husband. Sympathy must be felt for her many misfortunes, but sympathy in this case was allowed to take some very silly and improper forms. The presence at the trial of an officious publicity agent purporting to represent the Scots in Canada, the "shall Trelawney die?" attitude of some Scottish war-brides, the presentation of a new set of false teeth to Mrs. McAllister's mother—these things all put a mawkish emphasis on the fact that a young and attractive woman was on trial, rather than on the major fact that a man had been killed.

It is foolish to speculate upon such matters, but we cannot help wondering if John McAllister—who shared the same poverty, ill-health and depression as his wife—had suffered a "mental blackout" and had shot Jane whether he would have escaped with a three-year sentence?

Air Defence For Western Europe

The composition of the combined military forces of the Western European Union has been tentatively announced. According to the estimates contained in a despatch from London, the five European countries are relying chiefly on air force, although a soldier, Field Marshal Montgomery, is at the head of the organization. France will contribute ten ground force divisions and 30 squadrons of jet fighters, the U.K. six divisions and 45-50 jet fighter units, Belgium four divisions and five jet fighter units, Holland no ground forces (most of its army is still in the East Indies) and ten fighter squadrons. There will be, according to these figures, only twenty divisions and as many as a hundred squadrons.

This emphasis on air force defence is highly interesting, for the plans must represent the most recent and expert tactical assessment of the relative functions of army, navy and air force in post-war times. However, it must not be assumed that the experts now consider navies and armies obsolete. This air force is being formed as the first line of defence against sudden attack from the air. The jet fighters would be used to intercept enemy bombers. Another interesting aspect of the plans as they are now evident is the implicit dependence not only on American arms and equipment but on active participation by the United States. Under the plan as now outlined, the United States is expected to provide the bombing planes and to do the long-range bombing. There can be little doubt therefore, that an Atlantic Defence Agreement will be made very soon. The Western Union is premising its defence plans on it.

Winnipeg will be 75 years old next year, and is Canada's fourth largest city. We of the older, smaller cities, will wish this bouncing infant well.

We read in the news of a bride who lost her nose, and had it stitched on again. As she had been in an accident this exonerates her from the usual bridal charge of having cut it off to spite her face.

From The Critic's Notebook

RED WINE OF YOUTH (McClelland & Stewart, Toronto) is a biography of Rupert Brooke written by Arthur Stringer, a Canadian now living in the United States and a veteran of many books and stories. This biography is neither scholarly nor good, but since Rupert Brooke was an interesting person and has many admirers, it will be read.

It is mawkish, pretentious and cliche-riddled. Mr. Stringer owes too much to the late American thrill-seeker and writer Richard Haliburton. Haliburton had collected letters and papers with intention of writing a biography of the poet, but fortunately never carried out his intention. Under Arthur Stringer's hands, Rupert Brooke becomes a Madame Tussaud poet—heroically, beautifully waxy. Even so, his brother-officers should not be described as "men from the college-dorms of Cambridge and Oxford". When the biographer says that Brooke wrote once from "Anvers", is he merely affected or merely ignorant that "Anvers" is the French for Antwerp?

Rupert Brooke, despite his limitations, is worthy of a better biographer. Time has made possible a critical judgement and Mr. Stringer has the reputation of being a poet, yet he presents no critical evaluation of Brooke's poetry. One should expect now a discerning study of Brooke's life, but this biography is vulgarly genteel as well as chummy and sentimental. (He refers to Brooke continually as "Rupert".)

There is a lack of both scholarship and care in the book. Mr. Stringer does not bother to explain how the "newly crowned Fellow of King's" could spend a couple of years in Canada and the East Indies soon after, and not resign the Fellowship at King's College, Cambridge. Perhaps he did vacate it officially. Why does Stringer outline the careers of military associates like Sir Ian Hamilton and Bernard Freyberg from the time they had dealings with Brooke until about 1925, and then drop them? Does he not know that Sir Ian Hamilton lived until last year, that Sir Bernard Freyburg attained his greatest eminence during the late war as Commander-in-Chief of the New Zealand expeditionary force in Europe? The book was published in 1948 not in 1925. The publishers cannot be commended for publishing it at all, especially in these times when paper is scarce and books expensive. The public can rightly protest being charged $4.75 for a book like this.

Rupert Brooke! How that name speaks of lovely enthusiasms and patriotisms, how it recollects one's youth when "Grantchester", "The Great Lover" and "If I Should Die" were one's secret passion! What would be the beauty and reputation of the poet today if he had not caught a bug in the Mediterranean in 1915 and were alive now, a man 62 years old? Despite the minor nature of his poetry and his immaturity (he looked, talked and acted like an adolescent even in his last and 29th year), the man and his phrases remain in even un-English hearts which have pulsed to romantic beauty and langour. T.J.A.

NO SON OF MINE, by G. B. Stern (Macmillan). Most writers have occasional failures, and it must be said that this book is a failure for so deft a craftsman as G. B. Stern. Nevertheless, it is worthy of a reading, for it is far from being a contemptible failure, and Miss Stern's poorest work is still interesting. Briefly, the book is about a ne'er-do-well who bears a strong resemblance to Robert Louis Stevenson, and when he goes to Scotland he finds that he can impose upon many people by hinting that he is a son of the great writer. He undertakes this imposture cynically, but it is necessary for him to know something about Stevenson in order to carry it off, and in the course of his studies for this shady trick he is so deeply influenced by what he learns of Stevenson, and also by the regard in which Stevenson is held, that a reform takes place in his character. At last he drops his pretence, but by that time he is not sure, in his own mind, that there may not have been some shadow of truth in it. This seems, on the face of it, a good theme for a novel, but it has not proved so; I could not presume to point out why or where it has failed, but it lacks the substance and tone of a success. Perhaps a desire to retail too much information about Stevenson (who seems to be a hero of hers) has betrayed the author. But it must be repeated that, although a failure, this is a decidedly interesting one. R.D.

LIFE STORY by Phyllis Bentley (Macmillan). This new novel is run of the Bentley mill. Being set in Yorkshire, this is a textile mill, and the story deals with three generations of the Tyas family, sober middle-class mill owners. Inter-family feuds and marriages, business success and failure, provide the background for the life of Hannah Tyas from childhood to old age. The story is told from the distaff side, and the underlying theme is the struggle of the human personality both for and against domination. Miss Bentley fleetingly relates the fluctuating family fortunes to world wool markets and to economics in general, as she pictures the ensuing changes in middle-class English life between 1859 and 1948.

Like the Yorkshire textile trade which she knows so well, this writer can be depended upon for good workmanship, but to this reviewer her novels are singularly humourless and heavy going. "Life Story" has a solid sort of suet pudding quality which, doubtless, Miss Bentley's admirers will approve. H.T.K.

NO MAN AN ISLAND (Clarke, Irwin and Company) is a collection of the poetry of George Whalley written between the years 1939 and 1944. Mr. Whalley served with the RCNVR on loan to the Royal Navy and much of the subject matter is related to his service. This collection is very uneven. The war poems in general are the best. In his pastoral poems Mr. Whalley fails to convey the essence of the beauty he admires, and is often hopelessly hackneyed. Such phrases as, "delicate loveliness" and "shy grace" to describe a girl, have long ago degenerated to the uses of the face cream ads. On the other hand, "Sicilian Vignette" is an extremely fine lyric, terse and moving in eight lines. "Seascape" a longer poem, has good narrative quality, and while it shows the influence of Pratt, has a vigour of its own.

There is a variety of form here, but this poet needs an editor. Unfortunately like many another, he is unable to discriminate between his geese and his swans. H.T.K.

Letters To The Editor

DID THE FARMERS BEAT DEWEY?

Sir: That paragraph at the centre of your "County Farm Notes" in the Nov. 6 Examiner saying that "One result of the election triumph of President Truman this week may be a revival of the international wheat agreement which had received Canadian support through the national Federation of Agriculture", makes sweet music to these farm ears. Here was an effort at genuine international brotherhood and co-operation—that won the approval (and the signature) of three dozen of the major nations—and it now looks as though "permitting the pact to die in a pigeon-hole of the Republican Senate" was costly business; i.e., to the Republicans on Nov.2?

Furthermore, the above sentiment by your rural columnist, H.T., gets massive support from a most unusual source. I quote from the special 'Election Edition' of one of the top-flight New York news magazines, issued on Nov. 8: "In the final analysis, it was the rural drift from Dewey which cost the Republicans the Presidency, control of Congress, and half a dozen or so governorships. The Republicans, from Mr. Dewey down, ran better in many industrial centres than they had in the previous four Presidential elections; but the normally Republican-minded farmers simply did not produce the usual GOP margins in the rural areas. It was the main political development on which the election turned." (Newsweek).

I cannot reach to the vast implications involved in an international wheat agreement. If I could, I would likely not remain for long 'in the furrow'. On the other hand I declare to you, with all my heart, my conviction that more brotherhood and co-operation among the nations is the need of the present hour?

JUST A FARMER.

PETERBOROUGHIAN LAMENT

Sir,

Last night I had a garbage can,
So proud beside the door;
A bright and clean receptacle
Had not been used before.

Today, the wagon came around
The garbage man was here:
Alas! my new defecator
By now is in the sere.

I know that it's a hellish job
Collecting all the muck
Of slops and scraps and odds and ends
Of food and stuff and guck.

I know a brand new garbage can
Expects to bash about,
And toss from hand to hand the whiles
It's being emptied out.

But Lord! My fervent hope is that Someday, some careful guy
Will handle such invested cash
As carefully as I.

INVICTUS.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God. . . .

Then saith he, Unto what is the kingdom of God like? and whereunto shall I resemble it? It is like a grain of mustard seed, which man took, and cast into his garden; and it grew, and waxed a great tree; and the fowls of the air lodge in the branches of it. . . .

And he went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem. Then said one unto him, Lord, are there few that be saved? And he said unto them, Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. (Luke 13: 11-13; 16, 19, 22-24.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The weary, luggage-laden husband stared miserably down the platform at the departing train.

"If you hadn't taken so long getting ready," he sadly admonished his wife, "we should have caught it!"

But was the little woman intimidated? No, a thousand times, no!

"Yes," she rejoined, "and if you hadn't hurried me so, we shouldn't have so long to wait for the next one!"

Strolling into the lobby of a fashionable hotel, a self-impressed actor approached an attractive young widow and said, "What a delightful surprise! Don't you remember me? . . . . Broadway? The theatre? I've been down here convalescing from over-work, but am happy to report that I'm completely recovered now and—"

"I don't remember you," said the blonde, warily, "but if you'll excuse me now, I'll rush up to my room and write in my diary: 'How utterly thrilling! Have just encountered my first cured ham!'"

A commercial traveller had earned a reputation for devotion to his wife by taking her about with him wherever he travelled, notwithstanding the fact that her features were very homely.

One evening he was with two friends, both of whom had married pretty girls.

"How is it," said one of them, "that we, who have married pretty girls, always leave them at home, while you insist upon taking your wife wherever you go?"

The hero of the tale replied with a sigh: "Boys, to tell you the truth, I just can't pluck up courage to kiss her good-bye."

Urges Canadians Serve Country More Than Ever

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

HALIFAX, Nov. 11.—(CP). — George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, called on Canadians Wednesday night to dedicate themselves to serve their country in the spirit of those who had given their lives for Canada in the two world wars.

In a pre-Armistice Day-speech at a public meeting, Mr. Drew said that on the occasion he felt it fitting to recall that men had given up their lives for the cause of freedom and security.

"I believe we should dedicate ourselves to serve our country—no matter what form or level it may take—in the spirit of those who gave their lives for Canada," said Mr. Drew.

The 54-year-old veteran of the First World War, now on a tour of the Maritime provinces, said there is evidence that efforts are being made by Communists and by "another party" in Canada to use prejudice and hatred as a political weapon. He urged that supporters of his party not use such tactics."

Must Be Convincing

He urged supporters to advance the party's principles of freedom and security in a way that would "convince the people of the sincerity of our desire to live up to those principles and to serve the people."

Another speaker at the meeting was Robert L. Stanfield of Halifax, who a few hours earlier had been elected leader of the Progressive Conservative party in Nova Scotia. He said the party has no magic wand to produce unparalleled prosperity, but it will give the province "clean revitalized government" which will not hinder progress.

Mr. Drew said he realized that freight rates, effective transportation and adequate bridges were problems in the Maritimes, but his election to the national leadership was so recent he could not comment on them. The former Ontario premier said he is seeking information and advice on the problems.

QUEEN MARY will become a great-grandmother and Queen Elizabeth a grandmother when Princess Elizabeth gives birth to a child expected anywhere between November 13 and 18, making the fourth generation in the royal family. A temporary nursery has been set up in Buckingham Palace and the cradle, lent by the Queen mother, was once used by Princess Elizabeth herself. Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, are expected to leave Buckingham Palace about the middle of December to spend Christmas at the King's favorite country place, Sandringham, in Norfolk.

ALTHOUGH THE BABY will have many new toys of its own, Princess Elizabeth has treasured some of her own baby things. These, including rattles and soft cuddly dolls, are waiting in the nursery set up in Buckingham Palace. Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret are shown in their childhood when they paid a visit to their old home in London, where an exhibition of royal treasures was held. The princesses are shown standing beside Princess Elizabeth's cot, surrounded by some babyhood toys which formed part of the exhibition.

Rural Delegates Demand Action On Sewage Plant

KITCHENER, Nov. 11—(ENS).—Kitchener is going to be forced to spend money on the enlargement of the main sewage disposal plant near Doon. This was the intimation given the sewer committee last night by a deputation from Waterloo Township Council.

Headed by Carl Ellis, county warden and township reeve, the delegation was manifestly dissatisfied with the assurances received from sewer committee chairman Clarence Seibert.

Seek New Plant

The township delegation told the sewer committee they were not waiting for the Kitchener finance committee to make up its mind. They are going direct to Health Minister Kelley to ask for a mandatory order on Kitckener that will force the city to spend from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000 on a new plant.

Members of the township delegation, following their conference with the committee, said Ald. Seibert admitted there was plenty of raw sewage being dumped by Kitchener into the river from the Doon plant.

Estimates Cut Off

They also reported Ald. Seibert as saying that as sewer chairman he had been trying for five years to get the finance committee to back up plant improvement proposals. The only reaction was cutting off the sewer committee's estimates at the budget meeting.

Reeve Ellis said the township authorities are convinced Ald. Seibert is trying to do an efficient job but his style is cramped by Kitchener council.

"We are going right through to Health Minister Kelley for a mandatory order on Kitchener," Warden Ellis said.

Has Reached Limit

"The township has reached the limit of tolerance but it will no longer submit to the unsanitary conditions caused by the Grand River from Kitchener's sewage plant.

"We realize that it will cost Kitchener plenty of money, but we cannot help it The health of the township cannot be jeopardized to save Kitchener's budget."

Arrangements are being made for an interview with the Minister this week.

Transport Collapses

COBOURG, Nov. 11.—(ENS).—Collapse of the two rear wheels of an automobile transfer transport near Bewdley Wednesday morning resulted in the big carrier stopping abruptly and banging up a car and two light panel trucks which were aboard. Driver was Roy Lidster of Oshawa. Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg, who was on patrol in that area at the time, investigated the accident.

Education Week Shows Work Done In Schools

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—The spotlight will swing around to education next week when Canadians in towns and rural districts across the country will have a chance to see how much the little red school house has changed since they were young.

Inaugurated by the Canadian Teachers' Federation in 1935, Canadian Education Week this year has adopted "the school builds a nation" as its theme.

Provincial departments of education, home and school associations, churches, theatres, service clubs, and local merchants, are among the groups helping to put over this week devoted to the "reading and writing" side of Canadian life

"We should not be content merely with an appraisal of the local educational facilities, but give some thought as well to education in its broader sense, recognizing it for what it really is—the most important element in the building of a nation," said George Croskery, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Teachers' Federation.

Mr. Croskery noted in a statement today that there had been many developments in the educational field since the celebration of the first education week 13 years ago.

Realize Value

"The value of education is realized to a greater degree in our democratic community and the part played by the teacher in developing the whole child . . . Is more fully comprehended by the public,'" he said.

In the secondary schools there had been a tendency to try to make education more practical "to associate training more closely with the business of earning a living."

In addition, provincial departments of education have increased substantially their grants to assist in operational costs and to promote building programs to replace obsolete rural schools and take care of rapidly expanding urban areas.

Mr. Croskery said that at the present time the CTF was focusing the attention of other national bodies and the public in general on the question of federal aid.

Yankees Want To Unload Bears

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Now that New York Yankees have admitted they want to unload the costly Newark Bears franchise of the Triple-A International Baseball League, the only question that remains to be answered is:

How are the Yanks going to get rid of the Bears?

Co-owner Dan Topping finally confirmed Wednesday the rumors that the Bears are for sale.

He added that he'd probably be able to clarify the situation today after a meeting among George Weiss, Yankee general manager, Parke Carroll, a Bear executive, and Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League.

There are several major-league clubs that might be interested in buying the Bears—if only to own a Triple-A club. The club that buys, however, will have to be willing to lose money in return for the development of players, for the Bears have been in the red for several years.

Ben Morgan Beats Hi Lee In Main Wrestling Scrap

Big Ben Morgan beat Hi Lee in the deciding fall of the main mat bout at the Brock last night before a big crowd. He did it in four minutes, after each had taken a fall, by scrambling back into the ring—when both mixed outside the ropes—and then kicking Lee twice into the crowd as Hi tried to scramble back. The count was going on by Referee Bert Maxwell and Morgan beat it. He had yanked Hi's hair and roughed him for a time before that but later took a fist beating to the pantry till both went out of the ring.

Lee, who towers at 298 pounds, took the second fall in a bit under five minutes from Morgan, jarring the beam at 322. He used a full nelson and thrice threw bearded Ben into the corner ropes hard and finally flopped on him for the count. He was peeved from the previous round and stayed in the ring during the intermission. As the gong went, Lee rushed the Tennesseean and threw him all over as the fans cheered. Ben was never in the picture this time and looked groggy as he staggered out after the fall.

It took 12 minutes in the first round for Morgan to beat Lee and then it came as a refree's disqualification. Hi was roughing Ben in a corner and wouldn't break, so Maxwell jumped on his back. Hi threw Bert out of the ring and then slammed his big opponent around and finally pinned him. But Maxwell staggered back in and disqualified Hi for roughing an official. Both matmen were big, strong and rough, with 260-pound Maxwell looking small as he tried to pry them apart, Ben was ahead of things for a time but late Lee came back and threw him around.

Pat Flanagan, 223, won the semi-final from Myron Cox, at 230, in 21 minutes with a mule kick and flying table. It was a good bout all the way, with the barefoot California life-guard proving a colorful character with plenty of savvy and giving Pat a rough time of it. A lot of smart matwork was shown and Cox—who is a director of life-guards for Los Angeles—was strong and supple. He was well ahead till Pat crossed him up by coming up on the opposite side after being thrown out of the ring, and then applying a rope hanging hold. They dished up a flock of action to keep the crowd yelling all through.

A Good Draw

In one of the prelims, Charley Green, scaling 225, and Ralph Martin, who went 224, battled to a 30-minute draw. Green of England wore long green trunks and played it pretty rough the last part after taking two hard falls from the agile Martin. They swung for keeps a few times and the fans hollered at the hot action with good aerial work shown by the fast-movig opponents, who gave local fans one of the fastest scraps they've seen this year. They were in and out of the ring and always on the move.

The first bout saw Nick Vicchiarelli, who weighs 169, earn a draw against Nick Futa, a good 184 pounds and taller. They played it cautiously for a time with the Peterborough grappler forcing things somewhat against Futa. The latter got underway then and started some illegal stuff He also used a headlock to advantage while Vicchiarelli showed a lot of stuff with an arm pull and turnover grip, as well as flying mares, a hard headlock and a crotch lift. Futa got rougher but the local matman held his own, despite a punch on the nose, and the crowd liked the action shown. It was ruled a draw by Referee Maxwell at the time limit and everyone was satisfied.

Say Alouettes Rated 7-5 As Under-dogs

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (CP) — The chips are down today as Montreal Alouettes tangle with Ottawa Rough Riders in the first game of the Big Four football play-offs at Delormier Downs.

The Als, rated as seven to five under-dogs, are going into battle with three of their most valuable players watching from the sidelines—Halfback Billy Bass and linemen Steve Chamko and Ralph Webber.

Bass is a recent blow to the Alouettes undaunted spirit. He developed water on the knee since the Montreal club downed the Wildcats last week-end in Hamilton.

Montreal Coach Lew Hayman plans to try for a big score in this opener of a two-game total-point series.

"We have everything to gain and nothing to lose, by gambling on rolling up as big score as we can in the opener, Hayman said Wednesday as he put the final touches to his play-off strategy.

Christmas Deadline

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—(CP). — Christmas parcels to destinations in Britain should be mailed by Nov. 15 and letters by surface mail should be on their way no later than Nov. 29, the post office announced Wednesday. Parcels or letters to overseas friends farther away than Britain should be mailed now, the post ofice warned in a statement.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

The puck pace is being stepped up constantly with the stress really on speed now. Of course, condition is a necessity to keep up the pace, even with frequent changes in lines. And pro hockey today is a young man's game as recent Canadian Press statistics show. The average age today in the NHL is 25.4 years, and only 10 of the 101 players in the league have reached the 30-year mark. Some of those are goalies and defencemen — probably most of them. Leafs have the youngest team with Detroit right behind them, then Canadiens, followed closely by Boston, average age of the latter being but 25.9 years. Several NHL-ers are just 19.

* * * * * *

While many prefer stick wizardry and fancy combination plays—plus rousing bodychecking at the blue lines—the majority of fans appear to prefer the pell-mell type of hockey in vogue today. Else they wouldn't be packing the big arenas to see the pucksters pitching horse-shoes at top speed. And the promoters lean an attentive ear toward the paying customers. Scouts for pro clubs now keep on the lookout for promising young hockeyists right down to junior "B" and juvenile ranks. They want them trained properly at a tender age. While they like size in a youngster he must first of all be a good fast skater. The rest can be taught.

* * * * * *

Keep That Head Up

Yeah, step fast and keep the head up—that seems to be the answer these days. While there isn't the lusty body thumping of former years, still a guy with his head down can run into a brick wall dressed in opposition livery once in a while and get the bejabbers knocked out of him. Lot of our players are particularly good with a puck and still holding their heads up on the attack. The late Shrimp McDougall was a dandy, and so was Bill Calladine—now retired and living in the States. Others who come to mind are Bun Kingdon, Honey Tompkins, Joe Rochetta, Johnny Godfrey. Just to mention a few. Even with the modern trend toward pitching the puck and tearing after it, players should still have the head up.

* * * * * *

One rule change this year is that permitting a club, amateurs, too, to dress 15 players, including an extra goalie. This gives a team three complete forward lines, two defence pairs, and two goalies. So, a coach can toss out line after line for a couple of furious minutes each, with sufficient defencemen to stand the pace—they must keep moving plenty, also—and a spare goalie if one guy gets shell-shocked under a constant bombardment! Two forwards passes and the puck comes from one goal right to the opposing defence. It's a fast game today, no fooling.

TVL-ers Getting Set

Trent Valley Hockey League is getting squared around for another large season about the district. Art Duncan of Batawa was returned as president, with Charlie Puffer of Norwood vice-prexy, and Bill McCaw of Batawa secretary-treasurer. At a recent meeting, nine teams were represented: Lakefield, Norwood, Campbellford, Warkworth, Hastings, Marmora, Madoc, Tweed and the Frankford-Bata Combines. And with three new rinks adorning the loop, all looks rosy at the moment. Good rugged hockey is served up in this oldtime loop and the crowds are large and noisy.

* * * * * *

For the benefit of local or district runners, we might mention a letter received announcing the 51st annual Thanksgiving Day road race in Buffalo. On Nov. 25, a five-mile downtown jaunt, open to Canadians, too. Only the latter should be registered with the AAU of C and may do so by writing Robt. Somers, 36 Servington Crescent, Toronto 12. The race is a handicap affair and the first 12 to finish get prizes. Also three time prizes up and a team trophy. Entry blanks and travel permits may be obtained from Mr. Somers.

They Turned It On

Action galore and some smart grappling seen in all four bouts at the Brock mat show last eve. Before a big crowd. It was plenty lively throughout. Huge Ben Morgan won the main go against towering Hi Lee (who goes 298 muscular pounds) and kept up his undefeated record here. It'll take a mighty good grappler to pin this bearded 322-pound mountain of roughness. Flanagan won a semi-final from Myron Cox, but Cox was really smart. A colorful big barefoot guy, who spends some nine months a year as director of life-guards for Los Angeles, he is as supple as Tarzan. Charley Green and Ralph Martin went to a draw and they packed as much action into their furious tilt as we've seen in a long time. And Nick Vicchiarelli, of this city, held his own nicely to earn a prelim draw against heavier Nick Futa. A good card.

Dust Travels Far

AUCKLAND, N.Z — (CP) — Every year or two part of Australia takes to the air and moves to New Zealand. This happens when storms in Australia raise vast dust clouds and carry them out to sea. Even after the 1,200-mile journey across the Tasman Sea the dust is sometimes thick enough to coat trees and plants with a reddish film.

White Sox Send Robinson To Detroit Team

DETROIT, Nov. 11 (AP)—Detroit Tigers are digging for added punching power to put at the disposal of the man who succeeds the discharged Steve O'Neill as manager.

They hope to get some of it from Aaron Robinson, Chicago White Sox catcher obtained Wednesday in a swap for pitcher Billy Pierce.

Robinson comes to Detroit in a straight player deal. The swap was engineered at the major-league draft meeting in Cincinnati by the Tigers' general manager, Billy Evans, in conversations with Frank Lane, new general manager of the Sox.

Robinson, 32-year-old former New York Yankee catcher who went to the White Sox in a trade for pitcher Ed Lopat a year ago, hit only .249 for the White Sox. He bagged eight homers.

It's believed he'll deliver the long ball more frequently here, however, for he's a strong left-hand hitter and will be aiming for Briggs Stadium's moderately short 325-foot right-field fence.

Pierce, 21-year-old graduate of Detroit sandlots and Highland Park (Mich.) high school, came to the Tigers during the war as a curve-balling left-hander with promise.

Moved in and out of a Detroit uniform, he had his best year with the Tigers' Buffalo farm club in the International League in 1947 when he won 14 games and lost eight. Recalled last season, Pierce won three games and lost none but was used in only 55 innings.

Sugar Jim Henry, who performed brilliantly in the Chicago net, kicking out sure goals repeatedly to keep the Hawks in the game until the last minute.

Bespectacled rookie Clin Albright, who sparked the Rangers with a goal and an assist.

Kansas Knocks Off St. Paul Saints 5-3

By The Associated Press

With a trio of fast-skating stick-handlers leading the way, Kansas City Pla-Mors are running away from the rest of the United States Hockey League.

The Pla-Mors knocked off St. Paul Saints 5-3 Wednesday night. In 11 games this season the Pla-Mors have lost only one. They've been tied twice.

Hank Blade, Bert Olmstead and Ray Powell comprise the high-scoring trio.

Blade marked up his second three-count of the year when he scored two goals in the first period and another in the second. Powell and Olmstead accounted for the remainder of the Kansas City scoring.

Tulsa cut loose a scoring blast for the second night in a row to win at Dallas 10-6 in a southern-division game. The Oilers scored seven tomes in the first period. Lloyd Gronsdahl, Ching Dheere, Dick Butler and Joe Schertzel poured in the seven goals.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

The big seven in the National Hockey League scoring race remains unchanged with no new entries after Wednesday night's game. Still leading the race is the torrid-Bruin line of Grant Warwick, Ed Sandford and Pete Babando. The trio's chance to add extra points were squelched Wednesday night when the Bruin-Detroit game was stopped in Boston because of fog in the rink.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts

Babando, Boston	5	5	10
D. Bentley, Chicago	4	5	9

Rangers Edge Hawks 4-3 Bruins, Wings Befogged

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings skated around in the fog for nine minutes Wednesday night and then decided to call it a night.

Referee Bill Chadwick decided the dense fog in Boston Garden was a bit too thick and ordered the game replayed tonight.

For Chicago Black Hawks, the fog they've been in most of the season lifted in the third period of their game with New York Rangers Wednesday night. But they came out of it too late to catch the Rangers who beat them 4-3 in registering their second win this year.

It left the Hawks alone in the National Hockey League cellar, two points behind the Rangers.

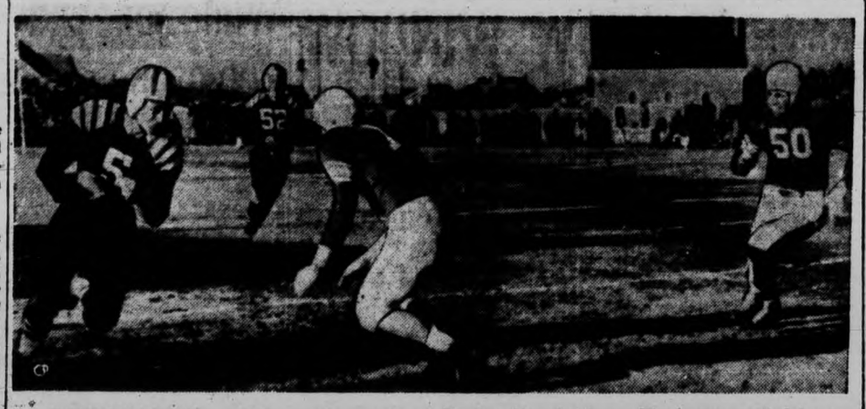
It was the first time in NHL history that a game has been postponed after it started. Unusually mild weather was blamed for the soft ice which Chadwick decided was too dangerous. There were no "fog checks," but the capacity crowd of 13,900 was told the ticket stubs would be honored tonight.

Black Hawks move up to Montreal for tonight's other game.

Veteran Edgar Laprade whipped in two goals for Rangers while Winnipeg's Don Raleigh and rookie Clint Albright got the others. Gaye Stewart, Roy and Jim Conacher scored for Chicago.

Trailing In Third

Trailing 4-1 at the start of the final period, Hawks put on a heavy drive that forced Coach Frank Boucher to put five Ranger defencemen on the ice to beat off the desperate Hawks in the final period. He made the shift when Coach Charlie Conacher pulled Sugar Jim Henry from the Chicago nets and iced six forwards.



Laprade sent Rangers ahead in the first period on a pass from Ed Kullman. Raleigh followed two minutes later after Albright made the play. Rangers lead was cut by Roy Conacher's 35-foot shot with assists going to Metro Prystai and Adam Brown, only to have Laprade tallly again at the end of the second from Bill Moe and Tony Leswick.

Jim Conacher and Stewart scored four minutes apart during the third-period drive.

Ted Atkinson, Toronto-born jockey, booted home four winners at Belmont Park four years ago today to climax a week during which he was aboard 16 winning mounts. Atkinson finished the year as the leading rider on United States tracks.

ENDS IN DRAW — Calgary Stampeder Harry Hood didn't get the ball back much farther on this runback during the first game of the western Canada football finals with Regina Roughriders. The game ended in a 4-4 tie. Rider Butch Lee crouches while team-mate Mike Cassidy (50) rushes in. Young Cedric Gyles, former Vancouver Blue Bomber Junior, is watching Hood.

Pittsburgh Hornets and Cleveland Barons battled to a hard-fought 3-3 tie with Stan Kemp getting a pair of goals for the Hornets. Sid Smith got the other tally.

Pete Leswick hit the mark twice for the Barons while Ralph Wycherley got a single.

Hershey Bears scored their first shutout of the season, blanking Washington Lions 4-0. Hershey snipers were Arnold Kullman and Frankie Mario with a goal apiece and Zellio Topazzini who racked up two counters in the second stanza.

Goals by Ken McKenzie, Murdo McKay, Les Douglas, Loug Lewis, George Agar and Art Lessard put Buffalo Bisons ahead of New Haven Ramblers, 6-1.

Windsor Downs Rockets 6-3; In Second Place

By The Canadian Press.

Windsor Spitfires made it an impressive eight-for-eight Wednesday night as they downed the Galt Rockets 6-3.

Windsor, holding down second place in the Junior Ontario Hockey Association race in their undefeated role, popped in two goals in the first period, one in the second, and thre in the third.

In other junior games Wednesday night, the Guelph Biltmores moved into fourth place by defeating Barrie Flyers 3-2. Oshawa Generals took sole possession of third place by besting the cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros 5-2, and Stratford Kroehlers handed St. Catharines their third loss of the season with a 6-3 count.

In the only senior game, Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen climbed out of a cellar position by defeating the league-leading Hamilton Tigers 5-3.

George Ouellette opened the scoring for Windsor in the first period when he beat Galt netminder Slim Sommerville on a lone rush. Bill Newcombe got the equalizer minutes later, also on a solo effort. Bert Giesebrecht put Windsor ahead midway through the period on an assist from Francis O'Grady.

Strike Back

Galt drove back in the early moments of the third period and tied the game up when Pete Tkachuk beat netminder Bill McMeekin on a close-in shot that caught the corner. Spitfires pulled away again when O'Grady scored.

Bruce Giesebrecht and brother Bert, along with Marcel Pronovost tallied for Windsor in the third period. Pete Tkachuk counted for Galt.

Guelph moved into a fourth-place tie with Barrie Flyers with their win over the Flyers.

After a scoreless first period, Guelph took the lead when Ron Plumb fought his way around the Barrie defence and blazed a backhand shot into the net. Ron Ashbee got the equalizer later.

Mel Mullen sent Guelph ahead in the third period and seconds later Archie Richardson batted in Guelph's third tally on a goal-mouth scramble. Barrie got one backwhen Jimmy Keefe scored.

4-Goal Splurge

A four-goal splurge in the third period gave Oshawa their win over Marlboros. Marlboros got the only goal of the first period, Bobby Knowles scored on a goal-mouth scrabmle.

Lorne Pirie put Marlies ahead 2-0 early in the second frame on a lone rush. Dusty Blair counted for Oshawa minutes later. Frank Hooper with two goals, and Jack Burton and Dick Gamble with singletons finished up the scoring.

Stratford grabbed a 3-1 lead in the first period on goals by Francis O'Hearn, Jimmy French, and Jimmy Pernfuss. Bud Evans got St Catharines goal. The teams split two goals in the second period—Joe Bragagnolo and Jack Leckie counting for Kroehlers and Bill Buschlan and Evans scoring for Teepees.

French got the only third-period goal.

Federation Of Agriculture Tries Service Club Dinner Plan

Peterborough Federation of Agriculture is going to look into the merits of the service club dinner custom as they might be turned to the uses and benefit of farmers.

The suggestion of Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore is simply this: if it is good for city people, it might also be good for us, and at least we can try it.

Federation directors Wednesday night appointed a committee to take up the details and arrange for a noon luncheon in January. Its members are W. W. Dawson, John Kitney, Milton Clark, Norman McConkey and Mr. Gifford.

A December meeting was proposed, and it might be adopted, but the general opinion looked upon December as a fairly busy month, approaching Christmas time. Definite commission was given the committee to proceed with arrangements for a noon luncheon with a guest speaker. For the first of the series it was suggested that Herb H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, should attract a large attendance of rural men and women.

"City clubs meet once a week," said Mr. Gifford. "We might be able to make it once a month, and it might be an advantage to us."

Willard Waterman and Mr. Gifford urged that this proposed dinner series should be sponsored by the Federation.

"Let's keep the Federation in the front of things," was their advice.

"I believe we should launch out and try things," said W. W. Dawson, chairman.

The decision of the directors was: "Let's try one, and see what happens."

The directors present were: Mr Dawson, John Kitney, secretary, Mrs. Ernest Thompson, Mrs. Lorne Renyolds, Clarence Mann, Lorne Reynolds, Carman Seymour, Mr. Gifford, Milton Clark, N. W. McConkey, Alex Huston, Wellington Sutton and F. C. Paterson.

The noon hour instead of evening, for the first luncheon, was adopted on Mr. Huston's motion, seconded by Mrs. Thompson.

Cream Producers' Annual

Mr. Gifford was appointed local delegate to the annual meeting in Toronto Wednesday, Nov. 17 of the Ontario Cream Producers, of which he is now a director.

"You don't need to appoint me again," said Mr. Gifford. "You can name some other member if you wish. I would be there for this meeting, but another delegate could then carry on."

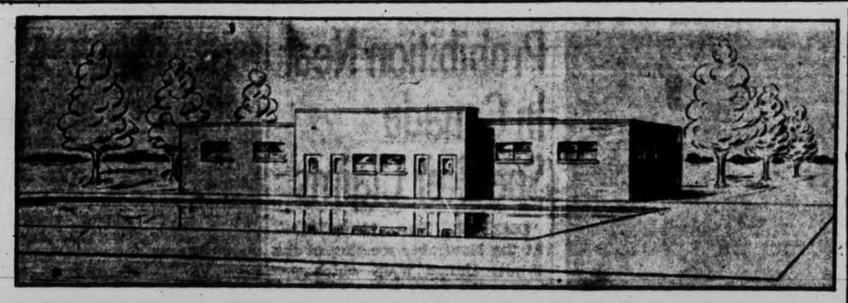
Mr. Gifford reminded the directors of the difficulties the cream producers experienced in setting up their organization. For a time it was a weakling of the dairy family of the province, but with help from some of the other organizations, notably the Federation, it has now attained substance and stature.

"We have $30,000 to the good, after paying all our expenses," Mr. Gifford said. "We have given $1,000 this year to the Federation and $1,000 to the Dairy Farmers of Canada. We are well founded now, and it just shows what help can do when an organization is starting up. The cream producers are now in a position to help others."

Mr. Gifford suggested a cream producers meeting here. "The more people we can get better informed about agriculture, the better it is for all of us."

Counties are allotted delegates on the basis of one to every 1,000 of cream producers. Peterborough, with 620 producers, has one delegate. The number of producers in neighboring counties, as read by Mr. Dawson, are: Northumberland 1500; Durham 1233; Victoria 2115, Hastings 2063.

Why do so many Canadians prefer ENO?



ENO's "Fruit Salt" is preferred by many more Canadians than any other saline or health salt because ENO is so effective and pleasant tasting.

ENO's mild antacid action really helps relieve stomach upsets—ENO as a laxative gently helps cleanse the digestive tract and ENO is completely harmless and not habit forming.

No wonder ENO's "Fruit Salt" is six times more popular than any other saline or health salt sold in Canada!

Children's Aid Societies Want Larger Gov't Grant

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 — (CP). — The thorny question of how much the Ontario Government should contribute to welfare services was thrashed out Wednesday at the Eastern Regional Conference of the Association of Children's Aid Societies for Ontario.

At the opening of the one-day meeting, Dr. G. M. Geldert, Acting Mayor of Ottawa, told the more than 100 delegates that the municipalities were feeling a "growing resentment" toward the government because of rapidly mounting costs of child welfare, coupled with the "niggardly grants from the Provincial Government."

"We must emphatically press the Provincial Government for an agreement, whereby it will enter into with the municipalities, to bear a sizeable share of these rapidly mounting costs," he said.

Dr. Geldert said that in the last 20 years, costs of Children's Aid in Ottawa had risen from $11,000 annually until they stood at $250,000, to which "the Ontario Government contributes the disgraceful amount of $1,500."

B. W. Heise, Ontario Deputy Minister of Welfare, later told the gathering that relief appropriations for welfare were rapidly increasing.

Child Services

"For child welfare services in this province—including mothers' allowances—there has been appropriated $5,000,000 for 1948-1949," he said.

A total of $2,000,000 also had been appropriated for unemployment relief and $9.500,000 for old-age pensions. This along with $500,000 for other purposes now brought the province's welfare grants to $17,000,000.

"Add to this the Federal grant of $21,000,000 for old-age pensions and the total will be in the neighborhood of $38,000,000," he said.

At other sessions on Wednesday delegates discussed the various phases of their work. Isobel Allen, director of Sunnyside Children's Home, Kingston, led a discussion on "Institutions for Maladjusted Children."

At a later session Gwyneth Hughes of Peterborough was the chairman of an institute on "Child Care Practices."

Cruiser Patrol Routs Thieves

BRANTFORD, Nov. 11 (CP)—A police cruiser patrol early this morning is credited with preventing safecrackers from breaking into the safe of the Welsh Fuel Company, West Brantford.

Within one hour, burglars smashed open the outer door of the large safe and were well on their way to prying out the inner section with heavy tools stolen from the T. H. and B. Railway sheds here.

"Had the patrol arrived on the scene a few minutes later, the thieves would have been successful in making off with the safe's inner section." Detective Carl Sudden said this morning, an employee of the company this morning successfully removed the inner section with the aid of the same tools in five minutes, he said.

The break-in was discovered at 3.50 a.m. one hour after a previous check by the police patrol. Detective Sudden believed that the thieves look-out warned the others in time for all to make a getaway.

Prohibition Near In Canada Speaker Claims

OMEMEE, Nov. 11—(ENS)—At the November meeting of the Trinity United WMS which was held at the home of the president Mrs. V. King, the theme was The Healing Ministry of the Church. Mrs. H. Graham was leader, Mrs. R. Williamson and Mrs. F. Stewart asisting in the service of worship. Mrs. William Weir also contributed by singing a prayer-hymn written by J. C. Chao of China and set to the music of a Buddhist chant. Mrs. D. Hicks and Mrs. S. D. Vaughan dealt with chapters two and three of "West of the Ganges" thus emphasizing the Healing Ministry of the Church.

Mrs. V. Lang conducted the business She spoke of the pressing need of more money and missionaries for fields where the present opportunities are great, and announced a raise in the Presbyterial allocation next year in an effort to meet some of these needs.

Favorable reports were heard from the various secretaries. Temperance secretary, Mrs. S. Moyer, led an interesting discussion on the temperance issue. She called attention to the fact that whereas in the last generation it was a disgrace for a woman to be seen in a bar-room; it now was considered no disgrace for a woman to spend the evening in a lounge-room or beer parlor. She believes the opening wedge to this deplorable condition of society was smoking by women. She proved by statistics that the number of arrests of drunken women is steadily rising, and that the largest per cent. of the increase is in Ontario.

The higher accident insurance rates due to increased numbers of drunken drivers, from a financial viewpoint, hits the non-drinker as well as the drinker—an injustice to society.

Two recent accidents were quoted where the aftermath of two drinking parties left motherless 16 and 12 children respectively. "The return of prohibition in the U.S.A. has been predicted and there is some chance of it being on the Canadian horizon."

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. H. Deyell.

B.C. Opposition Stays Firm On Freight Rate

By NORMAN MICHIE.

NELSON, BC, Nov. 11 (CP) — British Columbia's case against the mountain differential in Canada's freight rate structure closed here Wednesday on a note of firm opposition to an "inequitable assessment."

Organized complaints of boards of trade in fruit and mineral producing commitments has gone before a three-man bench of the Federal Board of Transport Commissioners, headed by Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald of Ottawa.

A four-day session in Vancouver heard evidence from boards of trade in Fraser Valley, trans-British Columbia industrialists, and Vancouver Island interests. All complained that the so-called mountain differential, an additional impost on the citizens of the province, was contrary to the letter and spirit of the Confederation pact, was an "unjust discrimination against the coast consumer, and was a detriment to the industrial development of BC."

Stifles Industry

They said the mountain freight rate was stifling secondary industry, essential to a province whose natural resources would normally be an enticement to new business and new immigration. The mountain differential, they said, made a mile of freight transport on the Prairies equal to 1¼ miles through the mountains.

Trade Board representatives and industrial spokesmen claimed the mountain differential, which produced some $3,000,000 a year in freight revenue, was a sore spot in the provincial economy. BC people thought they were being singled out for persecution to the advantage of Eastern interests.

A. K. Dysart and J. Q. Maunsell, counsel for the CN and CP Railways respectively, suggested in cross-examination of the province's witnesses that the differential was not as great a sum as represented, and that other competitive factors entered into the plight outlined by BC firms.

The hearing postponed an application for a complete investigation of the Canadian freight rate structure, which will now open some time in the New Year.

Th railways were granted a 21 per cent increase last spring and now are seeking a furtner 15 per cent hoist.

Claim Jumping 'Out' At Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Nov. 11 —(CP)—Northern Ontario prospectors have staked close to 100 claims in the reputedly radioactive area at Alona Bay, 48 miles north of here, in a race against rival and against time.

For the chill winds sweeping the crags of Lake Superior's northeastern shoreline carry grim warning that the northern winter is almost at hand. Once the snowstorms start to whistle in from cold Superior's broad expanse, there will be little more uranium hunting until the spring break-up.

Mining Recorder W. Nelson Miller, who has seen mining rushes come and go during the last 35 years in rugged Algoma district, says he knows most of the men who have registered their claims. He says they're honest hard-rock men from northern Ontario who wouldn't stoop to claim-jumping.

But some real sprinting for position has been going on since the discovery became generally known early this week.

It is expected that, in all, as many as 400-500 claims may be registered around the jagged rock thrust of Theano Point in the Alona Bay tourist resort section. Few of the stakers so far has managed to test their holdings with geiger counters, electronic devices to detect radioactivity.

Says Marshall Plan Gesture Of Generosity

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(AP).—Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador to the United States, said Wednesday night the Marshall plan is a gesture of "magnaminty and generosity" which has helped Britain "see its way out of the woods."

He cited three "fundamental principles" of which western-bloc countries are building with help from the European recovery program:

"First the equality of men, and the worth of the individual, and the value of the individual human person; second, the sense of belonging; and third, a like-mindedness of the fundamental principles of society."

Sir Oliver said the "iron curtain" is not merely a physical barrier but "symbolizes a barrier of minds." He called for "ideas, words and means of discourse which can cross the barrier."

He spoke at the annual dinner of the Academy of Political Science.

12,500 Workers Idle At Chrysler

DETROIT, Nov. 11.— (AP). — A dispute over production standards kept approximately 12,500 Chrysler Corporation workers idle today.

The disciplining of two men for failing to meet the rates was involved and three plants of the big automobile company were affected.

Two operators of a milling machine at the Jefferson Ave. plant were sent home Tuesday night.

As a consequence, the company said, 1900 machine-shop employes quit.

This mushroomed into a series of plant closings and strikes of other workers. A pile-up of bodies at the Kercheval plant also figured in the curtailment.

The new milling machine at the Jefferson plant was installed about a month ago. A representative of Chrysler Local 7 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said the company and the union have disagreed over the machine's proper quota.

Persons intending to enter before that date must make personal appearance at a port of entry.

Britons Blame Each Other For Bacon Cut

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Nov. 11 (CP)—Britons tend to blame each other, rather than Canadian or other producers, for the month-long 50-per-cent reduction of their treasured bacon ration from two ounces weekly, effective Nov. 21.

For years, government and newspapers have urged householders and local governments to see that every scrap of waste food was kept for pig feed. But the swill barrels that used to decorate almost every suburban street now are seen less frequently.

The Daily Mirror said the "culprits" responsible for the bacon cut are the housewives who will not save their scraps and the local councils who do not regularly collect waste food from the housewives who do save it.

Hog Population Up

Britain's hog population has risen to 2,000,000—300,000 more than a year ago — chiefly due to increased feed supplies made available under agriculture ministry policies.

"If we saved all our scraps and they were used for pig food we could have 4,500,000 pigs as we had before the war," said the Daily Mirror. "They would cost us nothing to feed—and we could abolish the bacon ration."

When Food Minister John Strachey announced the reduced ration to one ounce, he said that the "short fall in Canadian and other bacon shipments is, we hope, a purely temporary affair."

A food ministry spokesman said he had no comment on the statement of Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner in Ottawa that Canada could be suplying Britain with "at least twice as much bacon as she is" if Britain had followed a policy of encouraging higher Canadian output.

Rector Refuses To Destroy Dog

IPSWICH, Suffolk, England, Nov. 11 (CP)—The fate of Bruce, an Alsatian blind-guide dog sentenced to death for chicken killing, still hangs in the balance today and may be taken to a high court on a point of law.

Rev. Henry Mayne-Young, 79-year-old rector of Freston, disclosed this as the family received a summons for a court appearance next Tuesday for failure to carry out an order for destruction of Bruce as a dangerous animal.

Bruce, guide and companion to the rector's blind 75-year-old wife, and another family dog, Monty, a cross-bred Dalmatian also accused of chicken killing, have been living under the shadow of death since an appeal against the death sentence was dismissed.

The rector, steadfastly refusing to carry out the court order because he is 'positive" of Bruce's innocence, has been paying a daily fine for failure to have the dog destroyed. But his funds now are running low.

Planning On-Spot Survey Across Desperate China

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. — (AP).—Paul G. Hoffman, foreign aid chief, tonight was planning a flying on-the-spot survey of the "desperate" situation in China.

A source close to the ECA administrator said Hoffman will leave "early in December unless the situation, by that time, becomes too dangerous, or improper."

There was no elaboration on what the informant meant by "dangerous," but presumably he was speculating on the possibility of war engulfing parts of China Hoffman might be planning to visit.

The reference to "improper" was taken to mean the possibility that the ECA chief's plans might be vetoed by the State Department or President Truman.

Hoffman yesterday told reporters that the situation in China is "desperate." However, he stated that ECA is not, at present, planning changes in its relief policy toward China.

That policy has been to grant recovery aid for use in areas not under Communist domination. In line with this attitude, ECA today made additional grants to China totalling $18,890,000 for purchase of raw cotton and rice.

These developments followed the disclosure by State Department officials that President Truman has received new recommendations from the National Security Council dealing with the China crisis.

Wegenast Will Bequests Given

KITCHENER, Nov. 11.—(CP).—Mrs. Hattie Wegenast, life-long resident of Waterloo, who died Sept. 14, left an estate of $107,116, it was disclosed today. She was the widow of George Wegenast, former general manager of the Mutual Life Assurance Co. of Canada, who died in May, 1918.

A number of local religious and charitable organizations are mentioned in Mrs. Wegenast's will as legatees. The First United church of Waterloo, is given $3,000 out of Mrs. Wegenast's estate and $2,000 from the late George Wegenast's estate, over which she had power of appointment.

The Kitchener-Waterloo hospital will receive $500 from each estate. The Kitchener-Waterloo orphanage will receive $500 and a similar amount goes to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. The Women's Missionary Society of First United church is left $3,000 from the George W. Wegenast estate and $1,000 from Mrs. Wegenast's estate.

Smaller legacies include $100 each to the YWCA and the YMCA in Kitchener. Prices Strike Called In W. Germany

FRANKFORT, Nov. 11 (AP) — Trade union leaders decided Wednesday night to call a 24-hour strike of 12 million workers in the Anglo-American zones of Germany in protest against high prices.

The strike, set for Friday, may be the largest in Germany since the chaotic days of 1923.

Labor leaders said most of the 13.5 million workers in the area would join the strike, although only about 4.5 million are members of trade unions.

Fritz Tarnow, secretary of the Bizonal Trade Union Council, told a press conference the strike would affect factories, stores and agricultural work.

The council banned demonstrations and picketing.

Regional unions will decide whether street cars will operate.

Tarnow said a number of workers in key posts were exempted from the strike call, such as railway, postal, telephone, telegraph and health deparmtent workers. Police and employees of public information agencies, such as wire services and radio stations, will stay on the job.

Tarnow said there would be no interference with the Berlin air lift.

The Bizonal Trade Union Council received a telegram from its Soviet-zone counterpart promising "full support" and asking the council to send a reply "collect." Tarnow said he would not take advantage of this offer as he was too musy with other matters.

TOP PILOT with Ontario's Provincial Air Service for the third straight year is Reg. Parsons, shown preparing to enter his plane. During the last summer, when pilots were putting in plenty of air time in battles against Mississagi and Chapleau forest fires, he logged 540.05 hours in the air to beat all existing records. Last year, with a lot less competition he also took top place with 507 hours. His 1948 record is still due for additions, however, for he is lined up for winter operations. The provincial service, largest unit of its kind in the world, has acquired 12 new planes.

Home, School Hears Of Adult Education

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 11 — (ENS) —Mrs. William Whetung, home education convener, gave a talk on home education at the meeting of the Home and School on Monday evening.

The speaker explained that parent education is dedicated to the study of human needs, physical, mental, emotional and social. Good parenthood is not an instinct, everyone can improve.

Unfortunately, she said, there is a feeling that adult education is for the underprivileged and semi-literate.

Headway has been made along educational lines, but Mrs. Whetung stressed that something broader should be included for living today besides trade education and household subjects.

The purpose of education is to bring out and develop the latent capabilities of the individual. Schooling should not be confused with education.

Mrs. S. A. Grylls and A. J. Arnott gave a brief review and explanation of the pictures shown.

Mrs. John Sabitino, vice-president, presided for the meeting.

Mrs. Vera Deck, Mrs J Arnott and Mrs F L Erskine conducted a sing-song.

Mrs Arnott read a report of the Home and School Regional Convention recently in Peterborough.

Mrs. C. Coons gave the secretary's report and Mrs. H. Corkery gave the treasurer's report.

Two Of Britain's Best Doctors Looking After Princess Elizabeth

By NORMAN CRIBBENSC.

LONDON, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Two of the most responsible doctors in Britain to-day are Sir John Weir, in general charge of the Royal birth, and Sir William Gilliatt, gynaecologist to Princess Elizabeth.

Sir John is blunt and good-humored, with a deep Scottish voice and the old-fashioned beside manner of the family physician. But he has a thorough grasp of all the latest trends and discoveries in medical science.

Sir William is recognised as one of the most experienced women's doctors in Britain. He is no stranger to Royal births, for he brought the Duchess of Kent's children into the world and those of many other British aristocrats.

Both doctors will be in charge at Elizabeth's confinement. Two or three other first-ranking medical specialists will be standing by on Sir William's instructions, ready to come to Buckingham Palace if any complications should develop.

Modern Surgery

An anaesthetist will also be at the palace, for neither Princess Elizabeth nor the Queen share any of the old-fashiond prejudices against the use of analgesia, and this modern aid to childbirth is likely to be used by Sir William.

At the palace Elizabeth has all the facilities of a modern hospital. There is a fully-equipped surgery, normally used as a first-aid room and for dental treatment.

When the last Royal baby was born at Buckingham Palace more than 100 years ago, a crowd of relatives and household servants witnessed the event while others waited in an adjoining room.

But when Princess Elizabeth's baby comes, probably this weekend, all of the rooms and corridors will be cut off from the rest of the palace and placed "out of bounds" to anyone whose presence is not esesntial.

Nautical Coincidence

MONTREAL — (CP; — Victor Bourque, 16-year-old Montreal cadet officer on a steamship, returned from his first voyage at the same age and on the same day of the same month as his father set out on his first voyage 22 years ago.

"I don't care if you can't cook, darling — so long as you can open packages of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes!"

"Oh George — you're wonderful! I'll just open a package of malty-rich, honey-golden Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes, and quick-like breakfast will be ready!"

"Um-m-m — that one-and-only, out-of-this-world Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes flavor!"

"And good nourishment, too, don't forget."

"Yep, Hon — they're jam-packed with carbohydrates, minerals and other food essentials that sure will make your husband a husky guy!"

"And of course I was only kidding about not being able to cook. I can make scrumptious cookies, cakes and other good things from those tested recipes on the Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes packages."

"How about picking up some crisp, crunchy Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes on our way down to get the marriage license?"

Two Britons Plan Marathon Jaunts

LONDON, Nov. 11 — (CP) — Two Britons, travelling separately, are en route to Australia "under their own steam."

Leonard Kavanagh set out from London with a heavy pack and a light canoe. Except for steamship jaunts from Dover to Calais and from Bangkok to Perth, he will walk or paddle all the way. He will go "a little out of my way"—making the full trip 13,500 miles, to pick up his fiancee in Czechoslovakia.

The other footloose Briton, Arthur Geldard, hopes to join his wife and daughter in Sydney within six months. He plans to walk all the way, except where steamship travel is absolutely necessary.

than three times the number suffered by government troops.

In Nanking and Shanghai martial law restored order after food riots had disrupted the routine in both cities Wednesday.

Food Shops Reopen

Food shops reopened in Nanking. Residents calmed down from Wednesday's hysteria. But in Shanghai many jammed railroad stations trying to get out of the city to safety in the country.

On the political front, the official central news agency said Premier Wong Wen-hao had withdrawn his resignation and agreed to continue in office under a new policy.

Hard domestic censorship prevailed. The right of mass meetings was cancelled. Strikes were prohibited both by workers and merchants.

All American military groups moved out their wives and children. They were flown to Tsingtao, northeast of here, and Shanghai, where they were placed immediately aboard an army transport.

Other foreigners were growing restless. British, French, Australian and other consulates in Shanghai said they had no evacuation orders.

Ready To Send Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(AP)—The first major shipment of American guns and ammunition to China since the communist sweep in Manchuria was said today to be nearly ready for departure.

The report lacked details and official confirmation, but it came from both Chinese and American sources after the state department disclosed that more than $112,000,000 has been withdrawn by China from the $125,000,000 congress voted this year for military assitance.

Most of the money has been paid over to the army for arms, ammunition, vehicles and radios which the Nanking government has said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist forces must have to stem the communist advance in North China. Shipments thus far have been confined largely to equipment rather than actual weapons and ammunition, informants said.

Lay Murder Charge

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 11. — (CP).—Eino Ristimaki, a 44-year-old bush workers, was charged Wednesday with the murder in the fatal beating of Mrs. Oscar Salo, 41, in a highway cabin near here. Mrs. Salo died in hospital Friday night.

DOCTORS AND NURSES pitch in to do the laundry work at Harper hospital in Detroit, Mich., to keep the institution functioning as nearly normal as possible while the strike of maintenance employees is on. The new union, known as the hospital bargaining committee Local 24044 (AFL) called the strike. Nurses also work in the kitchen.

King Record-Breaking Term Of 21 Years Ends Monday

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—The record-breaking term of Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King as Prime Minister of Canada ends next Monday, Nov. 15.

On that day, after 21 years, five months and eight days in office, he will tender his resignation to the Governor-General and quietly retire. His successor will be Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, the new Liberal leader.

The 73-year-old Prime Minister made the long - expected announcement of the retirement date Wednesday in a letter expressing regret at his inability, due to illness, to attend the opening luncheon of the annual meeting of the Dominion executive council of the Canadian Legion.

He addressed the letter to Lt.-Col. L. D. M. Baxter. Dominion president of the Legion, and said he was "happy" to take the privilege of making the retirement announcement through the Legion.

Simple Ceremony

The retirement ceremony is expected to be simple.

Once the resignation is accepted, the Governor-General is expected to call upon Mr. St. Laurent, elected to succeed Mr. King as Liberal leader at the party convention this summer, to form a new government as head of the majority party in the Commons.

Mr. St. Laurent then probably will announce the members of his administration. The expectation is that the cabinet line-up will remain virtually unchanged, except for the possible addition of Premier Garson of Manitoba as Justice Minister.

There may be one other addition. Robert Winters, parliamentary assistant to Transport Minister Chevrier and Liberal member of parliament for the Nova Scotia riding of Queens-Lunenburg, has been mentioned as a cabinet prospect. Some portfolios may be reshuffled to give him a post.

Following his retirement Mr. King, should his health continue to improve, likely will remain in parliament as the private member for Glengarry, the small Ontario riding which elected him following his defeat in Prince Albert, in Saskatchewan, in the 1945 general election.

ment. They are approximately 20 miles wide each. In addition there is an international air band around Berlin 20 miles wide.

The American section of the air lift was sharply curtailed this morning as fog shut down the Frankfurt and Wiesbaden loading bases.

The R.A.F.'s Gatow airfield was busy landing planes from Fassberg and Wunsdorf in the British zone. American planes also fly coal from Fassberg to Gatow.

British authorities made no formal answer to the Russians but a spokesman said R.A.F. pilots remained within the air corridor.

Reporting Award

TORONTO, Nov. 11.J(CP). — The Board of Governors of the University of Toronto Wednesday night announced the establishment of an annual award for distinguished reporting in the university's newspaper in memory of the late Anita Freedman, Toronto newspaper woman who died last year. More than $400 has been received from donors. A graduate of University College, Miss Freedman worked as a reporter for the Canadian Press and later for the Toronto Globe and Mail.

of spectators from this Oxford county town 20 miles south of Woodstock and from the surrounding district. It was reported that the fire could be seen for miles.

Firefighters held the blaze to the front part of two buildings. Public Utilities Commission employees cut all Hydro wires leading to the factory to reduce danger of firemen being electrocuted.

Have No Special Celebration Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—The Canadian government will probably get its first word of the birth of Princess Elizabeth's child the same way as everyone else — through news services.

Officially, however, there's an extra channel of information for the government. Dr. E. H. Coleman, undersecretary of state who knows more about formalities than most people in Ottawa explained the procedure Wednesday.

It is customary, he said in an interview, for the King's private secretary to cable news of important royal events—including both births and deaths—to Government House.

Government House then tells the Canadian government about it. No special arrangements were made for official notification of the birth of the Princess's child. The system is routine.

No proclamation in Ottawa is called for, he added. The news will be greeted here with artillery salute. Barring the congratulations that obviously will be sent to the Princess that is all that is planned here by the government.

The Royal Salute at Ottawa is the only one planned by the army. The navy, too, plans firing the 21-gun Royal salute, but details are being left up to commanders of the east and west coast bases at Halifax and Esquimalt, B.C.

Remembrance Day Parade Sets Record

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. XCVII, No. 109 THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1948

MAIN ST. TOPICS

FULL FIRE FORCE

The Port Hope Fire Department is now up to its full strength of 13 men. E. Phillips and F. Currier were both made members this week.

FILLING HOLES

A scraper from the Board of Works is levelling the road back of Duffus' Motors. This will make a vast improvement to one of the roughest roads in the city.

DID YOU SAY FLAGS?

As one main streeter remarked today, "You can count the main street flags on the fingers of one hand", and that's how it was. Few stores and only one bank had any flags hanging to mark Remembrance Day.

M.O.H. TO SPEAK

Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterborough Medical Officer of Health, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Kinsmen Club tonight. He will speak on public health, with special mention of current plans to eradicate tuberculosis.

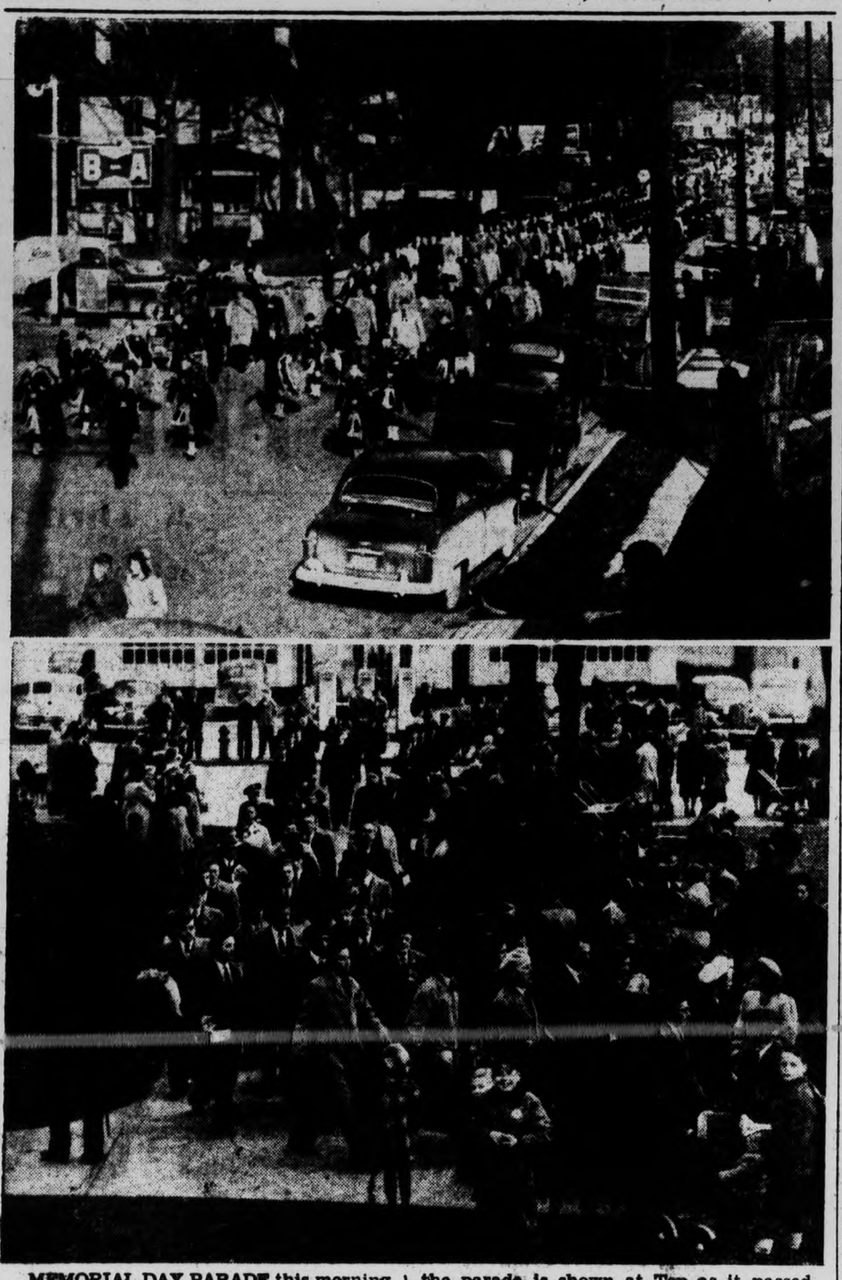
BAGS LARGE BUCK

Johnny Russelle, hunting with a party near Ee.'s Creek, shot a large buck on Monday morning, one possibly weighing 230 pounds. Shortly before that he missed a doe "almost within touching distance", as he described it.

HOLD MEMBER DINNER

The next Chamber of Commerce members' dinner will be held at the Empress Hotel on Dec. 2, James Fraser, manager, said today. New members will be officially welcomed then. Name of the speaker and other details will be announced later.

MAY EXTEND MAIL SERVICE



Mail delivery may be extended to residents of the Wartime Housing area of Port Hope north, council there has been advised. The Post Office Department has advised that sidewalks are not necessary for the service, as long as the streets are in good walking condition. The service is expected to start soon.

SIDEWALK THOUGHTS

Three thoughts occurred to one observer of the Remembrance Day parade as the veterans marched by. He noted some of the marchers waving gaily to their children on the sidewalks—and this wasn't permitted when these same men were marching off to the war. Then again he saw an S.D. and G. major walking side by side with a private—another "taboo" in war years. And he looked at the little Boy Scouts bringing up the rear of the parade and he wondered if they wouldn't at some future date be leading such a parade as soldiers off to war.

TWO QUEUES FORM

Two queues of women shoppers, more than half a block long each, formed before nine o'clock this morning at the S. S. Kresge store for its re-opening. Shoppers report it was so crowded inside the store that moving was difficult. The coffee shop crowd set a new record for attendance, and many more were discouraged by the mob of shoppers and went elsewhere. The store was badly damaged by fire on Aug. 17.

MEMORIAL DAY PARADE this morning showed one of the largest attendances to date with more than 2,000 ex-service men and women, Boy Scouts and Cubs and Cadets who marched to the War Memorial in Confederation Park. The head of the parade is shown at Top as it passed the corner of Aylmer and Hunter Sts. on its way south to Charlotte. At Bottom, near the War Memorial at Confederation Park, parading veterans branch off to their places before addresses and wreath-laying ceremonies commence.

Speakers Say God's Help Must Be Sought

Largest parade of veterans in the city's history for Remembrance Day turned out today to pay homage to the fallen of the two world wars. In Confederation Square, while hundreds watched, several thousand members of the armed forces of both conflicts joined in the service commemorating "those who did not return." The parade was seen by hundreds as it marched from the Armouries, along McDonnel St., down Aylmer, across Charlotte and up George St. to the War Memorial, where the program was climaxed with the two minutes' silence.

Padres of Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion delivered the addresses at the monument.

The Rev. Hon. Lt. Col. W. Gilling, MBE, of St. Luke's Anglican Church defined the peace for which "those silent comrades" fought was still distant.

"Peace does not come from wishful thinking," he said, "it is something for which we must work. Let us unite to bring the will of God and that real peace to the world."

"We must learn that lesson from the Bible—blessed are the peacemakers."

Rev. Hon. Major Chris McCarney of Sacred Heart Church and Keene parish, said that "the peace we know in this glorious Canada is not known in the rest of the world. We must work to bring that peace to all mankind. Besides honoring those who sacrificed their lives for peace, we must again be determined that their sacrifice was not in vain, that the peace they died for will yet come to all."

The wreath of the Legion Branch 52 was laid by Harold Yelland, president, and for the Elizabeth Smellie Branch of the Legion by Mrs. Betty Ball.

The war memorial was then banked with floral tributes to the fallen as the wreath-layers filed by to place them, standing for a moment at the salute or with bared heads.

Banked With Wreaths

The wreath of the Hasty Pee's was laid by Bryden Weese, father of Capt. Donald Weese, who was killed in action in Sicily.

Other wreaths laid on the face of the war monument were from groups, private individuals and firms. They included: the Red Patch Club; Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, Peterborough Chapter of the Silver Cross; Sea Cadets; CGE Ex-servicemen's Club; Outboard Marine Ex-service Club; Westclox Ex-servicemen; De Laval Ex-servicemen; Legion Women's Auxiliary; Peterborough Branch of the Red Cross; Lions Club; Kinsmen Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce and others.

Legion President Yelland, opening the service, expressed thanks to those who had assisted the Legion in its work. He said that this year's Poppy Day was one of the best the branch had ever held.

Mayor William Ovens, for the city, said that this Remembrance Day was marked with heavy hearts.

'For still, we have strife and misunderstanding in this troubled world of ours. Let us raise our sights to the skies and find Higher Guidance there.'

The speakers were introduced by master of ceremonies Louis Durkin, 2nd vice-president of the Legion.

Leading the parade was the Branch's Sergeant-at-Arms Oran Varty.

The Peterobrough Pipe Band headed the procession under the direction of Pipe Major Robert Webdale.

It was followed by the group including the Legion executive, members of the clergy and guests. Lt.-Col. G. M. Fitzgerald of Orangeville, representing the provincial command of the Legion, was in attendance. Also marching was the Hon. Harold R. Scott and Gordon K. Fraser, MP. Executive members of the women's branch of the Legion were included.

The wreath party marched as a separate unit.

Firemen in Parade

Peterborough Fire Department, led by Chief George Smith, had a unit in the parade.

The Peterborough Civic Band, under the direction of Bandmaster William Peryer, followed providing the marching music for the large group of Legion membership and veterans.

Color party of the Legion, which held central position when the parade reached the cenotaph, was composed of: George McNabb, in charge; Mervyn Williamson, carrying the Union Jack; Ned Heffernan, with the Legion colors.

Elizabeth Smellie Branch of the Legion, representing the women who served in the forces, was led by Miss Lyla Gerow.

Lakefield Sea Cadets marched in uniform.

The 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment of the Canadian Army followed as a unit.

One of the largest in the parade was the fully uniformed display of the Army Cadets of the Peterborough Collegiate, led by their own officers.

Led By Pipe Band

The CGE Pipe Band, led by Alex. Milne, preceded the large number of veterans from that plant who had formed at the plant and joined the main parade. It was the largest single unit.

Veterans of the Peterborough Police Department were led by Sgt. Gordon Puffer.

The Salvation Army Band also marched in uniform and provided music for the long procession.

Another group of veterans and Legion members included a group of the Red Patch—men of the First Division.

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders' veterans marched in a body.

REV. DR. JAMES SEMPLE

Rev. Dr. Semple Tours Maritimes

The Rev. Dr. James Semple is leaving Peterborough today for a speaking tour of the Maritimes. Together with nearly a dozen United Church dignitaries he will speak in Maritime centres under the auspices of "The Cavalcade", a "crusade for Christ and the Church."

Starting in Peterborough two years ago, the Cavalcade has brought its message across the Dominion; the Maritimes will complete the nation-wide coverage.

It is intended to acquaint members of the church with what the United Church is doing in such fields as evangelistic work, overseas missions, social service work and preparation of candidates for the ministry.

Among those who will accompany Dr. Semple from this area will be the Very Rev. T. W. Jones of Montreal, ex-moderator, and the Rev. D. H. Gallagher of Toronto, overseas missions.

Dr. Semple's first address will be to a youth rally held in Moncton, on Friday night. And on Saturday at 2.30 p.m. he will speak over the radio from Moncton on a special Maritimes hookup. He will preach the Sunday morning sermon at the Wesley United Church and the evening one at Central United.

Next stop will be St. John, N.B., on the 13th and later St. Stephen, N.B. The complete trip is expected to take about 12 days and Dr. Semple expects to make some unscheduled visits to Rotary Clubs and Masonic Orders as well.

Seek Bids On Sewage Plant To Use Dewatering Process

Plan To Retain Present Site

Board of Works directed Gore and Storie, Toronto, consulting engineers, to try to get bids on the proposed construction of an enlargement and improvement of the sewage disposal plant at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The authorizing motion by Ald. Grant Miller, seconded by Ald. Herbert Young, concluded nearly two hours of explanation and discussion with J. F. MacLaren of the engineering firm.

"To get bids on a dewatering process" was the convenient and summarizing phrasing of the board's intention. The import was fully understood on both sides as a result of Mr. MacLaren's presentation of a general plan, and of the conversation relating to it.

Cost of the proposed work in its first stage was roughly estimated at $250,000.

"I would like to think over the points we have been discussing," Mr. MacLaren said, "decide what should be included in the contract, alter the design of the plant in some particular to carry out those changes, order the equipment, and see what results we get."

That statement indicates the general nature of the authority which has been given by the board to Gore and Storie.

They had prepared plans for the city, but progress beyond that stage was held up under the deterring effects of greatly increased costs of materials and labor. In that postponement, the council accepted the advice of Gore and Storie. Mr. MacLaren said the plans could probably be used as they are, but he told the board he wished to consult the other members of the firm from the standpoint of latest discussions.

Retain Present Site

One important decision that has been reached is to retain the present site of the disposal plant. That question was recently considered by representatives of the consulting firm, Dr. A. E. Berry of the Ontario Department of Health, City Engineer Chalmers, and several members of the council, including Ald. H. Dodds, chairman of the board, who some weeks ago looked over the ground for several miles down the river.

"The feeling of all concerned was nothing is wrong with the present site, and decision was to leave the plant where it is," Mr. MacLaren said. "The original plans are for an activated sludge system, and there is no reason why they should not be carried out in their entirely. There will be no offensive odors from it. The city owns considerable land adjoining it, and you could make a park of it if you wished when the work is completed." The plans are actually there, and ready to call for tenders in a few days."

It has probably been generally forgotten by this time, but in previous conversation relating to the plans it was agreed that the work would include extensive repairs to the present equipment, plus the enlargement of the plant for buildings required in the further treatment of the sewage.

Sell Offal To Farmers

By the dewatering process, the material residue will have reached a stage at which it can be hauled away for use as fertilizer on farms. Four or five tank truck loads a day was an estimate of the quantity. This practice is being carried on now at the York county and Long Branch disposal plants.

As to possible income from that part of the disposal, Mr. MacLaren quoted experience in American cities that tended to discourage any ambitions in that direction.

As to the commercial fertilizer marketed by Milwaukee, Mr. MacLaren said its engineers had affirmed that if they were doing it over again they would not attempt it.

Mechanical dewatering equipment is not unlike the machines used in the paper industry for removing water from pulp after the logs are reduced by a grinding or mascerating process. The remaining solid matter comes off much in the same way as a sheet of paper, can be removed on a belt, is portable and be carried away.

"There are many gardeners in the York and Long Branch districts," said Mr. MacLaren. "They take that dewatered sludge away and use it on the land."

With changes in the present plant, and with the enlargements and improvement conceived in the proposed contract, these units would become the main and integral parts of any ultimate development which might be desired, Mr. MacLaren said. They fit into the activated sludge plan that will be carried to finality.

New aeration equipment, new and additional pumps, the dewatering equipment, and so on, would become part of the final development of the digested sludge method.

An the cost of this work, which, would meet the city's requirements is expected to fall within the funds which have been authorized by the ratepayers.

Place Orders Now.

Ultimate details of the proposed contract will be reported "as soon as possible" by the engineers.

"One of the first things that should be done," Mr. MacLaren advised, "is to place orders for the equipment that will be needed. If we put in a sludge dewatering system we should get prices on filters and pumps, and we might not get delivery within seven to nine months. With mechanical filters for dewatering, the plant will give you all you wish in so far as effluent into the river is concerned."

The Gore & Storie plans provide for an average capacity of 4.8 million gallons, and complete treatment to remove 85 per cent of suspended solid matter and 92 per cent of organic matter.

"That is as high a treatment as is possible to get," Mr. MacLaren said. "It is planned for a population of 40,000, and allowance is made to take care of up to 7.2 million gallons with some lesser degree of treatment."

Mayor Ovens remarked that delays seemed to produce complications, and the general opinion was that the city should get the work started. "Our present plant is not so bad as some people think it is."

Ald. Doug. Miller said he was doubtful about that last opinion expressed by Mayor Ovens.

Mr. MacLaren said he had been so often wrong on cost estimates he was reluctant to make any approximations, but with a definite project outlined he believed that a firm bid could be obtained. Ultimate cost of the plant may be around $750,000

In the present prospect, Mr MacLaren said that the dewatering of the sludge, and carrying it away would be "completely satisfactory."

That was definite assurance. It appeared in the discussion that later improvement of the digesting operation in the plant would have the effect of reducing the quantity of substance residue—less material to remove.

Quota Exceeded For Second Day

Peterborough used on Wednesday 264,000 kwh, or 4,300 in excess of the quota of 229,700. At that rate, if it continues, the corner groceryman better lay in a stock of candles, according to Utilities officials. A Utilities spokesman said "If people would go around the house watching lights and appliances that use up power, to make certain there is no waste, no one would have to worry about quotas."

"Peterborough has exceeded its quota Tuesday and Wednesday, and a lot of spots around town, including the centre, are using night lights that can't possibly be of any use. About all they are doing is causing resentment in people who are trying to avoid the intervention of Hydro authority."

"In the meantime Monday 172,000 kwh has kept the average for three days at 212,000 kwh—a safe margin, but what will be the figures for today and Friday" he asked.

12 Attend Class

Twelve members attended the public speaking class of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the YMCA, Wednesday night.

The speaker and topics were: Keith Pilkington, "The Growth of Refrigeration". Two ex-sailors, Bruce Campbell and Jack Merritt on "The Panama Canal."

Bill Swiss, Bruce Payne and Jack Ferren were not present. The first two are hunting near Mississauga Lake, while the latter hunts near Kinmount.

Water Shortage Irks Farmers

Many Hastings county farmers see themselves out of water by spring unless heavy rains precede the freeze-up. That prospect is mentioned from Stormont and other counties in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Haldimand says "Contrary to conditions at this time last year, live stock has been in the barns off and on for some time and feeding has been heavy."

Middlesex sounds the same note: "Most dairy cattle are on stable feeding and much of the young stock has now been put in the barn. Satisfactory averages were made at two Shorthorn sales during the week, with top cattle bringing good prices."

Northumberland cheese factories are being urged to keep open to supply whole milk at $1 a pound butterfat. Most of the dairy herds in Huron are entirely on stable feeding.

Perth and Simcoe report substantial crops of grain corn. They comment that growers have a lot of additional feed "in a season in which the hay supply is none too plentiful and feed grains are short." Most of the Perth corn is being taken off with mechanical pickers.

Many Muskoka farmers have applied to have their soil limed. Dairy cattle in Prince Edward have been bringing high prices at farm auctions recently.

DECORATE STORE WINDOWS

In the downtown area stores on both Charlotte and George Sts. had Armistice Day themes in their windows. Dunn's Tailors had a complete window given over in tribute to those who died in the service of their country. A white cross stood out against a black background and in the foreground was a printed scroll of John McCrae's famous poem, "In Flanders Fields." Kingan's Hardware also had a memorial display that filled a large window. It had a white cross against a mauve background which was decorated with poppies. At the base of the cross were folded the tunics of the three services — army, navy and air force.

Que. Habitant Coming Into His Own

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT.

QUEBEC, Nov. 11 — (CP). — The church and government in Quebec now are gradually learning of their considerable measure of success in lifting the Habitant into a place of no mean importance in the life of the province.

So to-day you find him an enterprising, good-natured fellow who revels in competition and group organization.

Probably one of the strongest factors in developing his sense of doing things well has been a series of government-sponsored contests crowned with prizes, honors and sometimes a little cash too.

A case in point is that of Alphonse Bonenfant of St. Narcisse de Champlain. The father of 17—14 still are living—Bonenfant still cultivates land at an age when most business men think of retiring.

His farm is 100 acres. But Bonenfant thinks and talks of it in "arpents."

Win Prizes

The spotlight of numerous provincial agricultural publications was turned on him and his large family recently when two of his young sons ranked high in the annual "Prix du Merit Aricole Juvenile" (juvenile farm competition).

It was unusual for two in the same family to obtain honors in the same annual contest and a government officer visited the Bonenfant home. He found it humble but whitewashed clean.

He subsequently found out its tidiness was partly due to a farm beautifying contest just held in Champlain County.

Replying to a questionnaire, Farmer Bonenfant said that in spite of his large family all the children had the opportunity of first-class education. One of the juvenile contest winners had his diploma from an agricultural school. The other was working for it.

The mother, described as "a woman radiant with goodness" is a member of the government-founded Cercles des Rermieres, a provincial farm women's club that boasts branches in some 700 localities.

Greatest Hotel Chef Dies In London At 70

LONDON, Oct. 11—(CP)—Arthur Edward Towle once described as the "greatest hotel chef in Europe," died here aged 70.

He went direct from a public school to work in a kitchen — to learn the business from the bottom up. Until 1944 he was head of 27 London Midland and Scottish Railway hotels.

One of his favorite sayings: "Women are indifferent cooks and inferior waitresses."

Keene Church Holds Armistice Service

KEENE, Nov. 11 — (CNS) — Armistice service was held at Keene United church on Sunday when the names of those who were killed in both World Wars were read. The topic of the sermon was "They feared the Lord and served their own gods," by the Rev. Geo. Murray.

The choir sang an anthem.

Flowers on the communion table were placed there by Mrs. A. Rennie in memory of all the boys who served their country and paid the supreme sacrifice. A white cross with poppies and evergreens with the words "Lest we forget," was placed in front of the church.

May Lose Child

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Nov. 11. —(AP).—The mother of a family of 12 faced the possible loss of her expected 13th child as a result of an accidental discharge of a revolver Wednesday. Police said the gun went off when it was dropped by her son, sending a bullet through the stomach of 36-year-old Mrs. Dwight Clock. Physicians said the mother would live but added it was too early to say definitely whether the unborn child had been harmed.

SIMCOE, Nov. 11. —(CP). — Seth Linton's appeal against his conviction and death sentence on a charge of murder likely will be heard early in January in Toronto, Linton's counsel, D. E. W. Question Two Men On Cattle Rustling

MORRISBURG, Nov. 11—(CP) —Ontario Provincial Police today held two persons for questioning in connection with a cattle-rustling ring believed to be operating in this area. Police decline to disclose the identity of the men.

The men were held following discovery of a carcass in a deserted barn in nearby Edwardsburg township. Police said there were indications the barn had been used as a slaughter-house.

Eighten cattle have been stolen from district farmers in the last year, police said, and one farmer lost four in a month.

Several men have been questioned about the cattle thefts over a period, but all have been released.

Remove Needle From Woman's Stomach

MINDEMOYA, Nov. 11—(CP) —Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson, 93, Ice Lake, left hospital here this morning hale and hearty after the removal of a three-inch darning needle from her stomach. She was operated on 10 days ago.

The aged Manitoulin Islander had been bothered for some weeks by a soreness in her stomach and came to hospital for examination Oct. 27. Dr. R. B. McQuay decided to operate and the operation was performed Nov. 1.

How the darning needle got into her stomach is a complete mystery to Mrs. Nelson. She says it might have been there for years. She has always been in good health and only recently began to feel discomfort.

Australia To Start State Shipping Line

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 11—(CP). — The Federal Government plans to establish a government shipping line to operate along the Australian coast, and to limit private shipping to companies using Australian built ships.

The plan was outlined in a letter sent by the Minister for Fuel and Shipping, Senator Ashley, to ships committee of a small coastal shipping line.

The letter stated that the Federal Government intends to introduce legislation to provide for the establishment of an Australian Shipping Board on a permanent basis and the setting up of a Commonwealth line of steamers, together with other measures to provide for the establishment and encouragement of shipping and shipbuilding industries in Australia.

Senator Ashley refused to comment on the plan but admitted he wrote the letter.

The Federal Govrnments previous vnture into the shipping world proved a failure. A former government operated a line of ships that lost $20,000,000 before it was sold.

VoteCompulsory Under Spain's New Regulations

By ALBURN WEST.

MADRID, Nov. 11 — (AP). — The first municipal elections since the Civil War will put into fulj effect the Franco regime's governmental system for the 9,223 villages, towns and cities of Spain.

This governmental structure, which fundamentally is a copy of the systems of the monarchy and republic, was set up in a decree issued July 18, 1945. The same decree provided for the direct and indirect elections of municipal council members now called by the government for November 21, 28 and Dcember 5.

Approximately 6,000,000 "heads of families" will be eligible to ballot November 21, to name one-third of the council members. On November 28, the government-controlled syndicates (labor-employer organizations) will name another third of the councilmen. On December 5, the previously chosen two-thirds of the council members will meet to name the final third from candidates submitted by the provincial civil governors.

Decree Set-up.

Under the decree law, villages with 500 inhabitants or fewer have a council of three members. The number of councilmen in the other towns and cities vary with the size of the population up to 24 members for cities of more than 500,000.

The voting will be without the freedom of political organization, speech or press.

Voting is compulsory and only persons over 70 years of age, the infirm, clerics, judges, and notaries are exempt. Anyone who has lost his civil rights by conviction of a criminal or political offence is barred.

To qualify as a candidate a person, male or female, must be 23 years old, able to read and write and be the head of a family. A mmber of a syndicate, or representative of a professional, economic or cultural entity of the municipality paid from public funds is ineligible.

Plead Guilty To 31 Charges

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—(CP).—Nearly an hour was spent in court Wednesday reading out 67 charges of forgery, uttering and false pretences, against Hugh McIntosh, 30, of Brandon, Man., and Raymond Jackson, 16, of Montreal.

McIntosh pleaded guilty to 20 charges and Jackson pleaded guilty to 11. Thirty-six charges were withdrawn. Both were remanded until Nov. 24 for sentence.

Police testified that McIntosh and his companions obtained a total of $7,907 in fraudulent cheque deals in several Ontario towns and cities, including London, Barrie, Bradford and Oshawa. Police said McIntosh is wanted on similar charges in four western Canada cities.

Many of the cheques were issued to the staff of Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto by the Department of Veterans' Affairs and police said McIntosh obtained the cheques by posing as an insurance agent. The cheques were then altered to larger amounts and cashed.

Farmer Loses Lawsuit; Damages $272.69

Dalton Kee, of Windsor, a former resident of Lindsay, on Wednesday was awarded $272.69 and costs as result of a motor accident at Wolfe and Stewart Sts. on August 16, 1947.

The case was an action for damages by Kee against Glen Taylor of RR 2, Indann River, who was in collision with him at the intersection. A counter-suit for damages by Taylor was dismissed by Judge S. L. Smoke.

Kee was travelling west on Wolfe St. in his car shortly before noon on August 16 while Taylor of RR 2, Indian River, who Stewart. According to the plaintiff's testimony he was driving about 15-20 miles an hour when he reached the intersection. He told the court he saw Taylor's car coming down Stewart St. but did not appreciate the speed it was travelling, and he started across the road.

When about midway across Stewart St. he said he heard the sound of brakes and accelerated the car, but his vehicle was struck on the right side by Taylor's car and knocked sideways a distance of about four feet.

Judge Smoke stated that the tire marks, nearly 40 feet long, caused when Taylor put on the brakes, indicated that either his brakes were poor or that he was going in excess of 35 miles per hour.

Donald Chambers, of Aylmer St., who was an eye-witness to the accident, testified that the defendant's car was moving at a speed of about 15 miles per hour when it hit the plaintiff's car.

When cross-examined by W. J. Arthur Fair, counsel for the plaintiff, Taylor said he was travelling about 35 miles an hour when he first saw the Kee car. He confirmed the testimony that he was moving at about 15 m.p.h. when he collided even though his brakes were fully on, and he admitted that Kee's car was the first to enter the intersection.

Judge Smoke also found him negligent in not seeing the plaintiff's car sooner than he did.

"The defendant travelling at that speed was responsible for the accident," said the Judge.

W. B. Gordon was counsel for Taylor.

'Red Dean' Talks In Verdun Church

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (CP) — Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson Wednesday night preached a guest sermon to 700 persons in a Verdun Anglican church and the rector said in an interview before the service that "it didn't seem as if he could be heard anywhere else, so I stuck my neck out."

The Dean was introduced by the rector of St. John the Divine, Rev. K. C. Bolton, who made the remark about "sticking his neck out." In this connection it was recalled that the Church of England, both in the United Kingdom and in Canada, has disavowed any official connection with Dr. Johnson's lectures.

Dr. Johnson, the Dean of Canterbury who is known for his pro-Russian views, has run into considerable controversy in his present lecture tour of Canada. Earlier Wednesday, 1,200 members of the McGill University Students' Society held a heated meeting at which it was debated whether the Dean should be given a hearing under the sponsorship of a University group.

Many students deplored the action of President Robert M. Gill in refusing to allow any student organization to sponsor an address by Dr. Johnson. However, the students later passed a vote of confidence in the "ability and integrity" of Mr. Gill and stated "unalterable opposition to every tenet of Communist dogma."

Report Canada May Exchange Officer Groups

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—(CP). — Under the North Atlantic Security Alliance—after it is formed—Canada may exchange small bodies of officers and men with various countries for experience.

This would be similar to the current policy under which handfuls of officers and men are exchanged among Britain, Canada and the United States. It would not likely be extended beyond this token exchange basis.

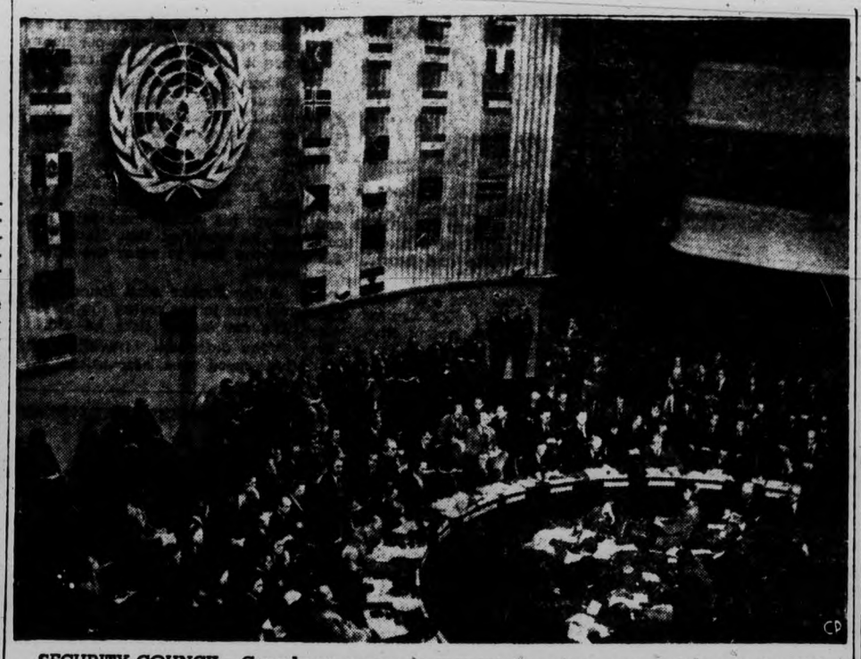
Such an arrangement would sent groups of Canadian servicemen to France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg, as well as to Britain and the United States as at present.

At the same time, troops from these Allied nations would join those British and American personnel who already are training in Canada.

Informed government sources here said Wednesday this extension of Canada-U.S.-British arrangements may be undertaken once the new Security Pact is hammered out.

However, they said it was still too early to give any idea of the numbers of servicemen that might be involved in the joint training plans.

Few Canadians



At present, only a small number of Canadians are posted outside the Dominion. They consist almost entirely of small groups or individuals training in Britain and the U.S., or attached to missions in these and other countries.

For some considerable time, the U.S. has had troops training in Canada's northland, largely in the testing of weapons and material applicable to Arctic warfare.

The financial cost for Canada still has not been estimated, though the U.S.'s share of the project has been suggested in some reports as $2,000,000.

Next major step leading to the alliance will be meetings of ambassadors of the seven countries involved, perhaps starting before Christmas in Washington.

After a draft has been hammered out, it will be presented to the parliaments of the various countries for approval.

Magnetism Thing That Makes Hollywood Stars

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (CP)—What happens when a star misbehaves in public?

This question was directed at Dore Schary, production boss at M. G. M., most star-laden of the studios.

"The star is brought to the studio and talked to." Schary answered. "He is told to straighten himself out, not only for his own good, but for the good of the studio and the industry."

Does being jailed and other bad publicity hurts a star's popularity?

"The . . . public is essentially sympathetic.

"However, if the offenses are repeated, or the star is involved in an unsavory scandal, he will lose the public's sympathy and suffer a gradual decline in popularity."

That brought us to the question "what makes a movie star?"

"It takes several factors—talent, appearance, personality. But most important is what you can call animal magnetism or projection. It's the ability to reach the sympathy of an audience.

May Take Time

"Sometimes this magnetism comes over immediately. Jimmy Cagney was an instant hit when he played Lew Ayres' friend in 'Doorway to Hell.' Others take longer to put it across.

"Clark Gable was well known in pictures, but was never a top star until 'It Happened One Night.' Spencer Tracy was another slow starter."

Can a studio create stars?

"No the studio can provide many things for players— create a personality for them, give them leading roles and get them before the public by means of the columns and magazines. But only the public can make them stars."

Is the star system a menace to good pictures, as some critics claim?

"There is no such thing as the star system. Stars are so much a part of the business that they can't be considered a 'system.'

"The people want to have heroes to pull for when they go to the theatre. That's why only the people can make a star."

RODENT DAMAGE The damage caused by all types of rodents in the United States is estimated at $500,000,000 annually

Nurses' Aides Refuse To Room With DP's

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C., Nov. 11 — (CP) — Six displaced girls from Europe arrived here this week to work at the hospital and promptly became involved in an uproar.

Nurses' aides at the hospital refused to share the same dining room and living quarters with the newcomers.

It was understood today that harmony had been restored.

One of the nurses' aides was quoted as saying the trouble started because "we couldn't be expected to share quarters with untrained girls who are merely domestics."

Trudged Long Way Won At Flower Show

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11—(CP)—An ardent lover of flowers walked nine miles to the nearest railway station, carrying a 40-pound box full of gladioli on his back, to reach the exhibition of the Winnipeg Gladiolus Society.

The flower fancier, G. M. Hornick of East Braintree, Man., was well rewarded for his work. He won first prize and the challenge trophy in the novice class for one of his spikes.

Mr. Hornick was considered one of those least likely to be a successful exhibitor. He is a prospector. His flowers grow in a garden on a sulphide claim on which he works and lives.

He grows many types of flowers. This year he put in more than 250 gladiolus bulbs.

Says Mr. Hornick, a bachelor: "Flowers are my hobby. They're my family."

Conservatives Want Wales To Have Bigger Part

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(CP). — Welshmen will have their way if a Conservative government is elected in Britain in 1950—and a Welsh minister to look after their interest in Parliament.

Winston Churchill, party leader, speaking at the annual Conservative conference at Llandudno, Wales, said the Conservatives look to Wales to "play an increasing part in British affairs."

"We have come to Wales for this conference. The cause of freedom is at stake and have we not often been told freedom dwells among the mountains?"

The Labor government, despite urging by many members of Welsh descent, has declined to approve Welsh demands for a status similar to Scotland, which has its own secretary of state in the National government and Scottish office departments established in Edinburgh.

In the langugae of state, Scotland is a "kingdom" and Wales a "principality." In effect, England and Wales are grouped for administrative purposes and Scotland has a substantially separate administration for Scottish affairs.

Persistent Demands

D. R. Grenfell, Labor Member of Parliament for Gower and former Nova Scotia coal miner, has been the leader of a group of 36 Members of Parliament, representing Welsh constituencies or of Welsh descent, who have persistently asked the government to approve Welsh aspirations.

Government statements of policy have set forth a determination to see industries developed in Wales to check the danger of unemployment similar to that of the '30's and the drift of younger people away from Wales. If the principality's economic welfare is assured, the government suggests it will do well to continue in its present administration association with England.

Welsh spokesmen say frankly they are jealous of Scotland with her own secretary of state and Northern Ireland with her parliament. They do not want separation from the United Kingdom but recognition of their ancient status.

N.Z., Australia Act For Defence

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 11—(CP)—In accordance with their undertaking to play a larger part in the defence of the British Commonwealth, British countries of the South Pacific are gradually building up closer liaison and establishing a regional defence zone.

Australia And New Zealand have held several conferences since the war aimed at co-ordinating their military plans so as to act as a unit in case of need. Australia has already undertaken commitments in the establishment of a screen of bases off her coasts, and New Zealand now is planning the creation of bases in her island possessions to the north.

New Zealand is also giving attention to the co-ordination of defensive measures with Fiji, which is a British Crown Colony about 1,200 miles north of New Zealand. During the war New Zealand forces garrisoned Fiji for a considerable period until the task was taken over by the United States; and the New Zealand forces, as well as Fijian native units trained and led by New Zealand officers, moved into an active role against the Japanese in the Solomons.

It is expected that New Zealand will again maintain army, air force and probably naval units in Fiji. The Chiefs of Staff of the New Zealand services have visited Fiji to discuss the matter with the local authorities at the invitation of the British government and in full consultation with Australia.

93 Years Old But Active Still Acts As Caretaker

Three score years and ten is the biblical span of years allotted to man but Charles Pitcher of 297 Murray St. has beaten that mark by another score and then some. Recently Mr. Pitcher celebrated his 93rd birthday with no fuss or fanfare to mark the occasion.

Nor has he retired from active life. Every morning for the past 23 years he has walked from his residence to the apartment owned by Mrs. J. V. Galvin, Fleming Place and performed his duties as janitor. He attends the furnace in cold weather, and during the growing seasons he trims and waters the grass, looks after the gardens and shrubbery, and generally keeps things tidy.

The work is only part-time as he has been a pensioner for many years, but it certainly keeps him occupied in his spare time: a state of affairs quite agreeable to him.

Mr. Pitcher was born in Bridport, Dorset, England, and started to work on a farm when only 10 years of age.

"At that time a farm laborer would receive a shilling a day," he said, recalling those distant experiences. "And believe me, the men were better off then at that wage than they are today."

Apparently in that era, half a century before the first of two world wars had disrupted the English economy, a shilling was not to be laughed at.

"Some of the men used to be able to save money out of that," he told the Examiner, with the air of raconteur who does not expect to be believed.

Recalls Suspicion

The sprightly nonagenarian is able to remember the suspicion with which the farm laborers greeted the coming of the mowing machines and reapers—forerunners of mechanization which would later make their individual hand implements look inefficient and crude.

And in those days there was no such thing as the 40-hour week to be observed. To earn that shilling a day at harvest time the farm worker toiled in the fields from the first glimmering of dawn until after dusk—4 a.m. to 8 p.m.

"Even workers in the towns felt that two or three shillings a day was good pay," said Mr. Pitcher.

After leaving the Dorset region he went to the Isle of Wight and worked there on various farms. He was married in 1881 and with his wife returned to the mainland, settling in Portsmouth.

He raised a family of six — three boys and three girls. The eldest son, Stanley, died; and another son, Percy, was killed in action during the First World War. Of the four remaining children, a son, George Pitcher and a daughter, Mrs. William Blower, live on Bedford Rd. in London; a daughter, Connie, also lives in London and another daughter, Mrs. J. F. Dunne, is a resident of Portsmouth.

His wife died in 1903 and Mr. Pitcher remained 10 more years in England; then at the age of 58 started out to make a new life in Canada. He was accompanied by another Portsmouth man who later decided to return to England and live as an army pensioner in his home town.

For no particular reason he decided to come to the Peterborough district and when he arrived he immediately applied himself to the work he knew best; as a hired man on a farm in Otonabee.

In 1916 he came to the city and has been here ever since, working first as a market gardener, and then as a gardener-janitor for Mrs. James V. Galvin.

Although in his 94th year Mr. Pitcher gets around as easily as many men 30 years his junior. Since last winter he has used a walking stick to assist him as he takes brisk strides along the pavement. But he is not dependent on it.

Youthful Appearance

When he removes his hat he reveals a full head of white hair and this together with his alert, upright bearing, adds to his youthful appearance. He requires glasses when reading but as it is not one of his favorite hobbies, he seldom has to use them.

"Keep occupied," is his only recipe for longevity. "People should have something to do to keep them going and occupy their minds."

In years gone by he used to enjoy a night out at a favorite music hall and watch the vaudeville performers. "They were real people and I used to like seeing them once in a while," he said. But he turns thumbs down on motion picture shows.

Like many elderly people he is settled in his ways. He said he has no desire to see the old country. "I shouldn't know anyone if I did."

His chief hobbies now are his work, smoking a pipe, and a quiet chat over an ale or two with old cronies. He takes life easy and refuses to be worried by newspaper tales of imminent war. In his long life he has never been in uniform and he does not expect to respond to the bugle call now.

Mr. Pitcher is a modest man, and flatly refuses to carp at the modern generation or hand out gratuitous advice to them.

"They've just got to find out for for themselves," is his only comment.

Foreign Visitors Critical Of N.Z. Free Drugs Plan

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Nov. 11—(CP)—A prominent feature of New Zealand's social security structure, the free drugs and medicines scheme, has come under heavy fire recently from prominent overseas visitors.

Under the scheme any medicine prescribed by a doctor is supplied free to the patient on presentation of the prescription form to a druggist. The only exceptions are certain proprietary lines for which the patient must pay. The doctor can also authorize as many free repeat orders as he thinks necessary. Supplying of free medicines now comprises a large part of the business of many druggists.

The noted British authority on Social Security, Lord Beveridge, commented after visiting New Zealand, on the great increase in the consumption of medicine which had followed the introduction of free medicine and expressed the hope that doctors had enough sense to make the medicine harmless.

A United States authority, Dr. W. E. Neal, of Huntington, West Virginia, after an investigation of the Dominion's social security services declared: "Patients receive too much medicine because they demand it. The doctor often prescribes excessively because it is profitable for him to do so. Hence, the state pays for services and expensive drugs which the patient would, in many instances, be better off without.

"To place a conscientious physician in a position that compels him to rush through an afternoon, prescribing for all, not only cheats the patient but exhausts the doctor's time in attempting to perform the more mechanical phases of his training. Human complaints are too often beyond the realm of medical relief. Merely dosing an individual, mentally burdened from fear, worry, fatigue, or from some economic, domestic or business entanglement, neither relieves nor satisfis the patient's yearning for sympathetic understanding of his fundamental troubles."

The opposition of doctors in Australia to the introduction of a free medicine scheme there has also involved sweeping criticism of the results in New Zealand. It has been claimed that New Zealanders are being converted into a nation of drug addicts. Other Australians have stated that New Zealand bathroom cupboards are filled with half-used bottles of medicine and that doctors find the easiest way to get rid of a hypochondriac is to prescribe something. The result, these critics claim, is that the New Zealand taxpayer has been involved in an annual burden for "free" medicine three times as grat as was originally intndd.

The New Zealand minister of health, Miss Mabel Howard, has admitted that the increased consumption of medicines and the heavy resulting charges on the fund is causing concern. "Not only has the number of prescriptions shown a striking upward trend," she said, "but the department has drawn attention on several occasions to a tendency on the part of a few doctors to prescribe unduly costly drugs."

The New Zealand branch of the British Medical Association, in cooperation with government officials, is examining a number of aspects of the medical services provided under the social security program and it is expected that recommendations will be made to improve the operation of the free medicine scheme.

Europe's Crops Reported Better

TORONTO, Nov. 11 — (CP) — Crops in western Europe this year are better "than in years," C. D. Graham of the Ontario Department of Agriculture told the Central Ontario Women's Institutes Wednesday.

Recently returned from the International Federation of Agricultural Producers conference in Paris, Mr. Graham said British farmers expected to be producing 50 per cent of the country's foods by 1952 and to have lowered their food imports by several hundred million dollars a year.

"Everywhere we went people were enquiring about Canadian methods," he said. "They were anxious to know how we lived and how we farmed."

Serving Canned Juices When Fresh Fruits Scarce

This is a pep talk on nutrition...

for suddenly we are paying 29 to 35 Cents per lb. for tomatoes instead of the same per basket. And the same ratio holds for other summer and fall vegetables and fruits.

We miss their luscious variety in our meals and, oh, how our nutrition suffers. Some of the scarce authorities darkly call the results "hidden hunger".

But even here in Canada where most of our fresh fruits and vegetables are imported for at least 6 months of every year this "hidden hunger" can be avoided, and, if we do manage to avoid it we automatically avoid many of our winter illnesses, chief of which is the pesky "cold".

To begin your anti-cold campaign start right in serving plenty of canned tomatoes in every form: —juice, soup, sauces, stewed, en casserole, etc.

The same goes for oranges, grapefruits, lemons. Every week order enough oranges and grapefruits that each member of the family receives at least one serving per day.

These four foods if served generously and regularly will take care of your supply of that precious vitamin C that is so scarce in the Canadian dietary. If you do not provide plenty of these fruits you must provide vitamin tablets. Another thing about tomatoes is that they rank high in Vitamin A and calcium and phosphorous. We need all of these.

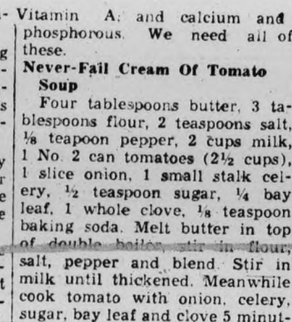
Never-Fail Cream Of Tomato Soup

Four tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teapoon pepper, 2 cups milk, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes (2½ cups), 1 slice onion, 1 small stalk celery, ½ teaspoon sugar, ¼ bay leaf, 1 whole clove, ⅛ teaspoon baking soda. Melt butter in top of double boiler, stir in flour, salt, pepper and blend. Stir in milk until thickened. Meanwhile cook tomato with onion, celery, sugar, bay leaf and clove 5 minutes. Strain and add soda to it; stir this slowly into the milk mixture, and heat stirring for 1 minute. Do not reduce the amount of butter (or other fat) and do not reduce amount of soda. Be sure to stir the tomato mixture into the milk mixture slowly while stirring.

Ceery, besides its delicious flavour and crispness, ranks high in calcium and phosphorous, and since the pascal type is right now at the peak of its season, we should keep it on hand and keep serving it every day. I braised some of the coarser outside stalks for dinner with our roast last Sunday and it was popular.

Braised Celery

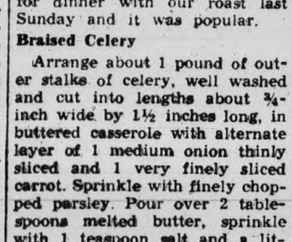
Arrange about 1 pound of outer stalks of celery, well washed and cut into lengths about ¾-inch wide by 1½ inches long, in buttered casserole with alternate layer of 1 medium onion thinly sliced and 1 very finely sliced carrot. Sprinkle with finely chopped parsley. Pour over 2 tablespoons melted butter, sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt and a little pepper. Pour over 1 cup canned condensed bouillon evaporates and the celery and vegetables are tender.



Since lima beans —particularly dried limas—are comparatively high in iron content I would like to urge you to include them in your menus frequently.

Lima Bean And Meat Casserole

Pick over, wash and soak 1 lb. dried lima in cold water overnight; drain, cover with boiling water and simmer, covered, with 1 tablespoon salt until tender. Drain. Meanwhile cut up enough bacon to make 2-3 or ¾ cup and saute until light brown; add it and 1 small chopped onion, ½ lb. ground beef or hamburg, 1 can condensed tomato soup (10 oz.) ½ cup water, shake of pepper and Worcestershire Sauce. Simmer over top burner or bake in casserole until heated and cooked through and golden. A grand Saturday night supper. (Celery may be added if desired.)



BORDER LINE—South American rodent, that lush fur, rich with lovely brown highlights, is always in demand, no matter how much the promotional drums may beat for other furs. No wonder, when it is so soft and velvety, and so supple that furriers delight in working it into important coats. Here is true beauty, a border coat with a tiny rolled collar. Deft handling by the designer gives this extremely full coat a different look, achieved by the wide border along the hem. The modified dolman sleeves have a matching border cuff.

I like my milk better in RENNET DESSERTS!

Infants and children often take a dislike to the milk that is so necessary to their growth and health. Wise mothers give them rennet desserts—milk transformed in a jiffy with Rennet Powder or Rennet Tablets into delicious, delicately flavoured desserts. Most doctors approve them. EMERALD GREEN TAFFETA—This luminous gem toned gown for a handsome evening is styled and proportioned for the pocket sized girl who is at her tallest, five-foot-five, and perhaps a bit shorter. Moreover, it can be had from sizes 8 to 16, which allows cosiderable expansion sideways for the little woman. In detail, the frock has a full skirt which springs with verve (not gathers) from the base of the boned slick bodice. The bodice is draped with flat tucks at the top which terminate in a butterfly bow that does not muffle the waistline.

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Would you please forward me some good Xmas cookies recipes, also a rich Xmas pudding, Xmas cake and Carrot Pudding. I like to get my Xmas cakes and puddings done early. Hoping this is not asking too much. S. D.

ANSWER:

The following cookies were a favourite with our family last Christmas season so I will give them to you first:

Swedish Cookies

One-half cup butter, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg yolk slightly beaten, 1 cup flour, 1 egg white unbeaten, ¾ cup very finely cut walnuts or hickory nuts or pecans. Cream the butter very well, add yolk and beat well. Add flour and mix. Form into ¾-inch balls by rolling between palms, roll in egg white, roll in finely cut or ground nuts. Place on greased cookie sheet, press with bottom of buttered tumbler to about ¼-inch, thickness, bake 5 minutes. Remove from oven and make depression in centre with thumb. Bake about 15 minutes longer at 350 deg. Fahr. or until done. Fill depression with homemade raspberry jam—we used homemade wild raspberry and wild strawberry jam last year. Tender delicate marmalade is good too.

Springerle

Four eggs, 1 lb. powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 4½ cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, anise seeds. Beat eggs with hand or electric beater until light. Then stir in the sugar, beat until combined. Add lemon rind and flour, which has been sifted with baking powder. Mix well. Chill 1 hour. Press onto Springerle board OR cut out after rolling to ½-inch thickness in fancy shapes with cookie cutters. Butter cookie sheet and sprinkle it with anise seed. Arrange cookies over seeds, let stand in cool place overnight, then bake at 350 deg. Fahr. Store in covered jar for 3 weeks before using.

Rich Plum Pudding

One-quarter cup very finely chopped choice suet or best quality shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, 1 teaspoon each salt and baking powder, ¼ teaspoon each cloves, mace, nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 3 beaten eggs, ¾ cup scalded milk, 2 tablespoons each grated orange rind, and grated lemon rind, 1½ cups seedless raisins, ¼ cup each washed and dried currants, chopped figs, chopped nuts, ½ cup grape juice. Cream the suet or shortening with the sugar very well; add breadcrumbs, baking powder, salt and spices, add eggs and mix very well. Add milk. Add orange and lemon rinds, raisins, currants, figs, nuts and grapejuice to the first mixture, and beat very well. Pour nto greased pudding moulds to ¾ full. Cover tightly (if mould has no cover, cover with parchment paper tied on snugly. Steam four hours. This is good with orange or hard sauce, and keeps well, but must be turned out of moulds (unless they are glass or porcelain) and wrapped in wax and parchment papers and kept cool.

Carrot Fruit Pudding

(Serves 12)

One cup each grated raw potatoes, grated raw carrot, finely chopped suet, brown sugar, washed and dried raisins, washed and dried currants; sift together 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon each salt, cinnamon and cloves or mace; ½ cup chopped nuts. Mix all together in order given and stir for at least 5 minutes to start the moisture from the vegetables. Steam for 6 hours in greased moulds filled 2-3 full, and tightly covered. Very inexpensive, and nice served with rich lemon sauce topped with cherry.

Southern Fruit Cake

(Moist and delicious and pretty if a solid cake is desired)

One-half pound butter, 1½ cups sugar, 5 eggs—yolks and whites beaten separately, ½ lb. each candied pineapple, maraschino cherries, figs chopped, blanched almonds, 1 pound cleaned and dried raisins, 1½ pounds dates, ½ pound mixed peel, or use all citron peel, ½ cup each strawberry jam and grape juice (or sherry), 2 cups flour sifted with 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg and 2 teaspons baking powder, 1 pound pecans. Save out some of the whole pecans and almonds and cherries to garnish tops of cakes before putting in oven.

Mix all the ingredients in order given, creaming the butter and sugar and yolks together well. Save out the whites and fold them in last. Line pans well with heavy brown paper, buttering the last layer well. Stand pan of water in oven. Bake cakes at 275 deg. Fahr. for about four hours. When done and cold wrap in wax papers and tea towels and store at least 3 weeks before using

Do Women Dress for Men? Pretty Clothes Impress

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please settle an argument which has been going on in our family for quite some time? The question is that: Do the majority of women dress for other women or to please men?

Dorothy Dix

My husband thinks that women don't give a rap about what men think about their clothes, that it is their sister women for whom they doll themselves up. But my mother and I hold a different opinion. We think that women use pretty clothes as whistle bait to attract men. What do you think it?

MRS. H.

ANSWER: I am straddled on the fence. Both allegation are correct. The average woman is indifferent to the opinion of any man about clothes unless he be a man milliner or in the dress trade. What she is looking for is a confection that will turn her dearest friend green with envy and make her eyes bulge out.

Likewise, although the great majority of men are not too clothes-conscious, they fall for fluffy ruffles and gay colors like wheat before the scythe. A homely girl with a lot of pretty frocks can snap her fingers in Miss America's face any day, for the average man never distinguishes between a girl's glad rags and the girl herself. She looks good to him and he doesn't know that what he has fallen in love with is the latest Paris model, not the girl in it.

Creator's Plan

The love of clothes evidently was part of the Creator's plan for women, for the first thing the First Woman did was to make herself a dress. It was the great original pin-up and the sex has been at it ever since, and it has been a solace to them in all the vicissitudes of life. No matter what else happens, women have, as the French say, "toujours la toilette."

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I do not believe that working wives spoil their husbands. In many cases, at least since the war it has been the wives' fault that they are still working. They became so independent during the war and earned such good money that they hate to give up their jobs. Many husbands have pleaded with their wives to return to domesticity, but they refuse.

Any man who really loves his wife is only too pleased to pay out his money for household expenses and to keep the home fires burning. Don't you think so?

GRACE

ANSWER: I do not think that there is any other problem that is more difficult to solve than how to get married women back again into their homes, where they are needed. They have tasted blood and they can't go back to cambric tea. Thousands of women who were young strong and enthused with patriotism enlisted for all sorts of jobs during the war and, to their surprise, found out that they had talents they did not know they possessed and that they could command fantastic salaries.

They had been happy and contented in their small homes, but now that the war is over they are not willing to go back to their old routine. They find housework a chore for which they have no taste. They are bored for lack of excitment. And they do not want to give up their pay envelopes and just be wives and mothers again.

And that is why there are so many divorces and so many delinquent children. For domesticity is a full- time job.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married for nine months and am going to have a baby. My husband is 24 years old and has been married three times. He flirts with every girl he sees and comes home after midnight with lipstick all over his shirt and lips. He never gives me a penny and fusses if I even buy a bar of candy.

What do you suggest that I do?

UNHAPPY WIFE

ANSWER: It is too late to make any suggestion that will be of any help to you just now. But after the baby is born and when your heel of a husband deserts you and the child, as he is sure to do, do try to use some common sense in planning your future life. Surely a man who has the wife-swapping habit offers an awful warning that should make any girl stop, look and listen before she marries him. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

MAGICAL MODERN MODES—Scarf tricks are fun, and make modish magic too. She who has a way with a scarf knows how to improvise a pretty gilet, a blousette, an apron, a sash, a turban, original neckwear—tricks that are a boon to the budget wardrobe. This bright colored swirl scarf comes with instructions for using it as a blouse. Simply fold the generously cut scarf in half and tie the ends at the back of the neck. Fashion a smooth high neckline with an attractive drape fastened by means of a colorful pin.

Education Week Nov. 14 to 20 Vital to Parents

It has become an annual custom with Home and School Associations to open activities of Education Week by attending a church service. This year Education Week is November 14 to 20, and the members of the Peterborough organizations will attend the Sunday evening service at All Saints Anglican Church. Roll call will be taken in the parish hall at 6.40 p.m., and members will enter the church en masse.

Ther for Education Week is "The school builds the nation." This also seems an opportune time for a plea to consider the hild's tastes, likes and dislikes, not that the final deision should neessarily be left entirely to the child. Experience has shown that children have definite preferences and if these are given a sympathetic hearing he will take much more pride in his or her work.

Purpose in setting aside one week of the year as "education week" is that parents, with others, need to have more information with regard to a child's education. The ones to observe it are educators, teachers, churches, parents and committees. They should visit the school, read literature provided there, watch announcements of programs on education, and attend "open school". Theirs is a three-fold duty 1, need of knowing the school system and to create public opinion in that direction; 2, closer relationship between parents and teachers in order to aid in solving present-day problems; 2, enlarging fields of interest to include education of children through influences in the community.

For better education, parents should know the child's school, the teachers, the Board of Education representative and belong to a Home and School Association.

Class Elects New Officers

Mrs. Earl Carl, Braidwood Ave., was hostess for the meeting of Ever-Awake Class of St. James' Sunday School Tuesday evening. With Remembrance Day as the theme, Miss Zetta Wood opened the meeting. Scripture was read by Mrs. M. MacMurchy. Readings were given by Mrs. J. Flynn, Mrs. S. Watson, Mrs. C. Brown, Mrs. J. Kelly and Mrs. R. Tully Miss Wood led in prayer

Convener's reports on the recent bazaar and baking sale were given.

An election of officers for the coming year was held and results are: President, Mrs. M. MacMurchy; vice-president, Mrs. E. Maudsley; secretary, Mrs. R. Tully; assistant, Mrs. C. Jones; treasurer, Mrs. S. Watson; assistant, Mrs. G. Hutchinson; devotional convener, Mrs. E. Maudsley; social convener, Mrs. C. Brown; entertainment, Mrs. B. Callan; Sunshine convener, Mrs. E Maudsley; telephone committee, Mrs. J. Kelly and Mrs. L. Stewart.

Mrs. E. Davis, 580 George St., extended an invitation to hold the next meeting at her home.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess.

School Holds Open House

Interested parents and friends flocked to Sacred Heart School Tuesday evening to take advantage of "Parents' Night," the opportunity to meet the teachers and talk over matters pertaining to the welfare of their children.

They visited the classrooms where the children's work was on display and many favorable comments were heard as to quality and neatness of it.

Of special interest was a project on early Peterborough worked out by one of the classes. Here art, imagination, and persevering effort made an otherwise dry subject very enjoyable.

All the rooms looked very bright and attractive, and while work exhibited was more or less along the same lines, each class bore distinctive characteristic, showing originality.

The primary room was a centre of wonder, and appreciation of the progress made already by tiny tots.

Parents and teachers alike were unstinted in the expression of their approval of these friendly gatherings and the pleasure attending them.

The parents voiced their gratitude for the interest taken by teachers and staff members reciprocated with appreciation of the kindly and helpful spirit of cooperation shown by the parents in a matter of so great importance.

Military Chapter Honors Heroes' Memory at Tea

The ever-living memory of heroic lives lost in battle is uppermost in all hearts as Remembrance Day, Nov. 11, approaches. To honor this day and the tholughts it brings, the military chapter of the IODE, named for the 57th Regiment, which made history in World War 1, annually gives a tea. On Wednesday afternoon the members entertained in the officers' mess in the Peterborugh Armouries. Assisting to receive was Mrs. Clarke, wife of the present officer commanding, Lt.-Col. M. E. Clarke, who has an outstanding record in World War II.

Tradition and atmosphere combined to draw a capacity crowd to the tea rooms and a handsome sum of money to the treasury. A nice part of this was realized by the tea cup reader who wishes to be anonymous. There was also a sale of home baking that brought pleasing awards, and active salesladies of draw tickets ran up a substantial money total.

Raffle winners were Mrs. H. Steggles who received a roast chicken and Mrs. Harold Scott is to have a Danish tea ring. The tickets were selected by Mrs. A. W. Turner.

Ingenuity of Mrs. C. H. Stuart and Mrs. M. E. Clarke put the lowly potato and its somewhat more distinguished relative, the cauliflower, into prominence amid a collection of every variety of vegetable on the market. Two of each were cut out in the centre to hold white tapers with gold drippings that provided light for serving. From a bronzed wicker basket, partly overturned on the tea table, the former contents tumbled unto a bed of deepest red oak leaves. Right at the bottom there was a knobby hubbard squash and spilling into view bunches of celery, radishes, brussel sprouts, endives, tomatoes, marrows, onions, cauliflower potatoes, scarlet peppers, parsnips, carrots and others. The whole a mute reminder of those who fought to protect the country where plenty abounds.

Tea appointments were laid on a beautiful gold damask cloth and the cups were filled by past regents, Mrs. W. G. Hall, Mrs. R. G. Cottrell and Mrs. T. W. H. Young. Serving were Mrs. G. Langhorne, Mrs. H. Willis, Mrs. L. D. Foster, Mrs. H. J. Morley, Mrs. R. Cochrane and Mrs. P. W. Sargent. Plates were replenished by Mrs. H. G. Carleton, Mrs. A. Henry and Mrs. George Melton, assisted by the tea convener, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore.

Also receiving at the door were the regent, Mrs. C. M. Scott, and Mrs. A. W. Turner, regent of the Municipal Chapter, and Mrs. M. Swanston was at the treasurer's table. Hostesses in the tea room were Mrs. T. H. Skinner, Mrs. W. Hughes, Mrs. E. Sorby, Mrs. J. H. Ferguson, Mrs P. G. Wallace, Mrs. J. E. Johnston, Mrs. H. Dodds and Miss M. Rush.

Convener of the draws was Mrs. R. Brooks, assisted by Mrs. J. Duncan, Mrs. J. Dobbin, Mrs. W. Hughes, and Mrs. G. H. Moore.

The home cooking table was attended by Mrs P. Latchford, Mrs. G. Groombridge and Mrs. H. Burrows.

Business, Professional Club Stages Successful Event

There's little chance to attend afternoon teas for business and professional women in Peterborough, but the exception is when their own club stages such an event. Choice of Wednesday afternoon was a big help and for those usually at their desks throughout the week a bit of "time off" was arranged. So, all members were able to enjoy the good feeling that comes from taking part in a highly successful affair.

The Green Room of the YWCA lent splendid color background for the profusion of 'mums in bright yellow and burnished copper, that were the gift of a friend, Mr. George Sorenson. It was made up in charming bouquets for the table, the mantel and each corner of the room.

On the lace-covered tea table a beautiful silver bowl for the flowers was placed on a reflector, circled with frost-browned vines. Pale yellow candles stood in low holders and silver tea appointments were at either end. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. R. Morris. Miss Margaret English, Miss Mina Edwards and Miss Elsie Bennett. Assisting to serve were Misses Jessie Martin, Pearl Edwards, Mabel White, Mary Easson, Alice Hardwicke, Muriel Morrison, Sybil Gilgour and Mrs. Jean Watson.

Miss Vera Heyes was convener of the refreshments with Misses Anne Deyell and Helen Burgess assisting. Decorating, and publicity prior to the tea, were in charge of Miss Helen Lytle and her committee. Miss Eleitha Davidson was general convener, and Miss Jean Horsfield a sub-convener for the bazaar.

The president, Miss Sarah Eastwood, extended a warm greeting to all at the door, which was echoed by Miss Birdie Dawson, past president. Miss Jane Saunders, treasurer, at a table close by, collected the admission fee.

It's always nice to anticipate taking tickets on the doll bride, who has other clothes too, the thrill will last until Monday evening, December 6, when members will make the draw at their regular fireside meeting. It ended at the tea, however, for would-be-eaters of a large cake, iced in pale green, when Miss Margaret English drew the ticket of Mrs. J. Hardwick, 489 Cross St. A hand-crocheted shopping bag with winning a raffle and for those bright applique trim goes to Mrs. Marjorie Black of Port Hope, who purchased the second ticket drawn, the first having been that of a member. Mrs. L Yeotes sold tickets on the cake and Mrs. Krant is in charge of raffling the dolls and bag.

Helpers on the bazaar table were Misses Mabel Moore, Bessie Ross and Agnes Horsfield and they offered a wide selection of novelties, all hand-made. Food for sale was temptingly arranged and attended by Miss Maud Dunford, convener, Mrs. Edna Miller and Mrs. F. C. Anderson.

Business is business, even at a tea, and the customer was assured of getting full value by sight of a scale on the home-made candy counter. Miss Vi Walsh and Miss Olga Haskill "weighed up" half-pound parcels and small boxes for their customers.

At this "touch and take" table, some of the risk was eliminated by labels stating what article was inside the fancy wrapping of a few parcels. Miss Ethel Rae was in charge, assisted by Miss Jennie Gillespie.

With a thought for the working girl who might like to visit the Business and Professional Club tea room, the closing time was extended an hour and many friends availed themselves of the pleasure.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, November 11

There are excellent auguries for success, advancement, distinction, honors, with general progress and well-being, according to the benefit aspects of the luminaries. It is a propitious time for seeking promotion, favors and financial support or friendly co-operation from elders, superiors, or employers. Yet overdoing this appeal, extravagance, rash or intemperate conduct of any complexion, could undermine the fairest and most promising of hopes and wishes. Keep calm and rationalize under the most exciting or glowing situations or joys.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are assured a year of splendid opportunity gain, progress, promotion, and honors, with favors or friendly gestures from those in influential places. Also substantial support in launching ambitious projects of more than customary significance. Nevertheless, all such desires and aspirations could be "nipped in the bud" by any show of overplaying, extravagance or zeal might be prone to "bite off more than it can chew." Go slow and keep the feet and imagination on terra firma.

A child born on this day while ambitious, progressive and popular with superiors could undermine its objectives by rash, tempestuous or exaggerated notions or behavior.

For Friday, November 12

There are signs of a hazardous and perplexing state of affairs, which are more than likely not to measure up to expectations. While on the surface there may be seen indication of progress and gratification yet an undercurrent of the irregular, curious and intriguing may complicate matters, both in business and in private relations. The latter may beget problems in the romantic, affectional, social or domestic affiliations. Shun subtle or sinister entanglements, erratic urges. Safeguard funds, property, labor and position when sudden and devastating circumstances may disrupt current affairs.

Those whose birthday it is, may prepare for a year in which unconventional and dramatic upsets may incite to erratic or emotional outbursts. Finance are subject to loss or strange hazards, through gambling, show, extravagance or over indulgence in some form. With these flagrant urges there may be subtle undercurrents, complicating and intriguing, in which intimate relations may have queer twists or adventures. Hew to the line of the conventional and the fair.

A child born on this day may be prone to do the unusual or eccentric, leaning toward the irregular and crafty.

Home and School News Association

GROVE SCHOOL

The meeting of Grove Home and School Association Wednesday evening was opened by the president, Mrs. F. Sanders. She announced a card party to be held in the school Friday evening, November 19, and an executive meeting of the Association on Wednesday afternoon, November 24. Date of the Christmas concert will be Tuesday, December 21, and it will be put on jointly by the school children, the Social and Athletic Association and the Home and School Association.

"Success" was the subject on which Mr. R. F. Downey, former school inspector, based his address. In a message to perants, he said "Parents must grow mentally, socially and domestically. Adults need to pursue a hobby for their recreation and must not forget the health side of life. Success depends in a large measure on what they are prepared to invest.

"As parents you are responsible for developing healthy children with a personality which embraces good voice, neatness, self control, cheerfulness, a sense of humor, resourcefulness, reliability, trustworthiness, self-confidence and sympathy." In conclusion he said "A successful person makes good, surmounting difficulties, secures results, has a message to deliver and an answer to bring."

Reports of the regional conference were brought by Mrs. W. Wood, Mrs. Bowler and Mrs. S. Whitfield. Mrs. E. Druery strove to create an interest in parent education by reading a timely article on discipline. Mrs. F. Sanders appealed for donations toward a bazaar to be held in the spring.

Mr. J. Barnard, principal, announced open school will be held Thursday, November 18, at which time a cup of tea will be served and home made candy for sale. Mrs. W. Higgins will convene the latter and called for donations.

A playlette depicting world brotherhood and racial distinction was presented by John Chesney and James Brown of the senior class. Miss Rutherford, kindergarten teacher, led in a sing song, after which refreshments were served.

Story Of Brahms Told At H and S Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 11. — An interesting talk on Johannes Brahms was heard by the Home and School Association Wednesday night, Mrs. W. C. Tatham of Campbellford was the speaker.

She said that Brahms showed remarkable musical gifts at a very early age, and when barely 20 he was acclaimed as the new hope of German music. Predictions of greatness were made by composers, musicians and conductors of his time. As a young man he was taken into the home of Schuman, the most eminent composer of that day, where he received valuable instruction and encouragement.

"As an example of his lighter works," she said, "we are to hear two songs with which you are doubtless familiar. They are "Lullaby" and "The Little Sandman"." They were sung by Mrs. Hendershot, Mrs. De Carrol and Mrs. Clark, with Mrs. Nicholls at the piano.

Mrs. Tatham said that these melodies were typical of a group of Brahms' songs in which the piano accompaniment played an unusually important part. "To demonstrate what I mean," she said, "we shall listen to the 'Love Song'."

Mrs. De Carrol demonstrated the "Love Song," accompanied by Mrs. Nicholls at the piano.

She continued: "Following an extensive tour of Hungary, Brahms published one book of Hungarian dances through which the fiery tunes of gypsy fiddlers weave like magic threads. We shall hear numbers five and six."

They were played by Mrs. Nicholls and Mrs. Hendershot.

Many of his melodies originated in the Hungarian folk music, but most were products of Brahms' own imagination. But all were melodiously beautiful and wildly rhythmical, she concluded.

Pictures were shown of the work of Jackson, one of Canada's greatest lanscape painters. Mrs. Benor gave a short talk on the value of books. Mrs. Hopping, president, was in the chair.

Kenya Gold Strike Termed Promising

NAIROBI, Kenya, Nov. 11. — (Reuters).—The gold strike reported seven weeks ago in the Kibigori Hill area, near Kisumu, Western Kenya, today was officially termed "promising."

The Kenya Mines Department said strong veins extended over the 1,200-foot-long strike, bearing "considerable amounts of visible gold, some of which is primary."

Elimination of the gold field showed that rocks of the Kibigori formation spanned at least five miles, and the Department recommended further prospecting.

The strike was made by four prospectors about 25 miles from the point where gold in payable quantities was first discovered in Kenya.

Legion Burial Honors For Thomas Aitcheson

COBOURG, Nov. 11.—(ENS)—Funeral of Thomas Aitcheson took place today, attended by members of the local Legion. The service was conducted by Rev. W. P. Woodger of Trinity United Church and burial was in Cobourg Union Cemetery. Mr. Aitcheson, who died Monday at the age of 62, is survived by his widow. He was the first to return home during the First Great War and was tendered a civic reception on his arrival at the railway station, and was conveyed in a carriage drawn by a number of citizens from the station to his home.

Head of Comet Devastated 3 Eastern States In US

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP) — Evidence that the head of a comet once hit and devastated what now would be parts of three eastern states was reported to the geological society of America here today.

The impact was tremendous and spread over parts of what now are North and South Carolina and Northeastern Georgia. The report was made by Professor W. F. Prouty of the University of North Carolina.

The head of this comet was not a solid piece of iron or stone. It was a big cloud of chunks of either or both kinds of material. Each chunk was a meteor. The sizes may have been barrels, automobiles or some even larger.

They formed, when they hit, what are now called the Carolina Bays. For nearly 20 years there has been a scientific controversy as to what formed these bays. Elliptical depressions in sandy country, they are filled-up craters, according to the comet theory. Their elliptical shape was due to the comet's head coming in at an angle.

Prof. Prouty's picture was of a comet's head so great that not all its parts hit at once. The cloud of stones or of iron chunks was widely spread. Double bays were formed, he says, by one of these chunks following another that had hit a little earlier. These overlapping hits all were made by pieces of the comet travelling in tandem, one after the other.

They fail to fit exactly, he says, because of the speed of the earth's rotation. As a result, each following hit in a tandem was a little farther toward the west. This, Prof. Prouty said, is actually the formation of the multiple bays, and shows that a comet made them.

Memorial Centre Opened At Guelph

GUELPH, Nov. 11—(CP)—A note of alarm based on present world instability keynoted the address of Col. L. M. Stuart, who today spoke at a Remembrance Day ceremony marking the official dedication of Guelph's new $425,000 memorial gardens and recreation centre. The building, one of the finest sports centres in Ontario, was dedicated to the city's departed heroes of two world wars.

"There is a feeling of insecurity abroad. Freedom is again in peril, whole nations have sunk into slavery," said Col. Stuart, commanding officer of the 11th Field Ambulance in the second world war. "Pray God that wisdom may prevail and that we will not be subjected to a conflict more horrible than any this troubled world has seen."

A crowd which filled the 4,200-seat arena attended the ceremony.

Mayor Gordon Rife spoke briefly declaring that the citizens had gathered for a two-fold purpose to honor and pay respects to those who made the supreme sacrifice and to dedicate the memorial gardens in their memory.

A Remembrance Day parade preceded the ceremonies.

Industrial Expansion

NEW DELHI—(CP) — Seven schemes for the expansion of the cement industry in India have been sanctioned by the Government of India. These schemes, it is expected, will add more than 1,000,000 tons of cement to existing production.

Revise China's Currency Laws

NANKING, Nov. 11 — (AP)—The Kuomintang (government) party central political council today approved a sharp revision of China's currency program put into effect last Aug. 19.

Although no official announcement has been made, informed sources said new regulations would provide:

1. Restrictions on private ownership of gold bullion will be lifted and the government will buy and sell gold but trading in gold between private individuals will still be prohibited.

2. Free circulation of silver coins will be permitted.

3. Exchange rates for United States currency, gold, silver and other foreign exchanges will be revised upward to "realistic levels."

4. Limitations on the issuance of gold Yuan notes to 2,000,000,000 would be lifted because of currency inflation.

Plan Open House

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 11.—In connection with education week, open house will be held in the High School on Wednesday, Nov. 17, at 1.30 p.m. There will be a Literary Society meeting, a period of extra curricular activities and the regular class-room work. Tea will be served.

With The Girl Guides

1st St. Andrew's Brownie Pack has been working very hard lately, and many tests have been passed and awards won. Sixers and Seconds have been appointed, and were recently presented with their stripes in an interesting ceremony. The following Brownies are the leaders of their Sixes: Fairies, Sixer Mary Elizabeth Collins; Second, Meredith Morgan; Elves, Sixer, Margaret Horton; Second, Jean Lasenby; Gnomes, Sixer, Lois Corner; Second, Sharon Hutchinson; Pixies, Sixer, Katherine Lewis; Second, Suzanne Huffman. We were pleased to welcome Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Hutchinson to this ceremony, and they later did a good turn to the Pack by passing the Brownies' Courtesy Test for Katherine Lewis, Margaret Horton, Lois Corner and Sharon Hutchinson.

Several Brownies have been putting their Brownie training into practice at home, by keeping their own rooms tidy, and we are very pleased to commend Gail Bastable, Suzanne Huffman, Marion Everett and Sharon Hutchinson for this good work at home.

The "Tweenies" or new Brownies have not been idle either, and all eight of them have passed their Braiding Test, with many passing the Law, Promise and Brownie and Six Songs.

As arranged at the beginning of the season, the time of ahe First Pack meetings has been changed from Wednesday evenings to Saturday afternoons at 2.15.

3rd All Saints' Brownie Pack—The Tweenies of this Pack are working hard on their tests so they may be enrolled soon and on Friday evening the following Tweenies learned to tie their ties: Dianne Turner, Lillian Wragg, Julie Poole, Donna Rooke and Helen Chambo. The Golden Bar Brownies were busily working on their Nature and the Golden Hand Brownies were practicing the Courtesy test. On October 29th this Pack held a jolly Hallowe'en party, where they played many rollicking games, ducked for apples and generally had a good time.

Expect New Ruling On Power Situation

COBOURG, Nov. 11.—(ENS).—Announcement in egard to the power situation in Cobourg will be made today following a meeting of the Public Utilities Commission, Mayor Joseph Smith conferred with provincial hydro officials on Tuesday in Toronto and the result of his conference will be discussed today.

Cobourg's reduced quota on Nov. 1 was 30,200 kwh daily, but on Monday of this week the town went 4,960 over its quota. One of the main reasons for the heavy electrical consumption in Cobourg is the new CGE plant which has increased its use steadily during the past few months.

CARE SURPASSES LUCK

IN MANY social circles, certain players develop reputations for being lucky, and others for being unlucky. The luck factor seems to show itself in the way that better hands are dealt on the average to the more fortunate ones, also in the way that suits break for them, the successful operation of finesses and other non-startling developments which to the casual observed indicate better breaks rather than better methods. In many such cases, however, the important factor is not luck, but greater care or clearer thought.

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

South was able to count two immediate losers in the minors, plus a possible one in hearts if the finesse failed, but one of the minor suit losers could be discarded on the third heart. Hence, if he could limit losers in the trump suit to one trick, his contract would be safe.

With that idea in mind, he won the first trick in the dummy and immediately led a low spade, putting in the Q, which lost to the K. This doomed him to lose another trump trick to the J. His sole chance for game then was to win the heart finesse. When that failed, he was down.

As is usual in such cases, he bewailed his hard luck. Actually he had played the spades in the worst possible way. It would have been most profitable if he had played the suit in another wrong way, much better, however, than the method he used. That would have been by laying down the A on the first trick to protect himself against a singleton K or J in either hand. Had he done that, he would have taken all tricks in the suit.

The soundest method, however, to avoid losing two trump tricks in this situation would have been to lead from his own hand toward the dummy, prepared to play whatever card was indicated after West played. This was a simple case of soundness and care as against unsoundness and carelessness.

If South opens this rubber deal with 1-Diamond and West bids 2-Spades, what would you do in the North?

Jack Telford Now A Teacher At School Where He Received His Primary Education

Jack Telford of London St., is back at Queen Alexandra public school whence he graduated in 1928. But he has changed his role from that of pupil to teacher.

Mr. Telford who went to PCVS, Normal school and then taught for two-and-a-half years in the Oshawa district, returned to Peterborough in 1938. After postings to Queen Mary and King George schools he finally got one to Queen Alexandra, this fall.

"It's a lot of fun to be back at the old school," he told the Examiner.

He said he was a school chum of many of the fathers and uncles of boys now attending.

"I guess it gives me a little insight into the boys I wouldn't have had otherwise," he said.

One of the best chuckles that Mr. Telford has had since returning to the old stamping grounds was once when he opened an old book giving the names of those who had received corporal punishment. His name headed the list.

The grade seven pupils should have a hard time pulling the wool over his eyes.

CHIANG ARMY ROUTS REDS AT SUCHOW

Police Sgt. Charged With Theft

Port Hope Chief Fires Officer; Freed On $1,000 Bail

PORT HOPE, Nov. 12—(ENS)—The discharge from the Port Hope police force of Sergeant Bert Warren and a charge against him later of stealing gasoline came in quick succession today.

Warren appeared in police court this morning on a charge of theft of gas during August and November this year from a local taxi company and was remanded on $1,000 bail to November 19.

His arrest by Chief W. Graham this morning was like a bombshell to the town. In the past, Port Hope has had varied troubles in the police department and many changes in the force but this is the first occasion any member of the force has been charged in police court.

Chief W. Graham who is a comparatively recent appointee, acted quickly. The chief said this morning he could not go into details at this time but stated he had "fired" Sergeant Warren Thursday night and arrested him this morning on a charge of theft.

Train Hits Car 2 Women Killed

BADEN, Ont., Nov. 12—(CP)—Two women were killed and two men injured Thursday when a freight train smashed into their car at a level crossing on the main street of this village 10 miles west of Kitchener.

The dead were Mrs. Thelma McClinthey of Kippen, Ont., and Mrs. A. C. Levey of Seaforth, Ont.

Hospital officials said today Louis Prang of Zurich suffered a collapsed chest and internal injuries. Dan Oswald, 66, suffered injuries to his right elbow and body bruises. Police said Oswald was the driver.

The car was struck broadside by the train and carried almost 300 yards down the track. It had stopped on the tracks and was attempting to back up when struck.

Police quoted an eye-witness as saying the car turned out and passed three other vehicles waiting for the train to go by.

French Zone Getting Free Business Ride

Britain And United States Putting Up Cash For Trade Merger

BERLIN, Nov. 12—(AP)—The French zone is getting a free ride on West Germany's business band wagon—with Britain and the United States putting up the cash.

But British and United States officials predict their zones of Germany will profit in the long run by bring the French zone in as a full partner, even if it does not pay its way.

The business band wagon of western Germany is the joint export-important agency (JEIA) which handles all foreign trade. JEIA was set up last year by Britain and the United States, with $100,000,000 working capital.

Now the French have agreed to join the trade merger, bringing foreign trade of their zone under JEIA control. No French money contribution is involved.

Neither is the French zone expected to contribute any export surplus to the trizonal trade pool. In fact, it will add to the trade deficit, for a while at least.

However, Lawrence Wilkinson, United States economics adviser, says the merger will eventually help all west Germany—and thus all the western allies—by increasing production.

The French zone is smaller than either the British or American. It also is industrially poorer, epecially since the Saar was attached to France. Timber is one of the zone's chief exports. It also exports chemicals, machine tools, watches, precision instruments, and refractories, which are heat-resistant mineral bricks.

Prepare Russians for War

PARIS, Nov. 12—(AP).—A United States delegate told the United Nations today that Russia is using "shrill government-directed propaganda to prepare its people for war." The American, Frederick H. Osborn, told the General Assembly's political committee there can be no disarmament until Russia stops threatening the world with Communist aggression.

Osborn said Russia has 4,000,000 men under arms and that Soviet-dominate d states have an additional 2,800,000. This, he said, adds up to 250 combat divisions, five times the combined forces of all the western European powers.

Russian workers are "kept in fear of war by the Soviet government," and Russian citizens heard only the news their government wanted them to hear.

Addressing Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky directly, Osborn said:

"The people of the United States are the masters of their government and the people of the United States want peace. They would not permit a war of aggression.

"Certainly after the events of last week, Mr. Vishinsky knows the American people can speak in free, unfettered elections."

Osborn, United States delegation specialist on atomic questions, accused Russia of:

1. "Destroying the hopeful progress of representative governments in eastern Europe."
2. "The forceful annexation of territory."
3. "Obstruction of negotiations for peace treaties for Germany and Japan."
4. "Rejection of an atomic energy control plan which 46 nations found acceptable."
5. "Using 28 vetoes in the Security Council."
6. "Summary rejection of the neutral nations' compromise plan on Berlin."

27,000 More Beds Needed To Handle Mental Illness

BOSTON, Nov. 12—(CP).—Canada requires an additional 27,000 hospital beds and more than 100 new clinics to cope with the problems arising from mental illness, G. D. W. Cameron, Deputy Minister of National Health, said here today. In an address prepared for delivery to the health officers' section of the American Public Health Association, Dr. Cameron reviewed the national health program announcer last winter.

His statement that the country needs 27,000 more beds in mental institutions was based on the estimate that 5.75 beds are required for each 1,000 of the population.

"If requirements are met on the basis of five beds per thousand, there is a shortage of 17,000 beds for these cases," he said. These cases included the mentally ill, mentally deficient and epileptics

Problems Acute

"As in other countries, the problems arising from mental illness are particularly acute in Canada and are complicated by serious shortages of all types of trained personnel and facilities for institutional care," he declared.

"On the basis of one mental health clinic for every 100,000 of the population, more than 100 clinics are still required to meet the need of the provinces.

The health program provides for an initial grant of $4,000,000 for mental health work, with three increases of $1,000,000 at two-year intervals.

"The two most immediate problems . . are the provision of additional beds and the training of psychiatri · and other staffs," he said. "A considerable part of the mental health grant will be required to train the large number of qualified personnal that will be required."

Thieves Steal Torches

MONTREAL, Nov. 122.—(CP)—Discovery that acetylene torches used in the burglary of a Maxville bank were stolen in Montreal indicates the theft was planned in this city, police said today. The safe crackers, who got away with more than $150,000 in loot from the Maxville branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, left behind them the torches used to cut open a safe deposit vault. Police found today the torches were stolen in Montreal Saturday night from the Montreal Welding Company.

Power Cutoff Silences Alarm

BEAMSVILLE, Nov. 12.—(CP).—A power cutoff silenced an alarm siren Thursday when a $100,000 fire broke out in a sulphur-grinding machine at the Bartlett Spray Works.

Hydro officials, notified by telephone, threw in the switches to enable sounding of the siren. Then, just as firemen reached the scene, the power at the plant went off and sprinkling system pumps stopped operating.

The fire, believed caused by a spark from a piece of metal as it went through a grinding machine, levelled all but the office building of the plant which manufactured sprays and dusting powders for the fruit and vegetable crops of this Lincoln county section of the rich Niagara Peninsula orchard aid garden belt.

The plant stood in Clinton township, a short distance northwest of Beamsville and about 10 miles west of St. Catharines.

Creek Almost Dry

The only source of water to fight the fire was a nearby creek, almost dry after the summer's drought. Fire trucks threw suction hose into the creek but leaves jammed their pumps.

Workmen said the fire started with an explosion in the hammer mill. Flames immediately raced through the plant.

Ken MacMillan, 19, in the factory with fellow-workers Garth Notman and Bill Mowat, said he ran to try to shut off the hammer mill but smoke drove him back. Flaming sulphur burned his hands.

Provincial Constable Frank Cooney of Beamsville used the radio transmitter in his automobile to spread word of the outbreak.

"It looked just like a bomb explosion,' he said later. "The first thing I saw was a big balloon of black smoke shooting into the air. Then the flames shot through the roof."

Russia Starts Propaganda Peace Offensive West Plans To Meet It At Every Point

PARIS, Nov. 12—(AP).—High Western-delegation sources said today Russia has launched a new "propaganda peace offensive" around the world. The West, they said, plans to meet it at every point.

One leading delegate to the United Nations Assembly told reporters privately that Russia is exploiting the reported possibility of a meeting between President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin for such propaganda purposes.

He said everyone wants peace and that the reports of the possible Truman-Stalin meeting amount to a campaign to weaken the position of the Western Powers.

The United States delegation to the Assembly, meanwhile, refused to say anything on the reports of a possible meeting of Stalin and Truman. They maintained their position that they knew nothing about it here.

The delegation spokesman would not confirm or deny whether the subject would be discussed by State Secretary Marshall and Truman when Marshall returns to Washington.

Plane Crashes One Makes Shore

LIVERPOOL, England, Nov. 12—(AP).—A twin-engined plane carrying six passengers and a crew of two plunged into the Mersey tidal basin Thursday night and sank. All but one of the eight persons aboard are believed to have been killed.

One survivor, a male passenger, swam ashore. The body of another main was washed ashore today.

The plane, with seven passengers and two crew members, left the Isle of Man Thursday for a day trip to Dublin.

One of the passengers, a young woman, was five minutes late for the return flight to the Isle of Man and the plane left without her.

Because of fog, the plane was unable to land on the Isle of Man and was attempting to reach Speke airfield near Liverpool for an emergency landing.

Two Bucks Battle 7 Hours In Forest

CARO, Mich., Nov. 12—(CP).—Eyewitness reports of a terrific battle between two 200-pound buck deer were received today from two Caro hunters.

Marshall Gerlach and Paul Rowland, hunting rabbits in the Deford State game area near here, watched the two bucks struggle fiercely, their antlers interlocked. Conservation Officer Henry Predmore, who freed the foes by shooting off a portion of their antlers, estimated they had been fighting for seven hours.

One buck, with a 16-point horn spread, trotted away when he was freed. The other dropped, exhausted. In their fight, the deer had tramped underbrush in an area five rods in diameter.

Jet Secrets Given Out RCMP Check

Officials Believe Tip-Off From Outside Want Matter Pressed

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 (CP)—The RCMP are investigating a possible "leak" of information regarding a new experimental jet fighter aircraft on which details and specifications were published this week in a United States magazine.

The aircraft XC-100, is being built at the Malton plant of A. V. Roe Company of Canada.

An official statement from the chief of the air staff, Air Marshal A. M. Curtis today said that if investigations show that an offence has been committed under the Official Secrets Act "the person responsible will be prosecuted."

Officials, it was learned, are concerned not so much with any actual information disclosed in the article as to the manner in which the information was gained. It was previously known that the fighter was being developed and some articles have been written about it.

However, officials are concerned that such a leakage of information might result in some future leak of really important secrets. Employees at the A. V. Roe plant are sworn to secrecy and under the official secrets act are liable to heavy penalties up to several years' imprisonment for divulging information.

Blames Outside Leakage

TORONTO, Nov. 12 (CP) — Leakage of information on Canada's first jet fighter "came from outside the company," Murray Willer, assistant sales manager of the A. V. Roe Company, at Malton, said today.

Although "all possible sources are being checked," he did not believe anyone in the company was responsible for the article in Aviation Week, a United States trade journal. It described alleged details of the Canadian XC-100 jet fighter "nearing completion at Malton."

"It is amazing how complete their information is, but some of it is definitely incorrect," said Mr. Willer.

May Never Walk After Gang Beating

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—Waylaid and beaten by a gang who put the boots to him in Riverdale Park on Tuesday night, Police Constable John Gaw of Dundas St. E Station, may never walk again, Deputy Chief Moses Mulholland said Thursday.

Mulholland announced that two east-end citizens had put up a $300 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the men who brutally assaulted the officer.

Gaw, a policeman for 18 years, was a popular and familiar figure in the east end, and storekeepers and other citizens are intensely interested in seeing his assailants brought to justice.

"He has a bad leg injury below one of his knees. He may never walk again," the deputy chief commented. He said another officer, PC. Duffy of Dundas St. W. division had received a similar injury in a fight two years ago. Duffy had never been able to return to police duty.

British West Indies Discuss Federation

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, Nov. 12.—(CP).—British West Indian delegates met here today to discuss plans for a new federation within the commonwealth.

Representatives of 13 colonies got down to the job of blueprinting a new nation—a Caribbean Dominion in what was once the Spanish Main.

Sir Hubert Rance, chairman of the standing committee on closer association, told the delegates "this conference, recognizing the desirability of political federation of the British Caribbean territories, accepts the principle of federation."

Report Communist Casualties 37,000 Dead, Wounded, Bloody Battle Near Canal

NANKING, Nov. 12 (AP)—Savage Nationalists attacks reportedly routed nine Red Columns at the Grand Canal today in the mammoth Suchow battle. The Communists, pro-government newspapers said, withdrew in disorder, leaving 37,000 dead and wounded. They had tried to sneak 135,000 Tsinan veterans across the canal for an attack on Suchow's left flank, 30 miles east of the government bastion.

(The Communist radio, heard in Peiping, said the Reds were annihilating the Seventh National Army Corps east of Suchow and had cooped up the Second Army Corps west of the town. The Red radio said two National divisions went over to the Communists on Monday north of Suchow).

The fight at the canal was bloody. The Nationalists were credited with turning back more than 20 Red charges. The Reds, reports said, were using what the Chinese call "human sea" tactics waves of men charging almost shoulder to shoulder.

Automatic weapons and low-flying strafing planes took a heavy toll.

More than 1,000,000 combatants have been committed by the warring Chinese factions.

The Roman Catholic newspaper, Yi Shih Pao, said President Chiang Kai-Shek flew to Suchow, 170 miles to the northwest, during the canal battle. This report was not confirmed. But it was obvious that the government was now throwing as many planes as possible into the struggle.

Foreign diplomats in Nanking generally expected Chiang to order the capital transferred southward in view of his decision to carry on what he calls his "eight years of war" against the Reds.

American dependents were leaving in United States transport planes operating from the same busy Nanking airfield used by Chinese war craft. They were being flown to Shanghai and Tsingtao to board ships for home.

United States consular officials urged American women and children at Tsingtao to evacuate because of spreading hostilities.

Although under martial law, life in the capital was almost normal. There was little excitement and no disorders—a sharp contrast from the food riots of recent days.

Big Four Opposed To Airing Of Deadlock On Delicate Berlin Question In Assembly

PARIS, Nov. 12 (CP)—Russia and the Western Powers were reported today to be opposed to airing the delicate Berlin deadlock in the United Nations General Assembly.

Reliable sources said Argentine delegate Juan A. Bramuglia, November president of the Security Council, has asked Secretary-General Trygve Lie not to step into the Berlin case.

Sources close to Bramuglia said he was planning to deliver a similar message to Herbert V. Evatt, Australian external affairs minister and president of the assembly, who has been reported ready to raise the Berlin issue in the 58-member assembly, where there is no big-power veto.

Lie earlier this week had instructed U.N. legal and financial experts to study the Berlin monetary question. This was on the theory that only the issue of making the Soviet zone mark Berlin's sole currency really prevented an accord which would result in lifting the Soviet blockade.

Decree Death On Gallows For Tojo and Six Others

TOKYO, Nov. 12—(AP).—Death on the gallows was decreed today for Hideki Tojo, the cold, calculating Japanese who led his country to ruin in the world's bloodiest war, and six of his 24 top leaders. Life imprisonment was meted out to 16 others, including Marquis Kochi Kido, close adviser to the Emperor. Shigenori Togo, Foreign Minister at the time of the years in prison.

Peg-legged Mamoru Shigemitsu, the statesman who hobbled aboard the United States battleship Missouri to sign the surrender terms in Tokyo Bay, got seven years' imprisonment.

An 11-power court convicted all 25 defendants of war crimes. It sat for more than 2½ years, but took only 21 minutes to read the sentences.

Sir William Webb of Australia, president of the court, pronounced the sentences in a deathly silent and packed courtroom. Each man filed in separately and stood in an otherwise empty prisoners' dock to hear his sentence. Each attempted to subdue emotion, but varied reactions were noticeable.

Bow Politely

Tojo took his death sentence with a wan smile. He bowed politely to the court as did most of the other men.

Seventy-four-year-old Gen. Jiro Minami, former War Minister, seemed befuddled and surprised with his sentence of life imprisonment. Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, former Ambassador to Germany, stood arrogantly as he was sentenced to life and stalked away without the polite bow.

Gen. MacArthur, allied occupation commander, set Nov. 19 as the deadline for petitions in behalf of the defendants to be submitted to him as reviewing officer of the tribunal's decision.

No date for the carrying out of the death sentences was set.

Demand Session On China Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N.H.) today urged President Truman to call an immediate special session of Congress to consider aid for China.

Bridges made the suggestion in a statement issued from his office here. Bridges himself was in Des Moines, Iowa, for a speech.

The Republican senator is chairman of the special "watch dog Congressional committee" on foreign aid. That group was set up to keep check on the multi-billion-dollar expenditure of the United States for foreign aid both in Europe and the Far East.

Bridges said he fears that unless American aid is made effective immedaitely the Communists will take "over the whole of China lock, stock and barrel."

Bridges said, "Those Communist forces now spreading over all of North China are no simple group of indignant patriots," but are controlled from the Kremlin in Moscow, and are part of the world-wide Communist movement.

Unless effective aid is made available, Bridges said, the Communists may even sweep nto control of Nanking and Shanghai.

Crippling Newfoundland Rail Strike Involving 2,500 Workers Has Been Settled

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 12—(CP).—Settlement of the Newfoundland railroad strike, involving 2,500 employees of the government-operated road, was announced today. The strike, which began October 11, was settled on the basis of a compromise offer.

The 2,500 striking workers accepted a Government offer of a wage increase of 10 cents an hour for one class of workers and a jump of $20 a month for others.

Further details of the settlement were not immediately available.

The strikers, members of the Railway Co-operative Board, walked off their jobs to back up demands for a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Basic wage is difficult to determine because of the many pay classes with different classes being paid varying wages. Workers doing the same work in various parts of the colony are paid different salaries.

Report Atlantic Charter To Link 12 Nations In Defence Alliance

Plan Set Up Broad Security Belt From Norway To Italy; Date For Treaty Conference Unsettled

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — (AP). — Five more European countries—Italy, Portugal, Norway, Denmark and Iceland—may be invited to attend an Atlantic defence conference, possibly in December. This word came Thursday from diplomatic officials, who asked that their identity be withheld. The five nations would be asked to send at least observers and perhaps join in writing a "pro-democracy" Atlantic defence union, it was said.

If all decided to participate, it would expand a proposed seven-power defence treaty now taking shape to a 12-nation alliance.

The 12 countries would set up a broad security belt in Europe stretching from the tip of Norway to the boot of Italy in the Mediterranean.

Under present plans, each member would pledge to come to the aid of the rest in the event of attack—providing the legislatures or proper government authorities in each country approved.

Laying Groundwork

Seven key countries already are laying the groundwork for this treaty. They are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Ambassadors representing the five "Brussels Pact' countries are scheduled to discuss defense matters soon with Robert Lovett, United States Under-Secretary of State, and Canadian officials. This meeting may be held in Washington this week.

The date for beginning the treaty conference has not been definitely decided. It may be held in Washington, Ottawa or Bermuda.

Some foreign diplomats feel the conference should begin before Christmas to give the United States administration time to present the finished document to the Senate shortly after it convenes in January.

Any treaty that would materialize would be submitted to the Senate with the belief it fits into the so-called "Vandenberg resolution" passed at the last session.

This put the Senate on record as favoring American Government "association" with regional defense arrangements as a means of promoting the safety of the United States.

Diplomats fully expect Russia to denounce the pact as an example of the "aggressive" policies of the West. But these officials said the United States Government believes one of the quickest ways to make Russia change its present view is to show Moscow the Western powers mean business in their defense arrangements.

Farmers Lose Life Savings

MAXVILLE, Nov. 12 — (CP)— Townspeople and farmers in this community 60 miles east of Ottawa today were counting up losses as police continued a wide hunt for safecrackers who escaped with bank loot estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000.

Some persons said their life savings in bonds and securities had falled to the thieves who cut open a Bank of Nova Scotia vault Thursday with an acetylene torch and cleaned out safety deposit boxes of cash, securities and jewels.

Reports are that between 100 and 125 of the 200 safety deposit boxes were rifled.

A large sedan bearing Quebec license plates gave police their only clue to the whereabouts of the men. The vehicle, reported stolen from Montreal, was found abandoned near Hawkesbury. Police said it was possible the vehicle was used in the getaway.

Meanwhile, Inspector Ward Kennedy of the Criminal Investigation Department, Ontario Provincial Police, Toronto, arrived in nearby Cornwall, to take charge of the investigation.

Reports Persist Howe Trip On Armaments

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 — (CP) — Trade Minister Howe denies it—but reports persist his trip to Washington next week involves the future of Canada's armament industry.

Mr. Howe said in an interview Thursday night he was going to Washington on routine business only. An authoritative source adds Mr. Howe likely will approach United States government officials with the idea of placing orders in Canada for aircraft parts, small vessels and guns.

If Mr. Howe meets with success, says the source, "millions" more American dollars will pour into the country.

But of equal importance, American orders in Canada would provide a shot in the arm to the country's weakening armament industry.

Currently, it was just "plodding" along, producing little for the Canadian armed forces and selling no equipment to foreign countries, except for a "few rifles" to the Chinese Nationalists.

The source said Mr. Howe was particularly interested in reviving Canada's aircraft industry which had slumped since the end of the Second World War.

There was little hope that Canada could compete with the American plane builders, but it could assist in the manufacture of spare parts for American planes.

Besides aircraft parts, Canada wants to sell the U.S. small vessels and naval guns.

Golds Easing Down To Lowest Level

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP) — Prices tended to weaken as the post-holiday session progressd. Golds continue easing down at the lowest level in five years. Industrials were strong at the opening but early gains were washed out towards mid-session.

Base metals slipped from early advances.

Industrials moved ahead briskly in the first hour but fractional gains were wiped out in later trading as steels, foods and utilities dipped. A few papers brightened and refining oils were down from their initial firmness.

Junior golds attracted heavy action for small gains. Senior issues and producers weakened as the price level eased to the worst in five years.

Smelters was ahead fractionally in the industrials but slipped down 1/2 in mid-session trading. Noranda, Slanco, East Sullivan and Hudson Bay were among the losers.

Can't Remain Neutral, St. Laurent Says

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—(CP). — Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, who becomes Prime Minister of Canada next Monday, says that Canada cannot remain neutral in another war because the conflict would swirl around her "very gates.'

Speaking Thursday night to a national radio audience, he said:

'If a third world war should break out, Canada could not be neutral. We are situated right between two great powers, and whether we liked it or not, another world war would be fought a. our very gates.

"It would, moreover, be a conflict not merely between two great powers, but between an atheistic Communist world and our democratic Christian civilization.

He said that war was not "inevitable" but stressed that anyone who believed that war was "an impossibility must be lacking in most elementary realism ".

It must be admitted now that the United Nations had failed to banish the threat of another war. Despite the patience and tolerance of the "genuinely democratics' nations, one of the great powers through "ill-will and constant obstruction" had prevented the establishment of international security and co-operation.

In the face of this growing insecurity, the freedom-loving nations had no course but to combine their strength to face "the menace of totalitarian and imperialistic Communism."

Canada Producing First Jet Aircraft

Toronto Official Worried About Release Of Secret Information

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(CP).—Aviation Week saaid in its current issue that Canada is producing its first pre-jet fighter aircraft.

The magazine, giving no indication of its source of information, said "first details reveal that the Avro Canada XC-100 is a tandem-seat, all-weather fighter powered by two 6,500-pound static thrust Rolls-Royce Avon axial-flow turbojets, capable of a speed of 675 miles an hour."

"The Canadian government has been impressed by the possibilities of the XC-100, which incorporates all the latest ideas culled from winterization and sub-zero experiments carried out by the RCAF in recent years," the magazine added.

The magazine said the C-100, built to RCAF specifications, now is nearing completion at the Malton (Toronto) A. V. Roe Canada, Limited, plant. The aircraft is primarily the work of J. C. M. Frost, British designer, Aviation Week added.

Very Powerful

The aircraft will be one of the most powerfully-armed jet fighters in existence, utilizing four 300 MM. cannon developed from a wartime German design, the magazine said.

"If the XC-100 proves the success that Avro Canada expects, it will be offered to both British and American governments."

The article was accompanied by a simple, perspective sketch of the XC-100, which the magazine described as an all-metal, low-wing monoplane of between 23,000-27,000 pounds, according to range.

The nose portion carries American night interceptor radar, four cannon and a rearward-folding nose wheel leg, the magazine said. The crew of two is protected by an optically flat cannon-proof windshield and a one-piece canopy.

The magazine said a high conventional tailplaine and straight-forward fin and rudder are employed.

Very Disturbed

At Toronto, M. D. Willer, vice-president of A. V. Roe of Canada Ltd., which manufactures the "hush-hush" jet fighter, said Thursday he was "disturbed" that "information has leaked out through United States sources."

Mr. Willer said inquiries were being made into the leak of information. The information is "not all accurate," he added.

Say Atomic Age Increases DangerOfCancer

BOSTON, Nov. 12— (AP) — A peace-time atomic age may bring new dangers of cancer to people who work in industrial plants or live near by— perhaps to all persons— Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute warned today.

He called for a program of prevention and control which would establish a detailed check on such dangers and suggested "industrial cancer detection clinics."

Dr. Hueper told the American Public Health Association.

"It is not unlikely that industrial developments to be anticipated for the near future may add new carcinogenic agents (substances which produce cancer) to the already existing and recognized ones.

"Even greater attention to such hazards should be given if in future years atomic energy should be made available for providing the power needed for the cracking of oil and coal in the production of liquid fuel and other deprivatives to be used by various industries."

Dr. Hueper reported that cancer-causing agents in industrial jobs "have been shown to cause" cancers of the skin, lung, bladder, bone marrow, bone and nasal sinuses.

The danger does not hang over the plant worker alone, he pointed out.

"These agents," Dr. Hueper continued, "have a wide distribution in industry. They may come in contact with the people living in the immediate vicinity of fume zone of the plants or other industrial establishments in which they are used, handled or produced.

"They may become a part of our general environment through their incorporation into foodstuffs medicines, cosmetics, shoes, clothes, and other consumer goods."

REV. CANON COLIN MONTGOMERY, brother of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, and Mrs. Montgomery are pictured as they arrived in Montreal. Headed for Aklavik, NWT, to take over his new post as Canon of the Arctic Diocese, Canon Montgomery will visit Toronto for two weeks first and then visit one of his six brothers, a lawyer, in Vancouver.

Taylor Estate Buys New Dunham Hotel

COBOURG, Nov. 12—(ENS).—Purchased by the Taylor Estate of Toronto, the New Dunham Hotel has been sold by Councillor Fred Bell, who has operated the establishment since November 1, 1945. Mr. Bell bought it at that time from Tommy Evans.

The new owners are Mrs. E. Taylor, Russell Taylor and Mrs. D. Hartnett of Toronto. Until recently they ran the Humber Hotel, and at one time the Taylor family were owners of the Gladstone Hotel in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell will go south for the winter, possibly as far as Mexico, as Councillor Bell is recovering from a serious illness and has been advised to take a rest for a few months. The amount involved in the sale of the New Dunham has not been revealed, but it is said to be in the neighborhood of $70,000.

Cities Shuffling Cutoffs To Save Power

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—(CP). — Ontario communities shuffled cut-off schedules today to bring power consumption within their quotas and Toronto's 700,000 citizens studied a standardized program of interruptions which go into effect next Monday.

Instead of cutting off power section by section across the city, Toronto Hydro officials plan a system of three daily week-day breaks covering the entire 35 square miles simultaneously. The cuts will be for one hour each at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and 45 minutes at 7 p.m.

A. M. Ashworth, general manager of the Toronto Hydro, said the scheme will give a period of uninterrupted supply throughout the working day and also will avoid confusion.

The Saturday Hydro load in Toronto now is nearing capacity, the hours between midnight and Mr. Ashworth said. Sunday and 7 a.m. daily still are available for industry shifts.

Emergency Equipment

Toronto's Board of Education is continuing its search for emergency lighting equipment for its schools. It has spent $20,000 already on the project and is prepared to spend up to $75,000.

Scattered rain showers are reported at some points in Central Ontario Thursday. But word of snow flurries in the north appeared to spell an end to Hydro Commission hopes that heavy late fall rains would replenish shrunken water supplies before winter closed in on the province.

Learn To Cook Early Speaker Tells WA

HASTINGS, Nov. 12—(ENS)—There was a good attendance at the afternoon tea sponsored by the St. George's Anglican W.A. held in the church basement on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. C. Baker president received the guests and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. L. Ballantyne, Toronto, who gave a very interesting address on "An Idea a Day" saying how every step of progress has been the result of an idea put into action, where the big ideas are dynamic, the little ones are important too. They can make our daily routine go smoothly. Mrs. Ballantyne also stressed the importance of teaching girls to cook at an early age.

Miss D. Childs read an interesting poem which was written by Mrs. Ballantyne 25 years ago, entitled, "An Afternoon Cup of Tea."

Mrs. C. R. Spencer sitting at a lace covered table attractively set with yellow tapers and yellow mums, poured tea from a silver service. The ladies of the W.A. served a very dainty lunch.

Cobourg Honors Her War Dead

COBOURG, Nov. 12 (ENS) — In spite of a cold wind, a large crowd attended the annual service at the War Memorial, when the dead of two wars were honored. Legion members from both wars marched to the park, headed by the Cobourg Kilties band, where a service was conducted by Rev. Frank Gilbert of Baltimore.

"God help us if we ever become lax in our remembrance of those whose death was given that democracy would live. We honor here today the dead of two wars which have taken place in our generation and it is the very least that we do when we think of those who did not come back. It would be good if today we could look out on a world at peace but the horizon is troubled and we wonder what the storm will be. We know there are gangster forces in the world today. We saw them before in Germany. Let us give thanks this day for their sacrifice and let us see that it has not been in vain," declared Rev. Gilbert.

The wreath of the Province of Ontario was laid by James Rollings; town of Cobourg by Mayor Joe Smith Legion by George Galbraith; Legion Auxiliary by Mrs. Irene Duncan and for the 139th Regiment of World War One, by Jack Cunningham.

Cobourg Faces Power Cuts

COBOURG, Nov. 12 (ENS) — The CGE plant in Cobourg, which has been using 8,000 kwh daily, has been put on its own quota and will not be added to the power budget of the rest of the town, it was announced yesterday afternoon following a special meeting of the utilities commission which was attended by an HEPC official. However the town's own quota has been reduced from 30,200 to 28,000.

It is frankly admitted by the utilities commission that a serious situation will still remain as, even with the CGE off the Cobourg quota, the town has still been going daily about 2,000 kwk over its own budget of power.

"The people will have to do a whole lot more," commented utilities manager Bill Woods to the Examiner last night. "It looks as if we will have to feeder cut-offs to a longer period and we will arrange this during the present week. However, commencing on Monday, if the town has not met its quota for the day, the current all over town will be shut off from 5.30 p.m. until 6.00 daily and if this is not enough it will be followed by another shut-off in the evening from 7.00 until 7.30. That is the situation. The rest is up to he householders and commercial users."

FREE DRESSINGS

The sum of $5.00 was donated to the diocese of the Arctic and $8 for Sunday school supplies.

The Cost Of Giving Public Service

Every year at this time it becomes embarrassingly plain that there are too few men in Peterborough who are ready to offer themselves as aldermanic candidates and school trustees. The city wants its ablest men to handle public business; it does not want men who simply regard the $500 aldermanic honorarium as a welcome addition to their incomes. Yet it is always difficult to persuade enough able men to compete for these posts, and we do not think that this is because able men are not interested in giving public service; we think it is because it costs a man so much to be a public servant that only men whose business or professional affairs are in an unusually sure condition can afford it.

• • •

Fifty years ago municipal business, even in large cities, was much less complex and demanding than it is now. A man could be an alderman then without taking too much time from the work which provided his livelihood. But now the demands of municipal work are so great that they cut seriously into an alderman's time; and now taxes are so heavy that most men — particularly young men — have to stick closely to business if they do not choose to fall hopelessly behind their competitors. The loss of able young men from our Council and School Board is evidence of this.

• • •

In Peterborough we have had good councils for many years, and we have been particularly fortunate in the possession of a number of citizens whose keen interest in municipal work and whose native talent for it has enabled them to give excellent service to this city. The names of James Hamilton, James Dutton and the late Roland Denne spring at once to mind, and there have been others. But we cannot always rely on the presence and goodwill of such men, nor can we count indefinitely on the service of the twenty-odd men who may be said to run Peterborough at present. We need new men, and young men, and if we are to secure their services we must make it possible for them to give community service without making excessive personal sacrifice.

• • •

One method of reducing the executive burden of aldermen is to secure the services of a city manager. The School Board has taken an allied step in appointing a Superintendent of Schools—an experiment which seems to be working well. We would not think of suggesting that Peterborough should acquire a city manager in a hurry, but we feel that the matter deserves careful consideration. If the administrative work of the Council and its committees could be lessened, and its job confined to determining policies and controlling expenditures, it would certainly be possible for many men to give public service who, as matters stand, simply cannot afford to do so.

The Swishaw

The power development at Des Joachims on the upper Ottawa River is causing some concern (but not enough) among Canadians who have to pronounce its name. We have heard it called "Deswishuns" and the Brantford Expositor suggests "Dejh Wiggums". Frenchmen, of course, pronounce it Des Joachims. But a lot of people seem to be calling it "the Swishaw".

This, of course, is in the Canadian tradition which ignores our supposed bilingualism, and treats all French names with sturdy ignorance. We once knew an Ontario community in which a good many French Canadians lived. His English-speaking fellow citizens called Mr. Desjardins "Jordo", "Mr. Belleau "Bellaw", Mr. Pause "Pozy" and Mr. Boucher "Bushy".

It seems curious that so many Canadians learn French under compulsion in our schools who are apparently incapable of pronouncing a reasonably simple French word when their schooldays are over. Those eighteenth century Englishmen who called the French "the Munseers" had nothing on their modern Canadian descendants.

American Aid

E.R.P. is now in full operation. We set down below the amounts of gross aid which the chief beneficiaries are to receive, in order to remind our readers of the dollar extent of the Marshall Plan assistance—which is coming chiefly from the pockets of American taxpayers. The second column below shows the dollar equivalents of the sums which the members of the Marshall Plan group are to contribute to (a minus sign) or receive from (a plus sign) each other:

MILLION DOLLARS

	Gross Aid	Inter-member	Net Aid
France	989	+323	1312
Britain	1263	−282	981(a)
Italy	601	−20	581
Holland	496	+72	568
W. Germany	514	−9	505
Belgium	250	−207	43
Austria	217	+64	281
Greece	147	+77	224

(a) Less the equivalent of $200 million in sterling balances which Britain will unfreeze in favour of Marshall Plan countries.

The Canadian economy is benefiting heavily. Although 62 per cent. of the American dollars now being spent on E.R.P. are for American food and equipment, the rest is "off-shore" goods bought chiefly in Canada. E.R.P. is therefore a major dollar item in balancing our trade with the United States. During September Canada moved out of the red in her trade with the United States, for the first time since August, 1945.

The Americans are not playing Santa Claus to Europe. They will get some interest on their money. American ships have priority in the carrying trade — this, incidentally, is causing a slump in Dutch shipping. Most of the money is being spent on American goods—which keeps the farms and factories busy. Most of the goods being shipped are expendable. The European countries are not receiving from the States machine tools and heavy equipment with which they can set up factories to compete with American industry. Some of the goods are American surplus of a kind and quantity the recipients have not been particularly anxious to have. Further, the U.S. has insisted that in the first year of E.R.P. 440,000 tons of German scrap steel must be shipped to the U.S.A.—despite Europe's great need of steel. The Marshall Plan was generously conceived; in operation it is not foolish generosity. The U.S. is paying the piper and calling the tune.

Communism's Big Home

Bigness—mere size—can be the fat lady in the side-show. Among nations, however, a huge country is never a side-show; geographical area is important and cannot be left out of the calculations of diplomats, the wagers of war and the commercial exploiters. Small Britain did not become great in power without several millions of square miles of imperial territory. Not the least important aspect of modern Communism is the size of the home base; indeed, the size of the U.S.S.R. makes the qualifying adjective "Russian" more important than "Communism".

The U.S.S.R. has, excluding satellite states but including the so-called 'independent' Soviet states like the Ukraine and Byelorussia, an area of 8½ million square miles. At the rate Russia has been acquiring territory and Britain giving it up, the Russian empire as a political unit will soon be larger than the British empire which is now reduced to about 11,000,000 square miles. Russia is the largest continual land mass within a single state. It stretches uninterruptedly across one-sixth of the world. The British Empire is far-flung, divided among half-a-dozen continents and bordered by dozens of countries. Russia is in two continents and has comparatively few neighbours: Finland, Germany, Poland, Roumania, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, China (including Mongolia and Manchuria), Korea, and Alaska.

The vast extent of Russia increases the monstrosity of Communism.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Toronto man of 37 has married a woman of 90. He likes the experienced type, it appears.

President Truman is reported to be wearing red and blue bathing trunks on his holiday. If any man has a right to this sort of ostentation at present, it is Hairbreadth Harry.

Referring to our recent editorial on "the Soke of Peterborough" the Ottawa Citizen wants to know if it is ever referred to as "the old Soke"? Very likely, but not in our polite, hands-across-the-sea editorials.

A beauty expert says that the backs of a woman's knees reveal her age. And the state of her general health may be judged by her shrieks when she catches you crawling around behind her, peeping at the backs of her knees.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: The other day I saw a composite photograph of the County Council and Wardens of the last several years. The Wardens were all pictured as wearing black silk gowns. Are they putting on the dog, or do they have to wear them? Does our Mayor wear anything special to distinguish his office?

ANSWER: The Warden wears a gown when he has his picture taken. He also wears it when he is sworn in as Warden. The rest of the time he is gownless. The Mayor wears a business suit—no gown, no ermine robes, not even a chain of office. The Warden dons a gown for his picture and inauguration because it is customary, and not because Wardens are vain and like to puff themselves up. The gowning is not clowning, nor merely a matter of being pictured like all the other Wardens whose images adorn the Council room.

In February, 1847 a silk gown was first provided for the Warden by order of the Council. That gown was worn by the gentlemen who successively occupied the position of Warden until it fell apart. Now there is no special gown. When a new Warden is being sworn in, somebody fetches a K.C.'s gown from the hooks in the near-by lawyers' room. It is a service which the lawyers render without fee. I should like to see the custom revived of having the Warden gowned at all times when he is presiding at Council meetings, though the Council would then have to buy the Warden a gown of his own (the lawyers' generosity must not be over-taxed). The gown gives a touch of formality and dignity in keeping with the office. It is also useful for oratorical flourishes and preserves clothes. The wear and tear of Council meetings would be borne by the gown, not by the seat of privately-owned trousers.

DEAR ALPHA: The other day one of the questions on the radio station's quiz program was: "What is the lightest thing"? What is? I mean in weight.

ANSWER: If you mean metal—lithium. The lightest substance is helium, a gas. It is a vulgar error to believe that a feather, conversational hot air or the dancing girl in your arms is the lightest thing under the moon.... Darkness is very light, as light as air, which is heavier than helium. Sighs are always heavy.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR SIR: Will you please let me know through your column where we get the phrase "well-heeled"?

ANSWER: It comes from the United States and approximates the English "well off" and the Australian "well in". The phrase has a mixed parentage. It seems to belong to the boot group which includes "down at the heel" and "on his uppers". It is generally supposed that a person who is hard up, on the rocks or down-and-out has not enough money to keep himself well shod and goes about with worn heels, or even with shoes that have no soles, only uppers. A well-heeled person has enough money to keep his shoes in good repair.

"Well-heeled" did not, however, originally have anything to do with whether a man could afford new boots. The phrase comes from the times when cock-fighting was a major amusement in England. So that the gamecocks would be more vicious, spurs were attached to their legs. A cock armed thus was said to be "heeled". Thus a gentleman who wore spurs could also be said to be "heeled", and only well-to-do people wore spurs. It is in the sense of being armed that "heel" came to the United States. As early as 1755 a man was "heeled" when he carried a revolver. He was well provided for; he was furnished with something for his protection. Other American phrases in this group are "heeler" meaning a political worker (1877) and "ward-heeler" (1888) and the slang phrase "a regular heel" meaning a disreputable, treacherous sort of person. "Heelers", "ward-heelers" and regular "heels" were in earlier American days the type of people who would carry revolvers. Therefore "well-heeled" means a man well provided for, though now-a-days money and not a gun in his protection against the world. "Well-heeled" has been in common use in the U.S.A. for a hundred years.

WHAT is a cocktail?

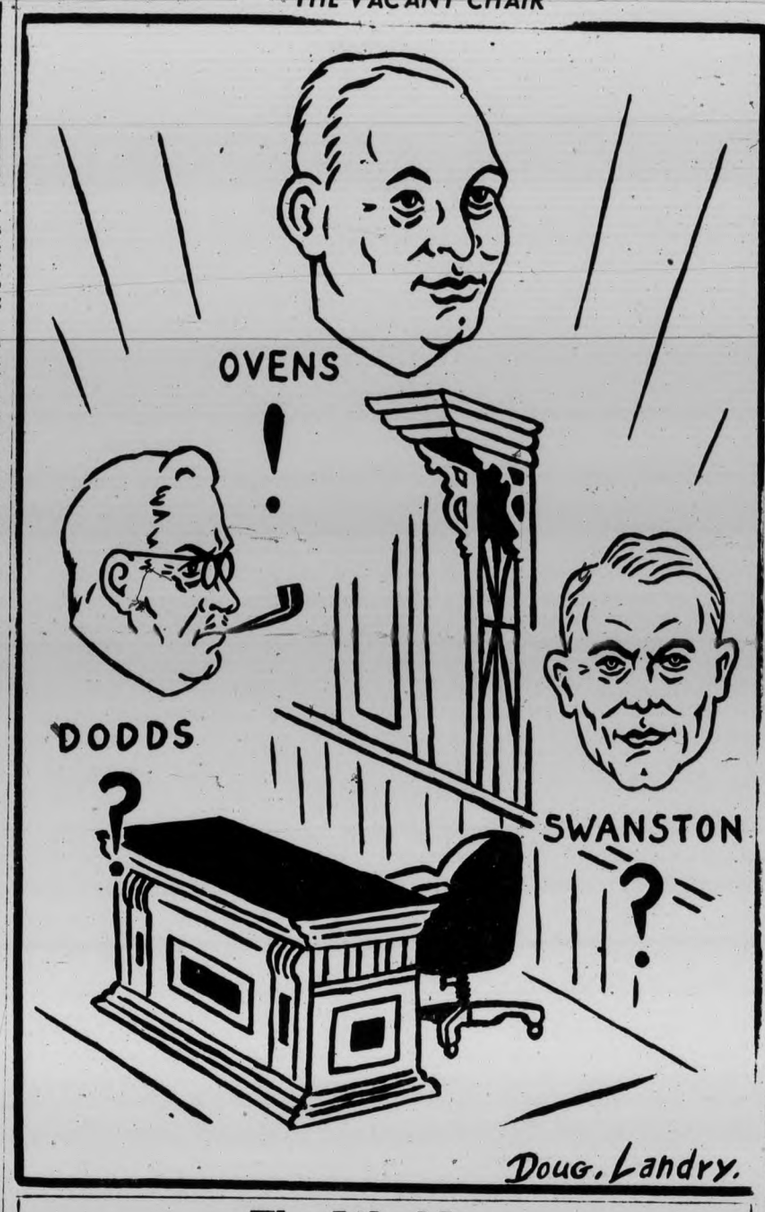
It is a horse with its tail docked like a cock's tail. It is a horse not of wholly pure breed. It is a person passing for a gentleman, but underbred. It is a short drink, iced, of spirituous liquor well mixed with flavouring ingredients. This fourth may be stated in other ways: (a)

A little whiskey to make it strong
A little water to make it weak
A little lemon to make it sour
A little sugar to make it sweet.

or (b) drinks that have all the disagreeability without the utility of a disinfectant.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR ALPHA: Who will choose the name for Princess Elizabeth's child?



ANSWER: Its parents. However since the child may mount the throne some day, tradition and matters of state will be largely influential, as in the naming of Princess Elizabeth herself. It would not do to have the child called Priscilla or Dimitrov. Princess Elizabeth was given three names: her mother's, her grandmother's, and her great-grandmother's—Elizabeth Alexandra Mary. Princess Margaret who was not likely to inherit the throne was named with less attention to history: "Margaret Rose".

The King's Christian names are Albert Frederick Arthur George—a roll-call of British and Germanic royalty, despite his not having been born heir to the throne. His elder brother, the former King Edward VIII and now Duke of Windsor, was christened Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David—Edward for his grandfather and the earlier Edwards, Albert for his great-grandfather, Christian because of his Scandinavian blood (his grandmother Queen Alexandra was a Dane). The four last names are those of the patron saints of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. The child's family name will of course be Windsor.

FOR THE RECORD: When the clock tower and market building were repainted recently—the Victorian doll now looks quite fresh and perky—the city's arms were also repainted. Worth mentioning because few people seem to know that the market building has large wood-relief armorial bearings above the architrave on the George Street side. It would be interesting to know if these arms are registered with the College of Heralds, if not, they have no official status.

THE VACANT CHAIR

The Libel Law

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

IT is much to be hoped that the Government will promise early legislation to put into effect the proposals of the Porter Committee on the law of libel. They are hardly revolutionary, but they mark a great improvement on present conditions. Lord Porter's Committee has not gone as far as many concerned in newspapers and publishing would have liked, but considering difficulty of striking the balance fairly on this most difficult subject its proposals can in general be welcomed as a reasonable compromise. It is noteworthy to see how closely they are paralleled by a study of the same problems by the American Commission on Freedom of the Press. The prime difficulty, as the American Judge Pound said, is that > Although the defendant may be the worst of men.... the rights of the best of men are secure only as the rights of the vilest and most abhorrent are protected.

And newspapers, authors, and broadcasters cannot expect a completely unabridged freedom to say everything they would wish to say without regard to others. The Porter Committee cannot be accused of any desire to limit press freedom, and the effect of most of its proposals is to strengthen the position of the press where it most needs strengthening. On three modern proposals to curb the press the committee stands firm. It finds it impracticable to deal with the "invasion of privacy" through the libel laws and thinks it rather a matter of good taste to be dealt with by newspapers themselves. On the question of "libelling the dead" the Committee refuses to suggest a change which, as it argues, would seriously affect the honest writing of history. On group defamation—false statements vilifying groups or classes distinguishable by race, colour, creed, or vocation—the Committee takes the wise line that it cannot be made an offence without curtailing free and frank political discussion.

Of the Committee's positive proposals one of the most striking is on "unintentional defamation," the libels by slip or oversight or unfortunate coincidence which form the bulk of a newspaper's troubles. The Committee would restrict the plaintiff's remedy to the publication of an explanation and apology, the form, if necessary, to be settled by the Court. Even with all the safeguards proposed this should greatly help to prevent journalists' hair from going grey. On the defence of "fair comment" the Committee tries to overcome the "continually growing rigidity" which over the last half-century has made it harder for newspapers to plead honest comment and the public interest. There are also important extensions of the kind of reports subject to "qualified privilege." These should relieve papers of many terrors in the fair reporting of overseas and domestic public bodies. It is true that "qualified privilege" carries with it the obligation to publish "reasonable letter or statement by way of explanation of such report," but to that "right of reply" there is no inherent objection; the principle is well established. There are many other technical points of great importance but among those of widest interest is the comment on the excessive damages commonly granted by juries in lebel cases. Americans marvel at the figures our juries can think of, and, as the report notes, judges were much more moderate when they were deciding cases alone during the war. Now that the jury system has returned the Committee suggests that the Court of Appeal should have power to review the amount of damages awarded. The Committee admits that the libel law will still have anomalies, but "the basic principles on which it is founded are not amiss," and it is the "rigidity and technicality of the procedure" rather than the principles that gives most ground for complaint. The Committee has certainly gone about its difficult task in a spirit of understanding and fairness that newspapers at least must acknowledge with appreciation and gratitude.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now there was at Joppa a certain disciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas: this woman was full of good works and almsdeeds which she did. And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick, and died: whom when they had washed, they laid her in an upper chamber, and forasmuch as Lydda was nigh to Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent unto him two men, desiring him that he would not delay to come to them.

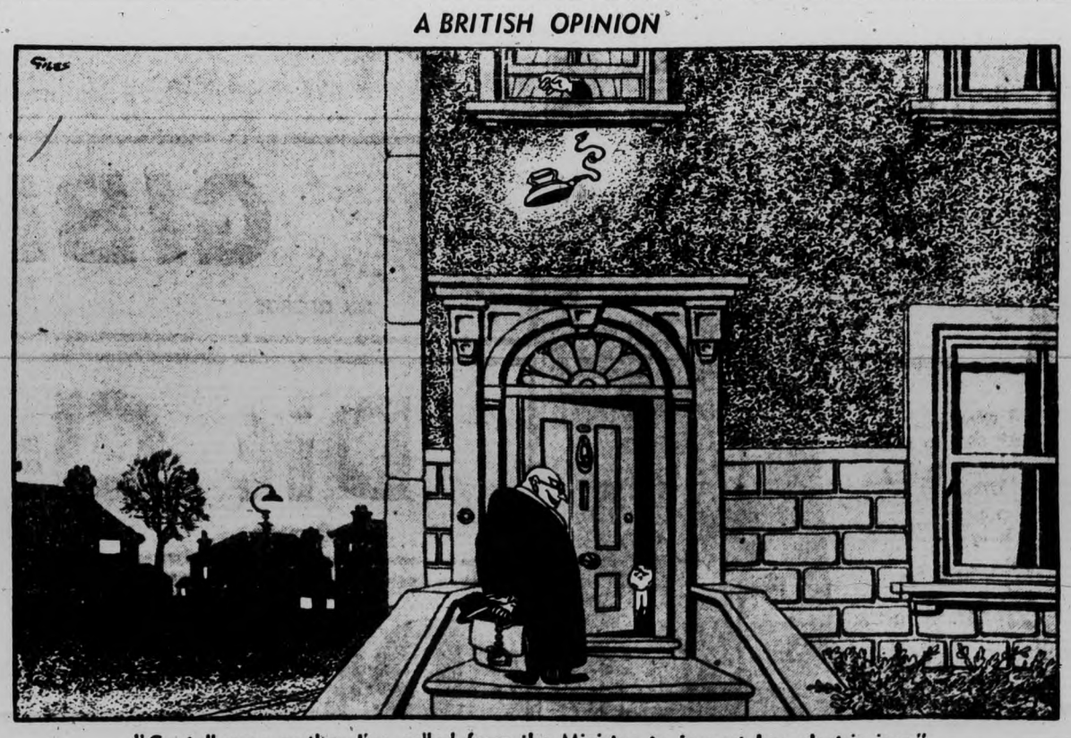
Then Peter arose, and went with them. When he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber: and all the widows stood by him weeping, and shewing the coats and garments which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed: and turning him to the body said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes: and when she saw Peter, she sat up. And he gave her his hand, and lifted her up, and when he had called the saints and widows, presented her alive.

And it was known throughout all Joppa; and many believed in the Lord. (Acts 9: 36-42.)

Letter To The Editor

TENANTS AS TAXPAYERS



Sir: What are "Taxpayer" and "Another Taxpayer" grouching about? There are still three beautiful parks in the city where they can sit quietly by themselves—Victoria Park, Central Park, and Jackson Park.

And by the way, just what is a "taxpayer" or I should say, who are the taxpayers? Every once in a while a letter appears demanding some rights that the lowly tenant should not have and indignantly protesting that they are "taxpayers". We who are unfortunate enough to be the tenants of a certain type of landlord, also pay taxes, but indirectly. If we did not rent their houses where would their tax-money come from? Our landlord has had our rent increased twice in the last year "on account of increased taxes", without a lease, and now he gets another 10 per cent. Who is the "taxpayer" there? We are, not the landlord. Every tenant pays taxes indirectly, so why all the indignant "We, the taxpayers" by a certain type of human being? When the day comes that their houses will be standing empty, begging for tenants (and it has happened before) then only can they call themselves alone "taxpayer".

I remain yours,

"TAX-PAYER TENANT"

Garson Left Holding The Bag On Appeals To The Privy Council

By R. K. CARNEGIE

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 (CP) — Stuart Garson, if and when he becomes Justice Minister—probably next week—will have a ticklish problem placed in his lap right at the start.

It is the abolition of appeals to the Privy Council in London and making the Supreme Court of Canada the court of final approval.

The national Liberal convention last August forced the issue by a plank in the party platform in favor of abolishing appeals to London.

The Privy Council gives judgments on cases dealing with the jurisdictions of the provinces and the Dominion. A month ago it found that the Saskatchewan Legislature was within its jurisdiction in passing a tax law after the Supreme Court had held the legislation ultra vires under the British North America Act. Whether the provinces would fare as well in their disputes with the Dominion, if they could not appeal beyond the Supreme Court here, has been debated for years.

Important civil actions also may be carried to the privy council and several go forward each year.

Before the Second World War C. H. Cahan, Montreal lawyer and former secretary of state, moved in the Commons that appeals to the privy council be discontinued. After a considerable debate, Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, then justice minister, proposed the Bill be referred to the courts to see whether parliament had the authority to abolish appeals without amending the BNA Act. The privy council has since ruled that it has such authority.

There are three views on the matter:

1. Abolition of all appeals to the Privy Council.

2. Restricting appeals to constitutional disputes between the dominion and the provinces.

3. No change from existing procedure.

In the United States, where the Supreme Court in Washington is the last court of appeal, presidents have been accused from time to time of appointing judges known to be on the side of wide federal jurisdiction as against state rights.

Whether there were any basis for these accusations or not, some provinces may insist that before they give up the right to carry their disputes to the Privy Council, they should have some say in the constitution of the Supreme Court.

Since the Dominion government appoints all judges, it would hardly be expected to agree to share with the provinces the right to name the highest judges in the land. The present practice is to name two judges each from Ontario and Quebec, one from the Maritimes and two from the western provinces. There is no law that requires this, but it nevertheless is the accepted rule.

PCVS Go Into Semi-Finals After Rubbing Out Oshawa

By FRED MAYBEE

PCVS juniors defeated Oshawa Collegiate 14-0 at the Oval yesterday in the second game of a home-and-home football series for the right to meet Belleville in the junior COSSA semi-finals. It was the eighth straight win of the season for Coach Alex. Londry's scrappy Collegiate squad who thus qualify to meet the Quinte team at Trinity College field in Port Hope Saturday. The winner of that game will meet the finalists on Nov. 20 here.

Peterborough scored early in the first quarter after working to the visitors' seven yard line against stiff opposition. Warren Brown plunged across the line on second down. A short pass to convert failed to click. Led by Fry and Mozewsky, Oshawa put up a solid front for the remainder of the half to rival the best PCVS could offer as the teams battled for 25 minutes of scoreless football, featuring good defensive play.

Got a Point

At the two minute mark in the third period, Brian Young, who handled the punting, replacing the injured Griffin in both games, kicked a long single from his own 28 to make the score 6-0. Don Griffin made his first appearance and also booted a single point after two passes failed on the Oshawa 30 at the seven minute mark. Before retiring again, Griffin stopped Beaton with a great tackle as the latter intercepted a pass on his own 30 and ran it 35 yards to PCVS 45, there to be downed though Griffin had but one good arm to use. Early in the fourth quarter, PCVS again worked mid-way to the Oshawa line from centre as Knox, Jopling, McIlraith, Burns, Frise, Grant and Jensen continued to plunge well and block effectively. Young hoofed another single from the Oshawa 25. With an 18 point total margin, Al Jensen capped the day with a great one-handed interception of an Oshawa pass on his rivals' 43 and ran through the broken field for a touchdown. Young converted from placement to cross his opponents who apparently expected a passing play or plunge.

This turned out to be the last scoring play as both squads, though tired, fought hard for the final seven minutes. Although good weather prevailed, neither team clicked as well as usual on passes, but the locals concentrated on good ground plays to win this important game and thus showed their versatility under fire.

Herbert Knox played a standout game at middle wing for PCVS and the work of the injured Griffin while on the field was worthy of praise. Every man gave his best in a clean though hard battle in which the better team won. For Oshawa, quarterback Fry was outstanding, while Mozewsky played a strong game on the half line and Walter Beaton and Delby looked very good.

PCVS Juniors —Flying wing, Evans; halves, Brown, Ackford, Gandy; quarter, Young; snap, Frise; insides, Grant, McIlraith; middles, Jopling, Knox; outsides, Burns, Jensen; alternates, Howe, Wood, Langhorne, Foster, Braund, White, Heard, Bigford, Cruickshannkns, Fowler, Facendi.

From far off Australia comes a letter, written by one Bill Brown to W. H. McKinlay of this city. The latter has relatives there and this chap Brown got to know them. Being a lacrosse enthusiast, he wrote here for information on the gutted-stick game, saying "let me know anything about the game as it is played in the home of lacrosse." This year, he captained the Wembley "A" side of a four-team league in his district, having a circuit going there some 10 years, and the team lost out in overtime in the finals. He also captained their state squad (W. Australia) and they travelled 2,000 miles to win a 12-8 game in South Australia.

* * * * * *

We mention this letter in order that some of the local lacrosse officials or players may have the chance of writing Bill Brown. He is pretty high on this lively game and would appreciate any books or even comments on it. Clippings, too, of lacrosse matches here the past season when the Petes again won the OLA senior "B" title. He remarks: "Australia is now approaching summer and, with the temperature about 75 to 80 every day without clouds, you can imagine the wonderful climate we are blessed with." And that's for sure, eh? Bill says they'd have more teams in their district but for a shortage of sticks and the dollar crisis. There you are, lacrossers, why not drop the chap a line? Address 5 Panbbourne St., Wembley Pk., Perth, West Australia.

Birds On The Wing

Local badminton club entertains the Belleville racquet-wielders tomorrow eve in the Market Hall in inter-club fixtures. The new Belleville entry will likely send a strong representation. Local players are in pretty fair shape now after three weeks of work, and Ralph Charlton and Ed Johnson look in mid-season form now. Club is quite strong in ladies' doubles, headed by Marg Baker and Audrey O'Donoghue, Central Ontario champs of the past year. Some 40 new faces seen at the hall lately to bring the club strength up well over a hundred—first time since pre-war days. Saturday's contests include six men's and six ladies' doubles and 12 mixed games. No charge for spectators.

* * * * * *

Following a workout in Belleville on Sunday, Coach Red Creighton will have a better idea of what the Petes will look like in OHA senior "B" competition this coming puck campaign. Right now, he has a number of doubtful starters and some promising newcomers—and it will take a bit of time to see how these work out. Some of last year's regulars are in the doubtful class at the moment, not being sure if they'll play another semester or hang them up. We imagine most will decide to play again as colder weather approaches, also with a real home rink in which to play once more.

Bit Of Doubt There

Three starry veterans who haven't committed themselves as yet are Drake Jopling, Bun Kingdon and Joe Blewett. Drake is still a mighty good defenceman and would be a big help again at the blue line. Bun was second only to Tompkins in scoring last hockey semester and he could well aid one of the lines at centre this winter. Blewett has lost little if any of his speed and was third top scorer for the Petes during the 1947-48 campaign. Three veterans, yes, but with another good season or two left. Both Les Burton and Art Heal have definitely stated they were through, and maybe one or two more of these fine chaps who have shone in hockey around these parts quite a spell.

* * * * * *

As mentioned the other day, Ray Harding will be back in goal. Red Creighton, if needed, will take a turn on defence again. Honey Tompkins has reconsidered and will play again — he's plenty tricky yet, don't worry. Freddy Garvey and Freddy Mortimer are two of the younger fellows who will be regulars again this season, and Terry Gordon (right-winger for Orillia last year) will line up with the Petes. Last spring, Tompkins told us he was through—as did Doug Delaney the recent grid campaign—but we pay no attention to such announcements till the next season. Guys will change their minds. And that's the setup at the moment. Another week and Red will have had a chance to check other players and we'll know more then.

PCVS Juniors Victors

So, it's onward into COSSA playdowns for Coach Alex Londry's junior PCI-ers. They whitewashed Oshawa 14-0 here yesterday to take the group final series 30 to 6. Now they meet Belleville in a sudden-dether tomorrow aft in Port Hope, winner to take on the other finalist here the following week-end in COSSA playoffs. At the Oval yester afternoon, 'twas a hard-hitting scrap with neither side too hot in the air but PCVS going well on the ground. Warren Brown got a try in the first quarter, Brian Young and Griffin got singles in the third—latter made a swell one-armed tackle to stop an Oshawa major—and Al Jensen ran 45 for a try in the fourth, Young kicking two points. These, with Knox, Evans, Jopling, Burns and Frise all stood out.

Simpson's first goal got the Caps in front, but Jack Stoddard and Chuck Scherza scored to put Providence ahead at the end of the first period.

Harvey Fraser made it 3-1 for Providence at 11:49 of the second period, but Simpson counted two goals 67 second apart to tie the score. The Caps went ahead at 4-3 on Pat Lundy's screen shot.

In the third period when Jackie Hamilton scored to tie the count, Johnny Chad put the Reds ahead with a long shot at 5:51, and Bedard got the final goal at 14:12.

Rookie Lands Two Of Rangers Goals

By the Associated Press.

Rookie Sam Casanato played through Fort Worth's first nine games in the United States Hockey League scoring only one goal. But he found the range on Thursday night and poked in two goals to lead the Rangers to a 4-2 victory over Houston.

Freddie Weaver and Sam Kennedy added the other Fort Worth scares The Fort Worth victory gave the winners a tie for first place in the Southern Division with the idle Tulsa Oilers.

St. Paul won from Kansas City 2-1 on the Saints' home ice in a Northern Division game. Kansas City went ahead in the second period on a goal by Johnny Miller, but midway through the third period Hal Brown and Dutch Del Monte scored for the winners.

$12,500 Stallion Arrives For Racing

TORONTO, Nov. 12 (CP) — A $12,500 stallion arrived here on Thursday night, ready for the opening of the Dufferin Park harness racing meet Saturday.

The stallion, the Diplomat, was purchased Thursday by Alex Parsons of Brantford and London from E. J. Haynes of Duquoin, Ill. The Diplomat is expected to race for the first time in his new colors in the $1,500 championship pace Nov. 27.

The five-year-old stallion has been clocked at 2:1 4-5 for the mile and is a half-brother of Ambassador, previous winner of the Hambletonian.

More Punches Than Pucks As Montreal, Boston Win

By The Canadian Press

Even the spectators got in the act in the Montreal Forum Thursday night as police pried the Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks apart.

Things were just about as rugged in the Boston Garden where the Bruins squared off with Detroit Red Wings. Three times players threw away their gloves and started swinging. But there, the staid Bostonian spectators stayed out of it.

When the smoke had cleared the score was 4-1 in both games. Boston won one, Montreal the other.

Detroit's loss kept them on top of the National Hockey League and left Boston and Montreal tied for second place, two points behind Red Wings.

The Boston game was a replay of the Wednesday night game that was postponed by fog and soft ice in the Garden.

Goes For Lach

The Montreal riot started when Doug Bentley of the Hawks threw away his stick and went for Elmer Lach after Lach jabbed Bentley along the boards. Bill Gadsby sailed into Lach and started on some fans after the three were sent to the penalty box.

Lach drew a 10-minute major and an automatic misconduct while Bentley and Gadsby each got majors for the donnybrook that held up the game for 10 minutes.

Detroit came out of the game with injuries to Ted Lindsay and Gordon Howe. Lindsay hurt his ankle and Howe got a battered knee in the final period.

Grant Warwick got an assist and Ed Sandford got a goal for the Bruins to maintain their pace as No. 1 and No. 2 in the league scoring race.

Scoring In Last Two

All the scoring came in the final two periods but the fighting came in the first. Murray Henderson and Gord Howe each got majors for fighting That was the preliminary to bouts between Pat Egan of Bruins and Max McNab of Detroit and Detroit's George Gee and Bruin Fernie Flaman.

Woody Dumart got the first goal and Ken Smith shoved Boston two up minutes later. Milt Schmidt and Sandford tallied in the final while Sid Abel got the Detroit goal in the last minute of play.

Until the Montreal battle started, the only goal was Joe Carveth's tally in the final two minutes of the first period. After the battle there were three quick goals by Norm Dussault, Rip Riopelle and Carveth. Adam Brown scored for Chicago.

Tempers Shot Early

Hawks tempers began to rise early in the game when two goals were disallowed. Jim Conacher tipped in a rebound, just after the blue light had gone on to end the first period and in the second period the puck sailed past Bill Durnan from a scramble just after the whistle.

Toronto Maple Leafs broke up their rookie line as Conn Smythe took advantage of an idle week to figure out why his world champions weren't any higher than fourth in the league standings.

He sent utility man Joe Klukay on to the line with Max Bentley with the third man either left winger Les Costello or right winger Fleming Mackell. Klukay can play either side.

"We cannot afford to have both kids out there at the same time during a tight game," Smythe said.

Alouettes Upset Riders 21-19 In First Of League Playoffs

By The Canadian Press

The work's all done this fall in the Western Rugby roundup, but it seems like only the beginning for some of the clubs in eastern Canada.

Four eastern squads battle it out Saturday in the second game of the eastern semi-finals. There's still a long way to go before one of them meets Calgary's unbeaten Stampeders in the East-West classic for the Dominion championshi ptwo weeks from tomorrow at Toronto.

Stampeders brought the cowtown its first western championship two weeks from tomorrow at ing Saskatchewan Roughriders 17-6 in the western final.

Ottawa Rough Riders, favored to take the Big Four title, were upset 21-19 by Montreal Alouettes Thursday in their first clash of the two-game total-points league playoffs. Alouettes gave away three touchdowns. They twice spotted the Ottawa club leads and came from behind to win.

Alouettes and Riders had split their regular league games this season. But it looked like a walk for the Riders on the first play when Tony Golab intercepted a pass from Montreal's Bruce Coulter and went 30 yards for a touchdown. Alouettes came back into a 12-7 lead, dropped behind again when Golab got another touchdown, then fought their way into a 21-13 lead and stayed ahead.

Golab scored all three Ottawa touchdowns, two on intercepted forwards and once when he recovered his own kick behind the Montreal line. Wilf Tremblay converted three and Howie Turner got a rouge.

For Montreal, it was Big Four scoring champion, Virgil Wagner, who went for two majors. Joey Pal got a touchdown and Ches McCance botted a field goal and three converts, with Steve Nemeth converting one.

The largest crowd — 10,000— ever to see a football game in Calgary nearly dropped through their seats on the opening play of the game when Gabe Patterson went 78 yards for Saskatchewan's only touchdown. He converted it himself.

Patterson made most of the 167 yards Regina picked up rushing. But quarterback Keith Spaith—most valuable player to his team in the western league—went for two Stampeder touchdowns and big Paul Rowe got another one. Fred Wilmot kicked two converts.

Saskatchewan had battled the Stamps to a 4-4 stalemate in the opening game of the playoffs.

BAR U.S. HORSES

United States-foaled horses will be barred from future sales conducted by the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society, it announced Thursday at Toronto. The society's directors voted to permit only thoroughbreds foaled in Canada in society sales. One American-bred yearling was sold in the ring last year.

PICTURE OF WEEK is Princess Elizabeth, shown in this charming pose as godmother for the infant daughter of her lady-in-waiting, the Hon. Mrs. Andrew Elphinstone, will soon be holding her own child. Birth of the royal infant is expected anytime after Saturday. If a son is born, it will be next to Elizabeth in line for the throne, but if a daughter is born she would be displaced by the birth of a son.

This was the way Mrs. Halpenny parlayed 8½d worth of fish into a $332 air line ticket.

Parks Intends To Make Sure He Isn't Typed

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12 (AP)—Far be it from Larry Parks to get typed as Al Jolson's film ego. He is seeking an action story as his next film.

Under his new Columbia contract, Larry gets 35 weeks as a free agent after he finishes "Jolson Sings Again." He wants to use at least part of the time in producing his own picture, which is the only way for a star to make real money in this town.

Despite rising costs, the "Jolson" sequel will cost less than the sensational original. There will be no production numbers. Jolson's voice and Parks' face will have to put over the songs.

Hither and Yawn

Ginger Rogers came back from her Oregon ranch for retakes of her Sarah Bernhardt scenes in "Barkleys of Broadway." The sequence was so good that people thought someone else doubled for Ginger. So she will do some closeups to prove it is all hers.

"I Married a Communist" will pull no punches. It is about life of the San Francisco waterfront and Bay City should find it interesting. One of the writers on the film is Art Cohn, former Oakland Tribune staffer.

Angela Lansbury finally plays her own age in "Samson and Delilah"'— 24-year-old Semadar. The British gal has played a range of ages up to the 45-year-old publisher in "State of the Union." She has done every kind of role except comedy—and she started as a comedienne in New York night clubs.

Capsule Review

"When My Baby Smiles At Me" '(TCF) is a happy reunion of the "Mother Wore Tights" stars. Betty Grable and Dan Dailey shine in the time-worn "burlesque" plot of a show business couple separated by careers and alcohol. Best features: Good back-stage stuff and fine dances by the stars.

By The Canadian Press

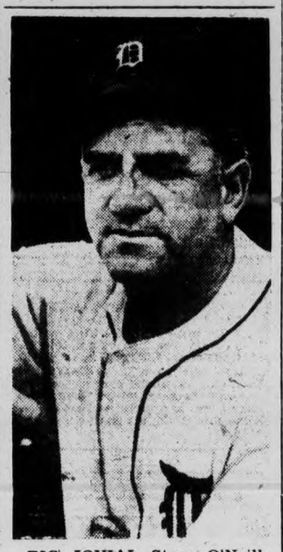
President Conn Smythe of the Toronto Maple Leafs said Thursday night that bickering about amateur player rights could be avoided if amateur clubs accepted a suggestion from the National Hockey League to introduce standard contract forms.

"We offered the amateurs a chance of protection last year," he said in Toronto. "But apparently they do not even trust themselves, judging by my experience in recent weeks."

He cited the case of Danny Lewicki, former Fort William junior star recently released to Stratford juniors. Smythe, who bought professional rights to Lewicki, said he had a letter from the Fort William club saying it did not intend to grant Lewicki his release to any amateur club this year.

"The next thing I knew they were talking money and Lewicki joined the Stratford club," he said. "Stratford paid Fort William $3,500 for Lewicki's certificate and they can force the youngster to play all season without any remuneration.

"Most of the hollering I have heard comes from amateurs objecting to the pros taking their own players."



Western Colts upset Varsity seconds 20-8 at London, Ont., Thursday in their final game in Ontario's Intermediate Inter-Collegiate Football Union. The victory meant little to Colts, since the best they could do was finish third, but it ruined Toronto's hopes of finishing in a tie for first place with Ontario Agricultural College. The Aggies defeated Varsity last week, need only to beat the winless McMaster Rams to cop their second straight title.

J. J. McIntosh, vice-president of the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball club, said Thursday night at Toronto no steps have been taken yet to pick a new club president to replace Peter Campbell, who died Sunday. Acting president Don Ross will represent the Leafs at a meeting of the International League in New York Sunday and probably will talk over the question of a new president with officials of the Philadelphia Phillies, with whom Leafs have a working agreement.

If Ray Robinson defends his welterweight championship in January as scheduled, he probably will meet the winner of tonight's 10-round bout between Kid Gavilan of Havana and Tony Pellone of New oYrk in New York's Madison Square Garden. Gavilan, a flashy Cuban who has taken the best punches of Robinson and Ike Williams and come back for more, rates a 1-to-2 favorite to whip Pellone.

At Mexico City, Henri Rochon, Canada's No. 1 tennis player, Thursday entered the finals of the Mexican singles championship by defeating Anselm Puente of Maxico in a five-set match. Rochon rallied to win the next three sets 4-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-0.

Joe DiMaggio, star outfielder of New York Yankees, was admitted to Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore Thursday night for examinations to determine whether an operation on his right heel is necessary. The slugger underwent an operation at the hospital last year. At that time, a bone spur was removed from his left heel. A similar growth appeared on the other heel during the past playing season.

BIG JOVIAL Steve O'Neill, manager of the Detroit Tigers, has been dismissed after leading the club for six years. O'Neill's replacement may be Stanley (Bucky) Harris.

STAN HEATH OF NEVADA, leading forward passer in the U.S., is playing his last season of collegiate football. Heath, a junior, still has a year of eligibility, but the touchdown ace will be in the market for a pro football contract at the end of the current year. There was no indication of which pro league he favors

Toronto Man Finds Uranium While Prospecting Around Sault

SAULT STE. MARIE, Nov. 12—(CP).—Take it from Bob Campbell, the 34-year-old Toronto man who found uranium on the Lake Superior shore 80 miles north of here, there's a rainbow at the end of every trail.

But the trail that led him to the radioactive deposits in the black rocks near Alone Bay started when, at 18, he took a 10-day prospecting course sponsored by the Ontario Government. It led him through the goldfields of Northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec, to California and, finally, to this district.

While picking up the prospecting skill which helped him find the metal used for production of atomic energy, Campbell learned to keep a secret. He managed to stake 30 claims in the new field before news of his discovery leaked out.

Announcement early this week of the Algoma district find brought a rush of prospectors to the area. By Thursday night close to 500 claims had been staked, mining men said. Staking in the area extends for 14 miles north and south of Campbell's field and eight miles east and west.

Have 50 Claims

Algoma ore properties, a subsidiary of the Algoma Steel Corporation here, is reported to have 50 claims. Some of the best-known mining men in Canada, racing against the onset of the bitter northern winter, are putting finishing touches to their claims

Several of the same prospectors staked claims last summer in a uranium rush to the Coral Rapids section north of Cochrane, in Norther-eastern Ontario.

Mining men say there is a possibility that efforts will be made this winter to start shaft sinking oarepitons on Campbell's property. Most of the claim-stakers expect to delay exploration until spring.

A reference in an old Provincial Government report to the finding of uranium minerals 70 to 90 miles north of the Sault sent Campbell on his luckiest trail. He made his strike on his second day in the Alona Bay area. This is the way he described in his diary the events leading to the discovery:

"Went over several high hills where we had boat wreck... Lake rough.... Came on narrow gorge with steep cliffs and noticed green-rock filling about 40 feet wide.... Wanted to check contacts of this greenish rock with granite (early reports made mention of this.)

"I got some real kicks on the geiger counter (an electronic device used to detect presence of radio-active minerals)... Got rather excited because I believed I had found it.

"Lookd round a bit and checked counts up the gorge... I got some samples of a dark mineral having physical properties ofcar-acite (the pitchblende referred to in early reports)."

PROSPECTORS RACE EACH OTHER and winter to get Sault claims. First discovery was made by Robert Campbell, 34, of Toronto, when he came across some radioactive minerals. Now more than 500 claims have been filed.

Halifax Crowded With Ships, U.S. Ports Closed

By RAE CORELLI

HALIFAX, Nov. 12 —(CP)— Some 2,000 passengers on three re-routed liners spent Thursday night at Halifax and this old port today prepared to extend welcome to two, and possibly three, more orphaned ships diverted from New York.

The 14-287-ton Polish liner Batory—carrying 304 "mysterious travellers" for Southampton, Copenhagen and Gdynia—was tied up here until early today after developing mechanical trouble. She had been scheduled to leave Thursday night.

Lying a few feet from the Batory—and here until Tuesday—the 35,677-ton Mauretania, with a celebrity list including author-traveller, John Gunther and radar trail-blazer Sir Robert Watson-Watt, began disgorging passengers at 8 a.m. today.

Special trains lined pier 21, loading majority of her 1,180 passengers for Montreal and United States points.

Outside the harbor, the liner Veendam, with 550 persons aboard from Rotterdam, awaited departure of the Batory. She is expected to dock early this morning.

Meanwhile, harassed customs and immigration officers readied for arrival of the 26,943-ton liner Brittanic due some time today or early tomorrow with an unknown number of passengers.

U.S. customs officers — flown here Thursday by special plane—pitched in to held Canadian officials straighten out the transportation tie-up.

Striking longshoremen along the eastern United States seaboard caused the wholesale diversion of ships to Halifax, and one source believed the 83,673-ton "Queen Elizabeth" would dock here if the walkout was not settled.

Opera Star Stabbed During Carmen Role

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Raoul Jobin, Metropolitan Opera star, carried on in true theatrical tradition Thursday night despite a wrist stab wound sustained during the third act of Carmen.

Although bleeding from the wound inflicted accidentally by leading lady Gladys Swarthout, Jobin continued on stage but fainted as the curtain fell for the end of the act.

Jobin, portraying the role of Don Jose, was stabbed during a "quarrel" with Miss Swarthout, playing Carmen, after Don Jose had given up his family and his army career to join Carmen and a band of smugglers in the mountains.

Jobin sang the fourth and final act as the audience of 3,800 was unaware of the incident. Later he went to a hospital where five stitches were taken in his wrist.

HIT IN THE EYE by a stray BB shot, 2-year-old Patricia Anne Scholfield, Toronto, still doesn't look too happy about the whole affair even after doctors told her the sight would not be impaired. Yuan Changes Said Hopeless

LONDON, Nov. 12—(Reuters)—Today's official devaluation of China's currency was described in London banking quarters as "a poultice for an earthquake."

Without the most drastic military, political and fiscal reforms, it is felt that this, and indeed any other currency change that might be devised, can be no more than another stage toward the virtual disappearance of the Chinese currency.

Little hope is pinned on the Chinese Government's proposal to buy and sell gold bullion and to circulate silver coins. As things stand, it is said, the silver coins simply will not circulate. Any gold bullion which the government might sell, or any silver coins which it might put into circulation, will disappear into private hoards—because bad money always drives out good.

It is doubted in London whether the Chinese Government will in fact risk any appreciable part of its gold and silver on this forlorn hope. If it did, it was felt the government merely would deplete its own reserves without solving the real problem.

When the "gold yuan" was introduced in August, London was more than skeptical, because it was not accompanied by measures to reform the underlying financial chaos. Without them, no currency reform by itself could do much good.

William J. Shearer Has Large Funeral

LAKEHURST, Nov. 11 (ENS)—One of the largest funerals ever held at Knox Presbyterian Church, Lakehurst, was held for William Shearer. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Kaye, assisted by Samuel Wood.

Mr. Wood paid special tribute to Mr. Shearer as a personal friend as well as a friend of everyone in the community. His unfailing work in the church as elder was an inspiration to the congregation.

A solo was beautifully sung by Mrs. Bruce Hall.

The pall-bearers were cousins of the deceased, Gale Elliott, Bert Easson, Robert Fawcett, Percy Hunt, Hugh Allen and Charles Jones.

The many beautiful floral offerings showed the high esteem in which Mr. Shearer was held not only in the community but in the whole district. The flower-bearers were his nephews: Bill and Bob Gardiner, Bill McKenzie, John, Gordon and Bob Shearer, Harry and Jim Coons, Don Smith, Rollie, Nelson, Clarence, Norman, Carmen's Harold and Allen Coons.

Burial was at Lakehurst Cemetery.

BREAKS OFF PIPE IN FALL

It pays to be careful where you fall these days. Shortly before noon today a workman at Peterborough Lock stumbled and fell breaking off a safety valve of the sprinkler system. Immediately the sprinklers in the moulding room went off and to add to the confusion a fire truck arrived ready to cope with a possible blaze.

LAST POST IN STORE

On Thursday morning shoppers eagerly seeking bargains elbowed, pushed and crowded as they looked for purchases at the opening sale of the new Kresge store. It seemed as though politness and thoughtfulness for others was alien instinct to that mob. But when a bugler sounded the Last Post and Reville promptly at 11 a.m., the clerks and customers froze into silent, motionless figures. It was Remembrance Day.

Alderman Armstrong is a member of the Junior Chamber, and one of the aims of this group is to see that the best young men of the city are available for office. TWO SLIGHTLY HURT

Two persons on a motorcycle were slightly injured late Thursday afternoon when their machine was in collision with a car. The accident, at Aylmer and Brock Sts., involved the car of Philip Stephenson, R.R. 1, Lakefield, and the motorcycle driven by Harry Dunning, 229 Princess St. Harrison Lackie, 40 George St., was riding on the rear of the machine. Both were thrown to the pavement by the collision. Dunning had cuts on his temple and head and Lackie received a cut to the side of his head. Both were treated at St. Joseph's Hospital. PC John Morrow investigated.

SANTA CLAUS IS COMING TO TOWN on the morning of Nov. 23. Besides Santa Claus the parade will have 13 motorized floats, five of them with their own sound systems. Shown at TOP is the "Old King Cole" float being constructed. Outline of his throne is visible; the fiddlers three, flower pots, royal carpet and other trimmings still have to be added. Bottom is another nursery rhyme favorite—the Old Lady in the Shoe. The parade is being sponsored by the Peterborough Business Men's Association, the Chamber of Commerce and other donors.

Santa Claus Is Coming Will Reach City Nov. 23

The morning of Nov. 23 will truly be "Children's Day" for that is when Santa Claus is coming to town. Every year when the Santa Claus parade is held the old and staid folk, and those with weak hearts, are advised to stay at home while the youngest of the younger generation take over.

Thirteen floats, five of them with their own sound system, will be included, and then there is Santa himself. The floats all depict famous characters from nursery tales.

Waving to the girls and boys will be such beloved favorites of infant days as Mother Goose, Peter Pumpkin Eater, Old Lady in the Shoe, Old King Cole, Three Men in a Tub, Jack in the Bean Stack and, of course, Cinderella.

Other floats will be: I Saw A Ship A-Sailing, Bad Wolf, Candy Train, Ding Dong Bell, Elephant Float and Treasure Island.

Last of all will come rotund figure of the man all the children came to see—Santa Claus.

It is believed that all the schoolchildren will be allowed out of school to see the parade. The public schools have already given permission to their pupils to attend. The children will go to their classrooms but will be dismissed at 10 a.m. for the rest of the morning. No word has yet been received to indicate whether the separate schools and the county schools will follow.

The parade, which has been described as "the best ever" in Windsor will arrange for a truck to precede the floats and decorate the streets on the route. These decorations will be taken down immediately after it has been completed.

Total cost of bringing Santa Claus to the city has been estimated at $2,500, and of this sum $1,000 has still to be raised. The parade is sponsored by the combined efforts of the Peterborough Business Men's Association and the Chamber of Commerce. A large number of other businessmen have also sent in their contributions.

As yet the exact route of the parade has not been decided upon but it is sure to pass through the centre of the city.

Chamber Signs 160 Members In Latest Drive

The current Chamber of Commerce drive for new members is rolling along at a steady clip. Since it began a couple of weeks ago membership has more than doubled, jumping from 140 to 300.

Not all the reports from the canvassers who set out to personally interview more than 500 prospects are in, and a number of industrial firms which are eligible for multiple memberships have not return their applications.

James Fraser, manager, said that at least 100 more memberships are expected before the campaign closes. They are for the year 1949.

"We're very satisfied with the progress of our canvassing to date," said Mr. Fraser. These names added to our present membership roll mean that the Chamber will have an opportunity for broader scope and endeavor during the coming year."

"We are very pleased with the calibre of the new membership, and already we have been able to set up new committees utilizing their services," he said.

Board Rejects Amalgamation Health Services

Amalgamation of the Board of Education health service with the Board of Health is to be indefinitely postponed it was decided on Thursday night at a meeting of the Board of Education.

It was stated that the responsibility of the Board was first and foremost to the children and if these services were amalgamated it was feared the present standard would suffer.

The health committee's report was:

"In considering the health services of our public schools and the proposed amalgamation with the Board of Health, your committee is of the opinion that our present system, even though working well, can and should be progressively improved. Our responsibility as a Board is first and foremost to the children under our jurisdiction, and maintenance of the present standard of health service in our schools would be difficult, if not impossible on an amalgamated basis at the present time. It should be pointed out here that your committee does not foresee any intentional lack of co-operation on the part of the Board of Health in carrying out the terms of the proposed agreement. However the physical and economic limitations of the Board of Health do not apply in a like manner to those of the Board of Education.

"Therefore after due deliberation and considerable discussion, your committee would recommend that the matter of proceeding with the agreement with the City Council and the Board of Health regarding school health services be postponed indefintely.

One Dissenter

Talk of this amalgamation has continued for several years. The only dissenting vote was that of W. B. Gordon.

Mr. Gordon contended that the objections which had been raised to joining with the Board of Health were purely "academic."

"We can't place any valid opinion upon any past experience and I am strongly in favor of having an amalgamation for a probationary period of, say, three years," he said. "After that period this Board would be able to sit down and study the facts and figure relating to the amalgamation of the health services."

He said they could then decide upon the facts whether the health services as carried on in the schools under the supervision of the Board of Health is equivalent to standard now maintained by the Board.

"If the Board of Health is able to maintain these health services as efficiently as the present Board of Education then," Mr. Gordon said, "the amalgamation should prove most satisfactory and it would be a financial saving to the taxpayers of the city."

Other recommendations of the Health Committee included having T.B. tests in the public schools and in Grade 9 of the Collegiate and Vocational School; that an examination of children's teeth should be included in the preschool medical examination, and that study should be given to the possibility of engaging extra help to assist in dental work.

Buy New Bugles

On the recommendation of the Superintendent K. S. Wightman, the Board decided to buy new bugles for the PCVS Cadet Corps. Total cost would be $1,076.25 but this would be spread over three years in annual payments of $476, $300.25 and $300.

H. A. Craig, Chief Cadet Instructor, said that the old instruments used by the band are beyond repair and the ones that were previously borrowed from the Armouries are no longer available.

A sum of $25 was granted to the Girls' Athletic Association who have rented the pool at the YWCA to give instruction in swimming, life saving, diving and ornamental swimming.

Payment was authorized for accounts of $6,090.68 and $47,846.

The Board also approved the request of City Clerk E. A. Outram that the schools be used as polling booths on election day. This means that classes will be dismissed at 10 a.m. on the first Monday in December.

Speaker Raps Businessmen For Not Marking Nov. 11

"The trouble of our world today is that we are not applying our memories of the past to the problems of the future." This was the keynote of an address by Lt.-Col. G. M. Fitzgerald of Orangeville, guest speaker at a banquet of 300 ex-service men and women Thursday night, marking Remembrance Day.

"We must correct our mistakes of the past, remember those errors which led to the horrors of war which all veterans know. There is no sense in merely remembering if we don't do something about it."

Col. Fitzgerald spoke of "the subversive element we have in our country today," terming it a special challenge to the Legion.

"It is only natural, in a country of our size, that many more people must enter it if we are to expand. It is our job to see that these people are truly Canadianized."

"It is a situation that we must realize and face and accept. We have a duty towards those people. The government has a primary responsibility in seeing to it that law and order are observed, but without individual effort and help, these people can never be really Canadians. We must devise some system whereby we can make them feel at home in this country and have a strong desire to become part of it. It is the best way to defeat the efforts of those whose propaganda is of a subversive nature."

The speaker, representing the Ontario Command of the Legion, extended greetings to the Peterborough members from the central body.

He was critical of the "reluctance" of most plants and places of business to close in observance of Remembrance Day. Mentioning that the objections to this course offered were that production was disrupted because of absenteeism after the day, he suggested that the day be observed on the Monday closest to Nov. 11. This should correct that condition, he felt.

"We have no difficulty in getting them to close New Year's Day, the First of July, even Boxing Day, and yet this day sometimes passes unnoticed. They would not have the privilege to be open at al if it were not for the sacrifices which this day signifies." The comment brought heavy aplause from the audience.

Speaking of 'the challenge of the War Memorial service and the notes of the Last Post being sounded," he asked if often, "we can truly say we are doing all that we have pledged to those who did not return."

Colors Piped In

The banquet, held in the Legion Hall, opened with the marching in of the colors, piped by Piper Harry Keith. The colors were carried to the front by Mervyn Williamson and Ned Heffernan.

Col. Fitzgerald made the presentation of a Past President's badge to Paddy Burke of the Peterborough Branch. Mr. Burke, in his reply, remarked on the outstanding success of this year's sale of poppies, he emphasized the value of the Legion's loan service to veterans through the Poppy Fund.

Harold Yelland, president of Legion Branch 52, expressed thanks for members assisting in arrangements for the observance.

Mayor William Ovens of Peterborough, representing the city, wished the Legion all success.

"We are living in troubled times and we need a strong veterans' organization to keep the peace for which you boys fought."

Rev. C. J. McCarney, speaking of the fight against the subversive elements of today, said: "You have met them before in war and you can meet them as well in peacetime and defeat them."

Also seated at the head table and making brief addresses were: Hon. Harold R. Scott; Judge Sheldon Smoke Rev. W. J. Gilling, MBE; Gordon K. Fraser, MP; Arthur Wagstaff, zone commander of the Legion; George McNabb, 1st vice-president; and Lewis Durkin, 2nd vice-president, who was master of ceremonies.

Miss Louise Hall, vice president of the Elizabeth Smellie Branch 452 of the Legion, expressed thanks of that women's veteran group for being accepted into the organization.

The turkey dinner served was by the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion.

Parents Ask For Bus Service

Residents of the city residing in the Downer's Corner area petitioned the Board of Education on Thursday night for support in securing a school bus service. At present, many of the children who are quite young, and just starting to school have to walk to the King Edward School. This is a long walk without sidewalks for much of the distance and along a busy provincial highway

The petition mentioned a service which was being given by the Keene bus, but said that these busses often left the children standing on the corner. The petition which was presented by G. Wilson Craw was referred by the Board to Superintendent K. S. Wightman for study to see what the Board of Education could do

Power Savings In City Are Encouraging

With an average of 212,500 kilowatt-hours for the last four days, Peterborough does not have to worry about Hydro penalty of pulling switches and otherwise compulsory saving of electricity.

According to the daily report from Utilities Commission, the local register Thursday showed 214,000 kwh. as against he 229,700 kwh quota. Lindsay is bewailing Hydro blackouts, clamoring for action by their Utilities Commission who are simply middlemen manager, gave at one of the recent and selling to local consumers.

Blackouts are reported from all parts of the province.

Peterborough has managed to avoid the Hydro restrictions. Office managers, store managers and the families in their homes should think of the explanation which J. E. Girven, CGE assistant works manager, have at one of the recent power consumer meetings. The company is producing electricity from its steam turbine plant, burning coal to get this extra energy, and thereby help the Utilities Commission and the community as a whole in the struggle against Hydro blackouts.

This is a voluntary contribution by CGE, and when it is remembered that this power is obtained at increased cost it would be most unfair for anybody to waste it.

Peterborough can have uninterrupted power by the co-operative method that has been yielding results so far. The people can keep up this good work by daily thoughtfulness around their own homes, guarding against lights and appliances using any power that is not needed.

The average last week was 235,600 kwh. This morning the average is 212,500 for four days. Today will have to be included before the figure for the week is known.

This morning Peterborough and the Utilities were in a comfortable position.

W. B. Gordon To Retire From Board Pressure Of Business Makes Step Necessary

Increasing responsibility in his law practice is requiring W. B. Gordon to retire from the Board of Education at the approaching end of his two year term as trustee.

"The Board has come through a heavy year's work, and I have found that it takes a great deal of one's time," Mr. Gordon said "I believe that young men should be ready to offer their services to the public, and when elected to put forth their very best efforts. That is what I tried to do. In the meantime the work in my office has increased to the point where I feel that I cannot do justice to both. In that position, my first duty is to my practice, and Iahve decided not to seek re-election."

Mr. Gordon said he had enjoyed his association with the members of the Board of Education, and was greatly impressed by the careful manner in which they carried out their duties.

"My experience has given me a more informed appreciation of the extent of the work of our school trustees, and of the attention which they have to give to it, especially when new building has to be undertaken as the Board had to do in the enlargement of Queen Mary school. I am also chairman of the Recreation Commission, and I have found that I simply have to let something go."

Mr. Gordon said he was grateful to the citizens for the opportunity they had given him of serving on the Board.

"I am not giving up the idea that I may be able to try my hand at another election possibly in the next two or three years."

Wrecks Train In Order To Rob Dead

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 12.—(AP)—A 30-year-old farmer convict Thursday signed a statement admitting he wrecked a train so that he might get money by "searching the pockets of the dead and injured," District Attorney W. Arnold Forest announced. Two persons were killed in the wreck.

Forrest identified the man as James M. Johnson, Negro, of Pocomoke City, Md. He will be charged with murder, Forrest said.

The wreck occurred May 9 at Valley Forge. A coroner's jury held that the tracks were deliberately tampered with in an attempt to wreck the train.

Forrest said Johnson served seven years in prison for attempting to derail a Pennsylvania Railroad train at Stanton, Del., July 8, 1940.

Forrest, in announcing solution of the case after a six-month investigation, said Johnston not only signed a five-page confession, but "re-enacted the crime so realistically" that police are certain they have "the right man."

Questioned as to his motive for derailing the Allentown-to-Philadelphia train, Johnson said he hoped to get money by "searching the pockets of the dead and injured," Forrest related.

Killed in the wreck were Buck L. Demmy, 51, the engineman, and Howard Jackson, the fireman, both of Allentown, Pa. No passengers were hurt seriously.

Ex-Wife Sticks With Barrow

NEW YORK, Nov. 12—(AP).—Counsel for 19-year-old Ralph Edward Barrows, charged with slaying a Montreal textile executive, said yesterday the youth had received a telegram from his former wife, pledging to do all she could to help him.

The lawyer, Samuel Segal, said the telegram expressed belief in Barrows' innocence, and concluded, "with all my love, Carmen." A telegraphic money order accompanied the message. Segal said Barrows' former wife was about 31 years old.

Barrows is accused of the slaying of Colin Cameron MacKellar, 56-year-old general sales manager of Dominion Textiles Ltd., in the latter's suite at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

The youth's mother, Mrs. Yvonne Barrows Burdick, said her son and his former wife had lived together for about a year. Then Mrs. Burdick had the marriage annulled. "She is a sweet girl and the telegram plus her pathetic little bit of financial assistance proves it," Mrs. Burdick said.

Look Them Over First

DURHAM, England. Nov. 12 — (CP). — "Don't fall in love with the picture she has painted on her face," is the marriage advice given to boys by Rev. E. H. Patey youth chaplain to the Bishop of Durham. To girls he said: "See what he looks like when he is just home from work." And to both boys and girls he said: "Make sure you don't meet your in-laws for the first time in the vestry—after the wedding."

ISRAEL'S OBJECTION to giving Negev to the Arabs is not political or based on consideration of prestige but practical, because such a division of Palestine would prevent a solution of the immigration problem, Dr. Bernard Cherrick, director of organization and information of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, said in an interview in Montreal recently. Dr. Cherrick, who was born in Dublin and educated at Manchester and London Universities, explained that all of Palestine contains only 10,000 square miles, of which roughly half is the dependent Jewish state of Israel.

Consider Moving 100,000 People From W. Indies

By STUART UNDERHILL.

LONDON, Nov. 12 — (CP). — A commission which looked into the possibility of moving some of the West Indies' surplus population to British Guiana and British Honduras says it can be done —if resources of the mainland countries are developed to provide work for new settlers.

The commission's report suggested 100,000 persons, including 25,000 adult workers, could be shifted over a number of years. The report now is being studied by the Colonial Office, which will decide whether or not to act on its recommendations.

The report says that inequalities in population clearly support migration plans. The British West Indies have a population of 2,250,000 although their area is less than that of British Honduras, which with British Guiana supports less than 500,000.

Communications Poor

The chief difficulty in any large resettlement program is the absence of communications on the mainland, although both Honduras and Guiana have untouched forests and land suitable for agriculture.

There were limited possibilities for Europeans in the fringes of Guiana's Kanuku Mountains and the Cayo district of Honduras..

Recommendations for Guiana include large-scale banana plantations, exploitation of forests, cocoa plantations, and development of the cattle industry. In Honduras a sugar plantation and refinery are suggested, along with dairy farming and further development of cocoa, citrus and banana plantations.

A 10-year development scheme along these lines for Guiana would cost between £7,400,000 ($29,600,000) and £14,900,000. For Honduras the corresponding figures would be £7,200,000 and £10,000,000.

The destruction of houses unfit for living is being carried out by Jewish authorities as part of a slum clearance program in the Haifa area. In this section more than one hundred houses have been knocked down to make room for modern buildings.

15 Nazi Prison Guards Hanged For Killings

MUNICH, Nov. 12—(AP)—Fifteen former guards at the Mauthausen concentration camp were hanged today for slaying more than 4,600 wartime prisoners, including 47 British and American airmen.

They had been convicted by a United States war crimes court of exterminating prisoners by various methods, including shooting, hanging, beating, trampling, drowning, suffocation and injections.

Thirteen of those sent to the gallows this morning were S. S. (Storm Troops) men. Two were former prisoners convicted of turning on their fellows.

Hitler Balcony Torn Down For Red Statues

BERLIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—The Russians are tearing down the last reminders of Adolf Hitler in Berlin and even closing the hole in the ground in which he is believed to have died.

Rising in the place of Hitler's buildings and monuments are memorials to Prime Minister Stalin and the Red Army. The Russians are using all the best materials from the left-over Hitler structures for memorials of their own.

The last major relic of Hitler, his massive Reich Chancellery, now is being torn down in the Soviet sector of the city.

The unheralded project was part of a program of ruin removal in the central district of Berlin. The order was to tear down or dynamite what remained of the government building which Hitler himself designed with the aid of Albert Speer. Along with it goes the balcony from which Hitler used to address admiring crowds.

Long ago the fine Italian and Bavarian marbles were dismantled by the Russians for use in construction of Soviet Army war memorials in this conquered city. They also took the fine woodwork.

The Russian-controlled Berliner Zeitung said the chancellery debris will be used to fill up the cavity left by the blowing up of Hitler's spacious private air-raid shelter in the chancellery garden.

It was in this underground shelter that Hitler and Eva Braun were believed to have committed suicide, along with the entire Goebbels family, in the last days of the Battle of Berlin.

The shelter was destroyed last year, but it left a hole in the ground in the midst of a garden long gone to ruin.

Fly Produce To Market PEI Farmers Find It Pays

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I., Nov. 12 —(CP)—The farmers of Prince Edward Island believe they have firmly established themselves in the field of flying produce to market.

The practice got started in 1940 when an airport opened at this Northumberland Strait town of 6,500 and trade with United States bases in Newfoundland began when the U.S.A. entered the war.

Skymasters of the U.S. air force make thrice-weekly runs into Summerside to pick up farm produce, mainly dairy supplies. The flights have been dubbed the "milk-and-butter run."

Even Fly Cows

One Summerside dairy alone ships 2,400 quarts of milk a week. As an indirect result of Summerside's flying trade, American planes have also started to call at Sydney, N.S., for additional supplies.

Even live animals—including cows—have been flown into Newfoundland but Island farmers have no fear that sizeable dairy production can be built up in the old colony, thus cutting down on their own income from this source.

As they see it, Newfoundland hasn't got the necessary feed for large dairy herds and any perceptible drop in the dairy market will be more than offset by the demand for feed. Islanders figure they just can't lose.

Another possibility for development loomed when a Summerside firm announced it had perfected a method whereby it could can live lobsters—and keep them alive in tins for six days.

That means lobsters can be canned here, flown anywhere in Canada and still be alive and fresh when opened. The method of canning is a closely-guarded secret.

Prophets Often Threatened People With God's Wrath

Scripture—Amos 5: 21-6: 6: 7: 10-17; Micah 4: 1-5; 5 2-4; 6: 6-8.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Every age and every country has and always has had its wise men. In Biblical times, the Hebrew called them prophets, and their wisdom came direct from Jehovah. Sometimes they uttered prophecies of things to come; and on other occasions they exhorted their people to righteousness. These pleadings were combined with threats as to what would follow if their warnings were not heeded.

In ancient Babylon many schemes were devised in attempting to determine the future, especially in relation to war, conquest, and the expansion of the kingdom. The Greeks consulted oracles. Today we call our prophets statemen, and we listen to them and have more or less faith in what they say, according to our personal analysis of their characters, experience and knowledge.

In Africa even today, and among our own Indians, medicine men are thought to be wise ones, with mystic powers to heal, inflict punishment or to prophesy future events.

MEMORY VERSE

"Let justice roll down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream."—Amos 5:24.

Amos, who prophesied about 785 B. C., was a herdsman of Tekoa, but Jehovah called him from his labors to prophesy to His people Israel. Amos lived in the reign of King Jeroboam.

Amos' message was one of exhortation, calling upon his people to repent of their evil ways and return to the real worship of their God—instead of merly going through empty forms and ceremonies. The Lord would punish them, be threatened, unless they demonstrated their religion in their lives and obeyed Jehovah.

The Lord told him, Amos said: "I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies" (the Bible frequently speaks of the odor of sacrifices arising to God).

Though ye offer Me burnt offerings and your meat offerings I will not accept them; neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

"But let judgment run down as water, and righteousness as a mighty stream." He threatens the Israelites with capitivity unless they mend their ways, for they follow after strange gods and live lives of luxuary and hypocrisy.

Amaziah, priest of Bethel, resented Amos' prophecies, and sent a message to King Jeroboam accusing Amos of conspiring against the king, and of prophesying his death by the sword, and the captivity of his people.

Amaziah wrote that he had told Amos, "O thou seer, go flee thee away into the land of Judah, and there eat bread and prophesy there: but prophesy not again any more at Bethel: for it is the king's chapel, and it is the king's court."

Amos answered Amaziah, saying that he was not formerly a prophet, nor the son of a prophet, but a herdsman, when the Lord called him to prophesy.

Quite unafraid, Amos told Amaziah that it was useless for him (Amaziah) to tell Amos not to do as the Lord ordered, and that Jehovah had told him that Amaziah's wife would be unfaithful, his sons and daughters should die violent deaths and he himself should die in a foreign land.

The Prophet Micah— one of the so-called minor prophets—was a native of Moresheth, and lived 50 years after Amos. Micah, too, threatened the Israelites with dire happenings because of ther wickedness and luxurious living.

Micah also prophesied that "in the last days" the Lord's temple would be built on top of the mountains and people of all nations would come to it to worship —a prophecy that seems improbable of fulfillment at this time in a day of violent dissensions.

He also told of a time when men should "beat their spears into plowshares," and there should be no more war. "But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig tree; and none shall make them afraid."

"What doth the Lord require of thee?" asked Micah, "but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."

N.Z. Chief Ready For Royal Visit

LONDON, Nov. 12 — (CP). — Mingling with crowds throughout London is Police Chief Jim Cummings of New Zealand, here to study methods of ensuring the safety of the King and Queen during their tour of Australia and New Zealand next year.

Cummings confided that "back home whenever there is a big murder hunt on, I join the boys. I just can't stay out of it."

Cummings says this is because he "came up the hard way." He joined the New Zealand force as an ordinary constable and won promotion by study and staying on the beat longer than he was required to. Later, as a detective inspector he gained a reputation with us," he said, "but I don't expect trouble."

French Designs Stress Waistline And Hip Interest

PARIS—(AP)—Schiaparelli and Marcel Rochas are showing season collections which stress tight waists, hip interest and spike length at around 12 inches from the ground.

Both French fashion houses exploit a silhouette which is gradually gaining in popularity. It comprises a tight-fitting sheath, reaching to just about the knees, with a deep flounce attached to the hemline.

Schiaparelli indulges in eccentric designing but her exquisite color sense is her saving grace. Rochas displays a steady run of chic and wearable numbers.

Hip interest is evoked with kangaroo pockets, double peplums and double pocket flaps. Schiap's shows a clerical gray worsted suit with a basque which bulges in front to reveal an underbasque of dove gray velvet. Rochas, on a rose satin evening dress, uses curved godets finishing in pocket flaps at midhips level.

The tubular silhouette is used by Schiaparelli for a crimson satin evening dress. It comes strapless, fitted skin-tight, and has three deep-tiered flounces wired at the hems to make them flute out.

Rochas uses this silhouette, with one flounce only, on a black velvet mid-calf length cocktail dress. A luscious silver fox is laid around the bottom of the sheath and looks as though it were attached to the hem of an accompanying three-quarter-length fitted coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Clubs Compete In "Olympic Games"

Guests of St. Paul's Mr. and Mrs. Club, at their meeting Wednesday evening, provided an original and one of the most entertaining programs yet enjoyed. The Mr. and Mrs. Club of Mark Street United Church, with Mr. Ken Kidd as leader, had conceived the idea of conducting Olympic games. They were run exactly as the regular international game and opened by torch-runner Max Pomeroy.

The crowd of more than 70 was divided into four "countries" and each appointed a captain and a judge. For pandemonium it was Capt. S. Lockington and Judge C. Easson; for Eureka, Capt. Howie MacDonald and Judge Lloyd Rowland; for Petrolia, Captain Jim Anderson and Judge Gordon Minty and for No Mustachio, Captain George Coleman Jr., and Judge V. Smith.

Citizens of each "country" composed their own National anthem and sang it in competition. Games went under the headings of those regularly scheduled as "100 yard dash," but in this case it meant slashing a long strip of paper. The "running high jump" was won by those hitting the highest musical notes, and the events continued thus. Points were given and the country with the highest total received a "cup."

Max Pomeroy offically started each contest with the "crack" of his gun, and the Rev. A. M. Partridge kept scores. Members of each "country" wore distinguishing badges, and competition was very keen.

A short musical interlude preceded the games in which Mrs. A. E. DeNure contributed piano solos and Mrs. L. McLaren two vocal solos. All joined in a bit of community singing.

The guests were received by St. Paul's Club president, Mr. Tom McMillan and Mrs. McMillan. At the close they served refreshments with Mrs. Herb Hewitt in charge.

During a brief business meeting, the report of the nominating committee was presented.

70 DP's Enjoy First Big Party With YW Members

First big party of the Displaced Persons who have come to live in Peterborough and district took over the YWCA recreation room Thursday evening. The arrangements were made by committee of two representatives from each of the classes learning English at the night-school, and the plans were completed when this group met for tea at the home of Mrs. J. W. Bowen, who with Mrs. R. R. Baker and Mrs. Don Loucks, gave some assistance.

About 70 of the group were of Polish, Dutch, Latvian, Lithuanian and Slovak extraction, and most of their conversation had to be interpreted to the 30 Canadians representing YWCA staff and groups, by Miss Nell Schell, who is from Holland. In announcing one of their contests in particular, there was considerable detail to the instructions, but it was finally recognized as the old-time game of "wink." The girls also included group singing and entertained with some national songs. Mrs. McBride was pianist.

Doug Landry of the 20 Plus Club displayed his skill at character sketching on the blackboard, and this group also conducted spot dances. Refreshments were served with gym, swimming club, and residence girls assisting the staff members.

As the guests were leaving, it was pleasing to hear such comments as "awfully good time," "lovely," "enjoyed it so much" in a variety of accents. Those not expected home early stayed an extra hour to talk together, and several out-of-towners could not bear to break away, so they remained overnight in the city.

The DP's expressed a desire for a club group of their own, and Miss Leta Brownscombe, general secretary of the YWCA, invited them to come each Thursday evening.

Home and School News Association

ST. JOHN'S SCHOOL.

The meeting of St. John's Home and School Association was held Tuesday in the school auditorium.

Interest was stimulated previously by the announcement that the meeting would feature "Parents Night." The opportunity to meet the teachers and visit the classrooms was eargerly anticipated, and consequently the meeting was well attended by interested parents and friends.

Mrs. Bernard Holland, president was in the chair. Mrs. Wilfred Jones was introduced as the new treasurer.

Reverend Sister W. Gainer addressed the members for the first time since taking over her duties as principal at the beginning of the school term.

She expressed pleasure in the reception given her since coming to Peterborough and in the interest shown by everyone in all phases of activities concerned with St. John's school. Referring to the desire of the pupils to make a favorable display for the evening, Sister M. Garnier said "It is all very much typical of their everyday effort, and the teachers are pleased with their pupils, and hope parents will be proud of what has been achieved."

At conclusion of the business part of the meeting the parents visited the classrooms and took the opportunity to meet teachers and discuss the welfare of their children.

Tea was served in the auditorium during this period by Mrs Maloney and her committee.

DOROTHY DIX

Mutual Adaptation Required If Marriage Is to Be Happy

DEAR MISS DIX: Should a wife go out with her husband when she would rather stay at home and read of an evening? My husband and I have bitter arguments over this. He contends that we should make a mutual effort to please each other, even though our preferences would dictate otherwise. I feel that it is not necessary for husbands and wives to deny themselves in their personal comforts and and pleasures in order to please their mates.

Dorothy Dix

What is your opinion on the subject?

MRS. O. S.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I think your husband is right, and that it is only by husbands and wives making a never-ending effort to adapt themselves to each other and to please each other that marriage can be made a success. The idea that people will go on loving each other, no matter how thy treat each other, simply because they are married, is all wet.

Mutual Sacrifices

Quite the opposite is true. If husband and wives keep in love with each other, they have to do everything in their power to make themselves attractive and agreeable to each other, and this is only done by hard work and many sacrifices of one's own personal taste and desires.

I think that the husband and wife should cater to each other. I think that if a woman knows that her husband is particularly fond of certain dishes, she should set them before him—no matter whether she craves them or not. If he wants her to be dolled up of an evening when he comes home and ready to step out when he says go, she should do it—even if she would prefer pilling up in bed with a good book.

And I think that a husband should be equally willing to gratify the whims of his wife, and that these mutual sacrifices bring them closer together and promote companionship between them.

It is because husbands want to do one thing and wives another, and neither is willing to give in to the other, that separates so many married couples and makes them as much strangers to each other as if they spoke a different language. The wisest thing that any husband and wife can do is to make life pleasant and agreeable for each other. That keeps the divorce lawyer away from the door.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am in love with two men. One is lazy and the other is industrious. Sometimes I feel that I am more in love with trifling one, but I can't make up my mind. What one shall I take.

NORA T.

ANSWER: Neither. No heart is big enough to contain two great loves at the same time, and it is only a great love that justifies marriage and makes it worthwhile. As long as you are undecided between two men, it shows that you have no great affection for either. When you really do fall in love, you will know which man is it, and you will not consider the possibility of marrying anyone else. The very idea of having to spend your life with another man will seem a fate worse than death.

You say you think you prefer the lazy man. Take it from me that you will not be crazy about him long if you marry him, for there is nothing that disgusts a woman so quickly as for a man to be just a no-account.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a woman of 26, cultured and attractive. I love children and a quiet home life. I have had many men acquaintances, but not one of them actually has asked me to marry him.

Now this is what I would like to ask you: Shall I sit down and wait for some man to chase me, or shall I do the chasing.

MARGARET

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I believe that Heaven helps those who help themselves, in getting married as in everything else in life. So if you want to be a wife, my earnest advice to you is not to depend on any miracle being wrought in your behalf, but to get busy corralling a man yourself.

Pick out a man you like and go after him as you would any other good thing you desired. If you don't, you are likely to have "spinster" engraved on your tombstone.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, November 13

It is fortunate that on this day the mind is attuned to the reflective, analytical, substantial, and practical, since there is an augury of the strange, erratic and unreliable in the feelings and emotions. These are keyed to intensity, and a wilfull determination to indulge such fancies, desires and inclinations. There may be all sorts of lures, snares or temptations to wean from the "straight and narrow" pathway. It would be easy to be duped into hazards with funds.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year calling for the utmost vigilance and watchfulness against subtle snares and temptations, in which the feelings and emotions are in the lead, urging to all manner of subtle indulgences and gratifications, with menace to reputation and integrity. Yet the mind is capable of good judgment and common-sense conclusions if permitted to hold against emotions. Loss of possessions, funds and prestige are possible.

A child born on this day, may have inner conflicts between the mind and the emotions, with ability of choice as to which are to be served. Heavy penalties may follow sordid drives.

Princess Plans To Share Baby Layettes

LONDON, Nov. 12 — (AP) — A record baby shower for Princess Elizabeth's baby may overflow into many humbler British homes.

The Princess has let it be known she would like other babies arriving the same day as hers to share many hundreds of layettes given to her by loyal subjects and admirers the world over. The birth of Elizabeth's baby is expected some time this weekend.

In London alone it is estimated that at least 350 to 400 babies will be born this weekend.

Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, may share their baby presents with 100 or more of that number.

A similar course with wedding present was followed by the Princess when she was married last November. Overwhelmed with gifts from all over the world, she gave away some two dozen frocks and suits to other November brides of her own age.

Organized Groups

Months ago, even before Buckingham Palace confirmed reports that a royal infant was expected, women of Britain and the Commonwealth lands started making nursery clothes and organizing Elizabeth clubs.

The idea caught on, particularly in Australia and New Zealand which the Royal family expect to visit next year. Sydney has sent 500 baby garments, hand made and embroidered. Melbourne, Brisbane and other cities are contributing also.

From donors close to home have come lamb's wool and kid leather baby shoes, fancy shawls and crib cover, embroidered silk and knitting wool.

An American firm is rumored to have offered daily diaper service by air, each diaper to bear the royal crest. Much as Elizabeth might appreciate the offer, it no doubt will be turned down.

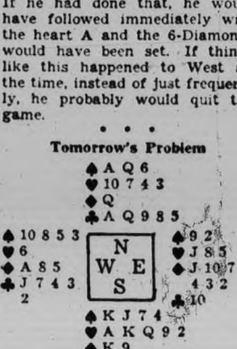
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

KNOW YOUR REPUTATION

YOUR REPUTATION consists really of two ingredients—what others know about you plus what they think of you. The two items do not necessarily coincide. The smart bridge player knows what his opponents think of him and he also should know some facts about himself which they don't know. One of these consists of his ability to make use of their opinion of him to throw them off the track of successful tactics.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	2 ♠
3 ♣	Dbl	Pass	4 ♣
5 ♦	6 ♣	Pass	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	Pass	Dbl



North knew that his opponents were completely familiar with his trick of bidding a suit whose lead he desired to prevent. So, when he called the clubs, they promptly showed him up by means of the double from East, the bidding of the suit taken by West and the eventual supporting of it by East to small slam. When North, who by now had supported diamonds to a game, went all the way to small slam in the suit, West felt sure he had the winning formula. It was to lead the club suit whose lead North was striving to prevent. He laid down the A in it.

West was so certain North had a couple of little clubs that he was flabbergasted when he saw the dummy's void in the suit. South of course ruffed that trick in dummy and discarded on it his singleton heart. Then came a terrific cross-ruff, with the dummy trumping spades and South ruffing hearts, until after a little while the hearts were set up. South then merely played them until West decided to take his diamond A on a ruff, the only trick his side got.

Imagine West's frame of mind when it was pointed out to him that his own side could have overbid the diamond slam with 6-No Trumps. North also chided him for not laying down the diamond A at the start and taking a look. If he had done that, he would have followed immediately with the heart A and the 6-Diamonds would have been set. If things like this happened to West all the time, instead of just frequently, he probably would quit the game.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

If North bids 1-Club and East 1-Diamond, what bid would you favor in the South?

Canada Ships Bombers To Chinese

Largest Arms Cargo Being Loaded At Port Of Vancouver

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—(CP). — A government spokesman said Friday night a large shipment of bombers, purchased by the Chinese Nationalist government, was on its way to China.

There were reports the shipment contained 150 bombers as well as surplus RCAF aircraft parts to be transported across the Pacific from Vancouver.

Meanwhile, there was no official comment on a Shanghai report that China would abandon its $2,000,000 "Mosquito bomber" program Monday.

The spokesman said military equipment—which includes Canadian rifles—being shipped to the Chinese Nationalist forces was "surplus to Canadian requirements."

Load Explosives

VANCOUVER, Nov. 13.—(CP). —Longshoremen Friday night began loading 5,000 tons of explosives used for making shells and 30 Mosquito bombers aboard the Canadian freighter Islandside, bound for Chinese Nationalist forces at Shanghai.

The arms were purchased by the Chinese government throughout its Ottawa suply mission.

Spokesmen here said the cargo is the largest arms shipment ever to leave Vancouver. The sailing date was not announced.

Weary Coolies Fight

NANKING, Nov. 13. (AP)—Weary coolie soldiers on both sides fought on today in the great Suchow battle that may decide the fate of the Chiang Kai-Shek government.

All-out air support of the government forces, locked with Red troops in a vast battle of more than 1,000,000 men, was hurled into the struggle.

Across the flats and chocolate waters of the bisecting Grand canal the battling men fought.

Both sides claimed a margin of victory. Both charged to the other huge losses in men and material.

Government sources said the Reds had been stopped cold west

LINKING THE WHOLE SYSTEM, official opening of the final radio station of the Ontario Provincial Police was held on Friday afternoon in No. 8 District Headquarters at Charlotte and Park Sts. Seated before the microphone sending his message of opening to listening stations and radio cars all over the southern part of the province is Ontario Police Commissioner W. H. Stringer, OBE (Right). Standing (Left to Right), watching the ceremony joining the vital crime detection communications setup are: Inspector E. V. McNeill, commanding officer of No. 8 District; Cpl. L. T. Keeler, in charge of radio communications for the district; and Inspector T. H. Trimble, in charge of the OPP radio branch.

Radio Opening Completes Provincial Police System

As the split-second timing of a dial turned over Friday afternoon to exactly "2 p.m.", the final link of the Ontario Provincial Police radio communications system officially went into operation. In the headquarters of No. 8 District at Charlotte and Park Streets in Peterborough, Ontario's Police Commissioner William H. Stringer, OBE, sat before a neat control panel in the radio room before a group of interested officials and visitors to declare "V.G.3.U." on the air.

The ceremony marked the official opening of the province's 11th —and final—radio station in southern Ontario and completes the network spreading along the lower part of Ontario from Windsor to Cornwall and as far north as Burke's Falls.

Hear Replies

Efficiency of the police set-up was demonstrated at the opening. Before turning the microphone over to the Commissioner, Cpl. L. T. Keeler, in charge of radio communications for No. 8 District, sent out a call of attention to "all fixed stations and cars . . . "

After the Commissioner's words the various units of the system were heard as they replied from all sections:

"Commissioner's message received loud and clear . . . "

The stations reported in turn: "Belleville . . . Cobourg . . . Lindsay . . . Niagara Falls . . . Queen's Park . . . Perth . . . Car 817 . . ."

Police officials from many centres of the district were present, as well as those from Peterborough's judiciary. They examined with keen interest the equipment which forms a part of the intricate web of airwaves joining law enforcement detachments of the provincial service.

The radio system was described by Commissioner Stringer as "one of the most effective factors in crime detection in our whole force." He pointed out that its value had already been shown on

British Writer Gave Out Secret About Jet Plane

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP) — The RCMP today were searching for an unknown person who divulged secret information on Canada's new pure-jet aircraft now under construction at Malton near Toronto. And Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, chief of the air staff, hopes when the person is found, there will be a charge under the Official Secrets Act placed against him.

The air chief said Friday he was certain there had been a leakage of information. It was "very upsetting." The RCAF was "most anxious" to prosecute the persons responsible. A prosecution under the official secrets act could be used "as an example to snap anything of this sort right now."

Aviation Week, in its Nov. 1 issue, identified the man who "broke the story" as Charles W. Gain, a British aviation writer, now on his way back to Britain.

The magazine said he wrote the article as a result of a tour of the plant of A. V. Roe Limited, where the fighter is being produced. Officials of the company would neither confirm nor deny that he visited the plant.

A Toronto aviation editor says Mr. Cain did not have to make the visit to write the story. He was expert enough to "look at a blueprint or assemble stray bits of gossip to duplicate on paper a fairly accurate replica of the machine."

Jail Guarded After Tip-off

MONTREAL, Nov. 13 (CP) — All was serene at Bordeaux Jail today but police remained on the alert after receiving a tip underworld sources that an tempt would be made to free Donald Perreault and Douglas Perreault, due to stand trial next week for the bank-robbery slaying of two policemen.

During the night extra police and detectives took over at the jail. All were heavily armed.

Other squads moved through the city and rounded up five members of a gang with which it was believed Douglas Perreault and Donald Perreault once operated.

The five were taken to headquarters for questioning. One of the men taken to cells was said to be the leader of the gang.

Police were frank in saying they believed the tip about a possible attempt to liberate the two men charged with the policemen's slaying was valueless. But they said they wanted to take no chances.

Fears Attlee Upsets Unity

LONDON, Nov. 13 — (AP). — Winston Churchill expressed fear today that Prime Minister Clement Attlee's attitude toward western European unity "will exercise a depressing effect upon the movement."

In an exchange of letters published today, Attlee retorted that the Government had taken the lead in promoting the western European union.

The correspondence revealed that Attlee had refused to appoint Conservative Party leaders to the British delegation to join France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg in drafting plans to strengthen the western European union.

Worthless "Gold"

MONTREAL, Nov. 13—(CP)—Police today held George Leclert, 51, on a false pretences charge and said he had represented five bullet-shaped hunks of bronze as gold and sold them for $5,200 to Jacques Poirier. The bronze was worth $6.25.

Entrust Tsaldaris With Government

ATHENS, Nov. 13. (AP)—King Paul today entrusted Foreign Minister Constantin Tsaldaris with a mandate to settle the Greek government crisis. This is tantamount to formation of a new cabinet.

Tsaldaris now will confer with Themistokles Sophoulis, who resigned as premier Friday, and possibly other political leaders. If Tsaldaris and Sophoulis agree, the foreign minister is expected to ask the king to call upon Sophoulis to form a cabinet.

It appears that if Sophoulis and Tsaldaris reach an agreement Sophoulis again will head the cabinet which will be reshuffled.

Tsaldaris, leader of the Populists, Greece's largest political party, returned from Paris following Sophoulis' resignation on Friday.

Held In Rustling

CORNWALL, Nov. 13—(CP).—Two district men are in county jail here on charges of cattle theft following investigation into the activities of what is believed to be a large-scale rustling ring. Arrested were George Armstrong and Kenneth Jackson, of Matilda township in Dundas county. At least 27 cattle have been reported stolen in Winchester, Mountain, Matilda and South Gower townships.

Report Four Robbers Came From Montreal

MONTREAL, Nov. 13 (CP) — Police said today they had established that four men who robbed the Bank of Nova Scotia branch at Maxville thsi week, of cash and bonds valued at $200,000 were from Montreal.

The automobile they used to escape was stolen in Monttreal the night before the robbery. It was learned that the acetylene gas tanks used for the blow torch to pierce the iron doors of the vault were stolen from the Montreal Welding Co.

The auto was found abandoned near Hawkesbury, after the robbery and police believe the robbers made their way back to Montreal by train.

City detectives here are cooperating with Ontario and Quebec Provincial Police in the search. Several suspects have been questioned.

Halifax Port Madhouse As Ships Jamming Harbor

HALIFAX, Nov. 13—(CP). — While an impatient old lady loafed through the Atlantic and striking United States longshoremen tied up piers from Maine to Virginia, Halifax today was becoming the most harassed, booming port on the eastern seaboard.

Latest arrival, Cunard White Star's Britannic, was shunted into Pier 20 this morning by tugs on the heels of the departing Holland-America steamship Veendam. The 26,943-ton British ship carried 900 passengers from Liverpool.

Railway officials kept special trains on the move, carrying passengers from pier-side on the first lap of their 36-hour jaunt to New York. Lining up and loading from dawn to dusk and throughout the night, the shuttle is continuing its wartime intensity.

With arrival of the Britannic, nearly 3,000 passengers have piled up here in the past three days.

Some 1,180 aboard the Mauretania, which sailed out of a Remembrance Day drizzle, have been cleared and are well on their way. Customs and immigration finished checking the Veendam's 550 re-routed persons on Friday night and today they board the Brittanic.

Tuesday night—slightly ahead of schedule — the veteran Aquitania disgorges another 1,800 passengers at Pier 21. She will dock as soon as the Mauretania weighs anchor. The four-stacker is proceeding at reduced speed some hundreds of miles off here, awaiting her turn at this old port's strained facilities.

A harbor official said the 83,673-ton Queen Elizabeth is due to sail from Southampton Wednesday, and will arrive here Nov. 21 —providing New York is still strikebound. Her sister Mary sails a week later. Each usually carries 2,000 passengers.

Evatt Makes Appeal On Berlin

Say Crisis In Germany Chief Obstacle To East-West Peace

PARIS, Nov. 13.—(AP).—A Security Council committee approved today a plan apparently intended to demilitarize virtually all of southern Palestine's Negev desert.

Britain, the United States, China, France, Belgium and Colombia supported the plan, submitted by the acting mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche. Russia abstained.

The Negev desert, originally assigned to the Jews under the United Nations partition plan of a year ago, has been the scene recently of fighting which resulted in Israeli victories over the Egyptians. Count Folke Bernadotte, the assassinated mediator recommended before his death that the Negev be given to Arab Palestine.

Personal Appeal

The president of the United Nations Assembly and the U.N. secretary-general made an urgent personal appeal today to the political leaders of the United States, Russia, Britain and France to settle the Berlin dispute at once.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian foreign minister, who is president of this assembly session, and Trygve Lie, the secretary-general, offered their good offices to the four big power in efforts to solve the dispute. Their action was without precedent in the U.N.

The two invoked the recent Mexican resolution, approved unanimously by the Assembly, which had called upon the big four to do all possible to settle all their differences.

The Evatt-Lie letter said in part:

"Every day that the deadlock over Berlin continues, the danger to the peace and security of all national continues undiminished.

"Fear of another war is crippling the effort of all nations to repair the damage of the last war and return once more to the ways of peace.

Work Delayed

"The work of the General Assembly and of the United Nations as a whole in every field of endeavor is being delayed and undermined."

Evatt and Lie told the four leaders it is within their power to end this danger to peace.

"We therefore respectfully urge upon the government of France, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the United Kingdom and the United States . . . the desirability of immediate conversations and of taking all other necessary steps toward the solution of the Berlin question, thus opening the way to a prompt resumption of negotiations for the conclusion of the remaining peace settlements for Germany, Austria and Japan."

Strikers Kidnap Three Policemen

PARIS, Nov. 13 (AP)—Rioting strikers attacked a government-held coal mine in South Central France today and kidnapped three policemen.

In Paris a Communist-called 24-hour strike stalled virtually all municipal subway and bus lines, forcing workers in this city of 4,000,000 persons to walk to their jobs.

Fighting broke out at Brassac-Les-Mines, 25 miles southeast of Clermont Ferrand, Communist hotbed, where one miner was killed and scores of strikers and police hurt during the coal strike, now in its sixth week.

Communist Labor leaders called the tie-up in answer to what they termed police brutality in the Armistice-Day clash between police and demonstrators on the Champs Elysee. Authorities said 95 police and 45 demonstrators were injured in the outbreak.

The strike was far from being as effective as the Communists had desired, however. By midmorning gas pressure was low, but mail was being delivered and many stores were open.

Believed Electrocuted

WHITBY, Nov. 13—(CP). —The body of a 32-year-old woman patient at the Ontario Mental Hospital here was found yesterday in a room housing part of the hospital's air-conditioning unit. Officials said they believed the woman, missing since June 6, touched live wires and was electrocuted.

Elizabeth Goes To Dinner Party Amazes London

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(CP). — The whole town is talking today about Princess Elizabeth's night out.

To everyone's surprise Elizabeth, whose first-born is expected this week-end, went with her husband, Prince Philip, in his car to dine with friends in fasnionable Belgravia.

For some three hours the royal couple was entertained at the residence of Lord and Lady Bradbourne, about a mile from Buckingham palace.

Lady Bradbourne, the former Lady Patricia Mountbatten, elder daughter of Earl and Countess Mountbatten, is a close friend of Elizabeth, who was a bridesmaid at their wedding.

The royal couple made the trip without a police escort, but a Scotland Yard detective kept a close watch outside Bradbourne House.

The princess wore a black evening dress and a fox cape and was hatless.

A crowd soon gathered in front of the house. When the couple left shortly before midnight, a cheer went up. Elizabeth smiled gaily and her husband waved to the bystanders.

In expectation of the royal birth, the king and queen, who usually spend their week-ends at Windsor Lodge, plan to remain at the palace. Princess Margaret, who inspected a group of Girl Scouts in Nottinghamshire Friday night, was expected to be away over the week-end.

Princess Elizabeth had not made a public appearance in weeks until Friday. Then she stood for a time at her third-floor window in Buckingham Palace to watch the colorful ceremony of the changing of the guard.

Princess Elizabeth's doctor, Sir William Gilliat, visited her Friday and said the 22-year-old princess is in excellent health. Sir William is standing by in London this weekend, waiting for a call to Buckingham Palace.

Russia Asks U.S. Publicly If Not Preparing Pearl Harbor Against USSR

Vishinsky Charges American Air Force Man Lists Plan To Use Atom Bomb Against Key Soviet Centres

PARIS, Nov. 13—(AP).—Russia asked the United States before all of the United Nations today "You are preparing a Pearl Harbor for the Soviet Union, aren't you?" Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky declared heatedly on the UN political committee that "the European part of Russia—this heart of Russia—is being aimed at."

Vishinsky said Lt.-Gen. George C. Kenney of the United States Air Force wrote in the magazine Newsweek last May 17 of a plan to use the atom bomb against Moscow and other key Soviet cities.

Cite War-Mongering

The Newsweek article was the subject of two other blasts from Moscow earlier this year. On June 9, an official Soviet note complaining of alleged American war-mongering cited the Newsweek article. A week previous, the Soviet member of the Allied Council for Japan wrote to Gen. MacArthur saying the article contained "insolent slander" about Russia.

The magazine said then that the article simply reported military thinking at the time in both Washington and Moscow. The story described how the United States air force would operate and how the Russians probably would operate "if the Russians suddenly went berserk and swept into Western Europe."

Chinese Air Force Stops Using Mosquito

SHANGHAI, Nov. 13—(AP).—The $2,000,000 China air force "Mosquito bomber" program will be abandoned Monday without ever having done much damage to the Chinese Communists.

Fred Offord, De Haviland test pilot from Annapolis Valley, NS, and eight other De Haviland personnel have been ordered home.

Offord said Chinese pilots simply were not ready "for such hot airplanes and there is no place in this war to use such planes."

Of 137 Mosquitos tested and turned over to the Chinese, he added, 60 crashed in training, and 40 others were grounded because the Chinese were unable to keep them in operating condition. Four more were lost on combat missions.

No Definite Plans

PARIS, Nov. 13—(AP)—State Secretary Marshall of the United States said today he has made no definite plans to resign.

Navy Recruiting Centre Razed By Flames

MONTREAL, Nov. 13 (CP)—A brief but fierce fire early today gutted the interior of H.M.C.S. Donnacona — naval recruiting centre on mid-town Drummond street—and for a short time threatened to spread to the large Drummond Court Apartments adjoining until firemen, answering two alarms, mastered it.

The first alarm was turned in at approximately 1.30 a.m. The second followed in a matter of minutes. Thirty-five minutes later the blaze was under control although firemen continued to pour water on the blaze for another two hours.

Capt. A. Warwick, officer commanding the centre, said there was a duty watch in the building, once the Inter-Club Skating Rink, but he had no idea as to how the fire started.

65,000 Dockers Swell Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—An east-coast longshoremen's strike swelled to full-scale proportions today, immobilizing a large part of the ocean-borne commerce of the United States.

Some 65,000 dock workers at ports along 700 miles of coastline from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va., were ordered off their jobs, as of midnight Friday night.

The official strike call was sent out by Joseph P. Ray, president of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL), after he said members had voted "overwhelmingly" to reject proposed wage terms.

With port operations numbered by the strike, the American Association of Railroads clamped an embargo on the shipment of nearly all export freight destined for Boston and the huge port of New York.

The embargo was expected to be expanded to include other American port cities as the strike, which began spontaneously in several major ports four days ago, spread.

The walkout threatened to paralyze the multi-million-dollar Atlantic shipping industry, and stem the regular flow of Marshall-Plan aid to Europe. Foreign vessels in United States ports also were affected.

Ryan, who said the need for calling the strike was a "national calamity," said stevedores would refuse to load or unload any cargoes, except mail and supplies for army ships.

Campbell Takes Over As 14th Man. Premier

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13. (CP) — Douglas Lloyd Campbell, Manitoba's Minister of Agriculture since 1936, today was scheduled to take office as 14th premier of the province, succeeding Stuart Sinclair Garson, who has headed the coalition government for more than 5½ years.

A caucus of coalition supporters —42 of the 55 members in the provincial legislature—named Mr. Campbell premier-elect last Sunday.

He was to be sworn in immediately after Mr. Garson tendered his resignation to Lieutenant-Governor R. F. McWilliams — a ceremony set for 11 a.m. CST.

King Keeps Press Guessing On New Cabinet Make-up As He Says Farewell In Job

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP)—Enigmatic to the end, Prime Minister Mackenzie King today left all hands guessing on the makeup of next week's new cabinet after saying farewell to colleagues and newspaper men. Bidding goodbye to the parliamentary press gallery, he said almost—but not quite—enough Friday to indicate that a good-sized cabinet shuffle was in the making. Reporters, trying to interpret his remarks on the procedure involved in his resignation next Monday, found themselves up against the familiar and tantalizing job of pinning down just what Mr. King actually meant.

What he said in his final press conference was that, after Justice Minister St. Laurent is asked formally to head the Cabinet, he will go to Government House on Monday afternoon with his list of Ministers if he is able to complete it in time.

If there is no shuffle, preparing a new cabinet list should not take much "time." The one firmly-known change is the inclusion of Premier Garson of Manitoba, and his entry is expected to involve merely stepping into Mr. St. Laurent's Justice portfolio.

Mr. King went on to say that the only ministers to be sworn in would be the new ones or those changing portfolios.

Seems to Hedge

But he did not say actually that there would be new ministers or portfolio changes.

One announcement he did make was that his resignation would be handed to the Governor-General about 11 a.m. EST at Rideau Hall.

At that time, as he ends more than 21 years in office, he will advise that Mr. St. Laurent, already chosen Liberal party leader—be named as his successor. Viscount Alexander then will summon Mr. St. Laurent.

While Mr. King looked visibly worn out after the illness that struck him in London last month, he told the newspaper men that he was not resigning primarily because of physical condition.

"I am not retiring because of ill health," he said firmly, "but because I feel that insofar as my task relates to the administration of public affairs, it is now fulfilled."

"I think my day's work is done," he said later when asked if a number of appointments he made today to the Federal District Commission would be his last task in office.

The Commission has the task of developing Ottawa as a beautified capital site, and its work has been close to Mr. King's heart for years. Today's appointments gave the Commission members from every province.

"My resignation," Mr. King said "coming as it does at this time, is not to be associated with any circumstances, either personal or political, which may have occurred within the last year . . .

"It is true that my recent indisposition is a consequence of strain over many years and due particularly to a series of pressures during the past year, but this condition is temporary and will, I believe disappear with necessary rest."

Declaring he was "feeling better every day," he added he would not go south this winter for his health.

Toronto Plants Work Weekend

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—(CP).—The wheels of Ontario industry are grinding through still another week-end in an effort to conserve electric power.

The number of plants on week-end operation is greater than a week ago, with employers switching hours of work to use off-peak power imports. In Toronto it was announced that the amount of power earmarked for Saturday use had nearly reached its limit but electricity still was available for Sundays.

Toronto Hydro officials announced Friday night that the city saved close to 8,000,000 kilowatt hours by cutoffs and voluntary reductions during the Monday-to-Friday period this week. But, despites its efforts, the city exceeded its power quota by about two per cent.

With the cutoff system due to swing into a program of simultaneous city-wide breaks Monday, citizens continued to adjust their living habits to fit in with the cutoffs. A downtown theatre presenting plays arranged for its Wednesday matinee performances to start at 1 p.m. and end just before the 4 p.m. power interruption.

Moore Preceptory Holds Its Reunion

Moore Preceptory Knights held its annual reunion on Friday evening in the Masonic Temple. Commencing with a dinner at 6.30 o'clock which was one of the largest in the past few years it was attended by visitors from Toronto, Port Hope, Ottawa, Montreal and St. Catharines.

The guest speaker at the dinner was Charles E. Wells, Grand Chancellor of Sovereign Great Prior of Canada. He was introduced by C. V. Elliott. The toast to the visitors was proposed by Dr. J. M. McCulloch and was responded to by Dr. L. Hall of Toronto. G. Wilson Craw presiding preceptor presided. Following the dinner Orders of Novice and Installation were exemplified.

Don't Plan New Fran :

PARIS, Nov. 13 —(AP)— The French government formally denied Friday persistent reports it intends to create a new franc.

Athletic Society To Use School

The North Monaghan Grove School Athletic Society asked permission of the Board of Education on Thursday night to use the school three evenings a week for badminton and two evenings a week for miscellaneous social activities. Amongst the social activities was to be bingo. On recommendation of Superintendent K. S. Wightman the request was granted but bingo will not be permitted. The superintendent and Board felt that this would be establishing a precedent, which while it might be controlled at the Grove School, it would be more difficult to control in the heavier populated sections of the city if similar requests were made.

Gifts From Mayor

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 13 (CP)—Babies born here on the same day as Princess Elizabeth's baby will each begin their life with a gift from the mayor of Woodstock. Taking his cue from the announcement that the Lord Mayor of London will make a money gift to each child born on the same day as the royal child, Mayor D. A. Thomson announced Friday he will present $5 to each child born in Woodstock on that date. Woodstock has a population of nearly 15,000.

Appoint Nine Men

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King Friday announced the appointment of nine provincial representatives to the Federal District Commission, bringing to 19 the total number serving on the body responsible for development of the national capital.

many occasions with its swift capture of criminals, recovery of stolen cars, follow-up on investigations within a matter of minutes.

41 "Fixed Stations"

Opening of the Peterborough station completes Ontario's present establishment of radio communications. There are now 41 "fixed" stations—250 and 60 watts in size—and more than 300 radio-equipped patrol cars.

Following the tour of the headquarters' building, an inspection of 25 members of No. 8 District force was carried out by the Commissioner and Inspector E. V. McNeill, commanding Officer of the District. Held in front of the Armories, the officers stood by a line-up of 10 radio cars, which were also inspected.

Given Bouquet

Mrs. Stringer, wife of the guest of honor, was presented with a bouquet of roses by Miss Patsy Keeler of Peterborough, daughter of Cpl. L. T. Keeler.

The Commissioner told the men on inspection that he was "completely satisfied" with their appearance and organization in the district. There, too, he stressed the importance of the radio system, saying that it "made the problem of law-enforcement easier for us and more able to protect the public's welfare."

Accompanying the official party from Toronto were Inspector Thomas H. Trimble, in charge of the OPP Radio Communications Branch and Professor Reid, of the Department of Electronics of the University of Toronto, who designed the equipment used. Both men were praised for their part by the Commissioner.

He also paid tribute to the Canadian General Electric Company, which had manufactured the equipment. It had been found fully satisfactory in all operations. Officials of the CGE were among those at the opening.

Following the inspections and opening, a reception for the guests and police officers was held at the Empress Hotel with Ian F. McRae, manager of the Peterborough works of the CGE and James E. Girven, assistant works manager, as hosts. Nearly 100 attended the reception.

Among those present were: Hon. Harold R. Scott, and Mrs. Scott; Col. A. R. Fraser, MP; Peterborough Chief Constable John Thompson; Lakefield Chief Constable Garnet Samis; Port Hope Chief Constable W. Graham; Chief Constable E. Simpson of Brighton; Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, KC, of Peterborough; Crown Attorney Harry Deyman of Cobourg; Mayor William Ovens and Mrs. Ovens of Peterborough.

Others at the reception included police officers of the district, including those of the RCMP and and town forces; members of the CGE staff connected with the radio project; guests of officers of the district, and the press.

of Suchow. They said Friday approximately 150,000 Tsinan veterans of the Communist armies were pushed back across the Grand canal east of the city.

Red forces asserted gains had been made north, east and west of Suchow and that other Communist forces had by-passed the whole field of battle and were moving caustiously toward the Yangtze River, which skirts Nanking.

Some Communist attempt to probe the Nanking defence line is not unexpected here. Pillboxes have been erected but the city is calm, although the exodus of foreigners is being stepped up some.

LINDSAY, Nov. 12 — (CP) — James Steadman, 61, today was found guilty of attempted rape of an eight-year-old girl and was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary. The jury was out an hour. The court room was cleared when the young girl went into the witness stand to give her story.

Air Lift Traffic Requires Skilled Handling

BERLIN, Nov. 13 (Reuters). — The Berlin crisis has brought into being an Anglo-American civilian-military air force co-ordinating group to handle the air lift traffic job and ensure that no plane in the 24-hour shuttle between Berlin and the West is ever without a load to carry.

More than 600 planes now fly the Berlin air corridors every day and make the task of the air lift co-ordinating committee (Bealcom) as intricate and as vital as any traffic organization job ever performed, in peace or war.

Maj.-Gen. Charles Gross, deputy chief of the bipartie transport group in Frankfort, now is chairman of Bealcom.

The Bipartite control office early took up the task of streamlining and simplifying all behind-the-scenes obtaining of air lift supplies to the seven bizonal airfields serving Berlin.

Watch Timing

Requiring multiple timing and exact co-ordination, the task involves "moving the right trains and carrying the right supplies at the right time to the right airfield."

Since airfield storage facilities are negligible, an average of three days' supplies are hold on freight cars at airfield railheads.

Military cargo represents approximately one-eighth of the total tonnage carried.

But food for Berlin's west sectors is the most important single item carried.

Keeping internal trade going between Berlin and the Western zones has been another important part of the traffic job. To keep the flow of industrial goods close to normal under air life conditions has required complicated administration.

Because of the committee's flexibility and its wide representation, plans for air life changes or improvements can be submitted, decided, and put into effect with a minimum of delay.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman saaid last night that he had called in the provincial police because he felt that Chief Graham would prefer an outside officer to continue the investigation in view of the fact that Sergeant Warren has been a member of the local force.

Christmas In Jail Is An Old Sad Story For Transient Convicted 53 Times

Joseph Lynch, one of those men police list at "no fixed address", will spend this Christmas where he has spent that festive season every year since he was 17 years old—in jail. Lynch pleaded guilty Friday to his 52nd and 53rd convictions and was sentenced to four months in reformatory by Magistrate W R. Philp, KC.

A sandy-haired, inoffensive-looking man of 40, he admitted theft of an alarm clock from a hardware store and a parka coat from a clothing store, both on Charlotte St.

Resigned to his fate, Lynch's only comment to the magistrate in his own defence was: "I know there is no chance of being out this Christmas, as I can't expect leniency from you again. But maybe, if your worship would do it, I can be out for Christmas in 1949."

Lynch completed only a few days ago a 15-day term for another minor theft in the city. According to evidence given by PC Ernest Beatty, the circumstances were the same as previously. The long record, stretching back to 1923 and including centres in four provinces, show a majority of similar charges.

"It's like this, you see," he explained quietly to the bench, "I don't know why I take these things. It's just when I get a couple of drinks in me, my hands start to wander. Someday, somebody will pound this booze out of me. I hope so. If you'll look at that list in front of you, you'll see there aren't any horrible things done—I've never held anybody up or wrecked anything. Just minor thefts. I don't seem to be able to help it."

Rap Teachers For Making Strike Threat

QUEBEC, Nov. 13—(CP)—Premier Duplessis Thursday night asked the president of the Corporation of Quebec Roman Catholic Teachers, Leo Guindon, to "repudiate" a reported strike-threat statement involving French-speaking Roman Catholic teachers.

He warned the teachers — dissatisfied over a cut in recent salary demands — that the government would fail in its duty if it "countenanced even indirectly an intolerable illegality especially in the domain of education."

The premier told a press conference that the province cannot "pay pensions to those practicing disorder" and that "teachers have not the right to strike under human or natural laws."

Premier Duplessis said he hesitated to believe that Guindon made the statement attributed to him.

"If Mr. Guindon made the statement I regret it infinitely for him and for the cause he defends. If he did not it is his duty to establish the facts and repudiate the statement squarely."

The Montreal teachers involved are members of L'Alliance Des Professeurs Catholiques de Montreal, an affiliate of the province-wire Corporation of Roman Catholics Teachers whose membership is about 10,000 lay teachers.

Teachers recently appealed to the Quebec Municipal Commission an arbitration board ruling handed down Aug. 27 awarding maximum salaries of $3,200 for men and $2,100 for women.

The municipal commission cut it by $100 in each case the salary maximums awarded by arbitration. There is no legal appeal.

Original demands for the teachers were maximums of $3,500 for men and $2,200 for women.

Dr. Kelly Urges Government Health Insurance

Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterborough's Medical Officer of Health, told the Kinsmen Club Thursday evening that the need of Canada today was or a system of government health insurance. He was guest speaker at the Club's meeting.

The doctor said that the move to have public health extended to mean literally medical attention to all who require it was the logical step and one which should come soon. He decried "the old bogey of state medicine" which was advanced to oppose the belief.

A definition of "health," he said, should properly include all factors—physical, mental and social. "It can be summed up as security for all, workers and dependents alike. The respousibility of the government towards public health has been recognized since the Poor Laws were first passed in Britain at the beginning of the 17th century. We now have actually four governmental bodies to concern themselves with the problem—the nucleus of internation organization in the United Nations, the federal, provincial and municipal governments."

"With a shrinking world, due to bettered transportation methods, the aim is now to bring medicine's findings and advantages to all peoples. Disease is not a local problem, but with the interrelation of the world's nations, it leaps boudaries."

"Death by T.B. is the same in Peterborough and Palestine."

He pointed to the many welfare and semi-official and official bodies already connected with preserving the health of the people.

"How man of us can stand the cost of four months hospital care?" he asked. "Only two classes—the very rich and the very poor can afford it, the very poor being indigent cases."

"The need is for complete public health coverage—medical attention available to everyone."

Public health, he said, is "the ounce of prevention worth the pound of cure applied on a large scale. Admittedly new science, it has already accomplished much. Its efforts to cut such disease tolls as typhoid fever and smallpox have demonstrated its value.

Public health control starts six months before the birth of a baby and continues on through life, he explained.

The recent federal grant of aid to the provinces for health was described as "maybe the first step in establishing the complete setup."

"The larger the number of people which can be served, the less will be the cost," Dr. Kelly said.

He attacked the argument that such schemes meat "regimentation." We are a complex civilization and our mode of living requires much control — schools, health, government rulings, are now accepted. This vital need will be next.

"It will require time, but we have made a start."

"If the same amount now spent on curative medicine were applied to the field of public health, there would be a great change in the general level of health within 10 years," he predicted.

Dr. Kelly was introduced by Dr. Mark Crough. Thanks of the Club were expressed by Harry Tewsley. Stanley Gilmore, president, was chairman of the meeting.

17 Caretakers Seek Pay Boost

Seventeen men on the caretaking staff of the Peterborough Board of Education petitioned the board Thursday night for a salary increase. Those signing the petition were J. E. Morrison, Gerald Whatman, S. M. Neave, M. G. Smith, J. E. Doleman, J. Anderson, E. Richey, H. B. McFee, F. B. Griffin, W. Sargent, R. Linsey, J. Emery, H. Stenton, O. C. Wells, T. Wallace, E. L. Hope.

In their petition for an increase they said they felt that present living conditions with their steady rising costs have completely nullified the salary increases granted a year ago, and have left the present salary schedule considerably out of line with the cost of living.

Last year the board increased salaries and at that time, according to the caretakers, the increased grants seemed fair. But conditions have changed and the caretakers are asking for more money.

The present salary maximum is $2,000 for assistant caretakers and $2,100 for the senior men in a two or more caretaker school.

The request was referred to the committee on appointments.

Freak Accident Injures Woman

One of the most freakish accidents of the year happened on Thursday night to Miss M. Robinson, 554 Aylmer St. She stepped off the curb to cross the intersection at Aylmer and George Sts. after a fire truck had passed, and she was struck by the nozzle and hoseline that was dragging behind the fast-moving truck.

She was knocked down and bruised but it is believed that no bones were broken.

In some manner the nozzle of the three-quarter-inch hose belonging to the booster pump toppled to the road, and its drag weight caused the hose to uncoil on to the road. When firemen stopped they found they were dragging nearly 200 feet of the hose.

Miss Robinson was taken back to the fire hall where she was given a brief medical examination by Dr. C. F. Cahill, and later she was taken to Civic Hospital where she was given a more thorough examination by her family physician, Dr. Ralph Clark.

PARENTS!

These facts must be faced!

27 out of every 100 of our school children are undernourished!

A survey recently made by the Department of National Health and Welfare uncovered this shocking condition. The same survey revealed that an additional 23 out of every 100 children showed signs of probable malnutrition.

Such facts should place all parents on the alert!

Everywhere, mothers—and fathers—are concerned with the present high prices of food. The situation demands clear-headed thinking and prompt action.

If you would help your family to gain the greatest possible benefit . . . WATCH THEIR DAILY DIET! Correct nutrition is more than an abundance of bulky foods—it calls for right foods in the proper amounts—daily.

Today, many women, of necessity, are inclined to change their food-buying habits because of spiralling prices. Many have had to reduce their purchases of valuable protein food like meat. But they keep up protein values by combining reduced quantities of such foods with milk. For a few pennies, milk can add extra protein to many dishes to help make meals more nourishing.

An internationally recognized Professor of Nutrition makes this statement: "Milk contains the greatest assortment of nutritive substances of all single food materials, and constitutes the foundation upon which an adequate diet can most safely and most easily be constructed."

Remember! . . . for glowing health, every growing child should have 4 to 5 glasses of milk daily. This is true, even when your children enjoy all other nourishing foods.

Right Is Not Enough

Mr. St. Laurent said in a radio address on Thursday when he discussed the international situation and Canada's defence: "It is not enough to have right on our side; it is just as important to have the strength to defend the right".

• • •

That is the voice of practical statesmanship. It is the kind of statesmanship which gave Europe and the world a hundred years of comparative peace between Waterloo and 1914. Wilsonian idealism does not bring peace in an imperfect world and more wars have been caused by idealists than by realists. It is a policy of power politics, of course, but what is politics but the art of the possible (not the ideal), and are not nations Powers?

• • •

We must have power to defend the right as we see it. For that reason the five western nations of Europe have banded together for joint defence. For that reason a wider defensive agreement is now being sought—an Atlantic Union which may include not only Canada and the United States but Italy, Portugal, Norway, Denmark and Iceland. This group of seven nations would co-operate for mutual defence with the five Brussels Pact nations.

• • •

Soviet Russia will not come to terms which mean more than a scrap of paper until there is western power to balance Soviet power. When that condition is reached, and Russia knows it, then it may be possible to make terms and to ensure that they will be observed. Therein lies the hope for peace. As Miss Dorothy Thompson has said, it will not provide a Utopia. The world will not be made exclusively safe for democracy, capitalism, communism or any other way of life. But it proved in the last century to make for a practical kind of peace.

The Administration Of Our Northern Territories

Who runs the half of Canada (to be exact, 42 per cent. of the land surface of the Dominion) which lies north of the sixtieth parallel of latitude and generally west of Hudson Bay? Practical people unversed in government legislation might say the Hudson's Bay Company, from its trading posts. Others might guess the Imperial Oil Company (because of the Canol project), together with mining companies presided over by Mr. Timmins. Movie picture fans might say the R.C.M.P. Nationalists may suspect that the U.S. Government runs the Territories, because of the Alaska Highway, the Canol project which it financed —a pipe line from Norman Wells (N.W.T.) to Whitehorse (Y.T.)—and the numbers of Americans in and out of uniform in the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

• • •

Some people may think that it doesn't matter who controls the vast area, since only one per cent. of it is classified as agricultural land, about nine per cent. as forest land, and ninety per cent. waste land. It does matter, however, since this "waste" land has gold, oil, uranium and other resources not yet fathomed. It is also, as we have noted already in these columns, of great military importance.

• • •

Since the Yukon Territory and the Northwest Territories are so sparsely populated (the 1941 census shows 4,914 people in Y.T. and 12,028 in N.W.T.), they cannot function as self-governing provinces. Therefore, Ottawa governs them. The Yukon has been a separate territory since 1898. It has a Commissioner (now called a Controller), who takes his instructions from Ottawa. He is a provincial cabinet all by himself. He is assisted by a Legislative Council of three members elected from Dawson, Whitehorse and Mayo districts for three-year terms. They function as a kind of provincial parliament, with the seat of government at Dawson. There is, too, a Yukon Federal constituency which is, if not the largest in area, the smallest in the number of electors. At the last general election, the Honourable George Black was sent to Ottawa on a total of 915 votes.

• • •

The Northwest Territories are divided into three districts — Mackenzie, in the west, Keewatin in the east, and Franklin, in the far north. Government is vested in a Commissioner and a Council of six members, all appointed by the Governor-General-in-Council, in other words, by the Ottawa Cabinet. Administration is supervised by the Director of the Lands, Parks and Forests Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources. He is also the Deputy Commissioner. The seat of government is at Ottawa.

• • •

We have summarized the official version of who runs the northern half of Canada. It is important that the Federal Government consider the administration of the Territories as a trust for the people who live there now and for the thousands who will be residents fifty years from now. It must guard against too much actual control by private companies and against the provinces south of the Territories who may already be looking greedily towards annexing the potentially rich land. Judging from the scientific and administrative work in progress now under Federal auspices (we reported on that last Saturday in these columns) the Government is accepting its responsibilities in a trusty manner.

Why Be Tremulous Before The Red Dean?

What timid creatures some Canadians are! An old man like the Very Reverend Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, comes to this country to make speeches, and editors wag ominous fingers, church officials raise hands in holy horror (like the doctors in the temple when Jesus' teaching disturbed their conventions) and municipal authorities refuse to let the Dean speak in their halls.

Is Dr. Johnson a wicked monster that he must be shut up? He is in sympathy with many of the theories and practices of Communism; that is, he is a "fellow traveller". That should not commend him to our good sense but it should not condemn him to be muzzled. He is not advocating the overthrow of the Government of Canada. He is presenting—often extravagantly, inaccurately and erratically — the point of view of the opposite camp. We should not be afraid to look at it. We should not drive him to speak in holes and corners, or put him in the position where he can say with some glee about an unofficial meeting of McGill students which he addressed: "I find there is a dash and spice of illegality about it (the meeting)".

Whether he is merely foolish, merely well-intentioned, or remarkably shrewd, what he has to say need not alarm us, unless our state is so flabby, our political beliefs so poorly founded and our social practices so unjust that his words can upset the whole system. He may be very good for us, since he is a kind of counterbalance to the often extravagant, inaccurate and erratic propaganda which assails our ears now, particularly from the U.S.A. which has even refused the Dean entry. It is useful, for instance, to have a man, say, as the Dean did in Montreal: "There is danger, if we do not get the truth, that we will be acting toward the drift of war on the basis of unrealities".

Do we not profess in this country a belief in free speech? Did not Christ say: "The truth shall make you free"? Why then need we fear the 'Red' Dean? Cannot Canadians be trusted to sift the grain from his chaff?

"To stay young", says a psychologist, "associate a great deal with young people". If you are one of those eccentrics who wants to mature, on the other hand, snuggle up to a few greybeards.

Nobody can say that George Drew isn't an all-round man. When he was Premier of Ontario he was full of good ideas for running the Dominion, and now that he is in the Dominion field he just can't keep his fingers out of the provincial pie.

At Nottingham, in England, the county council has ruled that teachers must take thirty minutes for consideration before whipping a pupil. This is not fair unless the pupils are compelled to wait for thirty minutes before playing the fool.

Diary Of A Suspected Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Devoured a wild duck today which was given to me by a friend who is occasionally attacked by these savage creatures, and is forced to kill them in self-defence. Am always at a loss to know how long game should be hung before it is eaten. American cookbooks say "Soak in a strong disinfectant and eat at once"; English cookbooks say "Hang by the legs until the legs fall off, then hang by the wings until the wings fall off, then warm the breast slightly and eat it". I try to steer a middle course. I cannot abide the frizzled remains of game birds, as served by nervous cooks who think that all undomesticated meat is rather nasty. Nor do I care for the raw and rotten flesh in which my British cousins take delight. But experience has taught me that refrigerators are ruinous to game, and that a hanging period of about a week brings the birds to the right flavour.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: A foggy, grizzling November day. In my morning mail I receive a magazine which is devoted to the beauties of the West Indies, and I look at it with some pleasure, and a good deal of mistrust. It shows beaches crowded with muscular young men in trunks, and beautiful girls in trunks and handkerchiefs, obviously having a wonderful time swimming, boating, and pitching woo. But about all these divine young creatures there is that meretricious look which bespeaks the professional photographic model, and I know that they were transported to the West Indies on purpose to have their pictures taken, in order that northern wretches like me should be cozened into visiting those fortunate isles. But I know also that it is usually only rich old people who can afford to go to the West Indies for the winter, and that they creep about on sticks and in wheelchairs, shouting into each others' ear-trumpets and cursing their doctors. The more beautiful a resort, the more likely it is to be a haven for arthritic fossils, and whatever romance occurs is strictly of the Last Rose of Summer variety. O that life were more like the travel magazines!

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: Sometimes I wonder why it is [illegible] singers contrive to make a few words inaudible, so that their hearers are left in the dark about the real meaning of their songs. For some weeks I have taken deep delight in a record of "Let The Bright Seraphim", from Handel's "Samson" which is sung by Isobel Baillie. The first few words I can understand perfectly:

Let the bright seraphim
In burning row
Their loud, uplifted,
Angel trumpets blow.

Thus she sings, with perfectly clarity. But there follows something which sounds to me like:

Let the cherubic host
In jocund choir
Touch their immortal harps
Of stovepipe wire.

I am sure that this cannot be right. Handel set some queer words, but not as queer as that—not even when Nahum Tate was his librettist. Some day I must go into a music store and ask to see a score of "Samson" and settle this matter.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Was talking to a man today who was still abusing the public opinion polls which failed so badly in the American presidential election. I think that the pollsters deserve more understanding treatment. After all, they are guessers, just like the soothsayers and fortune-tellers of an earlier day, with this exception—they are not killed painfully when they fail. In ancient times there was a special sort of priest called a "haruspex" (a Latin word meaning "guts-peeker") who foretold the results of battles, elections and whatnot by cutting open an animal and gazing into its entrails with the professional intensity of a beauty-contest judge staring at a contestant's navel. He then made his prediction, in double-talk if he could get away with it, and awaited the outcome with his club-bag packed. The modern haruspices are just not so clever as the priests of the ancient world. In time, no doubt, they will perfect their mumbo-jumbo in such a way as to avoid these embarrassing difficulties.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: A colleague of mine was approached today by an acquaintance of his who spoke thus: "Say, uh, you don't have to tell me, mind you, if you'd just as soon not, but I'd certainly like to know, uh, just out of curiosity, y'understand, nothing personal, but is it true what that fellow says, you know, in the paper, about all that alconol, y'know, I mean does he really take much of it, you know what I mean, is he a Drinker?" My friend, who understands this dialect, replied: "My associate Mr. Marchbanks, to whom I presume that you allude, is not, to the best of my knowledge, a Drinker; he signed a pledge of total abstinence in his childhood, and if you knew him as I do you would know that to such a man an oath would always be sacred" . . . My friend related this to me later, when we met at the water-cooler. Apparently the rumour is rife in some circles that Marchbanks is a rumpot. Every great moral philosopher has to bear these calumnies, which are started by rivals and detractors. I saw one of mine staggering through the streets today, obviously under the influence of pie a la mode. I don't want to gossip, but that fellow is an Eater.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: A woman called me on the phone today and asked me to explain a joke to her which she had read in the Reader's Digest. She had heard that I once worked in a joke factory and I suppose that she thought I would be familiar with the mechanism. I did my best, but after five minutes she had still not seen the point, which was pretty blunt when we began. A joke, after this sort of treatment, resembles a souffle upon which cows have trodden—just as zestful, fluffy and festive.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Can it be that I am growing old? Of late I have shown a tendency to catch naps after meals, and little dozes at odd moments during the day. Conversations to which I am a party fade and fade, and then all of a sudden my head falls forward, I jerk it up, and mutter "I heard every word you said", rather thickly, after which I gag, my eyes water and I try to remember what the talk was about. I mentioned this recently to a friend who is a colonic irrigation fiend, and he was eager to have at me with his nasty machine, but I would rather stew in my own toxins than be sluiced out like a dirty boiler. It has been suggested that if I gave up reading at night I might have more time for sleep, and need less rest during the day, but this is obvious nonsense. I am not sleepy at night. By the time I have undressed, rushed downstairs to lock things and turn off things which I have forgotten, battled to open a window which has a broken sashcord, and arisen again to turn out forgotten lights, I am wide awake, and can tackle a novel with a good appetite. It is during the day that lethargy steals o'er me. When I was a mere lad I was often accused of turning night into day, I seem to have brought off the trick at last.

Letters To The Editor

SAVING ELECTRICITY

Sir: I am not given to writing letters to the paper, however in the light of the present emergency created by the shortage of power I have no hesitation, and I hope in a constructive way, of helping towards the solution of this problem.

I believe that most Canadians are reasonable and are desirous of lending their full support in a time of national emergency. In this present crisis only a little practical assistance is required towards the solution.

Hydro electric power is derived by the harnessing of water, diverting it through turbines into electricity and by transmission over our power lines to the consumer. Each electric light or electric appliance is expending so much of this water which is at the moment scarce. If each light and each electric appliance when not in use is turned off, so much water is saved.

The simple point is that each and every one of our electrical gadgets is expending so much precious water and each light and each electrical gadget that is used unnecessarily is actually wasting that much water and might quite conceivably through thoughtlessness be the means of creating grave consequence to those homes and industries which are dependent upon power.

If the water tank in your home leaks you have it repaired, if you keep on one unnecessary light you are contributing towards the leakage in your water tank.

This letter is an anonymous letter lest some snooper should take a night off and direct their gun of criticism at my house and this would be unpleasant.

A WORD FOR MARGARINE

Sir: Recently I read a letter about the price of butter and the import and price of both butter and also the price of margarine.

Well, for years while living in England my mother used margarine for bread, baking, also some of the selected homes used the same. It is made of pure vegetable oils, so I don't see why the Government is against the sale of it and have to import butter. I for one would use it. The States are using it, so why not Canada? Please let's hear from any one else who would use it instead of paying high prices for butter.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Praise ye the Lord. Sing unto the Lord a new song, and his praise in the congregation of saints. Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King. (Ps. 149: 1, 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. . . .

Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous. He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil.

Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God. In this the children of God are manifest, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness is not of God, neither he [illegible] (I John 3: 1-10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ. (Rom. 8: 14-17.)

A BRITISH OPINION

LAST MONDAY was one of those delightful autumn days, sunny, and warm, a day to be in the woods. At two in the afternoon I took my camera, picked up Joe Leeming at the Kawartha Club and headed north into the deer country. We found hunters galore, but not too many deer. After pictures had been taken, we were both hungry so we headed for Ed Wigg's camp at Haultain. It was dark when we stamped up to the door, and said: "We're here, is supper ready". We hadn't seen any deer hanging up, so entered with some hesitation. They apologized saying they had left the deer hanging in the woods and had only brought out the heart and liver because they didn't expect company. Moreover, I was immediately put to work as vice-president in charge of frying pans. The heart sliced about three-quarters of an inch thick was frying, so were the potatoes. A pot of peas was simmering on the back of the stove, and everything looked fine.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

WHILE ED WIGG, Wally Rye, Jack Wilson and Joe Leeming sipped ginger ale, I labored over the frying pans, and in the dim light thrown by a lamp couldn't see the meat too well. My wife claims I always overcook meat, but this time I wanted the heart well-cooked so gave it a good frying. The only thing wrong was I couldn't tell when it was done. Finally Ed Wigg gave the meat his approval and we proceeded to eat ourselves out of shape. That venison was lovely and when I struggled out of the chair, I felt like looking for the baking soda, but restrained myself, figuring the quarter mile walk back to the car would bring relief. It didn't. I arrived home at 9.30 and an hour later I was in bed. I tossed for more than an hour before I dropped into an uneasy sleep.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

I STRUGGLED to free myself, and couldn't. Then I discovered I had horns and was strapped on the front fender of a car being driven down George St. It was as I had seen it hundreds of times, except this time I was strapped where the deer should have been. I looked across at the other fender and there was Joe, a six point buck strapped to the other fender. Then I glanced back at the driver, and was amazed to see a big buck dressed in red hunting clothes and smoking a cigar driving the car. He pulled up at the curb, and people punched me in the ribs, tugged at my antlers, and said I was a grand specimen. I tried to tell them I wasn't a deer at all, that it was a mistake, but nobody paid any attention to me. Funny too, the people were not people, they were talking deer. I looked at the car parked ahead of it, and saw another deer strapped to the trunk rack. The only thing wrong the deer was Prov. Constable McClure. Strapped to the top of the car was a moose, a whopper, but it wasn't a moose, it was one of the head men in a local industry. Then I awoke. It was 5 a.m., a monstrous hour to be awake. I was running as soon as my heels hit the cold floor, and luckily there was no one in the bathroom. Then I was sick to my stomach. What a nightmare. Now I know that heart wasn't cooked.

EVERY YEAR some housewife sees venison for the first time, and many of them are a bit bewildered as to how to cook it. I asked my wife and she says cook it just the same as you would a piece of beef. The secret of satisfying the family is to serve the venison whether a steak or a roast, piping hot. The fatty tissues on venison resemble mutton and are unpleasant to many people if cold. In fact, I always cut the fat off, and I like my venison on a hot plate. Steaks can be broiled at an oven temperature of 350 degrees for 25 minutes and are delicious. A roast of venison when pot-roasted is out of this world. If the piece of meat is bloody this can be eliminated by washing a couple of times, then allowing it to stand overnight in salty water. If you get a roast with a bullet hole through it, cut down to the wound, and trim out this section, then wash it thoroughly. That so-called wild taste is a lot of hokum, and if you are a bit squeamish about eating venison, just remember that even the lowly sausage costs 60 cents a pound. Venison stew is good too, but be sure to cut off most of the fat.

JOTTINGS from here and there: Thanks for letter Bill, more about ducks later....That clipping will come in handy, Monty, thanks a lot....Have several letters indicating hunters believe the duck season is too early....Could use more....Open season on ducks south of highway 7 ends on Monday, Nov. 13 at sundown....Open season on squirrels ends today....Partridge season opens today and ends Nov. 23. This applies only to deer hunting areas. The bag limit is five per day—20 for the season....Better start thinking about your Christmas presents—Prices are high and any bargains available can be had now, not a month from now....Don't let any of that venison spoil....Better to pay a butcher to come to your home and carve the carcass, it is a good investment...Then you can keep some at the house and put the rest in a deep freezer or a locker.

WOLVES ARE TOO PLENTIFUL for comfort in the area north of the city. It appears the predators have multiplied at an amazing rate, so much, in fact, that hunters claim the balance between wolves and deer now favors the wolves. This condition is reflected in the poor results to date. Mountain lake hunt club has only two deer up to Friday, and the Ketchecum and Cochrane clubs had just one each. This is a truly unusual situation, because both clubs are composed of veteran hunters, and they hunt in areas that have produced hundreds of deer in recent years. The same story is being told along the Apsley Road. Several hunters have spotted brush wolves skulking through the bush, others have had shots at the animals, and at least three wolves have been killed by deer hunters. Old-timers advise that many hunters have cruised this area on the hunt for ten years without getting a glimpse of a wolf until this year.

CY HOPKINS at Lakefield hastens to remind me that his brother Harold Hopkins, wrote me three weeks after the mammoth large-mouth bass was caught in Clear lake. This is true, the incident had escaped my memory. However, the complete story hasn't been told yet because I have not had time to get up to Clear lake, and see the bass caught by Leonard Noonan. If this bass is all they claim it to be, then a new Canadian record will have been established. Not only that, but Mr. Noonan won't have to buy any fishing tackle for awhile because he will sweep every contest that I know of, including the one sponsored by "Field and Stream". If the fish is bona-fide then an affidavit can be obtained on its weight, and the dimensions of the mounted fish cannot be disputed. Thanks Cy, I will try to get into that part of the country within the next two weeks.

A NATIVE OF NEW BRUNSWICK, Mrs. Clarke of Antrim St., has corrected me on a statement made relative to bears in that province. Dealing with the moose situation a few columns back, I mentioned that bears were responsible for the deaths of many moose calves, and that so far as I knew there was no bounty on bears. Mrs. Clarke who lived for years near the Restigouche river assures me that a bounty is paid for the bears, and goes on to tell of the trappers and hunters bringing in the heads to claim the bounties. She mentioned too, that a close relatives of hers was a game warden, and it was a nauseating sight to see the huge bear heads, as the hunters unloaded them for inspection. It is nice to get letters like that one, and if there are other readers who wish to discuss game and fish conditions in other parts of Canada, their letters will be welcome.

STRICKLAND SISTERS SUFFERED GREAT HARDSHIPS

LAKEFIELD'S STORIED PAST was recently reviewed by descendants and friends of the famous literary Strickland Sisters, Mrs. Catherine Parr Traill and Mrs. Susanna Moodie. They are shown in the graveyard of the old Anglican Church on St. John, a building they suggest should become a national shrine. Below is a picture of "Westove," the last home of Mrs. Traill, now owned by Reeve W. C. Grant.

Susanna Moodie

By NICK NICKELS

"What's the use of books," cried Jenny, an Irish servant girl, to her mistress. "Sure it's killin' yirself that you are intirely. You were thin enough before you took to the pen; scribblin' and scrabblin' when you should be abed and asleep."

The English mistress raised her tired eyes for a moment to smile wearily and say nothing, nothing of her sheer desperation, her homesickness, her poverty. She was writing to obtain money to buy shoes for the bare feet of her little children and the odd bit of clothing. She was writing because she was lonely, her husband was on military duty at York during the Mackenzie Rebellion. Little did Jenny realize that she was witnessing the literary birth of one of Canada's foremost writers, Mrs. Susanna Moodie. And in the absence of any money, faithful Jenny grumbled as she manufactured strange candles from pieces of old rag, twisted together, dipped in lard and placed in a bottle. But her mistress' articles were selling to the Literary Garland of Montreal and its publisher, Mr. Lovell, generously paid her £5 a page. Her children were being cared for by her own efforts.

We have no doubt that during this first lonely winter that she occasionally bundled up in her shawl on a clear night and stepped out to rest her tired brain on their 24-acre Lakefield clearing on the south shore of Lake Katchewanooka, to watch the full moon shining across the ice and frozen marshes. In another direction she probably could see the smoke of her sister's cabin, Mrs. Catharine Parr Traill, who was also recording her thoughts on Canadian flowers and plants that she had observed through the summers. Her husband, too, was away at the Rebellion, together with his manservant. Mrs. Moodie drew small comfort, at times like this, of pleasant family life back in England, of Stowe House and Reydon Hall in a luxuriant part of Southern England.

The famous Canadian writing sisters were the daughters of Thomas and Elizabeth Homer Strickland whose first family member, they claimed came to England with the Conqueror. The family consisted of Katie (Catherine), and Susanna, Elizabeth, Agnes, Sara and Janes and several boys. The best-known of these was Col. Samuel Strickland, an early pioneer of Lakefield. Their father was a bookish man, stern, conservative and devoted to his business.

He moved from Stowe House, which was rented, and bought Reydon Hall in Suffolk, a rambling Elizabethan mansion said to contain haunted garrets, secret passages and a fine library. Father Strickland prohibited his elder daughters from reading books of amusement. However, a volume of Shakespeare fell into their hands, by accident, and sister Agnes, who later became author of "The Lives of The Queens of England," declared she would read no other book in her spare time.

Katie and Susanna had constant access to the library when their father bought yet another house in Norwich to be near his business and took the elder sisters with him; the boys were away at school and they had much time on their hands. They decided to write a novel, after finding a chest in the attic, containing reams of paper, cases of India ink and dozens of quill pens. Their manuscript was unfortunately discovered by their mother who gave it back with the understanding that it be used for curl papers.

As they grew older, both Catherine and Susanna wrote more and more, and indeed, returns from sales went toward the upkeep of Reydon Hall after their father's death. In 1831 Susanna Strickland was married to John Wedderburn Dunbar Moodie, an Orkneyman who had spent ten years in South Africa. They lived in Southwold for a time and during a simultaneous visit from Catherine and Thomas Traill, a fellow Orkneyman of Moodie's a romance began that ended in marriage. The Moodies decided to move to Canada, and no doubt interested the Traill's in leaving England.

It is best at this point to follow the future of each couple separately, beginning with the Moodies who sailed first from Leith in the summer of 1832. It was a six-week voyage void of comfort and delays in fog off the Grand Banks, before the ship docked in Quebec and was taken in tow to Montreal. They arrived by various country stages at Cobourg where they settled on a farm which had a poorly built log house near undesirable neighbors. After one winter they were able to buy a much better cabin which they named "Melsetter" after the Moodie estate in the Orkneys. They made a very unwise decision here in farming their place out on shares, during which the sharer cheated them unmercifully and to such an extent that they decided to leave the district and move to Lake Katchewanooka to a 66-acre Government grant.

Misfortune was only midly showing its teeth to the Moodies at Cobourg, for all their crockery was smashed in moving in a sleigh accident. After they settled in their newly-built cabin near Lakefield and cleared some land, a hired youth set fire to dry fallow, which fire came within a few feet of destroying their home. Mr. Moodie and three small children were stricken with lake fever shortly after.

Mr. Moodie sold his commission in the army and bought worthless steamboat stock, and without funds, Mrs. Moodie worked in the fields, while the family lived entirely on potatoes. They had no pork for winter when a spiteful neighbor drove their pigs into the lake and drowned them. During the next winter the cabin roof was partly destroyed by fire when an overheated stove set fire to the dwelling—it was extinguished by pails of brine from the pickle barrel.

By the following year they had cleared 24 acres and would have harvested a fair crop had not one of their oxen died, and later, the sowing of fall wheat was disrupted when Mr. Moodie fractured his leg and was laid up for weeks. When he was well again he was summoned to service in the Rebellion. We come to the desperate period when Mrs. Moodie started her writings by a lard-dip candle.

The Traills had adifferent brand of luck from the Moodies, all of it bad. It started from the time their ship arrived off Cape Diamond, Quebec. Cholera had broken out in the immigrant ships, quarantine regulations were in force and they were not able to leave their ship to stretch their sea legs. On arrival in Montreal Mrs. Traill came down with the disease, during their stay at the Charlie Conacher brought his Chicago Black Hawks into Toronto Friday and lost no time telling the world that he thought his team got the worst of the officiating when they dropped a 4-1 decision to the Canadiens in Montreal Thursday night.

"We had two goals disallowed by Butch Keeling," said the coach of the National Hockey League doormats. "The first would have tied the score. The second would have put us in front. Our players skated back to centre ice for the face-off and then realized Keeling had disallowed both.

Big Chuck said he "told Keeling plenty, and it's a wonder he didn't put me out of the rink." Clarence Campbell, league president, was a spectator, and "I told him what I thought about his officials."

Several of Canada's leading race horse owners will leave this week-end for Lexington, Ky., to attend the yearling sales.

Rumors are plentiful in Toronto baseball circles here that the Philadelphia Phillies will either purchase the Toronto Maple Leafs' International League franchise outright or become partners with the present Toronto group. Don Ross, acting prsident of the Toronto Baseball Club since the recent death of Peter G. Campbell, will represent the Leafs at an International League meeting this week-end in New York City.

Conn Smythe, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, said on Friday night he had never heard of the "ankle body check" described by Boss Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens as Leafs' secret weapon. Selke said in Montreal the new checking technique is sole property of Leafs and consists of suddenly and slyly sticking out the foot. "If we have been using that technique it hasn't been very successful, Smythe said. "The way we are going we better get rid of it right away.'"

Leafs currently are in fourth place in the National Hockey League.

Reply to Johnny Metras, coach of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs Metras is searching for a black cat because he is faced with a football crisis. His Mustangs play University of Toronto Blues today in their final game of the Intercollegiate football schedule—and a Mustang win would give Western their fourth straight title and 28 straight victories.

If there is a senior intercollegiate football playoff it will be played at Toronto, November 20, it was announced Friday by Warren Stevens, athletic director of the University of Toronto. Stevens said he had reached an agreement with Johnny Metras, athletic director of the University of Western Ontario at London, Ont. Varsity Blues can force a playoff match by defeating Western Mustangs in their scheduled game at Varsity Stadium here to-day.

Kent Phillips of Saskatoon, president of the Canadian Rugby Union, said Friday night that the Canadian junior football final definitely will take place in the East November 20. He confirmed that funds are being made available to transport the Western winners to site of the Dominion final. Western titlists will be declared Saturday when Saskatoon Hilltops clash with Vancouver Blue Bombers. Point Edward, ORFU champions, meet Hamilton Wildcats for the Eastern title in Hamilton to-day.

Time and place of this season's Eastern Canada football final will be set at a meeting in Toronto on Sunday. Percy Robinson, Canadian Rugby Union secretary, said Friday night the meeting will be attended by representatives of all Eastern teams still in the running and th CRU.

The richest standardbred horse sale in history ended Friday at Harrisburg, Pa., with 673 yearlings and older harness horses bringing a total of $1,024,550 in the four-day auction. The 1948 total bettered last year's record by $19,450 and ran the overage per head from last year's $1,509 to $1,522.

WHIPPER GIVEN TOUGH ASSIGNMENT—Whipper Billy Watson, shown above, has been given the job of taming Big Ben Morgan. The pair will headline next week's mat card at the Brock. Manager Jim Laidlaw secured the Whip, at the request of a number of fans, who figure the British Empire Champ can give Morgan a real shellacking. True, Morgan holds a decision over the Whip, but only when Referee Bunny Dunlop disqualified him. It should be a red-hot clash.

The remainder of the card will be announced Monday.

NHL Standing Due For Shakeup During Weekend

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League clubs tonight head into the heaviest week-end schedule of the young season with four teams in action twice, and come Monday the leadership picture in the early race should be a little clearer.

Montreal Canadiens, tied for second place with Boston two points back of the pace-setting Detroit Red Wings, could move to the top of the ladder with victories in their two week-end assignments, providing the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks upset Detroit in the Windy city Sunday night.

Canadiens meet Rangers in New York tonight, and then move up the coast to Boston where they take on the Bruins in a Sunday tussle.

In other games, Chicago invades Toronto to meet the Leafs tonight, and on Sunday Toronto goes to New York.

Butch Bouchard of Canadiens did not accompany the club on the start of their five-game road trip because of a leg injury received in the game against Chicago.

The team doctor said Bouchard suffered a twisted ligament in the left leg when he fell during a pile-up behind the Montreal net and will be sidelined for 10 days.

At the same time Canadiens announced that Hal Laycoe woud be recalled from the American League Buffalo Bisons to replace Bouchard.

BOB CUNNINGHAM, star half-back with the Montreal Alouettes, helped his team to eke out a 21-19 victory over the Ottawa Roughriders in the opener of the two-game, total-point Big Four football league play-offs at Montreal. The second game will be played at Ottawa on Saturday. The winner of the series will meet the ORFU champs, either Hamilton Wildcats or Toronto Beaches Indians in the Eastern Canadian football finals.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Showing the importance of athletics as a means to national physical fitness, a national sports' conference has been called by the government for Jan. 7-8 in Ottawa. Boiled down, the aim of the whole thing is to promote "greater participation of sports in Canada." The government council calling the session makes it clear that it is not trying to take responsibility for governing sports in the country but to help foster both the fitness and pleasure angles arising from greater participation in sports. It could be that the poor showing of Canadians in the last Olympics in England—and also the many physicla army rejections in the last war—had something to do with this.

* * * * * *

In any case, heads of various amateur sports' bodies will confer and some good may result. Some of the associations invited include: Skaters, cagers, hockeyists, skiers, swimmers, oarsmen, badmintoneers, bowlers, paddlers, trackmen, collegiate athletics, lacrossers, tennis and golf players, gridders, curlers, soccerites, riflemen and fencers, girls' athletics and several more. Such as boxing, wrestling, weight-lifters, gym exponents and so forth. Health Dept. officials say it is their duty to promote physical fitness, and no one will argue about that. Everyone owes it to himself to keep in good physical condition.

* * * * * *

Looking At Legion

Yesterday, we dealt briefly with some of the Petes' puck prospects for OHA senior "B" competition this winter. Today, we'll mention some of the Legionnaires. Like the Petes, they're not just set yet—still some doubtful angles—and they won't say much. Maybe next week we'll know more about 'em. But we can always guess, can't we? And some of the puckists of last year's group championship Legion squad are practically sure starters again. If we're wrong, one can always sue, you know.

* * * * * *

Coach Ned Vitarelli will be back, even if he should be transferred out of town on his job coming on toward spring. Ned says he will only play defence if he's needed this winter. But we imagine he'll be in there. During the summer and fall we covered lacrosse and grid games where Orillia teams were involved and more than once an Orillia guy — who played for their good hockey team last year—asked about Ned. One fellow claimed Ned was mainly responsible for Legion edging out Orillia in playdowns last spring, his heady playing and poke-checking either halting Orillia rushes or throwing them offside at the blue line. Yeah, a fine veteran puckist and he'll likely see action again.

* * * * * *

Two Good Defenders

Well, that's one defence spot we've settled already! Another one is that of Johnny Godfrey, one of the smartest players we've seen in some years. About the same age as Honey Tompkins, he is not a fast skater, but a clever stickhandler, an experienced attacker and a first-rate blocker on defence. A swell guy to have on your side at all times. Percy Nicholls is a possibility, too, as he didn't like the Quebec setup and is back in the district now on the deer hunt. A scrappy, experienced defenceman and high scorer, he's well worth going after. And they really are going after him. Ditto with the other Nicholls of 'Caygeon, cool and efficient Ross in the net, and fancy-passing Ernie and Ace up front. Some of them will be back, if not all.

* * * * * *

Hard to say what the setup will be yet on the front lines. Some newcomers, we hear, but nothing definite on them yet. It's for sure that such guys as Joe Rochetta, Bob Greenlaw and Bill Crowley will wear Legion livery once more. All swell young fast-stepping pucksters and high scorers. Joe led the club last season and will be potent once more. So will hustling Bob and battling Bill, two boys who really burn in there. "Toodie" Greenlaw (Bob's younger brother) should be pretty nearly hitting his peak this winter, too. Bob Parnell is another hustler, and there are others. We can't deal with 'em all yet, but will get around to the whole squad before play starts.

* * * * * *

Know More Later On

Just a general idea now as fans are interested and keep asking what the puck setup is, especially in senior "B". On account of we have a home rink again and also because two local teams will be in the same group. Neither club is set yet, but they're working on their lineups and we're just guessing on some of the pretty sure starters. Some of the Petes are doubtful yet, and we doubt if Mick Magee will be a Legion starter. Getting over the hockey hump, the popular Mick will act as assistant coach for the club this year. But more on them again and shortly, we hope.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: Strangler Lewis gets $200 a week for being a good-will ambassador for the various pro mat circuits . . . No soccer game here today, though Trinity were asking for an exhibition . . . And the grid action (apart from PCVS vs. Belleville juniors today in Port Hope) is being saved up for next week-end . . . Ditto with basketball, all being peaceful here on the morrow . . . Volleyballers open their season in the "Y" this afternoon . . . And heavy badminton action tonight at the Market Hall, admission free . . . Legion and Petes both plan puck practices Sunday on Belleville ice . . . Haven't heard the hockey setup yet for next week, but likely more workouts away . . . Juniors are up Lindsay way today . . . And the alley bowlers are at it practically nightly these autumn evenings . . . Long before this column hits the streets we'll be deep in the Apsley woods getting buck fever, or something . . . S'long for now.

Torchy Peden Retires From Bike Grind

By AL COLLETTI

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(CP).—After 20 years of fame as one of the world's great six-day bicycle riders, William (Torchy) Peden has turned in his bike and jersey for a set of carpenter tools, a tape measure, and has gone to work.

At the age of 42 the Victoria-born Peden has announced that he has "hung up his bikes" for good to devote all of his time to an idea he and a fellow Canadian cyclist dreamed up years ago—a portable bike track.

Peden, the old "iron horse" who has won more six-day marathons than any other rider in the history of the sport—38—and Albert Schelstraete of New Delhi, Ont., an amateur cyclist who turned professional before the war, first experimented with a portable track in small amateur races in Canada.

They set up their first track in Simcoe, and later at Shawinigan Falls, Que. It proved so practical that Peden decided to build a bigger one for the pro six-day riders. The big redhead and Schelstrate, a Belgian-Canadian, worked for months on the project.

Great Success

It was installed in Buffalo for last month's international six-day race and proved so successful that the oval was shipped to Chicago for last week's race and then here, where another 'whirl to nowhere' opens Sunday night.

The new track is made of steel and masonite—a porous material providing a strong surface for the bikes—and is constructed in sections so that it can easily be transported by truck. The oval cost $30,000 but the saving, Peden says, is in being able to use it for years where the old wooden tracks had to be ripped down after a race was over.

In the pre-war days it cost six-day promoters anywhere from $4,000 up to build a wooden track. Today the cost has almost doubled, making it virtually impossible for a promoter to run a race on a paying basis.

BIG FOUR LEADER.—For the third consecutive season Virgil Wagner, captain of Montreal Alouettes, has led eastern Canadian football scoring. The piston-legged Wagner who came to Canada three years ago from Belleville, Ill., won the Big Four scoring title this season with 60 points. He scored 71 points to capture the crown last year and 65 in 1946.

PROJECTIVE, pictured above with George La Perriere, is one of the stallions entered in the harness race at Dufferin Park, Toronto. The strongest competition for the Montreal horse will come from "The Diplomat," a trotter purchased from E. J. Hayes of Duguoin, Ill., for $12,500 by Alex Parsons of Brantford, and London. It is said to be one of the best-bred racing stallions to be brought into Canada.

5 Championships May Be Decided

By The Canandian Press

Five football championships may be decided today — three in senior ranks and two in junior—as the season narrows down to the sudden-death stage in a build-up for the east-west classics.

There will be two Dominion finals this year, the juniors getting official word Friday night that for the first time since 1933 their series is definitely on.

In the east, the Montreal-Ottawa contest amounts to a sudden-death clash for the Big Four title. The Alouettes picked up a two-point working margin with their 21-19 victory in the first game at Montreal Thursday but the betting public still favored Rough Riders 9-5 favorites to sweep the total-points series in the return game.

A record crowd of more than 17,000 was expected to jam Ottawa's Lansdowne Park for the battle. The winner draws a berth into the eastern Canada final.

The other eastern finalist may be decided at Hamilton meantime. Frank Filchock's Tigers defeated Toronto Beaches Indians, 8-0, in the first game of the best-of-three series for the Ontario Union title. They can end it all with a victory today. If Beaches Indians win, it will be decided by a third game in Hamilton Wednesday night.

Dutchmen Whip Mercurys As Gens Wallop Guelph

By The Canadian Press

The season's cellar-dwellers, Toronto Marlboros, didn't pull out of that position Friday night—but at least they have company.

The youthful Toronto squad battled to a 1-1 overtime tie with the league-leading Hamilton Tigers, to garner one point—enough to catch up to Stratford Indians with nine.

In another Senior Ontario Hockey Association game last night, the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen trounced the second-place Owen Sound Mercurys 7-2.

In the Junior circuit, Barrie Flyers moved into sole possession of fourth position by besting Toronto St. Michael's College 6-3. Oshawa Generals moved into third place when they walloped the fifth-place Guelph Biltmores 5-1.

Marlboros opened the scoring in their game against Tigers, in the first period when Billy Johnson blasted a close-in shot past Art Childs. Two minutes later Johnny Conick got the equalizer on a pass from Dillon Brady.

Had Little Trouble

Kitchener, led by Ted Grasser with three goals, had little trouble disposing of Owen Sound.

Grasser got his first goal when the game was only a minute old and a penalty to Bummer Doran minutes later cost Owen Sound three goals—Doug Verity, Trent Anderson and Harvey Hacklin scoring for the Dutchmen.

Art Hurst of Kitchener and Pat McReavy of Owen Sound each counted once in the second frame. Grasser netted his two other markers in the last period while Bruno Favero clicked for Owen Sound.

Barrie grabbed the only goal of the first period when Sid McNabney beat netminder Tom Shea on a close-in shot.

McNabney got his second goal early in the middle period on a pass from Stan Long and Gord Pennell put Flyers three up before Gord Hannigan beat Gil Mayer on a pass from Bill MacNamara. Bob Chevreflis put the Flyers ahead minutes later.

The teams split two goals in the final period—Don Rope and Walt Clune counting for St. Michaels and Bobby Hogg and Chevreflis for Barrie.

Oshawa On Toes

Oshawa potted two goals in the first period, one in the second and two more in the third. Guelph's lone marker came in the second frame.

Rangy Dick Gamble notched two goals for Oshawa while Frank Hooper, Dusty Blair and George Hall got singletons. Hal Kewley counted for Guelph.

Kitchener clashes with Owen Sound tonight in the only senior game scheduled for the week-end. In the junior loop, Stratford Kroehlers meet Marlboros, Guelph meets Oshawa and Windsor Spitfires play St Catharnies Teepees.

Most Money Put On Rough Riders

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 — (CP)—Chips are down today for the Big Four football championship stakes, and although Montreal Alouettes have a two-point edge on Ottawa Rough Riders, there was a surprising shortage of Montreal money in the capital up to game-time.

Notwithstanding this local confidence, Coach Wally Masters was calling no cards before the tilt.

Manager Jimmy McCaffrey summed up the Ottawa sentiment in these words:

"We're lucky to be only two points down after Thursday's game. If we play the way we did then, and Montreal plays the way they did then, I think they'll win. And they'll deserve to."

Already McCaffrey has asked that if Ottawa wins the Eastern Canada senior football final be played in Ottawa. However, he'll settle for Toronto "if necessary."

Riders will play at nearly full strength, with centre Don Loney a doubtful starter because of a sore foot and Bob Paffrath still somewhat handicapped by a bad hand.

Child Stars Hit Hard In Film Economy Drive

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12 (AP)—The casualties or Hollywood's economy drive, not mentioned until right here and now, are those dimpled darlings, the child stars.

I don't mean that Margaret O'Brien should start applying for social security. She and a handful of other current juvenile favorites are secure as long as their youth and charm hold out. But there are tough times ahead for kids who hope to follow in the golden footsteps of Jackie Coogan, Mitzi Green, Baby LeRoy, Shirley Temple and Jane Withers.

The blunt fact is that studios can't afford child stars.

Child acting is a specialized field and an expensive one to studios. The regulations regarding use of children in studios are involved enough to warm a bureaucrat's heart. This will give you an idea:

Children must have a permit to work. The permit must be renewed every six months and can be revoked any time. Children must pass a physical examination and keep up school grades to work. One welfare worker must be hired for every 20 youngsters. Every child under 12 must be accompanied by a guardian.

No child can be on a studio lot more than eight hours at a time. Lunch cannot be later than 12:30 or dinner later than 6:30. The eight-hour day, three hours must be spent in school and one in recreation.

This leaves four hours or less a day for a child star to be used on a movie set. When you consider that adult actors work eight hours daily or more, you can see how expensive film moppets can be to studios.

New Power Unit Opens In Quebec

MONTREAL, Nov. 13 (CP).—First of three 65,000-horse power units in the new development at Shawinigan Falls, Que., came into operation Friday, it was announced by James Wilson, president of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company. Construction of the new development was begun in 1947 and the first unit went into operation on schdule.

The second of the new units will begin producing power early in the new year, and third by April.

Completion of this 195,000 horse power development will increase to 489,900 horsepower the capacity of the company's generating stations at Shawinigan Falls.

It was also announced that the preliminary construction work for the 384,000-horsepower plant at the Trenche site on the upper St. Maurice River is proceeding according to plan. It is scheduled to come into operation early in 1951.

Ross L. Dobbin Elected To U of T Senate

Ross L. Dobbin, general manager of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, was elected to the University of Toronto senate this week. He was one of the 68 representatives of the U. of T. graduate body who officially became members of the Senate when results of a spirited "airmail" election were announced.

Usually most members go in by acclamation in elections which are held every four years. But this year, the graduates' growing interest in University affairs was reflected in contests in eight divisions: University College, Victoria College, Medicine, Dentistry, Engineering, Forestry, Architecture, and the Pass Course for Teachers. Under the direction of A. B. Fennell, the Registrar, 31,416 ballots went to graduates scattered all over the globe. The list of the 41 successful candidates in the balloting and the 28 others who took their places by acclamation or appointment follows:

Hooey Plans Appeal

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 13—(CP)—Arthur Hooey of Owen Sound, now serving a five-year sentence for manslaughter in connection with the fatal stabbing of Allan Crowe here March 6, is reported seeking to appeal.

J. J. BOURKE, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia branch at Maxville, Ont., discovered the bank vault robbery which is reported to be about $300,000. Life savings of a large number of families have been completely wiped out by the robbery.

DAMAGE ESTIMATED at more than $100,000 was caused when fire swept the Bartlett Spray Works at Beamsville while the area was in the midst of a daily hydro cutoff. The siren, used to summon volunteer firemen, could not be operated. Here sulphur flames are being doused with water to keep blaze from spreading to a house near by.

First Aiders Seek $225,000 In 20-Day Drive

A fund-raising drive to help finance the work of the St. John Ambulance first-aid system is now under way in Peterborough. Forms will be mailed to many persons in the city soliciting their aid before the campaign closes on November 20.

This society receives no contribution from the Community Chest although it is hoped that this will be reversed next year.

Last year approximately 600 persons who were injured in motor accidents on Ontario highways received treatment from St. John units. To meet these expenditures an appeal has been issued to the Ontario public for a contribution of 225,000.

The program of highway first-aid was first instituted in 1927 by the then Deputy Minister of Health, Dr. W. J. Bell, now provincial surgeon for the St. John Ambulance. First-aid boxes were set up at strategic points on the highways and in important tourist camps.

These first-aid posts are now jointly maintained by the St. John Ambulance, the Canadian Red Cross Society, and the Ontario Motor League. The St. John Ambulance also maintains ambulance patrols on Ontario's highways, manned by trained and equipped first-aiders.

In addition to this highway first-aid system the St. John Ambulance carries on an extensive program of other worthwhile activities. These include training and service in first-aid and home nursing, blood grouping, maternal and child hygiene, public duty, and sponsorship of the St. John Cadets.

All of the services are given voluntarily and without remuneration. The St. John Ambulance appeal, which was launched on November 1, and which will continue through until November 20, has a national objective of $600,000. It will be used to further and expand the work of the organization. Ontario's quota has been set at $225,000.

The Ontario campaign chairman is Col. J. G. K. Strathy, of Toronto, while Henry E. Langford, Toronto, is the Ontario campaign treasurer. Lady Eaton and Air Vice-Marshal Adelard Raymond are the honorary national campaign co-chairmen, while the Honorable Ray Lawson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, is the honorary provincial campaign chairman.

The St. John Ambulance claims to be the oldest charitable organization in the world, having served humanity since 1099. It is the officially-recognized first-aid instructor in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

More than 800 communities across Canada have classes in firstaid conducted by the Order of St. John. In a six-year period first-aid courses were given to 450,000 Canadians and home nursing courses to more than 64,000.

Members of both Police and Fire Departments in cities and towns across Canada are given first-aid training, and fire rangers, game wardens, RCMP, Provincial Police, as well as the staffs of several provincial departments avail themselves of the services offered by the Order of St. John.

84-Game Schedule

Galivan Hopes Meet Robinson In January

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—(AP)—Kid Gavilan, flashing Cuban boxer, will leave for Havana in a day or two with the hope that upon his return in January it will be to meet welterweight champion Ray Robinson in a title bout.

Gavilan, who won a decisive, unanimous 10-round decision over tough Tony Pellone of New York in Madison Square Garden Friday night, is anxious to meet the sugar man for the 147-pound crown.

The Cuban Kid lost a none-title fight to Robinson in Yankee Stadium last September. Robinson weighed 150 for that scrap, and Gavilan's handlers, as well as the Kid himself, believe the Cuban can lift the title at the division weight.

Pellone, scaling 146¼, made Friday night's scrap interesting in the first three and last four rounds. He was slowed up, however in the fourth by Gavilan, and blew that, the fifth and sixth which just about cost him the fight as he appeared tired. He got his pep back in the seventh but it was too late. Gavilan weighed 147.

The crowd of 9,408 paid a gross of $29,629.

Tree Disease Attacks Elms

An elm on Wellington St., just north of the National War Memorial, is the first Ottawa victim of Dutch Elm disease.

This statement by A. W. McCallum, chief of forest pathology, will be distressing news to every nature lover in the country. He was addressing Ottawa Horticultural Society Wednesday evening.

Dr. McCallum said this disease had already made serious inroads in the region of Sorel, Three Rivers and Quebec. Recent tests had determined that the elm on Wellington St. was infected and had to be cut down. It was the first case in Carleton county.

Pictures were recently published showing stark, leafless and lifeless elms which had been stricken by this disease in another country. It requires little imagination to visualize the bleak appearance of dead elms standing in fields and along farm fences, often the most graceful feature of Ontario countryside.

Forestry experts now know that this disease has invaded eastern Canada, and a large community will anxiously await news of action to prevent its advance.

In countless Canadian households the wearing of Stanfield's Underwear has come to be something of a tradition, dating back forty, fifty or sixty years.

It's not surprising when you consider that Stanfield's has been known for more than sixty years as the underwear that always fits smoothly and comfortably . . . is always soft, warm and durable . . . and never shrinks. Ask for Stanfield's in your favourite type—combinations or shirts and shorts, in a wide range of styles and weights.

Costs $79,000 More To Instal Truman Than Prime Minister

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (CP).—It costs at least $79,000 more to inaugurate a United States President than to launch a Canadian Prime Minister into the job of leading a nation The Canadian ceremony costs next to nothing.

Most of the cash for the American ritual goes for lumber — because Americans like to see their President installed in office.

Next Jan. 20, when President Truman formally takes over for another four years, there'll be pomp and fanfare aplenty in the show-loving capital. For a few thousand lucky fellows, there'll be "ringside" seats.

On and near the broad steps of the huge, grey capitol building, workmen these days are erecting a grandstand and benches for the hour-long ceremony. The price tag: $79,372.

Simple Procedure

When Prime Minister Mackenzie King retires Monday, he will simply pass the word to Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General, and recommend that Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent be asked to form a government.

St. Laurent, new leader of the Liberal party, will be summoned by Lord Alexander and will submit to him the names of his cabinet minister choices. The Governor-General will say he approves —and the change-over will be history.

The Canadian public will see nothing of the ceremony nor of the formal swearing-in of St. Laurent as Prime Minister.

It's as simple and private as that.

Truman's inaugural will be witnessed by more than 100,000 Washingtonians.

The main section will seat 828 persons— cabinet officials, Congressmen and Supreme Court judges—and will cost about $27,000. That's $32 a seat. Directly in front of this stand will be benches for less-important dignitaries.

10,000 Brown Trout Placed In Streams

Officials of the Ganaraska Fish and Game Club and men from the hatcheries at Codrington placed 10,000 brown trout fingerlings in the Ganaraska River this week. Approximately 8% per cent. should survive, the remainder falling before the attack of natural enemies.

Last year 36,000 of these three to five and some six inches in length fingerlings were placed in the river and connecting streams, compared to 30,000 this year.

The club hopes that 50,000 fish will be available for restocking purposes next year. In all Durham County, about 60,000 trout were placed in the streams this year.

Fights Separate Power Project

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—(AP —Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wis.) came out Friday flatly against New York State's proposal for separate construction of the power phase of the joint Canada-United States St. Lawrence seaway project.

He made public a letter in which he told Chairman Nelson Smith of the Federal Power Commission that the New York proposal, if approved, would practically kill any chance of ever putting through the main feature of the project—navigation.

It is the first time the Wisconsin Senator has publicly stated his position on the attempt by New York and the Province of Ontario to construct independently the power part of the proposed seaway.

The Power Commission here now has New York's application for approval of the power proposal, backed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, under consideration.

If the Power Commission approves, the plan would then have to go before the International Joint Commission of the United States and Canada for consideration. Disapproval, however, by the Power Commission would kill it for the present at least.

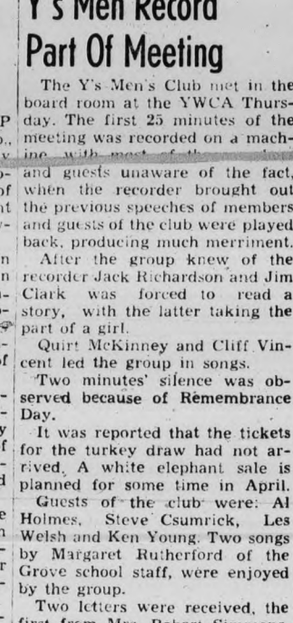
The Y's Men's Club met in the board room at the YWCA Thursday. The first 25 minutes of the meeting was recorded on a machine with most of the members and guests unaware of the fact, when the recorder brought out the previous speeches of members and guests of the club were played back, producing much merriment.

After the group knew of the recorder Jack Richardson and Jim Clark was forced to read a story, with the latter taking the part of a girl.

Quirt McKinney and Cliff Vincent led the group in songs.

Two minutes' silence was observed because of Remembrance Day.



It was reported that the tickets for the turkey draw had not arrived. A white elephant sale is planned for some time in April.

Guests of the club were: Al Holmes, Steve Csumrick, Les Welsh and Ken Young. Two songs by Margaret Rutherford of the Grove school staff, were enjoyed by the group.

Two letters were received, the first from Mrs. Robert Simmons, who expressed her gratitude in receiving flowers from the club. The IODE thanked the club for the use of the card tables.

Scripture—Amos 5:21-6:6; 7:10-17; Micah 4:1-5; 5:2-4; 6:6-8

By Alfred J. Buescher

"Though ye offer Me your burnt-offerings and meal-offerings, I will not accept them," saith the Lord. "But let justice roll down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream."

Amaziah, priest of Bethel, sent a message to King Jeroboam, saying that Amos was conspiring against him, and prophesying that Jeroboam would die by the sword and his people taken captive.

Amaziah the priest and Amos met, and Amos denied he was conspiring against the king; that he was a herdsman whom the Lord has chosen to prophesy to His people, Israel.

Prophet Micah foretold that "in the last days" the Lord's house would be built on a mountain and all people of the earth would come to it.

God's Appeal to Manhood

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The Lord saith unto me, son of man, stand upon thy feet and I will speak unto thee.—Ezekiel 2:1.

Some twenty-five hundred years ago these words were spoken to Ezekiel who was a Jew, a priest and an exile in the far off land of Babylon. It is uplifting to remember that sometimes God does not call a man by his name. It is not enough to arouse him out of depression of mind. In modern English it means: "Be a man". A man is one who is made in the image of God. Your son crawls on the floor. One evening your wife, with joy in her voice, says: "Sonny stood on his feet today for the first time." It is a sign of manhood.

God is calling Ezekiel to stand on his feet and as a man to hear God's voice. Ezekiel is to be God conscious. He is to feel "the burden of the Lord" of which so many prophets complain. It is the inward, spiritual urge to deliver a message from God, which will not be pleasant to their hearers. Ezekiel is to receive a new truth that the individual is important in God's sight.

Ancient political teaching was of the opinion that the state was everything and the individual nothing. The family was the unit. Three thousand years later Totalitarianism teaches the same truth, which means a step backward. Ponder upon this resolution from the Lambeth Conference, 1948: "Marxian Communism is contrary to Christian faith and practice for it denies the existence of God, revelation and future life."

As a man you will face spiritual temptation. God has given you the sense to choose between good and evil. Temptation is necessary for the development of Christian character. The Lord Jesus felt the stress and strain of temptation and His heart is full of sympathy towards you. Read this heart-moving experience of St. Paul: "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man. But God is faithful and will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able, but will with the temptation make a way to escape that ye may be able to bear it." 1 Cor. 10:13. Remember that underneath are the everlasting Arms. They are the Arms of the Man God, the Lord Jesus, Who whispers: "Be strong and very courageous; Lo, I am with you all the days."

As a man you are given the sense of indgination. There is a dangerous Christian teaching that a man should never be angry. When you see or hear of the poor being down trodden and your heart does not burn with indignation there is something seriously wrong in your Christian teaching. Read St. Matthew 23 v. 23 to end and bear in mind that these terrible woes were spoken by the Lord Jesus to the most religious men of His nation. Some years ago this writer met a clever university man tinged with this teaching. He asked him to read this Scripture. "No wonder they crucified Him", he exclaimed. Think of "the wrath of the Lamb."

The same Lord is speaking to you through His Holy Scriptures and He desires that you should bring forth fruit.

THAT YE MIGHT WALK WORTHY OF THE LORD: BEING FRUITFUL IN EVERY WORK AND INCREASING IN THE KNOWLEDGE OF GOD.

Peterborough Examiner

VOL. XCVII, No. 141 SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1948

G. A. Macdonald To Run For Utilities

George A. Macdonald of the Utilities Commission informed the Examiner today that he would offer himself for re-election.

"I think our work on the Commission has been going along smoothly," Mr. Macdonald said, "and it has greatly increased during the last three years. We had to come to some decision in regard to the gas plant and its continued operation. The result was we decided to change over to propane gas, alter our storage and production equipment, readjust the valves in all the private ranges and other gas burners, and we thing the people generally appreciate this action.

The Commission realized that we had to make some efficient change or go out of the gas business. The effects of our decision are not all noticeable yet, and will probably not be complete until the first of the year when all the details have been cleared up. But, the new gas is working well.

The Commission has also had to put in a great deal of new water mains and electric light lines and services in the annexed sections of the city. We have kept up to our program without any great fuss, and I'd like to say, in this opportunity, that I think our men deserve a lot of credit for the way they handle their many jobs. You don't hear much about them, but we are getting the work done on time.

Our Commission has co-operated with the city council in every way possible. Our relations are harmonious and the two bodies are working together trying to keep up with the needs of the growing community."

Mr. Macdonald said the commission has also made certain expenditures in maintaining the efficiency of the waterworks plant, and were proceeding again with the main trunk sewer the first stage of which was laid on Bethune St.

"Our work has increased because Peterborough is growing, and I think we are succeeding in keeping pace with the needs of our public utilities."

New Kosh Lake Dam Brings Return of Old Days On Lake

By NICK NICKELS

The newly-formed Kashabog Lake Conservation Association decided three months ago that something must be done to rebuild the old lumber dam, at the mouth of the North River. This dam used to maintain the level of Kosh Lake, which was noted as one of the finest fishing grounds for bass and 'lunge in the county. Low lake levels over the past few years have drained spawning beds and feeding grounds.

The association under William Dennison, MPP, Toronto, president; Alan T. Brown, Peterborough, secretary-treasurer, and John G. Pierce, surveyor and engineer, submitted plans for the erection of a new cement dam to the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, in accordance with the Lakes and Rivers Improvement Act. The department specified that construction was the responsibility of the association and that it would give a grant to assist in financing the project.

Went Ahead

Since Government funds take time to come through the regular channels and the season was getting late, the association went about raising funds by a loan and subscriptions. One of the first appeals was answered by the Havelock Fish and Game Association, formed this year, contributing $50 and saying that as their bank balance was small they were sorry they could not give more.

The Peterborough Fish and Game Association gave the project its blessing but no cash. "They even suggested that the association build a three-mile road to Kosh after the dam was completed," said engineer John G. Pierce.

The association managed to collect $700, chiefly from cottagers at Kosh.

Work started a month ago under supervision of Mr. Pierce, William Barrie of Norwood and Fred Hull of Jack's Creek. A new site 30 feet north of the old log dam was chosen and a reinforced concrete structure 86 feet long with a maximum height of 11 feet was erected. The American Nepheline Company supplied a great deal of old reinforcing steel and nepheline "chips" for concrete work. The dam will raise the present lake level four feet above its summer level and will be controlled by stop logs. The dam is now complete and the remaining concrete forms will be taken off within a week. A wandering wolf left its imprint for posterity the night after the cement had been poured in one particular section.

According to plans laid out by the Kashabog Lake Conservation Association, Kosh Lake will again live up to the reputation that it enjoyed in the past and also become a pleasant camping community for the future. In sections of shoreline reserved by the Department of Lands and Forests for public camp sites, the association plans to erect fireplaces and do considerable underbrushing. It will also concentrate on an active program of restocking the lake with fingerlings to insure perpetual fishing in the area.

PLANE GIVES SERVICE

Shortly after a Peterborough hunter reached his deer camp on Eagle Lake, his wife was rushed to hospital for an emergency operation on Wednesday. A seaplane, flown by Jim Withers and which carried another hunter to camp on Friday reported the news and the husband was brought out on a turn-about flight. Plane was the only means of communicating with him at his remote campsite.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SUNDAY PARADE

Before selecting the Guard of Honor for the visit of the Governor-General on Nov. 25, an all-day parade will be held by the 50th HAA Regiment on Sunday, beginning at 10 a.m. Size and members of the Guard have not yet been decided.

RINK ON THE BLOCK

The unusual procedure of selling a big building by public auction will take place in Lakefield Monday afternoon. The village's old skating rink, being replaced by the new Memorial Arena, will be offered, subject to reserve bid.

STUDY REQUEST

The request of the Peterborough Utilities Commission to build a small booster pump station on the Queen Mary School grounds in order to increase the water pressure to the new Civic Hospital and the western section of the city was referred by the Board of Education on Thursday night to Superintendent K. S. Wightman and chairman of the Property committee Frank Jobbitt for a report.

Council Meeting To Be Heard ByRadioMonday

For the first time in its century of administration, the municipal council of Peterborough is meeting in regular session Monday night outside its own precincts.

The business of this meeting will be broadcast by CHEX from the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel from 7:45 to 8:30 p.m. Mayor Ovens and his associates of the council will be guests of the Peterborough Sales and Ad Club at dinner beginning at 6:30 o'clock. At its conclusion the council will proceed to arrange their places, and be ready for the radio timing.

"This will not be a specially prepared show session," City Clerk Outram said today. "One exception to the usual procedure is that the members are being provided in advance with copies of the communications which are customarily read at the opening of every meeting. This has been done to expedite matters and save time, because the broadcast is limited to three-quarters of an hour. I don't think there are any weighty questions on the file, largely because we are getting toward the end of the year."

Mr. Outram suggested that if any citizens wish to bring petitions or other questions before the council they are advised that this meeting is at the Empress. It is suggested to them that they might inform Mr. Outram beforehand in order that this opening phase of business should not take up too much of the allotted time.

The purpose of this departure from the city hall is to enable citizens who have never attended a council meeting to listen to the progress of a meeting. The Ad Club conceived the idea and extended their invitation to the council. And in that spirit it was accepted.

The broadcast of a meeting is an unique affair. Inaugural meetings have been carried from the council chamber by radio, but they did not include the ordinary business that goes on from week to week throughout the year. Longest memory could not recall today any similar occasion of a council leaving its chamber for a statutory meeting. Brief specialty meetings have been held in the committee room, but they have been few and far between. No one could remember any occasion of transfer of business from the city hall.

City Groups To Mark National Education Week

Sponsored by the Ontario Teachers' Federation and in the city by the Peterborough Teachers' Council, National Education Week will be launched on Sunday. Many churches will devote one of their services to the theme of education and stress the movement's slogan "The School Builds The Nation."

Throughout public, separate and secondary schools, during the school week of Nov. 15, various Home and School Associations will co-operate with schools in encouraging parents to visit their children's schools, meet teachers and discuss classroom work. There will also be several teas held in schools throughout the city.

Members of the faculty of the School of Social Science, headed by Prof. Charles E. Hendry will make a survey of adult educational needs in city schools during the week in co-operation with the Peterborough recreation commission. This service is being sponsored by the Peterborough Teachers' council and the service clubs council. As result of their findings, Prof. Hendry will lecture on Thursday in the PCVS auditorium on "Making Adult Education Vital."

The Peterborough Examiner will contribute space by carrying six articles by Peterborough people on education themes. Radio Station CHEX is giving free air time on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons to programs in keeping with National Education Week.

MAKES 250 CALLS ON ABSENTEES

During October the public school attendance officer made 250 calls to schools and homes concerning irregular attendance, transfers, permits, employment certificates, etc. One home permit and two employment certificates were issued to public school children. Five cases of parental neglect were also investigated.

Precision of One Voice, 40 Female Bell Singers Present Fine Concert Here

By T. J. ALLEN

The Leslie Bell Singers came to Peterborough on Friday night, sponsored by the Major Bennett Chapter IODE. They drew from their current repertory a score of songs, lifted up their 40 female voices, and amazed the audience which filled St. Paul's Church. The term "virtuoso" may properly be applied to this—a cappella choir, for it is highly trained, technically brilliant and sings with the precision and nuances of a single performer. Its virtuosity overlaid the music. The first part of the program and the three Newfoundland songs of the second part were, in the ear of this listener, the whole program. The rest was show pieces—interesting, astonishing, rhythmical, but unrewarding musically.

Heard first was the "Sanctus" from Palestrina's "Missa papde Marcelli" exquisitely done. Next came an "Eli, Eli" sung in Hebrew and arranged rather too dramatically even for a Jewish liturgical theme. The choir's elision—the linking of phrases without a breathing stop—was remarkably good, so good that it obtruded in Gounod's "Ave Maria," where phrases were disconcertingly elided. The "choral rhapsody" from the "Mikado" was excellent fun and of course well done, though I did notice a lack of synchronizing in "Tit Willow" (perhaps deliberate) and a fuzzy attack in "Brightly Dawns."

The three Newfoundland songs raise questions. Dr. Bell has been in Newfoundland collecting folk songs. Will his work result in a valid collection like "Romancero du Canada" by Marius Barbeau, or are the Newfoundland songs less indigenous than the French-Canadian, and merely late derivations? The three on the program suggested the latter.

It disturbs me to have to say of such an excellent choir and of so accomplished a musician as Dr Bell (both as conductor of the choir and arranger) that I found the second half of the program unmusical, even annoying. To have tricks, negro spirituals which are not suited to Canadian women, and gaudy arrangements of popular American flim-flam, was desecration. Why could Dr. Bell not use his choir as Brahms used his Hamburg ladies' choir? Perhaps because Brahms did not pander to radio audiences.

Christopher Gledhill gave us organ music before the choir began to sing and during the two intermissions. I must protest vehemently against a man of Mr. Gledhill's calibre being used to fill in. Either the organ music should have been a specific part of the program or Mr. Gledhill should not have been asked to play. He played before the first choir number Bach's prelude and fugue in A Minor and Boyce's Symphony in F; during the first intermission Cesar Franck's Prelude, Fuge and Variations; in the second intermission a work by Karg-Elert based on "Now Thank We All Our God." Possibly to silence the hum of conversation, he ended with Schubert's "Marche Militaire." I could hear none of them properly, conversation all over the auditorium was too twittery.

Westclox $500 Aids Rink Fund

Donation of $500 from the Western Clock Co. to the Civic Arena on Friday now brings the total to that project over the $36,000 mark. The cheque from the company was presented by John H. Vernor, vice-president and general manager to Stanley McBride, member of the committee in charge of the rink drive.

With the company gift, Mr. Vernor also presented his personal cheque for $100. The two bring Westclox donations—staff, officials and company—to more than $1,500.

CAR DRAW MONDAY

The drawing for the new car, sponsored by the Lakefield and District Memorial Arena now under construction in the village has been definitely set for this Monday night at Lakefield.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

CROWD GATHERS at Baden station to view wreckage of motor car, carried 300 yards down track from level crossing on front of freight train locomotive shown. Two women in the car were killed, the driver and another man critically injured.

Built-In Storage Units Becoming Very Popular

Storage in the small home of today is more important than ever before. A "place for everything" designed for those items and only those to be kept there, makes the rooms of a house less cluttered, easier to clean, more comfortable . . and most imporant of all, gives a small room the equivalent livability of a larger room with no planned storage.

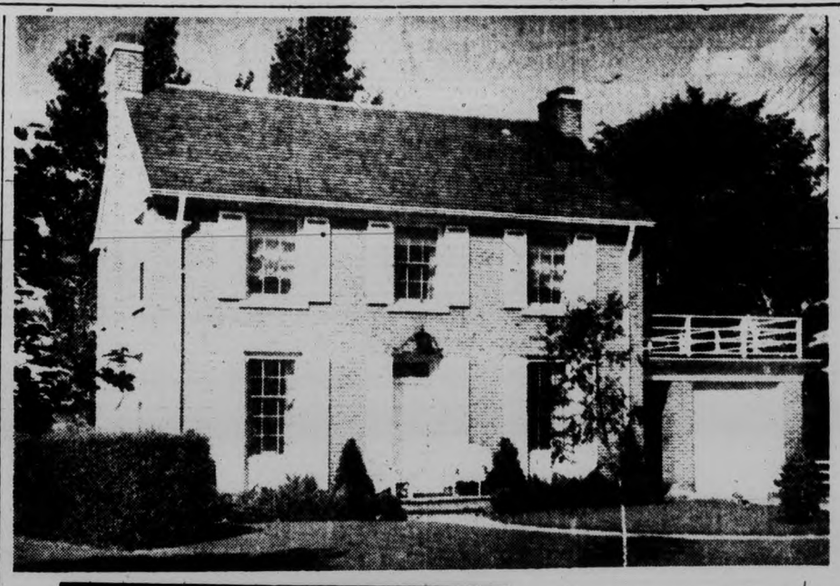
Built-in units of storage are becoming increasingly popular. Their cost is often less than furniture and they do not require constant moving for cleaning. Too, they add considerably to the value of a house.

At least one closet for each bedroom is necessary in any house. Ideally, we should have a separate clothes closet for each person. The long, shallow, reach-in type is usually more economical of space and more convenient for removing articles. Sliding doors, or two large hinged doors are most desirable.

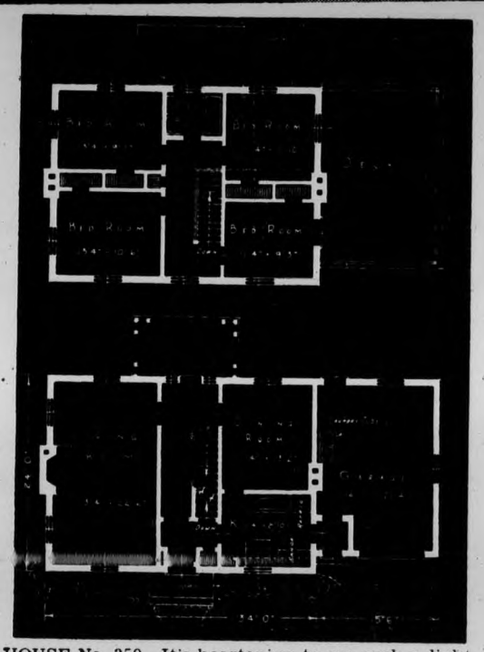
Convenient and additional storage can often be provided by building base cabinets, desks, bookcases, etc., under windows. This space cannot generally be used for other furniture, but does provide sufficient height for low cabinets and will greatly increase the comfort and utility of the bedroom area.

Kitchen Storage

The kitchen contains hundreds of different items that must be conveniently stored. Some of them will be used three or four times a day . . others only once or twice a week. WHAT you need should be Where you need it WHEN you need it.



Storage walls between kitchen and dining room are ideal storage areas for items that are in use in both rooms. China may be accessible from the dining area for setting the table and may be put back in place from the kitchen after being washed. Silverware may be stored in drawers that slide in and out from either side. Dirty dishes may be placed on the cabinet from the dining room side, with sliding doors to hide them from sight.



Snacks in the kitchen require counter space that can serve the dual purpose of dining and work. Seating arrangements can be made to slide out of the usable floor area, forming a finished surface to the cabinet.

Many items that have no established storage space in the house are often heedlessly stacked in the garage, making it difficult to park the car in the space provided for it.

Here again, an easily built deep storage wall may be used to advantage to take care of trunks, skates, games, sports equipment, law mowers, camping and picnic equipment, wheelbarrows, shovels, flower pots, garden tools, etc. Compartments should be designed so that each item has its own place where it can be promptly found and not become a nuisance in an area designed to house the family car. Another idea is to provide it with an outside opening so that lawn furniture can be conveniently stored from the outside.

In the bathroom considerable unused space can be utilized that exists over the toilet and tank and under the lavatory . . with the added advantage of concealing plumbing pipes. The placing of the bathroom basin in a counter, similar to a kitchen sink and counter, greatly increases the utility and convenience and provides a working space when shaving or dressing. All sorts of supplies may be kept in this cabinet, such as hot water bottles, linens, medicines, soap, toilet paper, towels, and cleaning equipment.

HOUSE No. 350—It's heartening to see such a light, refreshing touch given a sturdy old theme. While its basic Colonial lines are of the distant past, its spirit is of today, and as gay as one could wish for. Exterior walls are pale salmon brick, with soft green roof and white shutters, doors and trim. As the site slopes to the rear and overlooks a beautiful golf course, fine vistas are a major attraction. For further details write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Strickland Sisters

old Nelson Hotel. When she was sufficiently well to travel they proceeded to Cobourg, by stage and steamer, and to Rice Lake, over corduroy roads. They reached within 10 miles of Peterborough by scow and then walked the rest of the distance through the wilderness with an Irish lad for their guide. They were met next day by Mrs. Traill's brother, Col. Samuel Strickland who shot the Otonabee rapids between Lakefield and Peterborough in a light canoe. The colonel had settled in the Lakefield settlement the preceeding year and the Traill's stayed with him until their own cabin was ready. Under pioneer standards it was a cheerful place furnished with a brass-railed sofa, painted chairs and tables, curtains and a rug on the floor. Their large collection of maps, prints and books further helped to conceal the rough log walls.

The Traills, like others of their countrymen at that time, who by birth and education were totally unfitted to cope with backwoods conditions, were not lacking in courage and resource. During three years of pioneer tribulations, Mrs. Traill was constantly gathering information on Canadian flower and plant life from settlers' wives, bushmen and Indians, she was able to write "The Backwoods of Canada." Two years after Mr. Traill was disbanded from Rebellion service, they moved to Peterborough and spent seven years there before buying a curious octagonal house on the shore of Rice Lake. There was still another move to new quarters in the same district where Mrs. Traill started writing again for a number of English and one Canadian publication, a juvenile story and another book, "The Canadian Carusoes."

Apparently they moved to still another home called "Oaklands" where she compiled a manual entitled "The Canadian Settlers' Guide." Oaklands was burned, destroying precious books, manuscripts and possessions and the blow resulted in the death of Mr. Traill.

This determined woman who had written so much between raising a family of nine children and "conforming to circumstances", moved again to the village of Lakefield and through the efforts of Lady Charlotte Greville and Lord Palmerston, secured a grant of £100 from Queen Victoria to build her final home "Westove", now owned by Reeve W. C. Grant of the village.

Her further writings are collectors' items, "Studies of Plant Life" and "Pearls and Pebbles" and that rare item of Canadiana, "Canadian Wild Flowers", the result of collaboration with her niece, Agnes Moodie Fitzgibbon.

Before her death at the age of 97 Mrs. Traill received a small pension from the Royal Bounty Fund and a land patent to Polly Cow's Island, just below Young's Point in Lake Katchewanooka.

To return to Mrs. Susanna Moodie who spent the last 13 of her 82 years in Belleville, her later writings must be mentioned: two books of poems and several novels, "Mark Hurdelstone", "The Moretons", "Geoffry Moncton" and "Flora Lyndsey."

Present-day educators, historians and indeed every serious-minded Canadian would do well to ponder of the past achievements of these two pioneer Strickland sisters. They deserve to be remembered because of their splendid heroism when Canada was young.

Several days ago, some twenty people, some of them granddaughters and great-granddaughters, gathered together at Lakefield to pick up the threads of the past, to reconstruct mentally where and how these ladies lived, but there was little evidence, a remodelled house here, an unused stone well there. The memories of these clever women predominated each homesite, each sweep of field and water, every heirloom. Thoughts of Mrs. Traill and her works brought back the happiness and beauty of the backwoods of Upper Canada and of Mrs. Moodie, intense hardships, loneliness and homesickness and yet recalled her lines written after living 13 years in the "clearings":

"Canada has become almost as dear to me as my native land."

Capital City of Ottawa Without Any City Hall

BY JOHN LeBLANC

OTTAWA, Nov. 13—(CP)—Canada's fountainhead of government is conspicuously lacking in one of the adjuncts generally considered essential to government.

It doesn't seem to care, either.

Perhaps no community in Canada's hinterland is so humble as to be without its Town Hall or City Hall, but this national capital of 150,000 persons doesn't possess one.

In fact, Ottawa hasn't had a City Hall since 1931.

If you want to see the mayor or one of the Civic Officials, you find your way to an elderly edifice called the transportation Buliding in the business district of Rideau Street, Ottawa's No. 2 shopping area.

Visitors to the capital are constantly astounded by the civic phenomenon. After paying due homage to the National Legislative Buildings that crown Parliament Hill, they turn naturally to the Civic Corporation structure.

Elusive Building

They must be directed to a brick building across the road from Parliament Hill, and on the bank of the Rideau Canal. This turns out only to be the police station, a dismal, motheaten relic that has long been outworn.

If they do manage to find their way to "City Hall," it proves to be just a plain business block, little different from the rows of its fellows except that it needs a wash a little more urgently than most.

This situation has existed since the legitimate City Hall burned down in 1931.

Every so often, civic politicians get exercised about it and plans for the "New City Hall" are hauled out of the pigeonholes and pored over. Speeches are made in city council, there are references to lack of funds, and then the plans go back in to the pigeonholes for a few more years.

Public Apathy

The general apathy may stem from the fact that the backbone of Ottawa's body politic is made up of Civil Servants. They are from all over the coutry and, naturally, have a somewhat restricted civic pride so far as Ottawa is concerned.

Remembrance Calls For Faith, VC's Message

MILLBROOK, Nov. 13—(ENS) Millbrook Branch No. 402 of the Canadian Legion, with more than 50 members attending, with Major L. J. Stuart in command, held a Remembrance Day Service. Headed by the Continuation School Band, under Sgt.-Major E. V. Kent, with Hazel Rowe, drum majorette, leading, the veterans paraded from the Legion Hall to Grace Presbyterian church on Thursday morning. Rev. John Foote, VC, MPP for Durham, was guest speaker, and the minister, Rev. Walter Patterson, had charge of the service, in conjunction with Major C. M. MacLean, Legion padre.

At the church, the parade was joined by the Millbrook Company of Girl Guides, under its leader, Mrs. G. MacKay, and Lieutenant, Mrs. J. Kellett, and the Brownie Pack, under Pack Leader Margaret MacKay, and in charge of Mrs. H. Perkin.

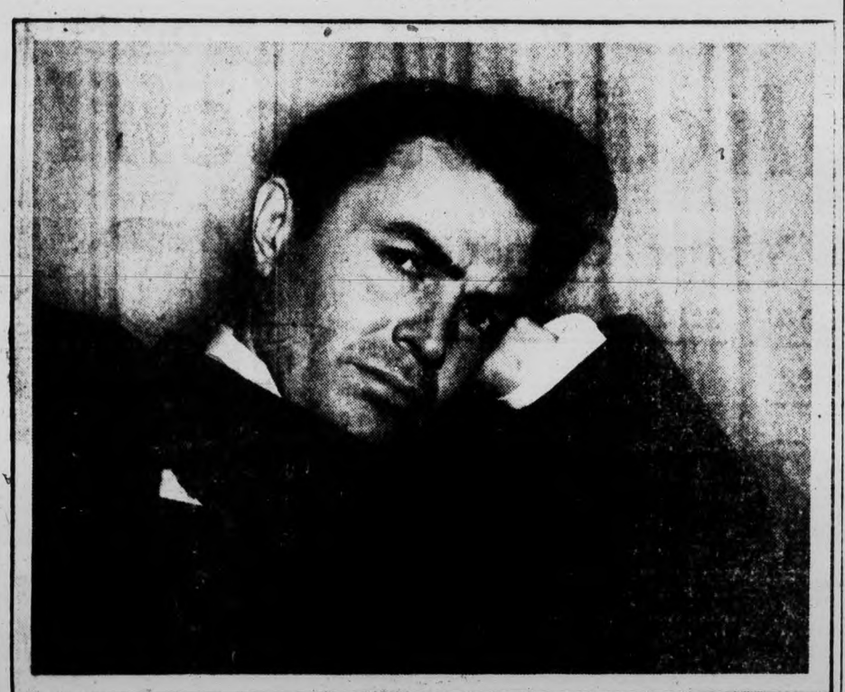
Presenting the flag at the altar, upon arrival in the church, for the Legion, were Sgt. H. Raper, color bearer, Robert Scott and Lyle Nattress completing the color party. Major MacLean received the flag, and returned it from its place of honor by the pulpit after the service, when the parade reformed. The combined choirs of the three churches led in the hymns, with Miss M. L. Collins at the organ.

Major MacLean read the lesson and Mr. Patterson led in prayer.

Mr. Foote gave his address on "The Rough Times of Life." His remarks were based on the story told by Christ of the two houses, one of which stood and the other fell, "when the rains descended, the floods came, and the winds blew."

"Today we honor the memory of those who laid down their lives for us, and preserved our national house against the storms of war which destroyed other nations. Permanence in national and individual life depends upon character, and it is for us to gird up our loins and give proper place to faith and Christian living. There is little use in putting on a big front—what counts is whether we show we are building on the firm foundation of faith in Christ as Saviour in our daily living. The quality of life is determined by our faith, and the real tragedy, if another struggle came, would be if our lives were built upon the sand, lacking faith. Do not worry, but go on living, and building, depending upon the power and reality of God, which will never fail."

The two minutes' silence was observed, followed by the Last Post sounded by Donald McKnight.



Wreaths at the cenotaph were laid by Mrs. J. H. Bingham, who placed the provincial tribute, representin the mothers whose sons gave their lives in the war, and by Major L. J. Stuart, for the Legion; in remembrance of their son, who died overseas in World War II. Mr. and Mrs. W. Turner, of Cavan, also placed a wreath. Major MacLean was in charge of the cenotaph service.

German Occupation Better Says Estonian Girl Once Under Russian Heel

By MARGARET LANCASTER

"German occupation would certainly be preferable to Russian," Miss Sylvia Pedak from Estonia said without hesitation Friday night. She shuddered as she spoke of the Russian occupation of her country in 1940-41 to members of the YWCA Friday Night Supper Club. Many times she stopped in the account where words could not describe her feelings.

"I have met many nations and speak several languages, and I have seen so much that is too terrible to tell you" she said with the hope that Canadian girls may never know the horrors of her teen years.

"I was just finishing high school when the Russians took over Estonia. Political leaders were put into the schools and you had to think very carefully what you were going to say before them. Boys and girls who let it be known they were against Communism just disappeared and were never heard of again. You can imagine what happened," she finished in a low tone.

"All the school books were changed and in the new ones everything was different, with the history of the Communist party foremost. If you knew what Stalin was said to be doing you passed your exams. I still have to think about dates, like Napoleon, and remember which I learned first to know what is correct."

Relations Disappear

"All my relations were taken to Russia and I have not heard of them since" Miss Pedak said sadly. "The population of Estonia was two milion, and in one day alone 60,000 people were rounded up to be settled in Russia—a knock on the door, five minutes to get ready and they could take 20 pounds."

"Those people, including my friends and relatives, were kept there on board trains for three days without food and we could hear them screaming and crying but could do nothing. They prayed to kill themselves but there was no possibility." Miss Pedak explained that the purpose of taking them away was to have free access to the Finnish Bay which was important to them.

"Oh yes it was very simple for them to say what we must do, but it was horrible to us. It has been said that Estonia turned Red at that time, but it was not us. It was the Red army which outnumbered us so greatly. The Russian women came to our country too, and they were wearing such awful clothes, but they looked at us and pooh, poohed ours. In a few days they had taken over the best stores and dressed themselves up finely."

Possessions Taken

Estonians taken to Russia, however, were promptly stripped of all their possessions and were not even allowed shoes in sub-zero weather.

"Most of them have died and their bodies are thrown into piles of others. When the pile gets too big, inflammable liquid is thrown over it and lighted."

First hand authority for this statement came to Miss Pedak from a man who crawled out alive and made his way home. He told of others who forced their captors to shoot them by piercing their eyes with a kind of pencil that makes them blind and therefore of no further use to the Communists.

"The Germans occupied Estonia for two years, but they didn't do anything to us" Miss Pedak said, turning to another phase of her experiences. "They took our house, as all others, for the troops, and our family had one room left."

With a rueful laugh she explained why she was sent to a German labor camp.

"Like other school girls I was full of wonderful ideas, so I refused to make the officer's bed in our home. He told me I would be taught to work, and in a few days I received papers assigning me to this camp where I worked for 15 hours each day and then couldn't sleep because I felt so horrible. We worked in factories and on farms, wherever we could help the Germans win the war."

Also in this camp was the late Kaiser's granddaughter and Miss Pedak describes her as "a wonderful girl." Her daily job was tending Angora rabbits and her hands and arms were constantly bleeding from their scratches but she was never heard to complain.

Hard Labor

"The worst thing I had to do was wash all the clothing of 100 girls in the camp and have it dried and ironed in one week" she says almost in tears at the thought. "It just wasn't possible to do it and the Nazi leaders used very abusive language to me so I often ironed things and those brave girls put them on still wet without a word."

Allied liberation did not end the misery of those like Sylvia who had lost their homes and knew nothing of their family.

"They said 'You are free' and everyone rushed out but me—I had no place to go and not even a dress to wear." Wandering the streets she was stopped by an American soldier who questioned her why she was wearing prison uniform. After explaining her plight and what she could do he got her a job in a hospital "where I wore another uniform" she adds.

The trek of several thousand miles from a Displaced Persons camp in Northern Germany to one in the south in search of her mother and sister took two weeks, without food, but had a happy ending. She slept in bombed out railway stations, head pillowed on her handkerchief. Sometimes she got "lifts" if the driver believed her story and had something under which to hide her, for it was forbidden to pick up anyone for fear of aiding Nazi leaders to escape the country. On reaching the camp she was told there was no one there named Pedak, and Sylvia thought "this is too much, I can't stand this again." But, miraculously it happened that her mother was the first to see her as she entered the grounds.

Now in Canada one year, less two days, Sylvia Pedak is enjoying the blessed freedom of democracy. She was the first Displaced Person to arrive in Peterborough and came alone. She says of her first day, "Everyone was laughing and talking, so I laughed too. Later I found out what they laughed at, so I laughed again." Her mother and sister are now in this district too, and the little family looks forward to happy days once more.

WMS Council Head At St. Paul's Friday Meeting

Mrs. A. W. Pae, of Toronto, president of the Council Executive of the WMS, was special speaker for St. Paul's Auxiliary Thankoffering meeting Friday afternoon.

Introduced by Mrs. E. H. Howson, Mrs. Pae told of the society's work among the youth of Canada. Nursery schools for pre-school children have been established at Vancouver, Porta la Prairie and Montreal, and are of great assistance to parents in the housing difficulties of those cities.

At St. Margaret's Centre for girls under 16, a new opportunity is given them to become useful citizens, and Mrs. Pae gave examples of the success of the plan.

In girls' and boys' camps across Canada regional secretaries working under both church and WMS are planning programs, gathering equipment and supplies for next year. Miss L. McArthur and Miss R. Walker have been efficient in this work and leadership training for group work is stressed.

Mrs. Pae gave an over-all picture of work in India which is very difficult at present. The Indian church is established but not strong and the chief task is to train native nurses, teachers and doctors so they may go out among their people with Christian teaching as well. At present a fourth generation native Chinese Christian and his wife are spending a year in Toronto studying Canadian church life, an example of what has been accomplished in China.

Mrs. H. McLaren, accompanied by Mrs. R. C. Searles, sang "We Thank Thee." Devotions were in charge of Mrs. W. A. Cochrane. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. C. G. Boyd and the president, Mrs. D. T. Diplock was in the chair. Appreciation to those contributing to the fine program was expressed by Mrs. T. J. Carley.

Tea hostesses were Miss L. Davidson, Mrs. R. R. Hall and Miss H. Munro.

Appearances Are Great Deal To Career Girl

By MARGARET LANCASTER

"Career girl" might mean a neat little desk of your own—or a neat little home of your own. In any event, the pros and cons of career versus housekeeping have been gone over often enough. The subject of clothes is something else again. Keeping up apparances is as vital to the person who's concerned with her particular small community as to the job-holder.

In most cases the clothes in question come under the heading, any season, of more taste-than-money. Most designers know that girls are interested in a good daytime suit and a versatile daytime dress at around $50 and perhaps considerably less. After-five and party dresses must cost no more and the same is true of an evening dress, even for what are called "important nights."

As the festive season approaches the career girl has an urge for a new dress that will be very becoming and have a certain air of elegance. But alas! There are Christmas gifts to buy and everything is so expensive this year! Smother that thought and go shopping. Choose a dress so beautifully basic it can be worn from morning till midnight—dressed up or down as the occasion demands. It should be simply designed with the skirt straight and narrow, perhaps softly draped at the waist and neckline. With glittering rhinestone pins and strings of pearls—as many strands as you wish or one extra long and knotted in the centre—you can appear anywhere with confidence. It needn't necessarily be in a dark or neutral color. Any of the popular shades will do if the cut and style is right.

For wear from dusk on into special evenings of her life, the career girl might choose moire as the fabric with a slightly longer skirt, the flattery of an open neckline and sophisticated detail. A bit more formal would be lace in a shirtwaist style, designed over taffeta.

New materials that are flecked with gold threads are ideal for this type of dress. Tissue faille or crepe dresses may fit the calender of social events better if beadtrimmed or brilliantly eye-catching with sequin detailing. Always they should have the newly slender look, and point out a tiny waist.

Continual Arguers Coped With by Keeping Silent

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Heaven help me, I am married to a man who is a continual arguer. He does not agree with anybody on any subject in the world. Whether it is business, religion, politics, how to rear children or anything else, he is "agin" it, and is driving me crazy.

Dorothy Dix

Although he never has made a success of anything himself, he does not hesitate to tell other people exactly how they should manage their affairs and how they would become millionaires if they would only take his advice.

Isn't there some way that these self-elected oracles can be silenced and made to realize that a man doesn't show how smart he is by differing with everybody else's opinions? He just proves that he is too dumb to learn anything.

TIRED WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly there is nobody in the world who gets on our nerves so much as the chronic arguer. He or she is like a pebble in the shoe that irritates us to madness, for the one thing that none of us craves to hear is criticism. We don't want to be told of our mistakes, our children's faults, our poor taste in dress, the mean things somebody said about us, what a poor cook one's wife is or of what a dub one's husband is in business.

Arguers Never Get Anywhere

We want to have our fur rubbed the right way and for our friends and relatives to keep out of our hair. We want people to give us the glad hand and use plenty of soft soap in dealing with us. If you will notice among your acquaintances, you will see that the arguers never get anywhere. It is the yes-yesers who pat us on the back and say pleasant things to us whose fortunes we push.

Now it is unfortunately true that arguers can be exterminated and the world thus made a pleasanter place to live in; but they can be suppressed, and I knew a man who had a formula for doing it that worked. When he fell into the clutches of men and women who felt it their sacred duty to tell him how silly and wrong all of his ideas were, he never tried to defend himself. He merely said: "Really!" And that stopped the arguers in their tracks. For you can't go on arguing forever about something in which your victim doesn't seem to be even interested.

There is no such knockout blow as silence can give. Just try it and see.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are four sisters who never have dates. We are in our thirties, not bad looking, have good personalities. We are well liked and have good business positions. With practically all of our friends married, our parents are wondering why we shouldn't be. But they do not realize that it is because when we were 19, 20, and even 25 that they wouldn't let us have dates or go out with our boy friends. So we were branded as old maids even while we were girls.

Our friends want to know why we NEVER have dates. The answer is that Papa and Mama drove off the boys when we were young and they never have come back again.

POOR OLD MAIDS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: When girls who are nice and attractive and who would like to marry never have a chance at a wedding ring, it is almost always the fault of the parents. Sometimes it is because they don't want their daughters to leave them. Sometimes it is because they have all sorts of foolish notions of it not being safe for an up-to-date girl to go out without Father or Brother to protect her. Often it is because the parents want the girl's pay envelope, or because they are sick and want to turn their daughters into nurses.

But I would say to you four sisters: Don't give up the ship. Don't climb on a shelf and stay there. Buy yourselves some good clothes and, if your parents won't entertain for you, do the entertaining yourselves. Really, girls of your age have a fine chance of getting good husbands because you are thrown with men of a suitable age and they know you well enough to appreciate your good qualities.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband, my daughter who is 18 years old, and myself went to live with my mother when my father died two years ago because she was lonely. Mother is very dictatorial, and if my daughter isn't in the house by half past ten at night, she locks the door on her. She also makes our daughter give an account of everything she does, where she goes and how she spends her money. The girl has no liberty whatsoever.

My husband and daughter are very unhappy being under Mother's thumb and they want to move into a home of our own. What shall I do? I will take your advice.

WORRIED

ANSWER: If you will take my advice, you will put on your hats and leave your tyrannical mother to her own devices. You owe your young daughter that much freedom, and if you deny it to her you may drive her into eloping with some heel who will ruin her life.

BIG NEWS IN EDMONTON these days is the birth of quadruplets. But hold on, it's not the Edmonton familiar to Canadians we're talking about but a community in England—North Middlesex county. The mayor of Edmonton has launched an appeal fund for the quads and states that trustees will be appointed to administer the fund. The quads have left their oxygen tents and are now quartered in a special nursery. Here Sister Dorothy Dean of Liverpool feeds Annette with a Belroy Feeder, which holds eight teaspoonfuls of milk, while, left to right, Paul, Robert and Kevin await their turn.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, November 14

Sunday's horoscope richly emphasizes the so-called "Opportunity Aspects" in the science of stellar influences. It would be difficult to "block the wheels of progress" under such bounteous auspices. Serious and practically constructive projects or objectives are bound to attain satisfactory climax, with much to be attained by shrewd and energetic tactics and forthright attack. Plans and aspirations of a more personal or domestic interest also thrive. Visiting, parties and Sabbath ceremonials are due for happy fruition.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to prepare for the happy and prosperous fulfillment of their highest hopes and wishes. This holds true in business and professional life as well as social, cultural and romantic associations in which much joy and gratification are assured. Security and development of practically constructive goals gain by shrewd and sagacious preparation.

A child born on this day should be bounteously blessed with the elements and character for outstanding success of practical and enduring quality, with a happy and efficient life, with prestige and popularity.

For Monday, November 15

Monday's forecast is for the sudden precipitation of some unlooked-for factor or development which may have power to swerve the wheels of progress off balance. An error of judgment, a false move, overestimating values or an entirely unpredictable or unique situation may arise to upset cherished plans. The best hope for readjustment or ultimate success might be quite as sudden and dramatic a stroke of genius or innovation. As judgment seems to be emotional it may be well to reconstruct programs.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may bolster themselves for the unforeseen development of strange, irregular or sensational visitation, calling for most astute, audacious and clever manipulation. All sorts of situations or unique experiences may block cherished ideals and ideas, probably owing to mistakes of judgment, erratic impulses or some rash emotional urge. With serious analysis, a sagacious rearrangement of plans or a clever stroke of ingenuity it is possible to effectually avoid the "rocks."

A child born on this day while probably brilliant, progressive and ambitious, may also be prone to flighty ambition.

Parisian Designs Show U.S. Influence

NEW YORK — (CP) — The United States can take a bow for the change of silhouette at the current Paris fashion openings. So says fashion expert Adelaide Hawley, returning from a flying trip to Paris and London.

"The American influence is strongly evident in both London and Paris collections," Mrs. Hawley reports. "For the first time in fashion history, I believe New York this time has led the way in establishing the prevailing silhouette, with Paris designers following."

The Paris-born new look, which roused the ire of American women last year, has given way for the most part to slim lines and conservative cut, says Miss Hawley. She adds:

"The Empire silhouette is strong in most Paris collections—that is, the high-waisted line which has been seen in American collections for at least two seasons.

"The French achieve the effect sometimes by a deep back yoke with fullness below, springing from about the point of the shoulder blades, or by a very wide midriff starting at the natural waistline and continuing upward to the bust.

The hobble skirt, which was an early sensation of the New York fall openings also is seen repeatedly in the Paris collections, says Miss Hawley. She adds:

"Many skirts are tightly banded at the knee, with a flare below, or are banded at the bottom, so the models have to walk with small, mincing steps.

"A hobble skirt was shown with a w band at the bottom," and also employed the knee-band on some skirts.

"The fringed wool shawl worn instead of a suit jacket which has been seen in many of the American collections, also appears in the new Paris styles for fall."

Big berets and small, close-fitting cloche hats, already popular in the United States are among leading fall models shown in Paris millinery, says Miss Hawley. The American fad for higher shoes also is seen in Paris.

The only Paris designer clinging firmly to the "new look," she observes, is Christian Dior its author who continues to show wide-skirted, doll-waisted styles.

Miss Hawley says she was particularly impressed by the London showings where slim-skirted suits of well-bred tweeds were shown for country wear, more formal dressmaker suits of smooth woollens for town. These are being designed principally for export, with the North American market in mind.

DELAY MARGARINE RULING

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 — (CP) — The Supreme Court decision on the validity of the margarine ban—expected next Monday—has been delayed and will not be handed down until later next week, it was learned today. The judgment will determine the legislation prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of margarine in Canada as constitutional. It was adopted 62 years ago.

Anti-Vice Drive Rounds Up Girls

ROUYN, Que., Nov. 13 (CP)—Northwest Quebec police said today that as a result of an anti-vice drive in the Abitibi district nearly a score of girls have been arrested on charges of vagrancy.

Police said most of those arrested have come to this region during the last month from Montreal, North Bay, Sudbury and Kirkland Lake.

"The situation is just starting to get bad," Ralph Allen, in charge of the Noranda branch of the provincial police said. "We are trying to nip it in the bud. The drive is on the whole Abitibi region. Nine girls were arrested in Val d'Or last week, six or seven the week before. We have also made arrests at Amos. The provincial police are working in conjunction with the town police."

Rouyn police chief Emile Dussault said that parents lack control over their young children, and girls, "some not 14 years old" can be seen on the streets or in hotels at all hours."

Three hotels will face charges next week of keeping open after closing hours.

Most of those arrested have appeared in court and had their cases postponed until Nov. 16.

Slave Uprising Of Negroes Theme Of Play

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (CP). — As its first production of the season, the Theatre Guild has delved into history for an earnest, painstaking account of an attempted uprising of Negro slaves in Charleston, S.C., in 1822.

The play is "Set My People Free," by Dorothy Heyward. At times it is eloquent at times slow-moving, but the sincerity of the presentation compels attention.

Principal interest centres in the dilemma in which George, a head slave in the household of Captain Wilson, is placed by the planned insurrection. He is torn between his loyalty to a kindly master and his desire to stand with his own people.

Canada Lee gives an understanding and at times moving performance in thi srole. Juano Hernandez does a fine job as Denmark Vesey, ringleader of the abortive plot, and so does Mildred Smith as Rose, George's wife.

Somer Albert, former Montreal actor, appears briefly as Trader Henri, a cruel slave-owner who is killed by his own people.

Camile Televised

Judith Evelyn, noted acrtess who was born in Moose Jaw, Sask., and began her stage career in Winnipeg, stars Snuday night in a televised performance of Alexandre Dumas' "Camille." The version in which she appear was specially written for her by Andrew Allan, well-known producer. Adding to the Canadian flavor of the presentation, Toronto-educated Bert Lytell is production supervisor.

Aisle Jottings

"Mister Roberts," the salty and successful play about nautical life in wartime backwaters has passed its 300th performance at the Alvin Theatre . . . "Born Yesterday," the Judy Holliday vehicle which has been creating laughs at the Lyceum Theatre since Feb. 4, 1946, moved this week to Henry Miller's theatre to make way for a newcomer "Bravo!" . . . "As The Girls Go," Michael Todd's new musical comedy production with Bobby Clark and Irene Rich, opens this week-end.

Education Not The Answer To World Peace—Rev. Kaye

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 13—(ENS)—The Rev. Horace Kaye, who has accepted a call to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, was guest speaker at the Memorial Service held in Memorial Hall, Thursday morning.

Mr. Kaye, who was introduced by the Rev. W. Watson, is a veteran of both world wars, having served with the air force in world war 1 and having been a padre in world war 2.

Taking as his text a "Warless World" the speaker recounted how it had been prophesied by Isaiah that one day war would be abolished and we should have a warless world.

As war was the pastime and glory of kings in that century, the prediction was an instance of inspiration.

"Twenty-six centuries have passed and today more people are thinking, talking and writing about a warless world than ever before, although it is still an ideal, and a hope."

"The thought that universal peace could be had through science was a mistaken idea. It was German science that plunged the world into world war No. 1 and gave more deadly weapons for the second world war. Science gave the deadly atomic bomb. There can be no salvation of humanity through science."

"There are no more highly educated people than the Germans. For the past 100 years we have been sending students from all over the world to Germany for advanced education. There is no salvation for humanity through education. Nor through commerce, nor fear of the horrors of war.

"Now we have the peace of exhaustion. There is a cold war going on between Russia and the United Nations. There is a feeling that this cold war will break out into war more devastating than both world wars put together."

"Germany was a mighty nation. Russia a mighty nation. They will both become strong again."

"Only as nations learn and practice Christian principles will a warless world be established."

The invocation was given by Rev. G. F. Kelly. Rev. L. Delaney gave the prayer for the "King and Empire," "Our Dominion" and the peace of the world.

Mrs. Cora Hendren sang "O Valiant Hearts" accompanied by Mrs. Harold Trude.

Benediction was pronounced by Rev. W. R. Archer.

Previous to the ceremony the High School Boys' Band, followed by the Boy Cadet Corps and the Girls' Corps, paraded down the main street.

Wreaths were placed on the war memorial at the close of the service by the members of the different organizations in the village, and relatives of those who had sacrificed their lives in the wars.

FRANK SIMPKIN OF TORONTO

saves 13-year-old girl from drowning at Ward's Island

Frank Simpkin, 42, who runs a newsstand at Dundas and Keele Streets in Toronto, was blinded in an explosion when he was 24. One day in September, in spite of his blindness, he swam to the rescue of a drowning girl in the cold waters of Lake Ontario, off Ward's Island.

Simpkin was on a picnic with his family, and that of a friend when the screams of a young girl suddenly pierced the air. The 13-year-old youngster was in serious trouble, choking and spluttering, about 50 yards from shore.

SCREAMS GUIDE SWIMMER

In seconds, Simpkin was in the water with only the girl's screams to guide him. Once, he seemed to lose direction . . . but frantic cries of "Hurry, hurry!" put him back on the track. A few moments later he had reached the girl and was able to bring her in to shallow water . . . and from there in to shore and safety.

The heroic action of this totally blind man merits the praise of every Canadian. We are proud to honour Frank Simpkin, of Toronto, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

Although completely blind, Simpkin leaped to his feet when he heard the screams . . . and, without hesitating, swam 50 yards to rescue the drowning girl.

Confined to her bed for a short time, the young girl soon recovered. As an expression of her gratitude, she offered to help Simpkin with his work in her spare time.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

IN THE COURSE of Israel's advance in the Negev desert area, the Jewish settlement of Nizanim was liberated from the Egyptians, who had captured the collective settlement early in June. They took 43 settlers as prisoners. Eleven died. Now the settlers who escaped are returning for the first time to their former homes, now a mass of ruins. They are digging for the remains of fallen comrades who were killed in a dugout and not buried by the Egyptians. In the background is a shell-torn building that was once the community dining hall

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

FOILING INTERRUPTIONS

ONE MARK of the true competitor is the way that he copes with interruptions in the bidding when his own side has the lion's share of the strength. The opponents at that time are partly trying to confuse the issue and partly preparing for a possible sacrifice which might beat the stronger side out of its birthright. At such a time, the strong side should strive to obtain maximum points and not settle for what would please the other fellows.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1. 1♣ Dbl	1♦	1♥	5♦
2. 1♣ 6♥	1♦	2♥	5♦

That contract at the first table was set only three tricks, with one each in hearts and clubs, one in trumps and two in spades, giving the powerful North-South pair a score 500 points. At the second table of the team match, the 6-Hearts contract was a cinch, with only a trick lost to the diamond A. As a consequence, that pair scored 1430, made up of 180 for tricks, 750 slam bonus and 500 premium for game. It decided the match, since the swing of 930 on this deal enabled the winning team to have a margin for the whole contest of 630.

North in the post mortem at Table 1 placed the blame on South for two mistakes. First, he said, South should have bid 2-Hearts on his powerhouse when it was his first turn to overcall the diamond interruption. Second, in his opinion, South should not have left the double of 5-Diamonds in.

South's plea for his 1-Heart call was that it was a "free bid" showing fair strength and that he was prepared to "reverse" on his next turn with a bid of spades to show his power and the fact that he had five cards in the first suit with four in the second. North said nothing could have prevented that reverse if the first peep out of South had been 2-Hearts rather than a mere minimum of one. South said North should not have doubled, but should have supported the hearts over the 5-Diamonds. That, however, would be pretty hard to do when North had not learned about South's immense power.

St. Andrew's WA Sponsors Biggest Tea of Autumn

Most largely attended tea of the season was that held Friday afternoon by the Women's Association of St. Andrew's United Church. Ticket sales, under convenership of Mrs. Eric Baggs, had previously reached a total of more than 400 and many cash admissions were paid at the door to treasurer, Mrs. V. Hamilton.

Mrs. Charles Pilon, general convener, had arranged for booths to sell aprons, novelties, home made candy and baking and garden produce. Buyers were on hand well before the appointed hour. The Sunday school hall was decorated with evergreen with Christmas bells and wreaths in the background. Bouquets of colored leaves and sumach brightened each window.

Some attractive bridge tallies were noted close to a display of dainty luncheon mats with holders for serviettes. Handy bathroom clothes dryers were another novelty among an array of children's flannelette pyjamas, knitted mittens, hoods, and babies' bootees, bonnets and sweaters. On the home-cooking table there were decorative novelties made of pine cones with touches of red. Frosted layer cakes with a definite appeal to the palate highlighted the work of fine cooks who turned out tarts, pies, cookies and muffins for the customers. Home made candy was placed in containers and boxes decorated in gay colors.

The apron booth was convened by Mrs. D. V. Ketcheson assisted by Mrs. John McColl. Mrs. I. H. Keefer and Mrs. C. H. Wishart were in charge of the novelties, and Mrs George Green and Mrs. J. L. Gillespie of the knitting. Mrs. Jas. Turnbull and Mrs. L. H. Bearne convened the candy counter and Mrs. Roy Lewis was in charge of home cooking. Products of the garden were gathered by Mrs. White and Miss Hall.

Other helpers at bazaar tables included Mrs. D. Crawford, Mrs. H. Tudhope, Mrs. G. Glendinning, Mrs. I. Rattenbury, Mrs. J. R. Marshall, Mrs G. Putnam, Mrs. G. Ham, Mrs. H. Baker, Mrs. A. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. H. R. Wilson and Mrs. G. A. Gillespie.

Tea table arrangements in charge of Mrs. J. G. Wharry were outstanding in beauty and simplicity. In the ladies' parlor an exquisite bouquet of calla lillies with white pom pom 'mums and white asters was flanked by handsome silver candlesticks with triple arms holding white tapers and the cloth was of Italian cutwork.

For the second tea table centrepiece Mrs. Wharry designed angelic figures of embossed silver to hold the lighted tapers and placed them on an etheral cloud of white veiling, dotted with bunches of tiny white flowerlets. The cloth of white linen had panel inserts and border of lace. Mrs. James Lillico and Mrs. Thomas Lillico assisted with the decorations.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hawley was convener of the tea rooms. Presiding over the tea cups were Mrs. F. Moeser, Mrs. Gatz, Mrs. J. G. Wharry, Mrs. P. Rowell, Mrs. C. B. Waite, Mrs. E. R. Shirley, Mrs. F. McNeely and Mrs. W. J. Stacey.

Hostesses were Miss M. Ferguson, Mrs. B. King, Mrs. C. M. Scott, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, Mrs. A. McWilliams, Mrs. R. Morrow, Mrs. H. Tremaine and Mrs. J. R. Marshall.

Those assisting to serve were Mrs. C. Andrews, Mrs. J. McKone, Mrs. G. Reindhart, Mrs. H. R. Davis, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. E. Braund, Mrs. H. M. Niven, Mrs. R. Whalon, Mrs. K. Kingsston, Mrs. B. Fowler, Mrs. J. Jesson, Miss Verna Burgess, Miss Marian Manning, Miss E. Scott, Mrs. H. Northrop, Mrs. K. Robertson, Mrs. J. Richardson, Mrs. R. Cole, Mrs. Jas. Heffernan, Mrs. L. Brooks, Miss Doris Burgess, Mrs. C. W. Holman, Mrs. E. McCormack, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. G. Robson.

Guests were received at the door by the president, Mrs. C. W. Laing, assisted by Mrs. M. J. Aiken.

Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, next week, will attract many of the farmers of Peterborough district. Juniors and Holstein breeders are arranging for bus trips for Wednesday and scores of others will use their own cars.

FARM SONS AT THE TOP

President Harry Truman, Hon. T. L. Kennedy and Hon. Duncan Campbell are three sons of the farm who have recently succeeded to paramount places in government.

Their stories in the daily press must have been of special interest and satisfaction to farmers that their own industry and its ranks produce men of capability and calibre to attain such prominence. Farmers are not strangers on the political heights, but it must be a rare occurrence when they reach that level in a cluster of three.

Hon. Duncan Campbell, the new Premier of Manitoba, following the Hon. S. S. Garson who has moved on to Ottawa, has been for some years Minister of Agriculture. His advancement has been exactly similar to that of the Hon. T. L. Kennedy who has taken the place of Hon. George Drew as Premier of Ontario. And the boyhood of President Truman was spent on the farm.

Whether political leaders come from township or town, it is usualy a long way and it is no cinch.

✦ ✦ ✦

MILK MEETING NOV. 16

Dairy farmers were interested this week in Premier Kennedy's announcement of a meeting next Tuesday of arbitrators representing producers and distributors in an effort to set the price of milk in Ontario for the coming year. If negotiations fail of agreement, Col. Kennedy intends to appoint a chairman to carry on arbitration. The former price expired Oct. 31 leaving farmers uncertain of their present standing after a fairly long period of stabilized conditions.

Peterborough is one of about forty markets in the province that have agreed to negotiations with the distributing branch of the industry.

Local milk producers are wondering about the cause of delay, and because of their own willingness to negotiate they have been disposed to blame the distributors. They are certain that Premier Kennedy understands their circumstances and position, and also their hopes for continuation of an effectual basis of prices stability.

Some farmers have expressed doubt of the new legislation being as satisfactory as the former milk control act, but they say that it should be given a practical trial. The fact, they say, that about 40 marketing groups of producers are willing to proceed under the new instrument is evidence of their wish to co-operate with the provincial government, and also with the distributors.

✦ ✦ ✦

PLOWMEN'S DANCE

Peterborough plowmen's dance Tuesday, Nov. 16 at the Canadian Legion Hall is an annual social affair that attracts a large assembly.

✦ ✦ ✦

ROYAL "OLD GUARD"

Alfred Ayre of Hamilton, perennial exhibitors of sheep in this district, is one of the "Old Guard" of the Royal. 36 farmers who have been showing continuously since its opening 28 years ago. They will be dinner guests of the directors, each receiving a green and gold seal to be affixed to the diplomas they were awarded in 1922 for their loyal support.

✦ ✦ ✦

SHOULD BE APPRECIATIVE

The horse and buggy trotted off with rural individualism, William Walker of Dunnville told Northumberland canning crop producers at their recent meeting at Brighton. He said farmers should co-operate more and tighten their organization because every other group was doing it and frequently to the disadvantage of the producer.

Mr. Walker complimented Hon. Wm. Goodfellow, the county's member of the provincial government, urging farmers "to co-operate for their own good by collective effort." He also recommended that farmers should be more appreciative of those who were doing a good job for them. Too frequently, he said, those representing agriculture in many spheres received scant notice. Usually it was only criticism, and valuable work was overlooked.

George Gummer was re-elected president of the producers, and Norman Simpson of Colborne, vice-president.

Mr. Walker said there was not much hope of farmers "receiving mercy" from consumers in the matter of price, and cited potatoes at 75c a bag since the new crop came in. At that rate, the farmer was working for nothing.

✦ ✦ ✦

GIRLS' CLUB COURSE

Mrs. A. W. Conn, Home Economist for Peterborough county, completed last week a two days' course for Leaders' Training School for Homemaking Club at the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The project for this year is a hospitality unit called "The Club Girl Entertains". Club work is for any girl between the ages of 12 and 26. At least four girls are required to form a club. Those who attended the training school will hold nine or ten meetings for girls of their respective localities.

Leaders attended the school from the following Institutes and communities:

Warsaw—Mrs. H. G. Digweed, Mrs. M. Lonsberry. Buckhorn—Mrs. W. Pearson, Mrs. G. Dunford. Norwood—Mrs. F. Andrews. Havelock—Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Mrs. F. McKenzie. Lakefield—Gertrude Dunford, Mrs. C. Foster. Chandos—Mrs. F. Fontaine, Miss I. John. Belmont—Thelma Dafoe, Norma Shearer. Peterborough—Mrs. E. Thompson, Elva Atchison, Eleanor Whitfield.

This course aims to teach the grils how to be pleasing hostesses and gracious guests. They will study the "hows" of entertaining, learn the accepted standards for etiquette and behaviour, discuss hospitality in the club and public meetings, plan and prepare refreshments for parties, afternoon teas, family meals and picnics.

This is one of the 16 projects offered by the extension services of the Women's Institute Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

✦ ✦ ✦

ENGAGED FOR NORWOOD

For the four-day agricultural course at Norwood, Dec. 7-10, Frank Paterson, agricultural representative, has enlisted the help of Alex McKinney of Brampton, N. J. Thomas, BSA, MSc. of OAC, and Dr. H. L. Patterson of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Most Peterborough farmers know Alex McKinney. His subjects will be farm management and dairy herd management.

Prof. Thomas will discuss soils, pastures and fertilizer. Dr. Patterson is the new director of cost studies whose engagement with the Department of Agriculture was the outcome of the desire of the Hon. T. L. Kennedy to assist farmers in the accounting and economics of their business.

And that is what Dr. Patterson will do at Norwood, discuss farm business from the financial and acounting viewpoint.

The meetings at Norwood have been arranged by Mr. F. C. Paterson primarily to assist a group of 20 men who are taking advtage of the Veterans' Land Act, but they are also open to the farmers of East Peterborough and particularly the juniors.

"We are hoping for a good attendance," Mr. Paterson said yesterday. "I am hoping for at least 50. Our speakers are most competent men, and it is not just a matter of speaking. This is an instructional course."

✦ ✦ ✦

ROTATION PLUS BEES

This is success story, brief and bright. Albert Kuhl of Randolph, Nebraska, rented a farm in 1936, when the depression was beginning to lift. He bought a few colonies of bees. His neighbors were growing corn because it was a cash crop. They watched him critically when he put out his bees and planted sweet clover.

Gradually he adopted as a rotation, clover, corn, oats,—and bees to pollinate the clover. The 1930's were droughty. The first sweet clover seed crop wasn't exceptional, but the bees had done a good job. His first cash income from the seed and honey exceeded the average income from corn in his locality.

Then, neighbors began to take notice. Nitrogen from the sweet clover was doing things in the soil and for the corn.

Clover, corn, oats (and bees) rotated, and cash rolled into the Kuhl pockets. He bought the farm. Now he owns eight, and does not work any of them. He supervises his tenants to impress them with the results of his money-making rotation.

His bees have produced about three million pounds of honey in the last seven years. Mr. Kuhl had to sell the honey business in 1947. It had grown too big for him to take care of it,—and his eight farms and sweet colver seed. But, the bees will not be moved from those farms.

The tenants of 1936 now owns 1,280 acres. Each year 40 of every 160 acres is planted to sweet clover. This year he grew 148,800 pounds of sweet clover seed, and of that total 55,200 pounds were certifield Madrid.

Mr. Kuhl's sweet clover yield last year was about eight bushels an acre in spite of dry weather. He estimates his corn at 40 to 80 bushels an acre, averaging around 50. This is corn grown on sweet clover ground.

✦ ✦ ✦

SALE OF SHORTHORNS

Clifford W. Lowes of North Monaghan bought four of the Shorthorns consigned to the Blue Ribbon sale at Oshawa. Total receipts exceeded $7,000. Four bulls brought $1,270, an average of $318.50, and 22 females averaged $261 for a total of $5,740.

Females bought by Mr. Lowes were: Newallyn Lancaster, $270, from the H. A. Newman herd, Dunbarton; Augusta Lass, $260, consigned by E. J. McClung, Phelpstown; Orange Blossom Delight, $225., consigned by Innes Brothers; Newallyn King Clipper, $100., a bull calf from Newman.

Louis Cadesky of Harvey township drew $325 for his only entry the bull Louda Judge, that went to Archie Parinder of Myrtle Station.

J. H. Rogers of St. Ann's Ont., paid top price of $370 for a yearling bull from Beath Farms, Oshawa, and on the female side a dark red heifer consigned by Lew Richardson and Son, Ashburn, went to W. L. Bradby, Orangeville for $300.

J. Miller of Ashburn sold Claydoon Orange Blossom 2nd for $280 to Malcolm Buttar Plainville.

LUNCHEON DEC. 7

First Federation noon luncheon is set for Tuesday, Dec. 7, at the Empress. That was fast work by the committee, as reported by secretary John Kitney. Last Wednesday night Federation director decided to test Jim Gifford's idea that the city service clubs might have something in their weekly luncheon meetings. Farmers might find it worth while at least one a month.

A special committee was immediately named with an option of December or January for the first get together. Opinion seemed leaning toward January, but the very next morning Mr. Kitney announced the date—Dec. 7. A speaker has not yet been engaged, but that takes more time than over night.

Timothy hay, Medon variety, 5,500 lbs. orchard grass, Oron, 2,000 lbs.; meadow fescue, Mefon, 2,800 lbs.; perennial rye, Peron, 800 lbs.; and red clover, Redon, 100 lbs.

This superior seed will be given to seed growers who agree to use it for the purpose of producing registered seed in pure stands. Application forms should be sent to Dr. Weir before Jan. 31, 1949. Each name will be reviewed by the committee, and allocations will be made on the basis of available seed, suitability of the district for growing seed of the variety chosen, and past experience and available equipment of the proposed grower.

Applicants are asked to sign an agreement to give the Department an option to buy all of the registered seed from this crop at 50 per cent premium over the price of commercial No. 1 at March 1. They are also required to clean and grade the seed crop produced.

The Guernsey breed has attracted increased attention this year, and has expanded to the first association of Guernsey producers.

LOST 18 HOLSTEINS

Eighteen Holstein cattle were killed by electricity as they drank from their metal water troughs in the barn of W. J. Fawcette, [illegible] from Winchester in Dundas county Wednesday night. This freak but costly accident was caused by an electric power line coming in contact with a water pipe. Water is a conductor of electricity, apart from the metal connection through the pipes to the water bowls.

MEET NOVEMBER 22.

Here's another Federation date. Monday, Nov. 22, a general meeting at the office of Frank Paterson to consider further an automobile insurance project.

BY THE END OF 1949 the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario expects to generate 58,000 horsepower of electricity from the Mississauga tunnel, a scenic wonder of Northern Ontario. Construction has already started on one of Ontario's highest dams, a 230-foot structure which will hold back waters of the Mississauga River at a rocky gorge 20 miles north of Thessalon. Thessalon, about 55 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, is the base of supplies for the huge construction job. The project has brought new life to this lumbering community.

ST. LAURENT ADDS TWO NEW MINISTERS

PRINCESS ELIZABETH was safely delivered of a baby Prince Sunday. Mother and son are doing well and all Britain is rejoicing. The baby Prince of Edinburgh, like his mother, is now heir-presumptive to the Throne. He is second in succession.

Elizabeth Has Son; Both Well

Church Bells Peal, Crowds Around Palace After Birth

LONDON, Nov. 15 — (CP) — A son who may one day rule the Commonwealth was born Sunday night to Princess Elizabeth. Today Buckingham Palace announced that the new prince weighed seven pounds, six ounces at birth.

The announcement of the weight of the royal child came shortly after palace officials flashed word to a jubilant Britain that the condition of both mother and son "is satisfactory."

Members of the royal household described the prince as "a lovely boy, a really splendid baby," and "a bonny lad."

The four doctors who attended the birth Sunday night visited the mother and baby early this morning while church bells pealed and happy crowds clustered at the palace.

They issued this bulletin:

"Her Royal Highness the Princess Elizabeth has had some sleep during the night. Her condition and that of the infant prince is satisfactory."

Court circles said the wording of the doctors' bulletin, referring to "some" sleep indicated the princess did not have an entirely restful night.

Today cities, towns and hamlets in Britain, the dominions and the colonies gave the new prince a royal welcome.

Sunday night's momentous news of the birth came in a formal 26-word announcement from the doctors attending the princess. It said:

"Her Royal Highness, the Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh, was safely delivered of a prince at 9:14 p.m. (4:14 p.m. EST) today (Sunday). Her royal highness and her son are both doing well."

Wait Hours For News

Joyous thousands, who had waited for hours in the mild November weather, heard of the safe delivery nearly an hour later.

Word of the birth was brought to the anxious crowds by a blue-liveried page who walked briskly across the courtyard of the palace and notified the police constable on duty behind the massive bronze gates that the princess was safely delivered of a child.

The constable promptly boomed: "It's a boy."

That was the signal for thunderous cheers, wild hand-waving and an outburst of enthusiasm such as austere London has not known since Elizabeth, 22-year-old heiress to the throne, and handsome Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, were married last November.

While the bells of London pealed in rejoicing and 41-gun salutes were fired in Hyde Park and at the Tower of London, members of the Royal household eagerly

ONE DIED, TWO WERE SAVED when a boat overturned in rough water at Rice Lake Saturday. At Left is Brenton Dawson, 22, Millbrook, the hero of the tragedy who held Fred Hickey (Right) after the latter had collapsed in the water. Hickey's body has not been recovered. Dawson, like Hickey, is a draftsman at the CGE Co. Miss Mary Seeney, a student nurse, was also rescued.

Fred Hickey CGE Draftsman Drowns In Rice Lake, Two Companions Rescued

Fred Hickey, 41, CGE draftsman, drowned in the ice-cold waters of Rice Lake Saturday afternoon, and Brenton Dawson, 22, Millbrook, and Mary Seeney, 20, of Ida, a second year nurse-student at Civic Hospital, were rescued by Clarence Mau, of Buffalo. The trio was thrown into the water when high waves swamped the 14-foot flat-bottomed skiff they were using while duck hunting, about a mile from Birdsall's Wharf. They spent almost 3 hours in the water.

Mau, 58, is a diabetic and has a lame right arm. When he arrived, Miss Seeney was unconscious on top of the boat, and Dawson was holding Hickey, who was also unconcious in the water. The American rolled the girl into his boat, then dragged Dawson out of the water, but both he and Dawson were too weak to lift Hickey over the gunwale.

The lake was very rough with huge waves shipping water into Mau's 16-foot outboard motor boat. They decided to tow Hickey with Dawson sitting on the centre thwart, and Mau trying to hold Miss Seeney, who had become violent. Mau told police he had so much trouble with Miss Seeney, and the rough water that often he was 100 feet off his course, as he aimed for Birdsall's pier on the north shore of the lake. Halfway ashore he looked up and saw Dawson had collapsed on the seat and Hickey was gone.

Miss Seeney is in Civic Hospital recovering from the cold and exposure, and Dawson is at the home of his parents in Millbrook, receiving medical attention. He spent Saturday night in hospital, and was only semi-conscious on Sunday night. Dragging operations by several CGE employees failed to recover Hickey's body Sunday afternoon.

The duck boat is believed to have overturned shortly after two o'clock Saturday afternoon, and it was close to five when Mau made the rescue.

Brenton Dawson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Dawson, Millbrook. His father who at one time was a captain in the Canadian Army, teaches school at Weston. His son served in both air force and the Canadian Army in

Garson, Winters Named In Government Shift As Premier King Resigns

No External Display As Leadership Ends Only Few Spectators Present; Report Whole Affair Very Informal

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King tendered his resignation today, and the Governor-General quickly called on Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent to form a new government. Mr. St. Laurent, now Justice Minister, left Government House at 12.10 p.m. EST without indicating to reporters whether he had accepted, but it was a certainty he would take over the Government this afternoon and bring in two new Cabinet members.

It was expected the change-over would be made between 3.40 and 4 p.m., with Mr. King remaining Prime Minister until the actual shift.

The two Ministers, a Government House source said, will be former Premier Garson of Manitoba as Justice Minister and R. H. Winters, 38-year-old Commons member for Queens-Lunenburg, as Minister of Reconstruction and Supply.

Today's history making developments, ending the long Mackenzie King era, came quietly, with no external display and in the presence of few spectators.

The whole procedure had matter-of-fact air. Watching newspaper men and a handful of passersby at Laurier House were the only ones on hand for the formalities involved in the transfer of power, except for those officials directly concerned.

For the morning's proceedings, Mr. St. Laurent was dressed casually in a black lounge suit. However, the Governor General and Mr. King wore formal morning clothes.

The Prime Minister's morning trip from his home to Government House and return took less than half an hour. He left his home at 11.48 a.m. to submit his resignation.

Though stricken with an ailment of the blood circulation in London more than a month ago and sent to bed there for nearly four weeks, Mr. King told newspaper men Friday in a farewell press conference that he was not resigning because of his physical condition.

"I am not retiring because of ill-health," he said firmly, "but because I feel that insofar as my task relates to the administration of public affairs, it is now fulfilled . . ."

Chiang Troops Fight To Escape Communist Trap

NANKING, Nov. 15.—(AP). — Government troops today fought with the aid of a new mechanized arm to escape a massive Communist trap in the battle for Central China.

Pro-government press dispatches indicated the attempt to crack through the pincers movement was succeeding. But they lacked confirmation. Shanghai accounts went so far as to declare the Nationalists had turned the Red tide at Suchow Sunday.

Suchow is 200 miles northwest of Nanking. It is there the Chinese Red army must be stopped—or the road to the Chinese capital will be open. Suchow itself might fall without serious consequence if government commanders can avoid entrapment.

All sources agreed the Communists had cut off General Huang Potao's seventh army corps at Nienchuang, 33 miles east of Suchow. Chinese Central News Agency reported General Chiu Ching-Chuan's new mechanized army—first of its kind in China—had broken through Communist lines around Suchow and joined units of the seventh corps. The official spokesman here declined to confirm it, however.

(Word that Chiang Kai-Shek's younger son, Col. Chiang Wei-Kuo, led troops reaching Nienchuang suggested that possibly only advance elements had made junction with the seventh corps).

There was new danger to the west flank of the Suchow battle, Chinese press advices reported four Communist columns had moved southward to menace isolated Sunsien, on the rail line 45 miles south of Suchow.

Alien Emerges Key Figure In Investigation

LONDON, Nov. 15 (Reuters)—An alien known as Sidney Stanley, alleged to be an undischarged bankrupt, emerged as a key figure in the official inquiry which opened here today in to alleged irregularities involving British ministers and government officials.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, attorney-general, told the special tribunal that five of six specific allegations affected this alien. He added that, with this one exception, "the whole tangled web which you will have to unweave seems to have been spun" around this man.

Stanley, Sir Hartley said, formed what was suggested to have been an intimate association with John W. Belcher, parliamentary secretary to the board of trade. He also struck up a lesser friendship with George Gibson, a director of the Bank of England and chairman of the Northwestern Electricity Board, and, to a lesser extent, with Charles Key, minister of works.

Another part of the allegations dealt with a man named Liversidge, who claimed friendship with Belcher, Sir Hartley said.

He told the tribunal that the director of public prosecutions had decided that there is not at present sufficient evidence to support any prospection in relation to the matters before the tribunal. There had been allegations of corruption not in the strict sense, as defined by law, but in the broader sense as generally understood by the public.

'Red' Rolfe Named Manager Of Tigers

DETROIT, Nov. 15 (AP)—Robert A. (Red) Rolfe was today named manager of the Detroit Tigers American League baseball team. He succeeds Steve O'Neill.

A former New York Yankee star, Rolfe was coach of the now defunct Toronto Huskies in the Basketball Association of America in the 1946-47 season. In 1947 he was named director of the Tigers' minor-league farm system.

He succeeds Steve O'Neill, whose contract was not renewed.

No salary details were revealed by General Manager Billy Evans as he announced that Rolfe had received the managerial assignment.

Won't Work Diverted Ships Halifax Longshoremen Say

HALIFAX, Nov. 15—(CP).—Halifax longshoremen announced today they would not work any more ships diverted here from strike-bound United States ports. J. J. Campbell, president of the Halifax Longshoremen's Association (AFL), said, however, that the stevedores had decided to complete loading and unloading of the Mauretania, already in port, and were considering doing the same for three other ships.

He felt the same decision would be made regarding these ships, the Veendam, Britannic and Oregan.

Mr. Campbell said the decision to stop working diverted ships came after the United States longshoremen's strike became official. While the US strike was unofficial Halifax longshoremen had continued to work but now they did not wish to be classed as "scabs" and would work "no more diverted ships."

Halifax has about 2,000 longshoremen but today's no work call will affect only several gangs.

Do Some Work

The longshoremen will still continue to work ships whose original destination was Halifax.

Whether Mr. Campbell's "original destination" statement covered ships such as the Queen Elizabeth which announced its destination as Halifax before departing from Southampton was not known.

The immediate effect of the decision means that several gangs of stevedores have walked off three big ships diverted to this port after having sailed from Europe for New York. The ships are the Mauretania, Britannic and Veendam.

Previously, the longshoremen's president said all diverted ships would be treated as "routine arrivals."

Woman Is Killed By Stirling Driver

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 15—(CP). —Struck by an auto as she was walking on the Ridge Road, two miles east of Stirling, Mrs. David Heath, 60, of RR 2, Stirling, was instantly killed early Saturday night.

Driver of the car involved in the accident, Melbourne Moorcroft, 21, of RR 3, Stirling, told Provincial Police that he had been driving west along the county road when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car. He felt a slight bump and stopping the car found the body of Mrs Heath on the north shoulder of the road. Coroner Dr. E. A. Carlton, Stirling, has ordered an inquest.

Says Low Water Supply Cause Of Power Shortage

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.— (CP).— More power cuts appeared imminent today for Ontario municipalities as the critical power shortage continued in the wake of diminishing supplies.

Brockville and St. Thomas may lengthen their power cuts, starting today. Ottawa will introduce further blackouts if there is no general improvement in the power scene.

Meanwhile, on record were two statements as to the reasons for the root of the shortage, one by Robert H. Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, and the other by Trade Minister Howe.

Mr. Howe, speaking in London, Ont., Saturday, laid full blame for Ontario's Hydro crisis on George Drew, former Ontario premier and now national Progressive Conservative leader.

He told a convention of Liberals: "The shortage is serious now and threatens to assume calamity proportions next year. It is wholly due to neglect in dealing with a situation that was foreseen six years ago."

In contrast was the view of Mr. Saunders. Although he made no direct reference to Mr. Howe's remarks, he told the Ottawa Curling Club on the same day that a general lack of sufficient water was responsible for Ontario's power shortage.

"No person can be blamed for the present shortage," he said.

To back up his statement, the Hydro chairman said with the same water supply available Nov. 1 as last year, Hydro had a supply of 35,150,000 kilowatt hours, or a reserve of 971,673, since the demand took only 34,178,327 kilowatt hours.

"We won't be worrying about cut-offs next year," if normal water levels prevail, Mr. Saunders said. But right now Ontario Hydro was going through "one of the most critical periods in its four decades of service."

King Scholarship Given At U of T

TORONTO, Nov. 15—(CP)—Ontario friends of Canada's retiring Prime Minister have endowed the W. L. Mackenzie King Scholarship for master of arts in external affairs in his honor at the University of Toronto, where Mr. King won an Edward Blake scholarship in arts and law in 1893.

Frank N. Walker, member of the scholarship committee of which External Affairs Minister Pearson is honorary chairman, said today the scholarship would be worth $1,000 annually.

The scholarship is designed to encourage research in Canadian external relations and to obtain through extended investigation, an understanding of the questions arising from the Dominion's growing participation in this field.

The scholarship will be open to students who are Canadians by birth and who hold a bachelor of arts degree from any Canadian university. Students must have included in undergraduate studies at least two of geography, political science, economics and history, over a period of at least two years. The award will be made by the inter-departmental committee on international relations.

British Expert Denies Writing Jet Article

LONDON, Nov. 15 — (CP)— Charles W. Cain, a British aviation expert, Sunday night denied he was the author of an article in a United States aviation magazine in which information about the new Canadian C-100 twin-jet fighter plane was disclosed.

Interviewed in his Kensington home he said:

"I probably am suspected of being the writer because recently I went to Canada to cover a story about the C-102, a four-jet transport made by the makers of the C-100—A. V. Roe at Malton.

"While I was there I asked about the C-100 but they would tell me nothing."

The magazine, Aviation Week, early this month published a story giving a detailed description of the twin-jet C-100.

In Ottawa Air Marshal W. A. Curtis announced that the R.C.M.P. is making an investigation and the R.C.A.F. is "most anxious" to prosecute the person responsible for the leak of informtion about the secret aircraft.

Six Months For Assault

OSHAWA, Nov. 15 — (CP). — Robert Lee, of Oshawa, and Ralph Basseti, of Toronto, were each sentenced today to six months and a fine of $200 or an additional six months on a charge of assaulting two taxi drivers here on Nov. 4. Police said the pair beat up Bill Cashul and Murray Davidson, Oshawa taxi drivers.

CLARENCE MAU, 58-year-old American tourist of Buffalo, who has a cottage near Birdsall's Wharf, is shown at Right. He rescued Brenton Dawson and Mary Seeney from the ice-cold waters of Rice Lake Saturday after their boat overturned. Fred Hickey, Peterborough, was drowned. Mau, who is a semi-invalid, will be recommended for a life-saving award. At Left is Harry Dunlop, who helped Mau bring the two from the shore to his home, where they were given first aid, pending the arrival of the doctor and ambulance.

PARIS, Nov. 15 — (CP). — An informed source said to-day State Secretary Marshall of the United States will answer for President Truman a United Nations leaders' appeal for a Berlin peace.

UN Secretary General Trygve Lie and Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, President of the General Assembly, dispatched letters on Saturday to heads of state of the Big Four Powers asking for four power talks to settle the Berlin crisis.

The source said Marshall will answer the Lie-Evatt peace letter as soon as he and the British and French Foreign Ministers ho' full consultations.

Canoe Upsets Indian Is Drowned

Curve Lake Man Tries To Save Friend, Too Weak

Thrown into the water when waves overturned his canoe, Benjamin Simcoe, 58-year old Indian of the Rama Reserve, near Orillia, was drowned Saturday night. Thefatality happened a scant 100 feet from the Ennismore shoreline of the narrow strip of water joining Buckhorn and Chemong Lakes, about 15 miles north of Peterborough. With Simcoe, and able to make his way back to the shore after a vain attempt to save his companion, was Noah Taylor, elderly Indian of the Curve Lake Reserve.

Simcoe, a widower, had one son.

The pair set out from the Ennismore shore about 7 o'clock on Saturday evening to paddle to the reserve property on the other side, only a few hundred yards away.

Striking from shore, they immediately encountered the heavy "sea" caused by the buffeting wind. The frail craft turned over.

Tried To Save Him

Taylor attempted to keep Simcoe's head above water and right the canoe at the same time. He told police that very time he just about got Simcoe on the back of the canoe it would start to sink. Once, the man slid from the canoe and went under water, being caught desperately by Taylor and surfaced again.

Losing strength and unable to control Simcoe, who could not swim and was growing wild and panicky, Taylor released his hold and swam slowly back to the Ennismore shore. About 60 years old he was badly roughed by the experience himself and staggered to the farm house of George Harrington, where he was given assistance and help was summoned.

Provincial Constables Joseph Hanson and Keith O'Shaughnessy were in charge of dragging operations for more than six hours on Sunday. More than a dozen boats manned by about 30 Indians and other district residents, assisted them. The body was recovered about three o'clock.

Dr. H. G. Carleton, coroner of Peterborough, attended.

This year's fair, culmination of fall fairs across the country, is expected to attract a record number of entries from farmers of nine provinces. They have sent their grain, horses, vegetables, cattle, potatoes, sheep, swine and poultry here in search of national and international recognition to add to their local awards.

World War 1. He is a draftsman at the C. G. E. in Peterborough.

Details Still Vague.

Complete details of the tragedy will not be available until Dawson and Miss Seeney are sufficiently recovered to relate them. It was learned however that Dawson and Hickey went duck shooting at Rice Lake, Saturday morning, obtaining a boat at Frank Godfrey's south of Villiers. At noon they drove to Peterborough, and took Miss Seeney back with them on the hunt. They had been decoying near Margaret's Island, and when the lake got too rough, picked up the decoys and started for shore.

Mau and his wife occupy a summer cottage, 300 yards east of Col. Birdsall's home and owned by the latter They have been there since April 7, because of Mr. Mau finds the Canadian climate good for his health. His six-months expired October 7, and he had obtained a one month extension of his visitor's permit from the Government and intended to leave for Buffalo on Monday.

"I was cutting some kindling wood in the back yard late Saturday afternoon, when I thought I heard someone call "help, help." I thought at first it was some boys on Margaret's Island, and I couldn't see anything when I looked out on the lake. I called my wife and we went to the porch to get a better look. She saw a small speck, but thought it was too small to be a boat," he said.

Had To Make Sure

Mr. Mau, continued saying that he told his wife, he couldn't rest unless he was sure it wasn't a boat, so he went to get his own craft at the shore. It was filled with water, and it took he and his wife several minutes to bail it.

"Then I got my outboard which I haven't used since the fishing season ended, and it wouldn't start. Finally I got it going and headed for the boat, which was in Webb's Bay across the lake, and more than a mile away."

"When I got there the girl was lying on her back unconscious on the upturned flat-bottomed boat. I didn't know she was a girl at the time, and I was able to pull her into my boat at the back near the motor. Dawson was hanging to the side of the boat, and holding Hickey Dawson said, 'Try and get this fellow in.' He shoved and pushed but we couldn't make it and the boat was shipping water. He did everything I told him, although I could see he was very weak. I told him to move around to the other side of my craft while I held Hickey. He did this and when I turned he had two hands on the gunwale. As he pulled himself up, I reached over and swung him into the boat on the middle seat. Then I brought Hickey up to Dawson and we tried to pull him in. We were too weak, and one of my arms isn't too good."

Started To Kick.

"I told Dawson to hold Hickey and we would head for shore. He suggested going to Webb's but I knew there was no one there, and I knew Isabel Birdsall was a nurse and they had a phone. As I started the motor the girl started to kick and I had to run the motor and hold her, and all the time the waves were splashing water into my boat.

"I kept encouraging Dawson to hang on, and he seemed to be holding up well, but it was sheer grit, because he was very weak.

Dawson is very strong, but I could see he was about done. He said "I kept telling them stories, and singing songs, but we couldn't have hung on much longer. Fred helped me get Mary on top of the boat, then he passed out. He was shivering, and blue from the cold."

Dawson Collapses

"About half-way in a big wave hit us, and when I looked at Dawson, he had collapsed on the seat and Hickey was gone. I looked around but couldn't see him. I don't know when Dawson let go, because I was too busy running the motor and holding Miss Seeney, who was right at my feet."

"When I reached Birdsall's Pier, the waves were slapping over the top of it, and I ran the boat into shore. As I tied the boat, Dawson got out and started to wade around in the shallow water. I got him into the boat and told him to stay with the girl while I got help. I ran to Birdsall's but there was no one at home. Then I hurried down the road to Harry Dunlop's and he drove his car to the pier."

"Dawson walked to the car himself while we carried Miss Seeney. He had attempted to carry her as we aproached but wasn't able to lift her. When we reached Dunlop's home we sent Dunlop's boy for my wife, and Dunlop phoned Hastings for a doctor."

At this point, Dunlop who is employed by Col. Birdsall said: "Dr. Bell Smith had no car. Strangely enough he had made a call a few days before to Simpson's, that's the mother of Hickey's wife who lives close by, and had burned out a connecting rod. I drove to Hastings, notified the police, and brought the doctor back."

Mr. Mau said "The two women, Mrs. Dunlop and my wife undressed Miss Seeney and put her to bed. They wrapped her in warm blankets and put hot water bottles around her, and rubbed her feet and hands".

"She was cold as ice, and unconscious," Mrs. Mau interjected.

Taken To Hospital

"Dawson was standing near the stove, and shivering so hard he was shaking the floor," Mr. Mau said. "Finally we got him to change clothes and drink some hot tea. After the doctor arrived both were rushed to the hospital in Peterborough."

Mr. Dunlop said Dawson seemed to have amazing energy. "He walked out to the ambulance and insisted on staying in the back with Miss Seeney. When he was standing near the stove he said: "The waves were so high, water came in over the back of the boat and swamped it. We couldn't bail it out fast enough".

"I think the motor must have conked out, and in a 14 foot on that lake when it is rough is no picnic. I wouldn't venture out in anything under 16 foot", Dunlop remarked.

"My husband had a rather bad night, his heart kept pounding and he couldn't sleep. That is no experience for a sick man to have to go through," Mrs. Mau added.

Sunday afternoon Mau and Dunlop searched along the north shore hoping to find the boy.

Drag Lake

D. Sproule, Walter Jackson, Ossie Price, and C. Johnston with several others from Peterborough searched the shore and dragged the lake. They recovered a gas can, the decoys, the boat and Dawson's hat, but at a late hour Sunday with the snow falling the search was abandoned until today.

Hickey and Dawson had often shot ducks and fished in that part of the lake which is about 1¼ miles wide.

Hickey is the only son of James J. Hickey, and the late Mrs. Hickey. He was born in Peterborough but went to Renfrew in 1917 when his family moved there. He returned to Peterborough in 1928 and started as an apprentice in the drafting room at the CGE. Next April he would have completed 20 years service.

Played Baseball

He played baseball with Renfrew Collegiate and other teams before returning to this city. He starred as a first-baseman with the Crescents in the East Peterborough League, and in the same position with the Raybestos team in intermediate baseball. He also played a few times with the Peterborough Seniors.

He was a member of the Peterborough Curling Club, the Kawartha Golf Club, and an enthusiastic member of the CGE Shop Bowling League. His hobbies were fishing and hunting.

His only brother Jim Hickey was shot down over Germany in 1944 while serving with the RCAF.

Surviving is his wife, formerly Anne Simpson, and one son, David, 11. Besides his father there are two sisters, Myra and Mrs. E. M. Crough. His family lives at 304 Maitland Ave.

sought a glimpse of the tiny Royal Prince. Those who had no pretext for visiting the improvised nursery on the second floor of the Palace had to be content with scraps of information from others more fortunate.

Little Information

Hardly a trickle of information has leaked from the Royal household, but one lucky member who had seen the new Prince said: "He is a lovely boy, a really splendid baby."

The brief Palace bulletin was the only official statement issued. It left many questions unanswered:

How much does the baby weigh?

Was trilene, an anaesthetic, administered?

How long was the Princess in labor?

Have the Prince's names been chosen?

The desire of the rejoicing peoples of the Commonwealth of Nations may be partly satisfied in a second bulletin which, it is understood, will be issued to-day.

The birth evidently was uncomplicated. Labor apparently lasted some two hours. An anaesthetic was used, but reliable reports said it was not trilene.

Although the name of Elizabeth's son was not announced, the King already has disclosed he will have the title Prince (Christian name) of Edinburgh, and will be addressed as "His Royal Highness."

The infant's name will perhaps be kept secret until the christening—probably in the church at Sandringham, the King's favorite country estate, where the Royal Family is expected to spend Christmas.

One may assume that selections have been made—and that two of them are George, for the King, and Philip, for the father. Albert may be included in deference to a custom initiated by Queen Victoria, who asked that the name of her Consort be included in that of future Princes. In the running, too, is Louis, for Earl Mountbatten, Philip's uncle.

In Yorkshire and Lancashire, along the Cornish and Welsh coasts, on the Cliffs of Dover, the beacons will be lighted to-night and bonfires made on the beaches. Fireworks and torchlight processions top the festivities in many communities.

Londoners and provincial visitors prepared to make another and even more exciting holiday of the day—outside Buckingham Palace, in Piccadilly, Trafalgar Square and Leicester Square, each a rendezvous for such activity. Thousands already were out at their chosen spots.

Naval Touch

Fighting ships of two nations today held the spotlight in this port.

The Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent moved ponderously down the harbor, her guns crashing out a 21-gun salute to Princess Elizabeth's hours-old prince. Bound for week-long training manoeuvres, Magnificent was accompanied by the destroyers Aida and Nootka and the frigate Swansea.

Approaching the harbor, meanwhile, was a United States task force, headed by the flattop Palau. The other vessels are the destroyer Tobson, the landing ship Dock Donner and the landing ship vehicle Colonial.

The American fighting craft, fresh from exercises that included a mock attack on the air base at Argentia, Nfld., will remain here for a two-day courtesy visit and 10 other US ships will visit Sydney, NS, during the same period.

Canada Asks Armistice In Holy Land

PARIS, Nov. 15 (CP)—Canada today demanded that the United Nations order Arabs and Jews to negotiate an immediate armistice in the Holy Land.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton offered a new resolution to the Security Council following closely suggestions of acting mediator Ralph Bunche.

The Canadian draft calls the Palestine situation a threat to peace. It said an armistice is a necessary bridge between the broken truce and a final settlement.

The resolution called on the Jews and Arabs to negotiate either directly or through Bunche to set up permanent armistice demarcation lines. It asked for a withdrawal and reduction of Israeli and Arab troops to maintain the armistice.

Shows Great Interest

Informed circles said the United States has shown great interest in the original Bunche proposal to replace the truce with an armistice. These sources said United States delegation members talked with Israeli and some Arab delegates.

The general assembly's 58-power political committee spent its first half hour arguing whether to begin debate on political questions in Palestine.

McNaughton, in the 11-power Security Council, said he conferred with Belgium and France. He is known also to have consulted the United States and Britain. The Council invited representatives of Israeli, Egypt and Lebanon to the meeting.

"We would have ranged farther in our discussions but a very short time was available to do so," the Canadian delegate said. He apologized to "my other colleagues" for not having consulted them beforehand in the resolution.

Voice Threats Fined Under LCBO

Lloyd Peacock, 267 Bethune St. was fined $15 and $2.50 costs in police court today when he pleaded guilty to being drunk in public.

Police Inspector James F. Reid told the court that the accused had been arrested following reports of threats made to relatives. In his car, he said, had been found an unloaded double-barreled shotgun and a new box of shells. Only the one charge had been laid, he added.

"You'd better stay away from cars and guns when you're drinking," advised Magistrate Philp.

Only minor liquor case disposed of separately in court today was that of Roy Haldwin of Napanee. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs on his guilty plea to being drunk in public.

Industrials Go Up Slowly On Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 15 — (CP)— Industrials rose steadily as trading slowed here today. Golds continued to slip downward to touch the lowest figure on the Exchange's index since 1943. Base metals moderately active for small gains.

Changes were generally confined to fractions in the industrial list as the list was slow in moving ahead. Early fractional losses were wiped out towards noon and utilities, steels and liquors showed slight improvement. International Paper, Consolidated Paper and Great Lake Paper were ahead fractions while refining oils weakened.

Smelters rose briskly in base metals list, gaining 1¼. Hudson Bay and International Nickel also added fractions and New Culumet, Pend Oreille and base metals were ahead 4 to 10 cents.

Failed To Signal

Russell Puffer of Clarina was fined $5 and $4 costs in court today when he was found guilty of making an unsafe left hand turn and not signalling. The charge was laid following an accident between Puffer's truck and a car at the entrance to Lakefield on Oct. 1.

Strikes Officer Pays $40 Fine

Taking "swings" at police officers is an expensive business, Francis O'Keefe of 182½ Hunter St., learned today in police court. He was fined $40 and $2.50 costs or 40 days in jail when found guilty of obstructing Provincial Constable Emmett Crough in the performanc of his duty. O'Keefe was also fined $10 and $2.50 costs on his guilty plea to creating a disturbance on George Street.

OPP Crough testified that he and Constable George Henderson had investigated a street fight on George St. after midnight on Nov. 7. He took O'Keefe from the scene and placed him in the police cruiser, he said. Then, while the officer was standing behind the car talking to another man involved in the street scrap, he said O'Keefe came out of the car and again struck the man while the officer watched. This was followed by a scuffle between the officer and the accused, in which Constable Crough was pinned to the ground by O'Keefe. This dispute was broken up by Constable Henderson and O'Keefe again returned to the police car with difficulty.

In the back of the police car, said Constable Henderson, the accused again began fighting and took a "swing" at him. At the police station, another swing (which missed again) was made by O'Keefe, he told the court.

O'Keefe, who pleaded not guilty, called no witnesses, did not give evidence himself and declined to say anything in his own defence when asked by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

Finds Air Force Pitifully Small Leckie To Blame

TORONTO, Nov. 15 — (CP). — Air Marshal Robert S. Leckie, wartime Chief of Staff of the RCAF, said Saturday night Canada's Air Force is "pitifully small" and reduced almost to the level of impotency.

For the next four or five years Canada will have to prepare for the eventuality of war, he told the Ontario committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada.

"Fear of reprisals is the only thing that's holding the Russians back. Thank God we have the atomic bomb."

He said he was partially responsible for the decisions on the post-war strength of the Air Force. But after the war he had not been able to visualize the threat of new hostilities when implementing government policy designed to cut the strength of the RCAF.

"This nightmare has taken everyone by surprise," he said, "and I hope when the next estimates are presented to parliament that steps are taken to make up for lost time in strengthening of our armed forces."

Air Marshal Leckie didn't believe there was any likelihood of deliberate war. If it came, it would be the result of an accident. "Some fool with an itchy finger may get it on the trigger of a gun and plunge us toward the brink of destruction," he said.

Green Attacks Reds In Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(AP)—An attack on Communists in Canadian unions by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor was seen here today as strengthening the hands of a group of international union officials bent on cleaning Reds out of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

While there had been indications that Rail Union chief Frank H. Hall and his supporters had the tacit approval of the AFL in their anti-Communist drive in the TLC, Saturday's statement by Green at Cincinnati was the first public move throwing AFL influence into the fight.

Green's statement Sunday drew non-committal replies from TLC President Percy Bengough, who has been at odds with Hall over the issue of dealing with Communists within the Congress.

President Bengough said the AFL press statement calling for a "showdown" with Reds in the TLC was the first he had heard from the United States body. The Congress has not received any direct communication from the AF on the question, he declared.

To Green's statement that AFL unions were worried over the influence of Communists north of the border, Bengough replied that "they should be worried about them south of the border."

Praises Cobourg Children's Aid Adoption Work

COBOURG, Nov. 15.—(ENS).—Work of the Children's Aid Society of Northumberland and Durham counties was described by Mrs. Anna Raby, social welfare worker of the society at the weekly luncheon of Cobourg Rotary Club. She paid tribute to Cobourg for the quality of its adoption and foster homes and said that the town had more homes of this type than any other town in the two counties. There had been a fine type of co-operation from the professional men, lay people and institutions, she said.

The Shelter in Port Hope was not the entire society. Only a few children were there as it was the custom to have as many in foster and adoption homes as possible. There were 178 children on the roll of which 130 were under the protection of the society in homes. Thirty were the offspring of unmarried parents and 40 were adoptions.

$1,000 Government Grant

From the government, the society received but $1,000 annually. The rest of the money had to come from the counties and from individual subscriptions. The society functioned under the guidance of the board of directors and the jurisdiction of the government.

Contrary to the belief of some people, the Children's Aid Society did not grab children from homes, she said. The society felt that the child's place was in the home and every effort was made to keep the child in his own home. For two years on one case alone, the society had been trying to keep the family together. There were periodic visits to foster homes, as many as the short staff would permit. The children were helped in various ways, their medical bills were paid, nd they were given every chance to get along well, she said.

Only $19 a month was paid to a foster home, part of the balance being kept to buy children toys, etc. Actually the foster parents lose money in keeping a child, so it becomes a case of wanting the child because of itself. The happiest part of the work is adoptions. At one time the details of the adoption were hazard but not a great deal of investigaton was carried out. The speaker expressed the opinion that there was a question of whether there was now too much emphasis on quality and not enough on quantity.

Great care was taken in selecting the proper kind of foster parents and after a child was located in a home, particular care was taken during the period in which the child is getting adjusted to the new surroundings.

Youths Roughed Up Old Man On Hallowe'en Magistrate Upholds Right To Defend Self

COBOURG, Nov. 15—(ENS)—Some sound advice to Hallowe'en pranksters was handed out by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in dealing with two Gore's Landing youths, Ross Carruthers and Ralph Pollack. The pair were charged with assaulting John McKenzie, elderly Gore's Landing resident at 1 a.m. on Oct. 31. They were remanded out of custody for sentence until called upon. They were also charged with causing a disturbance, with Adrian Drayton of Gore's Landing. On this count all three charges was withdrawn.

Mr. McKenzie testified that somebody had been throwing stones at his house on Hallowe'en and that when he went out in his yard two youths grabbed him and threw him down on the ground so hard that he was stunned. Each held him down by the arm but later let him up. He ordered them to leave his property but in reply was sworn at. One of them had been drinking.

"I told them that my wife had phoned for the police and they said they would wait until the police came. They hung around until about three in the morning," testified McKenzie.

In reply to a question from Carruthers, Mr. McKenzie said that he had had a stick in his hand and that it had broken when he swung it at the boys.

Carruthers said that he and some boys had been out Hallowe'en for some fun and had gone on Mr. McKenzie's property hoping to find a gate which they could remove from its hinges. They heard McKenzie coming and hid under a cottage but were spotted and McKenzie broke a stick over his shoulder in swinging it at the boys under the cottage. Witness denied holding the complainant on the ground.

"He had hold of the stick and I was holding it against his chest and I told him we wouldn't let him up until he let go. We didn't throw him to the ground. He slipped and he was not stunned, as he kept on talking after he fell down on the ground," testified Carruthers.

Adrian Drayton corroborated Carruthers' evidence.

Pollock told a similar story and Magistrate Baxter commented that it was at least a case of technical assault.

"You were on his property, therefore you were trespassing. The stick he used was only a broomstick; not very formidable. There is something behind all this," observed the magistrate.

"Apparently Mr. McKenzie is a target year after year for attention on Hallowe'en. A man may be grouchy, and I am not suggesting that Mr. MacKenzie was grouchy, and for that reason young people think he is a fair target on Hallowe'en. Don't forget that if he doesn't want to be bothered, that is his privilege. He has a right to defend his property by any reasonable means. I want to see an end to this behaviour of yours."

Chief W. J. Carey conducted the prosecution in the absence of Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

Rev. P. C. Reed Guest Speaker

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15—(ENS)—When I viewed your solid granite memorial where people had gathered last Thursday to remember dead of the great wars, I recalled the stone set up by Samuel as a remembrance of God's help to the children of Isreal," sad the Rev. P. C. Reed of Lindsay at the Sunday evening service in the Baptist church.

He said that the second great stone of remembrance was Christ's death on the cross. The rock that Moses smote to bring forth water for the drooping children and languishing men was the rock of Christ. Christ had satisfied the spiritual hunger of His time and when He was lifted up on the cross men and women also had been lifted up.

Men and women should be living stones, witnesses of God's good," he continued," and the greatest contribution Christians can make today is to dedicate their lives, inside and outside of the church, to the task of crushing evil and bringing peace to the world."

"Remember how God had helped our home and foreign missions. In India there had been 35,000 natives baptized in our 500 churches during a short period of time and in Bolivia where our missionaries had been for 50 years there was a great resurgent of the spirit. Are not these stones of remembrances?" he asked.

"There are many evil forces," he concluded, "operationg against the Christian churches. We must not compromise with evil but rather, we must stand up and declare ourselves as believers in God."

The Birth Of A Prince

The most widespread rejoicing and happiness greet the news that Princess Elizabeth has been safely delivered of a son. The Princess has been held in the deepest affection since her own birth, which so many of us remember, and her motherhood adds a new warmth to that love.

The feeling which we of the Commonwealth have for the Royal Family is not constitutional, but mystical, in its origin. They embody, in their persons, ideals and traditions which are very dear to us. The birth of an Heir Presumptive enriches and strengthens the bonds which hold them to us, and their personal happiness becomes the happiness of a great part of the earth.

The young Prince has, as yet, no name. We greet him, therefore, with the words of one of England's greatest poets—

"I have no name:
I am but one day old".
What shall I call thee?
"I happy am,
Joy is my name".
Sweet joy befall thee!

Exit Mackenzie King

Today Mackenzie King leaves the political stage upon which he has so long played the leading role; however gifted the gentlemen may be who follow him in that part, it will be many years before we see another performance of such authority, depth, versatility and distinction. The length of Mr. King's public appearance as leader of the Liberal party and as Prime Minister commands admiration, but it is not mere length of years before the public which makes him a great man in Canadian and world history; two related aspects of his nature have raised him to the position which he now occupies, and which the passing of time will enhance.

• • •

First of these is his remarkable grasp of the technique of politics. He has been a remarkable winner of elections, and it is a hard fact of politics that the finest intentions are worthless unless the professor of them can get the power which may turn them into realities. As a leader, a party disciplinarian, an organizer and a campaigner Mr. King has been a master. Like his great friend F. D. Roosevelt he has never allowed the party wheels to grow rusty.

• • •

With this practical genius Mr. King has combined a true liberalism. Under his direction Canada has received the most advanced social legislation in our history. Time and again he has taken the wind out of the socialist sails by providing, under liberalism, benefits which were thought to be possible only under socialism. He has always been in the Left Wing of the Liberal party, and without becoming a doctrinaire or sacrificing any of the humanitarianism which is the mainspring of his character he has done more than any other man to improve the lot of the majority of Canadians.

• • •

He leaves the stage to a thunder of applause. There are a few boos and hisses, perhaps, from those who do not know a fine performance when they see one, but we foresee that the roar of approval will rise until it echoes down through the ages of our country's future.

End Of The U.S. Witch-Hunt?

An interesting, if minor, sidelight of the United States political scene following the Presidential election is the position of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and its chairman, Representative J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey Republican. Election results left the future of the committee uncertain, and it is now predicted that determined efforts will be made to end its existence when the Eighty-first Congress assembles next January. The future of Mr. Thomas is equally uncertain. Although re-elected, he has been indicted on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the U.S. Government and will lose his seat, of course, if convicted.

Parnell Thomas was overzealous and overbearing as chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee. Witnesses who refused to testify were guilty of such activities, according to him, even if they invoked their constitutional privilege of refusing to answer on the ground that it might incriminate them. Witnesses who charged that the committee was playing politics and using "smear" tactics were given rough verbal treatment. Yet when Mr. Thomas was charged with receiving "kickbacks" from his payroll he immediately invoked his constitutional privileges, and made counter accusations of playing politics and using "smear" tactics. Nevertheless, a grand jury indicted him on charges connected with payroll transactions.

The committee itself was broken up by the election results. Two of its Republican members were defeated. Another was elected to the Senate, still another has intimated he wants no more of it. Two Democratic members were re-elected, John S. Wood of Georgia and John E. Rankin of Mississippi, but the latter is in the party's black books for supporting the "Dixiecrats". Representative Sam Reyburn of Texas, Democrat, was also re-elected, but he will probably become Speaker of the House; in any case, he was never enthusiastic about the committee. And two other Democratic Representatives, Emanuel Celler of New York and Walter B. Huber of Ohio, have disclosed plans for campaign to kill the committee as soon as possible. They may suggest, in its stead, a joint Senate-House committee for similar purposes, but with rules of procedure drawn to ensure protection of witnesses and others who may appear before it.

Since President Truman made the Thomas committee an election issue, it may be concluded a majority of U.S. voters would be glad to see it eliminated. Their feeling is understandable. The committee may have turned up some genuine Communists, and potentially dangerous ones at that, but it was at its best—or worst—and certainly at its noisiest when trying to find guilty of Un-Americanism a fellow who had tea twice in three years with his brother-in-law, who had visited Russia once some years previously.

Critical Eyes On Canadian Education

This is Education Week and one of the few in the rash of "Weeks" to which we care to call attention in these columns. During this week parents and other citizens may visit the classrooms and see for themselves what kind of schooling the children of the community are receiving. They can meet the teachers on the job and see if the modern schoolmasters are the kind apostrophized in the masthead above our editorial dateline this week. They will, we hope, give thought to the whole matter of formal education in this Province and country as well as to the practice in Peterborough. We are publishing on this page each day during the week an article written by local people whose views should stimulate discussion. Education Week is a time for critical appraisal, not for platitudes and polite commendation.

There is a need for criticism of our educational systems and theories, for there is evidence that Canadian education is not educating. Fortunately, the need is being realized and met to an increasing extent by teachers in professional discussion, by concerned parents, by municipal and governmental boards (like the large Royal Commission which has been studying the Ontario system for the last several years), and by scholars like Professor A. R. M. Lower, whose article in the current issue of Maclean's is a masterly diagnosis of many of the weaknesses in Canadian education.

Our educational effort does not lack organization, and complete illiteracy has disappeared. As Professor Lower says, "There has spread over more of society than ever before a veneer of what most ages and climes have recognized as civilization or culture. Here in Canada our education systems have not yet brought into existence a culture in the sense of an original civilization". Canadian education lacks direction and Canadian society is still in most of its aspects an uncongenial wilderness for a truly educated person.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We wouldn't mind history repeating itself if it didn't say so many nasty things.

"Experts Warn January Will Be Cold", says a headline. The only sensible comment on such a scoop is "Uh-huh".

In the U.S.A. it appears that there are six people for every cow. This is serious, as the cow is only geared for four.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

WHEN the United Nations organization was being set up at San Francisco, Canadian officials (especially Escott Reid) battled with great credit the unwillingness—(or inability) of representatives to use plain words. This is indeed a problem which prevails in government at all levels and one which is dealt with in Sir Ernest Glovers' Plain Words. Its object is to help officials in their use of written English. "True justificiation for such a book is not so much that official English is especially bad as that it is especially important for it to be good. The efficiency of government, central and local, depends to an ever increasing extent on the ability of a large number of officials to express themselves clearly. At present there is a popular idea that most of them cannot—or will not—do so."

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT civil servants are not the only offenders—think of business, politicians, and of course, journalists. Sir Alan Herbert has ridiculed them in his What A Word. "Should your order not exceed the sum of 17s. 6d., an additional plusage of 25 per cent. will be charged;" "The M.C.C. have finalized the bodyline issue!" "The garden party climaxes the London season," and so on. Not so long ago, the Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Fuel and Power has spoken of "The short-fall in world (oil) tanker tonnage ability"; and a parish council has gone into committee to discuss the implication of an alleged decision to refuse consideration of a man's application for a council house, because of his age and "doubtful procreative potential."

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR Ernest has extracted the essence of advice from Fowler's five famous rules and Quiller-Couch's commentary on them and has given us the three following rules:

1. "Use no more words than are necessary to express your meaning, for if you use more you are likely to obscure it and to tire your reader. In particular do not use superfluous adjectives and adverbs, and do not use roundabout phrases where single words would serve.

2. "Use familiar words rather than the farfetched, for the familiar are more likely to be readily understood.

3. "Use words with a precise rather than those that are vague, for they will obviously serve better to make your meaning clear; and in particular prefer concrete words to abstract, for they are more likely to have a precise meaning."

"The golden rule," he adds, "is not a rule of grammar or syntax. It concerns not the arrangement of words, but the sense of them. Only the right word can convey the right meaning; the golden rule is to pick those words and to use them and them only. Or as Matthew Arnod said in attempting to define style: 'Have something to say and say it as clearly as you can.'"

✧ ✧ ✧

HERE are some examples with the plain word in brackets; blueprint (for plan), ceiling (for limit), cross-section (for sample), conditioned by (for dependent on), eventuate (for result), a percentage of (for some), terminate (for end), and commence (for begin). And the following sentences—Food consumption has been dominated by the world supply situation (for people have to eat what they can get). There has been persistent instability in the numbers of staff (for staff has constantly varied in numbers). The weather will be of a showery character (for the weather will be showery). These sentences have been taken from official files. We get a feeling of comfort for Sir Ernest himself has written: "To some of them this may seem a work of supererogation." Imitating him we might write (unnecessary)! But he gives credit where credit is due and so full marks are awarded to some unknown member of th staff of the General Post Office who composed that crystal clear notice:—

"Postmasters are neither boun.. .. give change nor authorized to demand it.

A junior official once drafted a public announcement beginning: "The Minister has decided to appoint a statistical officer." This was amended by one of his seniors to: "The Minister has decided to inaugurate a statistical section." It was then pointed out by an official more senior still that the appointment of one officer scarcely constituted a section. He wisely concurred and altered the draft again: "The Minister has decided to inaugurate the nucleus of a statistical section."

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL of which finally brings us to the House of Commons a few years ago when Mr. Edwards asked the following supplementary question of Mr. Winston Churchill: "Does the Prime Minister not think it would be a great economy of the time of this House and a saving of money if the language of the official draughtsmen, after they have done their best or their worst with Bills, were translated into more understandable English? Will he contemplate the calamity that might befall us if these draughtsmen translated his speeches into official language?" To which Mr. Churchill replied: "There is a great deal of official jargon, but it is not with a view to causing inconvenience, but because those who are entrusted with expressing the decisions of this house in a statutory form have found that to be the most convenient and precise method. With regard to the idea that we should try to describe everything in basic English, that is a very fanciful idea; I would call Mr. Edwards' attention to the fact that the word 'basic,' like its neighbour 'basal' are both under great suspicion at the present time—(laughter)—in the way in which they are used."

ALL HAPPY

The younger of the two brothers was the brains of the business, and it was a shock to them when he was ordered to present himself for medical examination at the nearest recruiting depot.

James, the elder brother, accompanied George when he went to be tested, and waited anxiously in the next room. Presently George reappeared, his face aglow with excitement.

"Hooray!" he cried. "Our business is saved! I've only got one lung!"

STILL GOING UP

The School Builds The Nation

By J. D. LONDERVILLE
Chairman, Education Week Committee, Peterborough Teachers' Council

THIS is Education Week in Canada and the Canadian Teachers' Federation has chosen as the theme for the week, "The School Builds the Nation". This broad theme brings to mind such problems as school curricula, teacher training, school finance, school accommodation and the like. Through the courtesy of The Examiner various persons well qualified to speak, will discuss some of these aspects in this column each night this week. I commend their thoughts to you.

Tonight I wish to commence this series with a few personal thoughts on the relation of democracy to Canadian schools.

Democracy, as a form of government and as a way of life, is studied in our schools. The social studies course integrates history, geography and civics so that students in the elementary and secondary schools receive a comprehensive intellectual basis for citizenship. Some subjects in the school programme develop basic skills and others lead the child to intellectual discoveries that develop his mind. The study of English and other languages, of art and music play no small part. Educators (and parents), in their effort to make education practical, should not blind themselves to these subjects which permit the child to enjoy a fuller and happier life, thus making him a more "useful" democratic citizen.

Democracy as a form of government is also practised in our schools. Student government is organized on an elective democratic basis and finds expression in the Junior Red Cross clubs, classroom officials, dramatic societies, music societies, athletic associations, and School or Student Councils. These organizations are student-controlled and teachers act in an advisory capacity. In Nazi Germany, similar organizations could exist but they were on a "party" basis and all officials were appointed.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE study and practice of democracy in our schools must be concerned with three ideals. In the first place, democracy implies privileges. This lesson is easily learned. In the second place, democracy implies responsibilities. This is neither so quickly nor pleasantly learned. Student endeavours should be allowed to collapse where failure to assume responsibility warrants such results. Privileges and responsibilities are interdependent and students realize this in the practice of democracy. But thirdly, and we realize this all too little, democracy does not demand "en masse" action. That is the totalitarian way. Yet today there is a great demand for activity, for mass participation. Students (and adults) serve on too many committees and belong to too many organizations. They are constantly concerned with action and rarely with contemplation. Democracy needs leaders. The democratic student may well spend part of his time alone—thinking and reading. Dean Inge expresses it thus: "Democratic countries above all need an intellectual and a spiritual aristocracy. But it must speak with charity.... disinterestedness, courage and wisdom".

Our schools, the teachers who serve in them, and the students who graduate from them, are the guardians of our heritage and the intellectual defenders of a humane civilization. May we not fail to build well!

Letter To The Editor

MAN AS THE EARTH'S WARDEN

Sir: I was pleased to note the comment to my letter by "Constant Reader". I have written so many letters to "The Editor" without receiving comment that I was beginning to think that a person could write almost anything without arousing criticism.

Of course, in basic Christian society the counter-part of my quotation is found in two Scriptural phrases: "There was not a needy person among them" and "If any man will not work, neither shall he eat." I know that many claim that because this form did not last it was incorrect, but we have only to read on in the Bible to Revelation to see the result of deviation from founding principles. Here we have set forth the examples of the Churches in Asia, and it is a matter of historical record that these churches had their 'candlesticks" removed. We may think we are getting away with something after all these years, but the removal of the "candlestick" from the Church in Russia should at least give us reason for careful consideration of our position, instead of saying it can't happen here.

We live in a Universe of balanced precision, which is so accurate that man can foretell the exact time and place of the recurrance of a comet. This balance carries all the way down to the existence of life. The world was created so as to provide for the existence of life, and any deviation from its balance is a cause of instability: instability in our source of food, by throwing the nutrition of the soil off balance; instability of our social existence by throwing the means of livelihood off balance.

To me, Christ exemplified this balance. He showed the unity of existence. He entered into the religious, social, and economic fields with one purpose.

I do not believe that distribution of wealth would solve anything, or enters into the picture, but I do believe that we have got to overcome instability, and that it is the first duty of religion to emphasize that man's responsibility to God as warden of the earth, is not to lay waste to its forests, or to destroy the productivity of its land, but to form a social unity that will resore and maintain balance. This can be done by employing the principle of need.

Of course we all live by our beliefs, and what seems childish to some does not seem so to others. To me in the face of the physical manifestations of our error, it seems childish to simply ignore the natural laws of God, and set our religion apart in a purely spiritual realm. "Constant Reader" may hold that economists are damned because their thoughts and wishes cannot reach out beyond this world, but I believe they are damned because they foster instability, and that if they conformed to the natural laws of God, their thoughts and wishes would reach out beyond this world.

Personally, I believe that the youth problem is largely one of instability through lack of unity of purpose. "Constant Reader" may think that it is not within the realm of religion to supply a workable, every day unity of purpose, but I feel that if it don't, Communism will.

Yours truly,
RALPH G. KILBON.
Bailieboro.

To The Infant Royal

Welcome, bud beside the rose,
On whose stem our safety grows;
Welcome, little Saxon Guelph;
Welcome for thine own small self;
Welcome for thy father, mother,
Proud the one and safe the other;
Welcome to three kingdoms; nay,
Such is thy potential day,
Welcome, little mighty birth,
To our human star the earth.

But behold, where thou dost lie,
Heeding nought, remote or nigh!
Nought of all the news we sing
Dost thou know, sweet ignorant thing;
Nought of planets' love, nor people's:
Nor dost hear the giddy steeples
Carolling of thee and thine,
As if heav'n had rained them wine:
Nor dost know thy very mother's
Balmy bosom from another's,
Though thy small blind lips pursue it,
Nor the arms that draw thee to it,
Nor the eyes, that, while they fold thee,
Never can enough behold thee.

Mother true and good has she,
Little strong one, been to thee,
Nor with listless indoor ways
Weaken'd thee for future days;
But has done her strenuous duty
To thy brain and to thy beauty,
Till thou cam'st, a blossom bright,
Worth the kiss of air and light;
To thy healthy self a pleasure;
To the world a balm and treasure.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens . . . For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life. (II Cor. 5: 1, 4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption .... For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory ....

Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord. (I Cor. 15: 50, 53, 54, 58.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Is it true that it's bad luck for a black cat to follow you?"

"Depends whether you're a man or a mouse."

✧ ✧ ✧

A young woman was extremely vain of the honours conferred upon two distant male relatives. She talked on the subject to all and sundry: "I have two relatives in the House of Lords. Have you any?"

"No," replied one of her acquaintances, "but I have three maiden aunts in the Kingdom of Heaven."

✧ ✧ ✧

The man sat with his hands outstretched as the fortune-teller read his palm.

"See that line?" asked the mystic.

"Yes," he returned. "What does it mean?"

"It means," said the fortune-teller, gravely, "that you are going to take a trip in the very near future. To Birmingham, perhaps."

When he left the fortune-teller the man headed for the railway station.

"A ticket to Birmingham, please," he said.

"Right, sir," replied the booking clerk. "Single or return?"

The fellow stuck out his palm. "I don't know," he said. "Take a look!"

✧ ✧ ✧

A large southern retail establishment added an attractive young woman to its staff of store detectives. But hardly had she settled into the routine of the place before she came to the superintendent to offer her resignation.

"We shall be sorry to lose you," the official told her. "Is there anything wrong? Are the hours satisfactory, are the working conditions all right?"

"Oh, there's nothing wrong, sir, really," the young woman insisted. "I just can't stay!"

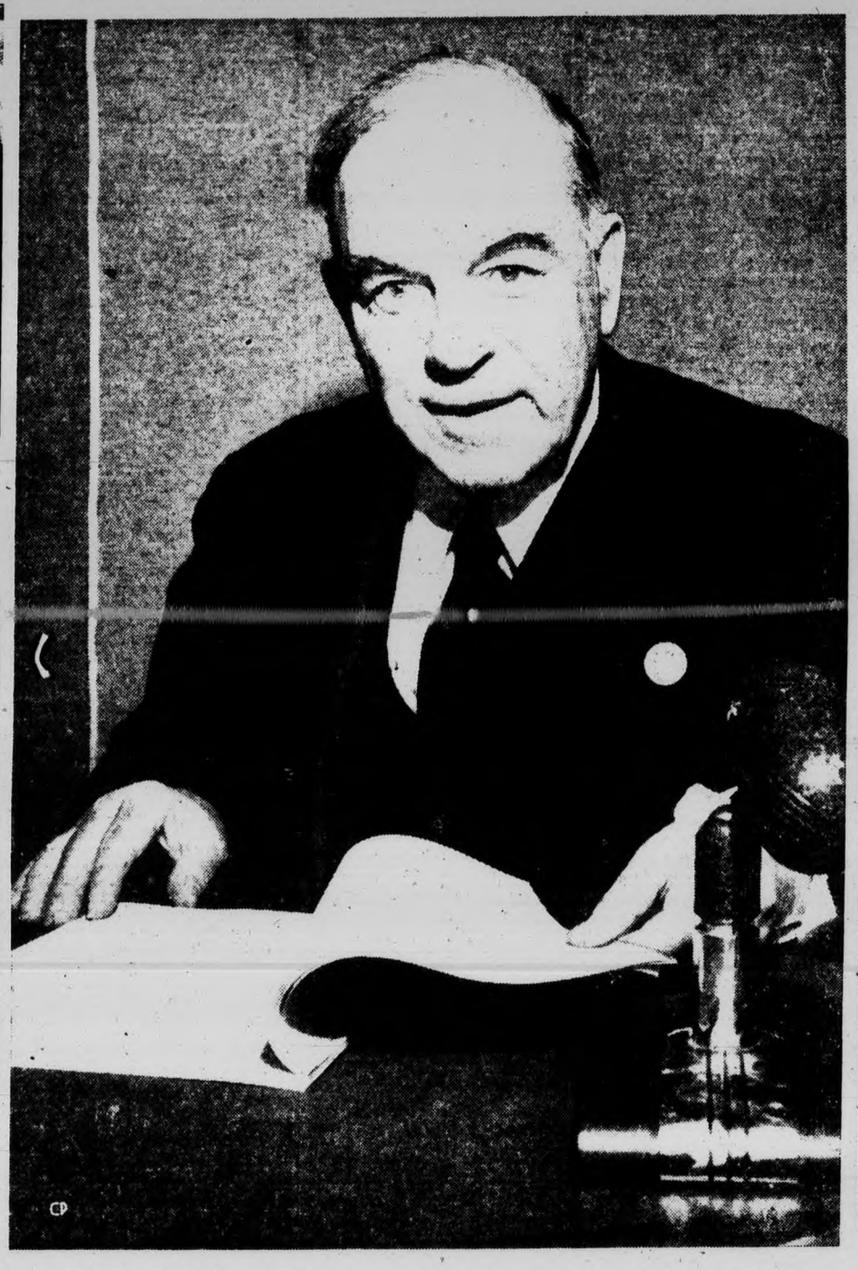
The kind-hearted superintendent was curious. "Are you sure there is nothing wrong—absolutely nothing?" he insisted.

"Well," said the lovely young Hawkshaw, "I guess I'll have to come clean. Everything is fine, except one thing; I simply can't endure being called a plain-clothes woman."

FUTURE LEADER—When his parents recorded the childhood play of William Lyon Mackenzie King, shown here seated astride a rocking horse at the age of two, they little thought their son would grow up to become prime minister of the Dominion of Canada. Not only did he become prime minister but he served in that office until his retirement today for 21 years, five months and eight days—a total of 7,829 days, longer than any other person has been prime minister in the Commonwealth.

AT UNITED NATIONS.—During his trip to Paris and London this Fall, Prime Minister King became ill and was forced to take a complete rest. Mr. King enjoyed comparatively good health throughout his many years as prime minister. This Spring, at 73, he suffered from influenza and a strenuous session of Parliament left him in a weakened condition. He attended several sessions of the United Nations in Paris and is shown here talking to Kuzma Kysselev, minister of external affairs for Byelorussia.

DOG LOVER.—Prime Minister King is a great lover of dogs but confined his choice to one variety — the Irish Terrier. The prime minister also kept to one name — Pat. After Mr. King assumed office as prime minister he always had Pat as a companion on his long walks in the Ottawa countryside. The present dog is Pat III, the other two having died. This photo by Karsh of Ottawa shows Mr. King with Pat III at his Kingsmere country home looking over the Gatineau Valley.



YOUNG CAMPAIGNER. — Following his graduation from University of Toronto, Prime Minister King worked on Toronto newspapers as reporter and later as a special writer on social conditions. It was as a result of his articles Sir Wilfrid Laurier picked him as Canada's first deputy minister of labor. In 1908 he was promoted to labor minister and contested his first election compaign in Berlin, now Kitchener, that year. This photo shows him emphasizing a point during his campaign speech.

CONSCRIPTION ISSUE.—One of the bitterest political battles Prime Minister King waged during his long career in the Commons was the conscription issue during the Second World War. The government in the early years of the war depended on voluntary enlistment. As the war continued many Canadians advocated conscription while others opposed it. In 1942 Mr. King called for a plebiscite to free the government from its anti-conscription pledge. This photo shows Mr. King surrounded by autograph seeking children as he emerged after casting his ballot. The results favored release of the administration from its pledge.

STUDY OF A LEADER. — This camera portrait of Prime Minister King is one of the best taken in recent years. The slight smile and wisp of hair wandering over his forehead are characteristic of the man who has been Canadian prime minister for so many years.

ROYAL TOUR—One of the highlights of Prime Minister King's term as Canadian prime minister was the tour of the Dominion by King George and Queen Elizabeth in 1939. The visit of the King and Queen marked the first time in history reigning monarchs crossed the ocean to visit the citizens of a Commonwealth country. Mr. King acted as official guide for the entire tour. This photo shows Their Majesties with Prime Minister King at Banff.

DEVOTED SON.—Throughout her lifetime, Isabel Grace King, youngest daughter of William Lyon Mackenzie, who was exiled for his leadership in the responsible government rebellion of 1837, received the earnest devotion of her eldest son. This is one of the best photos of Prime Minister King with his mother and father, taken at Scarboro Fair in 1911 when the prime minister was 36. John King, K.C., his father, was an able lawyer.

BECOMES LEADER. — It was a sincere, earnest person who was chosen by the Liberals of Canada to succeed their great leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, following his death in 1919. At that time Mr. King, a former minister of labor, was comparatively unknown to Canadians. This photo was taken as he assumed leadership of the party.

QUEBEC CONFERENCE. — One of the most important conferences held in Canada during the Second World War was the first meeting in Quebec of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Franklin Roosevelt in 1943. Held in the historic Citadel, the talks mapped future strategy of the war. Prime Minister King not only acted as host for the parley but took an active role in the discussions. Mr. King is shown here with the two great wartime leaders of the Allies.

PCVS Juniors Victors, 18-1 To Reach The COSSA Finals

By FRED MAYBEE

Proving their record of nine straight wins in regular season play, including one exhibition with a senior club, was no accident, PCVS juniors made it 10 straight Saturday as they defeated Belleville 18-1 at Trinity College field, Port Hope, to win the COSSA junior football semi-final. Port Colborne also with a perfect season record to date play here at the Oval Saturday against Coach Londry's fine team for the Central Ontario Secondary School Association football championship.

Victory Saturday came in the final quarter for PCVS after 46 minutes of gruelling play on soft ground as a strong wind swept across the field causes passes and kick to play knavish tricks. Dowcett kicked a single for Belleville from the PCVS 10 yard line at the five minute mark when Red Townsend's boys moved into scoring position following a series of hard line plunges as the teams warmed up. In a fine display of defensive football both teams held even against the best their rivals could offer until half time. PCVS line, led by Garth Jopling, Hubert Knox, Jim Grant, Paul Frise, Grant Burns, Buster Jensen and Al McIlraith, shone as the Quinte squad passed hard in vain to add to their margin.

Evened It Up

Don Griffin evened the score early in the third as a blocked kick gave PCVS possession on their rivals 35 and when a pass and plunge failed, Griffin hoofed to Ewald for a single. Superior condition perhaps began to tell as the hot pace continued both ways till finally, the great plunging of Darrel Ackford, Warren Brown, Roy Armstrong and Griffin behind skilful blocking began to show its effect. At the 13-minute mark, Armstrong plunged nine from his rivals 47 and Brown crashed through for yards. Griffin then took the ball from Armstrong and reversed his field, on a neat cutback to run around right end to Belleville's eight and set the stage for a major score—just at quarter's end. This play was the turning point and as the teams changed ends, successive plunges by Armstrong and Brown bore fruit as the latter plunged over at the one minute mark. A pass to convert failed.

PCVS scored again five minutes later as Beleville lost on downs on their own 35 and, led by Young, Armstrong, Ackford and Brown, they advanced to Belleville's 10 and the latter two plunged with Ackford scoring, to make it 11-1. Brian Young, who played a fine game, converted from placement. Belleville, strictly on the defensive, held fairly well for seven minutes but tired noticeably and gave ground late in the quarter. Peterborough gradually worked to their rival's 12 and as a pass failed, Warren Brown again came through with one of his fine plunges to score standing up. Young again converted from placement with but seconds to go to end the scoring.

Although the work of the first line was outstanding for PCVS, all players deserve a measure of credit in addition to those already named in winning this important game. For Belleville, Dowcett, star kicking half, Taylor at middle and Faulkner at outside wing, were best in defeat.

Teepees Edge Windsor 5-4

By The Canadian Press

The pace-setting St. Catharines Teepees, with 10 wins, three losses and a tie, snapped Windsor Spitfires' eight-game winning streak Saturday night.

The fleet Windsor squad had beaten all their junior Ontario Hockey Association opposition before they dropped the 5-4 decision to Teepees.

In the other Junior games during the week-end, Oshawa Generals moved into a second-place tie with Windsor by defeating Guelph Biltmores 12-6, and the fourth-place Stratford Kroehlers bested the cellarite Toronto Marlboros 3-2.

In the only senior game, Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen moved into sole possession of second place defeating Owen Sound Mercurys 5-4.

Windsor made a last-ditch attempt to tie up the game with 26 seconds remaining in the game when they yanked netminder Dennis Mooney and sent six forwards into battle.

Teepees, hustling and outskating Spitfires by a wide margin in the first period, established a 3-1 lead, but Windsor picked up in the second to deadlock the count 4-4. Bud Evans slammed home the winning goal with five minutes remaining in the game.

Open Scoring

Bruce Giesbrecht, of Windsor opened the scoring early in the first period on a pass from brother Bert. Teepees struck swiftly for three unanswered counters by Marcel Clements, Jack McIntyre and Red Sullivan.

Doug McGinn, Bert Giesbrecht and Glenn Skov scored for Windsor in the second with Sullivan answering for St. Kitt's.

Guelph broke into the lead early in the first period when Mel Mullens scored on a pass from Lorne Ferguson but Dusty Blair evened the count minutes later.

In the second frame Generals held an 8-4 margin, and lengthened it in a penalty-riddled third. Thirty penalties were handed out in the game, including seven minors and four majors in the final period.

Dusty Blair and Frank Hooper of the Generals each garnered three goals. Bill Scott and Dick Gamble scored two apiece for Oshawa while Ron Stephen and Ted O'Connor grabbed singletons.

Don Oberholtzer with two, Mullins, Don Richardson, Joe Shaw and Gar Vasey scored for Guelph.

Score Early

Stratford racked up its first goal early in the opening frame when Bob Houston scored from close in. Gord McKennell tied it up in the second frame on a screened shot.

Dinny Flanagan broke the deadlock for Stratford mid-way through the third session on a pass from Pierre Cadieux, that was lengthened when Houston got his second goal. Neil Grenke cut the margin down minutes later and a last-minute rush by Marlies failed to get the equalizer.

It was Kitchener's second win in two nights over Owen Sound and it put them one point ahead of their third-place victims.

Ted Grasser and Mike Dzuira each scored twice for Dutchmen with Doug Verity getting a singleton. Doug Gillespie, Buck Forslund, Mike Shabaga and Pat McReavy counted for Mercurys.

Mercurys took the lead in the first period on Gillespie's goal while the Dutchmen were short-handed. Kitchener drove back and made it 3-1 in the second on goals by Verity, Grasser and Dzuira But while Grasser was off on a penalty, Forslund, Shabaga and McReavy scored within 15 seconds for Owen Sound.

Dzuria's second goal in the final frame tied the score and Grasser pushed home a loose puck from the crease for the deciding tally.

Orillia, Cobourg Meet In Peterborough Tilt

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—(CP). — Orillia and Cobourg will meet in Peterborough Wednesday in a second sudden-death semi-final in the intermediate division of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, it was announced Sunday night.

Orillia and Cobourg played to an overtime 16-16 tie in a first sudden-death semi-final for the provincial championship next Saturday, but the local of the game has not been settled.

Week-End Stars

By The Canadian Press

Sugar Jim Henry, Chicago netminder who performed brilliantly Saturday night when the Black Hawks trimmed the Toronto Maple Leafs 6-3.

Joe Carveth, Montreal winger who fired two goals when the Canadiens beat the New York Rangers 3-1, Saturday night.

Wild Bill Ezinicki of Toronto, who banged in a goal and assisted on two more as the Maple Leafs battled the New York Rangers to a 4-4 tie Sunday night.

Rip Riopelle, Canadien forward who notched both markers when the Montreal squad was edged 3-2 by Boston Bruins Sunday night.

No luck, no buck, just rains—chilblains.
And hunting is over for a year;
If every Joe was like us, you know,
A deer need never nurse a fear.

Got a day and a half hunting in just east of Apsley but never saw a live deer. On good runways, too, and others got a crack at 'em, but not us. A lot came out of that area last week and more will this—even though some oldtimers up that way think deer are not as thick as a year ago. Anyway, we had a good outing in the wet woods, but no luck. A game warden stopped us at Burleigh Falls coming home last eve, then said: "Sorry, I guess you're not a hunter." And we said: "That's for sure!"

PCVS juniors beat Belleville 18-1 in Port Hope on Saturday to move into COSSA finals. It wasn't nearly as one-sided as that score sounds as Belleville had a 1-0 lead at the half, and it was 1-1 to go into the fourth. Coach Londry's lads showed condition in the final heat of a hard game to sweep through to victory. It was a plunge by Brown early in the fourth which scored the first touchdown, and Ackford got another shortly after, with Warren Brown adding another try later. Brian Young, who played a fine game, converted a couple of them. Line played a swell game and all the backfield clicked in fine fashion. The team as a whole looked good.

Into The COSSA Final

And these good junior PCI-ers go into the COSSA final—a sudden-deather Saturday at two p.m. — right here in the Oval. Yes, against Port Colborne, the other semi-finalist. And that'll be a treat when two smart and hustling junior squads throw the works at each other with a title at stake. Senior PCVS pack also goes into COSSA playoffs this week-end, but have to trek to McMaster U. gridiron in Hamilton to mix it with Burlington. It speaks mighty well for the grid playing and coaching of the local Collegiate to have both junior and senior teams in COSSA finals, what?

A meeting of the Trojan Athletic Club on Wednesday at eight in the eve in the Salvation Army hall on Chamberlain St. They plan on movies and a registration of members, with a lot of new boys expected. Anyone in that southwest area under 16 years of age. The idea in mind right now is hockey, and it won't be long till plenty of puck plans are aired for this club, but they also go in for other seasonal sports and do a good job for the young chaps. Teams will be entered in the PMHA at an early date, so this is the time to register. The Trojan AC is a going concern in Boyhood Preferred.

Didn't Know In Time

And another meeting was listed for yesterday but we didn't get word of it in time. Matter of fact, we took Friday aft and all day Saturday off to try for a deer, so didn't learn of the notice of a Church Hockey League meeting. It was to get lined up on peewee, bantam, midget, junior and senior teams—and all Sunday Schools had been notified. Haven't heard at the moment how it came out, but if they had notice of it then we needn't worry about the paper item. Still, at this time, we might advise all those wanting sports' items in the gazette to get them into us early. As many days in advance as possible. Don't bring in a note around noon and expect it in that day's paper. Let's have it at least two days beforehand and get a couple of mentions.

Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts, who declined to play football here this fall, will be playing here this Wednesday afternoon in the Oval. On account of the ORFU ordered the Ghosts and Orillia Bombers to settle their sudden-death playoff in Peterborough—after the teams drew 16-all Saturday in Orillia. Cooper of Cobourg got a touchdown in the first quarter but Bond got it right back on a blocked kick, and they converted. Cook got a major in the second on a Ghosts' fumble, and White another to make it 16-5 at the half. But the Cobourg huskies showed smartness in the last half to get two touchdowns by dribbling the ball over the line and falling on it, Cooper and Medhurst counting. Should be quite a battle here.

Return Of The Whip

Three pro grapple bouts lined up for the Brock Arena on Wednesday night. Whipper Bill Watson returns in the main go against huge Ben Morgan, the bewhiskered battler who took a decision over the Whip here a few weeks back. It's sure to be a sizzling scrap this time as Morgan hasn't lost a bout up this way yet. And we're glad to hear Sliding Billy Hansen is back once more, going against Sandy O'Donnell in the semi-final. The Slider is a fast, colorful matman and fans still recall some of the hot bouts he staged — especially against Watson—here a year or more ago, before he went to the West Coast for a long stay. Pat Flanagan meets Lee Henning in the prelim. Yeah, three right promising bouts.

Here And There In Sports . . .

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings, only unanimous choice on last season's National Hockey League All-Star team, will be out of action for at least a month, it was learned in Toronto Sunday night.

Lindsay received a fractured left foot against Boston Bruins last Thursday. Using crutches, he watched Saturday night's Toronto-Chicago game before going on to his home at Kirkland Lake.

"It happened when Milt Schmidt chopped me over the foot with his stick," he contended.

Ontario Agricultural College won its second straight Ontario Intermediate Intercollegiate football title at Guelph Saturday, crushing the winless McMaster university Rams 58-0 in the final game.

Aggies lost only one game—to the University of Toronto—last week during the schedule. Next week they'll meet the Eastern Ontario Intercollegiate champions in defence of their title.

Hitting the form that the team will need in following rounds of the Senior "B" playoffs, London RCASC Falcons crushed Niagara Dynamos 21-2 in a sudden death playoff game at London Saturday afternoon.

The Falcons are now only two games away from the Dominion football championship and meet the winner of the Cobourg-Orillia playoff for the right to enter the finals next Saturday.

Argentine fans didn't like the way the first race was run at La Plata race track Saturday.

Item won the race, but the crowd felt that the heavily-backed Aldor, which came in second, had been given a poor ride by jockey Luis Martinez. So:

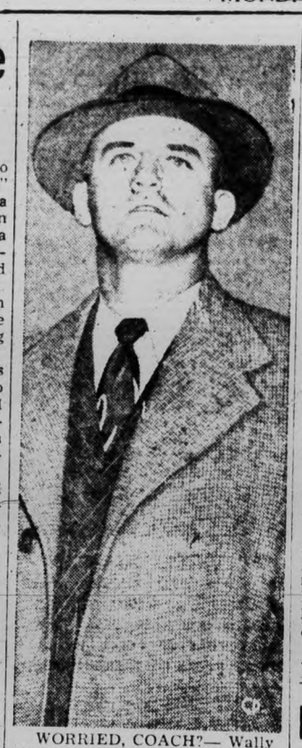
One person was wounded by a bullet, and an inspector employed by the track was held on a charge of using firearms; angry bettors jumped on to the track, smashed windows in the stands and burned newspaper in an effort to set fire to the installations.

Police eventually restored order.

International League directors granted permission today for the transfer of the Newark Bears' baseball franchise to another city.

The New York Yankees, owners, have announced the franchise is for sale.

There also has been talk that the club would be moved to Reading, Pa., for many years an International League member.



The International League directors, meeting here in their annual fall session, voted approval of a transfer to a city agreeable to the league.

Queen's University juniors scored their fifth straight exhibition victory of the season Saturday as tthey whipped the Royal Military College juniors 8-1, in a muddy Richardson stadium field, Kingston.

The RMC cadets, capably coached by Capt. Tommy Wagstaffe of last year's Calgary Stampeders, held the bigger Queen's Thirds to a 1-1 tie at half time.

HANSEN IN SEMI-FINAL —Mat fans will be pleased to know that Sliding Billy Hansen, shown above, will appear in the semi-final of this week's wrestling card at the Brock Arena. He will meet Sandy O'Donnell. Of course, the chief interest will be in the main event which brings together Whipper Watson and Big Ben Morgan. The Whip will be out for revenge having lost to the Huge Morgan here two weeks ago by disqualification. The ace Canadian wrestling star has been eager for another chance at his gigantic adversary. When Morgan "stole" another victory here last week over Hi Lee he showed that he is one of the most formidable men in the mat game. In the opener Pat Flanagan hooks up with Lee Henning.

Wings Whip Chicago 3-1 After Hawks Bounce Leafs

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings came out of a week-end of heavy action still on top of the heap in the National Hockey League, but the dog-fight for the loop leadership has become even tighter.

The Wings invaded Chicago and whipped the Black Hawks 3-1 Sunday night in their only week-end contest, while Montreal Canadiens split their two week-end contests and Boston Bruins won their only game, a 3-2 triumph over Canadiens in the Hub Sunday night.

The result left the Wings in first place with 15 points, two more than Boston and Montreal who are deadlocked in the second slot with 13 each.

In other week-end fixtures, Toronto Maple Leafs were bounced by Chicago 6-3 right at home in the Queen City, while Montreal handed Rangers a 3-1 setback in New York in a pair of Saturday games, and the Leafs moved to New York to earn a 4-4 draw with the Rangers Sunday night.

The bottom half of the race also tightened up, with Toronto, New York and Chicago now running fourth, fifth and sixth with eight, seven and six points respectively. Only nine points separate the top and bottom clubs.

Wings Rally

A crowd of 16,984 Chicago Stadium fans saw the Hawks hold Detroit to a 1-1 standoff in the first period, but the Wings rallied for single goals in each of the last two sessions to romp home in front.

Jimmy McFadden, Jerry Couture and Sid Abel scored the Detroit goals, while Gaye Stewart hammered a 30-footer past goalie Harry Lumley for the lone Hawk counter.

Only some sensational work between the pipes by Frankie Brimsek saved the Bruins from a beating by Montreal Sunday night.

Bill Durnan had only 19 stops to make in the Canadien cage compared to 34 the Flying Frenchmen flung at Brimsek, but the final score read 3-2 for the Bruins.

Sophomore winger Howard (Rip) Riopelle notched both the Habitant markers, while Jimmy Peters, Milt Schmidt and Kenny Smith collected the Boston goals.

Carveth Stars

In New York Saturday, veteran Joe Carveth sparked Montreal to their 3-1 triumph over Rangers by banging home two goals. Defenceman Glen Harmon opening the scoring for the Habs by blasting a 30-footer past goalie Chuck Rayner.

Two of the Canadien goals were scored while New York was a man short. Eddie Kullman's third-period marker was the only one of 24 Rangers shots to elude Durnan.

Any hopes Manager Conny Smythe had that Toronto Maple Leafs would make mincemeat of Chicago at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night were given a rude jolt by the Hawks who upset the defending Stanley Cup champions 6-3 for their first road victory of the season. Sugar Jim Henry was spectacular in the Chicago nets.

Chicago marksmen were Metro Prystai, Adam Brown, Jim Conacher, Gus Bodnar, Bep Guidolin and Gay Stewart fired the Hawk goals while Max Bentley, Hervie Meeker and Harry Watson hit the target for Toronto.

Stellar netminding by veteran Turk Broda helped the Leafs to hold Rangers to a 4-4 stalemate in New York Sunday night.

Right-winger Bill Ezinicki led the scoring parade for Leafs with a goal and two assists, while former Ranger Cal Gardner was right behind with a goal and an assist.

Harry Watson and Ted Kennedy sniped the other Leaf counters, while Penti Lund with two, Eddie Kuddman, who scored the tying marker in the third session, and Dunc Fisher collected the Ranger tallies.

Ottawa Slugs Alouettes 15-7 As Tigers Crush Beaches 31-1

By The Canadian Press

While Calgary Stampeders watch and wait, Ottawa Rough Riders and Hamilton Tigers will battle it out for Eastern Canada football championship.

They'll meet in a sudden-death game in Ottawa Saturday the winner meeting Calgary for the Dominion championship the following Saturday at Toronto's Varsity Stadium.

Ottawa took the marbles in the Big Four by hitting Montreal Alouettes 15-7 in the second game of a total-points series before a crowd of 16,000 at Ottawa. Hamilton crushed Toronto Beaches Indians 31-1 to take the Ontario Union title before a crowd of 10,000 at Hamilton.

As a happy crowd of graduates moved in for the University of Toronto's first homecoming weekend, the Blues upset the mighty Mustangs from the University of Western Ontario 23-8 before a crowd of 20,000 at Toronto's Varsity Stadium. It was the Mustangs first loss in 28 games and forced a playoff for the Intercollegiate title the first since 1938 when McGill defeated Western for the championship.

The play-off will be a sudden-death game next Saturday at Varsity Stadium.

Beat McGill.

Queen's beat McGill 10-7 and wound up the season in 3rd place in the league with McGill languishing in the cellar.

For Ottawa it was sweet revenge as well, as its first championship in seven years. Riders had been beaten 21-19 by Montreal Thursday in the first game of the series but won the round 34-28.

Rough Riders led 15-0 midway through the last quarter when Alouettes finally hit the scoring column on a touchdown by Bob Cunningham, a convert by Steve Nemeth and a single by Ches McCance.

Ottawa scored on touchdowns by Matt Anthony and Tony Golab, two singles by Howie Turner, a convert and a single by Eric Chipper and a single by Golab.

The Tigers' win was their 11th straight. The Toronto crew led once in the game when Don Crowe kicked a single in the first quarter. But minutes later Tigers shook Jack Stewart across for a touchdown and the parde was on.

Playing coach Frank Filchock fire dtouchdown passes to Doug Smith and George Festeryga and ran 35 yards for one himself. Joe Cihocki went for the other one.

Six On Bench.

Six of the Mustangs were on the bench with injuries as the Blues rolled for their fourth straight win.

Bruce Cummings ran for two of Varsity's touchdowns, converted two and kicked a single for 13 points. He passed 28 yards to Bill Danylchuk for Varsity's first touchdown. Tommy Waldon got the other major.

Western went into a 2-0 lead when Nick Volpe recovered a Varsity fumble behind their own goal line. Blake Taylor got the sole Western touchdown and Doug Gray converted.

The end of the schedule left McGill in the cellar with a single win and Queen's in the third place with two wins and four defeats.

The Gaels counted on a touchdown by Bill Huntley, a convert and single by Al Lennard, and a placement by Ross McKelvey. McGill scored on George Valoiso's first-quarter touchdown, Rocky Robillard's convert and Doug Heron's single.

Plan Wild West Invasion Of Queen City

CALGARY, Nov. 15.—(CP). — [illegible] is going to be treated to a rootin', tootin' parade—western style—come Nov. 27.

Elabcrate plans for a wild west "invasion" of the Ontario capital are underway here today as red-hot grid fans from this foothills city prepare to give all-out support to their beloved Stampeders' bid for Dominion football laurels.

Stampeders will leave here Thursday night to set up training camp at Oakville, Ontario, for the Grey Cup classic against either Ottawa Rough Riders or Hamilton Tigers. The undefeated western champions will train at Appleby College in Oakville for one week prior to the grid final.

A group of fans met with the team's executive Sunday night and began laying plans for the "invasion."

More than 200 fans—all wearing cowboy garb complete with 10-gallon Stetsons and colorful bandanas—will arrive in Toronto aboard a "Stampeders special" train the day before the big game. Also aboard will be horses and a chuck wagon.

Will Be Pop-Eyed

Organizers promise the parade the day of the game will be something to make eastern "tenderfoots" pop-eyed.

It will be complete with cowboys, and perhaps even a few Indians in ceremonial regalia.

Stampeders will leave their Oakville training camp in time to join the parade and be escorted to the game.

Some of the cowboys are hoping to ride their mounts right into Varsity Stadium and up into the grandstand. The chuckwagon, however, will remain just outside the stadium's main gates. There the chuckwagon crew will serve up "flap-jacks" for anyone wishing to sample western range grub—and all for free too.

Not Surprised At Moon Flight

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

WOKINGHAM, Berkshire, England, Nov. 15 (CP)—To the people of Wokingham, news that the British Interplanetary Society is planning rocket-ship flight to the moon is no cause for amazement.

The older villagers still talk of their own space ship of 40 years ago, which became known as the "Wokingham Whale."

The "Whale" vanished into thin air on a September day in 1909 when, amid great rejoicing, it left on a truck for Windsor to have its engines installed.

Whether the "Wokingham Whale" and its inventor, Robert Farbrother, took flight and soared beyond the earth's orbit, or whether Farbrother changed his mind and sold it for scrap, no one knows.

But many remember him and one in particular—Alderman F. J. Barrett—recalls working beside the fabulous inventor in his backyard workshop.

"He was only about 30 years old," Barrett said. "I think he got a lot of his ideas from reading sensational fiction. He addressed public meetings about the prospects of settling on the moon and got everyone steamed up about it."

Farbrother's ship was known as "The Wokingham Whale" because people thought it resembled a deep-sea monster.

He was the maker at the Silver Leaf Factory near Deloro during the year.

TORONTO, Nov. 15 — (CP) — York County Council Friday expressed unanimous opposition to a new amendment of the criminal code which would allow petty offence cases to be tried before a county court judge or jury or by a county court judge alone. At present, such cases are tried before a magistrate. The new legislation is scheduled to become effective Oct. 1, 1949.

Life has Changed for the Family Man

Most men live longer than their grandfathers. Women have a better life expectancy, too. So have children — not only that, but children nowadays spend more of their years getting an education.

These facts have brought significant changes in the family man's financial obligations. They mean that he must be prepared to support everyone in his family longer — including himself!

Fortunately, there is an effective way of meeting financial obligations of this nature — a well-planned insurance programme. Life insurance is a sure means by which a man can provide protection for his family in the event of his death or an income for himself should he live to retirement age.

The family man is wise to review his insurance requirements in view of changing conditions. If you would like expert advice, a representative of the Manufacturers Life will be glad to give it to you.

Alderman Herbert Young, Parks Chairman Will Stand Again If Nominated For Council

ALDERMAN H. N. YOUNG

Ald. Herbert Young, M.D., said at the weekend that he was looking forward to re-nomination for election to the city council.

It was at the conclusion of the meeting of the parks committee, of which he is chairman, Friday night, when the committee assumed responsibility for the public skating rinks this winter. They had been turned over from the parks commission who wrote that they did not have any funds.

"If I am renominated I intend to stand again," said Ald. Young who with his committee have just completed a "five-year plan" of projects and development for Peterborough's parks.

Copies of the report are to be prepared for the members of the council who, it is thought, will approve the program. The committee has no intention of trying to crowd a lot of work into one year, but they are convinced that a policy should be drafted and that it should be a guide for the next few years.

Hunter Leaves For Home Pals Search Hours For Him

Six district men, on a successful hunting trip in the Little Long Lake area last week, spent the largest part of a sleepless night scouring through the woods south of Apsley looking for the seventh member of their party. In the meantime, the man, Mel Edwards of Warsaw, had returned to his home and was safely sleeping in his own bed while the anxious search was on.

Mr. Edwards had become detached from the group about noon Thursday. Unable to contact them, he decided to return to his home. The other men, noting his absence, spread out in a systematic search of the surrounding area near the camp. They found no Mel. The hunt continued until the small hours, when they decided it would be wiser to wait for daylight and continue and [illegible] of the hunters.

They discovered their search was in vain when he rejoined them the next day.

By the end of the week, the score for the hunting party—the Little Long Lake Hunt Club—stood at six deer and one wolf. The wolf was a good-sized brush-wolf. One 5-point buck, one fawn, two smaller bucks and two does were in the kill. All said that game was not as plentiful as it had been the year before.

Members of the party are: Harry Dunford, Havelock; Earl Harding, Warsaw; Mel Edwards, Warsaw; Stewart Clydesdale, Warsaw; Harold Wilson, Keene; Donald Craig, Lang, and Gratton Bullock of Young's Point. The wolf was shot by Mr. Harding.

2 Cars Collide Damage $45

A total of about $45 damage was caused on Friday when the car of John Middleton, 569 Park St., going north on George St. was in collision with the car of E. J. Young, 440 Dublin St. which was backing into the curb.

Middleton was passing Young when the two cars became involved.

Damage of $20 was caused to Young's left front fender and bumper, and about $25 to the Middleton vehicle for dented fenders and a damaged door.

P. C. Louis Rodregue investigated.

Staff, Students Honor Engineer

The staff of the Peterborough Normal School recently honored Harvey A. Bonney on his retirement as engineer, after 27 years service. An electric lamp from the staff was presented by Dr. A. Madill.

Faithful and conscientious application to duty has marked his work at the school, since he was appointed in April, 1921. He made many friends with the students throughout the years. Only twice, and for a brief period of ten days on each occasion, has he been off duty.

Although he has seen many changes in the school staff during his service, only minor changes came to his own department. Electric motors have replaced the steam engine for operating the ventilating fan but no automatic stoker as yet feeds the firebox. Annually he has shovelled on the average of 140 tons of coal in order that classes might meet in comfort.

Miss O. Johnson and Miss C. Wagar made arrangements for the party.

HIT-AND-RUN DAMAGE

About $25 damage to the parked car of Nelson Ross, Rockcroft, was caused in the market square Saturday afternoon. It was struck on the fender.

Hunting Lodge Burned; Man 74, Charged

Evidence against 74-year-old George D. English of Kinmount, charged with wilfully setting fire to the house of Martha Handley in Cavendish Township, was heard today. Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, reserved his judgment to Nov. 19. The elderly accused, pleading not guilty, denied any knowledge of the fire setting, adding that as one-time owner, he had been using the abandoned dwelling for many years as a hunting lodge in the fall.

Key witness for the crown was a Toronto businessman, Edward J. Langan. He told the court that on the day in question—Oct. 15—he had met the accused in a Kinmount barbershop. English said that he could show where partridge could be found in Cavendish township and with another Toronto visitor, John S. Howard, Langan drove English out towards Salmon Lake where they did some hunting.

Driving back, they passed the Cavendish house, which English said he owned, testified Langan. The accused asked to stop a few minutes while he checked the house. The two others waited outside in the car for about 10 minutes, then Langan said he went inside to get English.

"I met him just as he was opening the door on the other side. I could see what looked like fire along the far wall, but he closed the door quickly." The witness said he was not sure that he had seen fire, but that the glimpse had aroused his suspicion. Later that day, he had looked for signs of smoke but had seen none.

The next morning, Langan told the court that he had driven by the spot to find the house was burned to the ground.

Arthur Carew, Lindsay lumber dealer and John Hadley of Kinmount, son of the owner, gave evidence that the house burned had not belong to English since about 1933. It was worth about $300, said Handley.

Ray J. Simmons, an inspector with the Fire Marshal's department for the province, said that it was not possible to find any signs of incendiary activities, as the house had been completely burned.

The accused, in his own defence, also said that many of the goods in the house belonged to him.

Emphatically denying having set the fire, he said that "hundreds of hunters were through the woods that weekend and could have done it."

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry suggested to the accused that the "reason you set fire to the house was because the other hunters didn't want you now, because you weren't strong, and you burned the house down so no one else could use it." English denied this.

NAME LABOR CANDIDATE

It is expected that a labor candidate for municipal office at the coming election will be named at the meeting of the Allied Labor Council on Tuesday night. A committee consisting of President Alfred Barber, Donald Rosenburgh, John Beggs and Donald Corrin were two weeks ago entrusted with the task of looking through labor ranks for a likely candidate.

Husky RCMP Officer Lectures At City Schools

A tall, husky RCMP constable in the familiar scarlet tunic, yellow-striped riding breeches and jingling spurs today began instructing Peterborough public school children in good citizenship and acquainting them with the work of the police.

He is Constable C. Holman, of Toronto, a "Mountie" for nine years, who is travelling over a wide expanse of the province helping to cut down juvenile delinquency by preventing it before it reaches the incipient stage.

"We work on the assumption that if the young Canadians gain a respect for law and the Canadian policemen while still in school we won't have to worry about them afterwards," he told an interviewer.

And he came well-equipped for the lecture. A 20-minute film on the training of dogs to assist the RCMP in their work rivetted the attention of the youthful audience like a Saturday matinee.

He will speak in four public schools, altogether, today and then will go to the other four on Tuesday. Altogether he will come to all the schools three times at intervals of four weeks.

On other visits he will show another film "Scarlet and Blue" which reveals the methods of training police, and he will speak on "Safety Rules and Laws." Two other films "Through the North-West Passage" the subject being the cruise of RCMP schooner St. Roche; and "Policing the North," a motion picture glimpse of Canada's northland and the administration of justice among the Eskimo.

Commr. S. T. Wood, CMG, head of the RCMP, started this scheme of having his stalwart policemen co-operate with educationalists about three years ago. The Mounties only come on invitation and confine themselves to a limited range of subjects dealing alternately with police work and training for good citizenship.

Today a large number of senior children at Central School assembled to hear Constable Holman give a brief history of the force and the part that it has played in some of the most stirring days of Canada's development—particularly in the west.

The Constable then lectured them on courtesy and discipline interlarding his remarks with anecdotes from the annals of the police as illustration.

Children whose thoughts might often wander if this were just another lesson, listened open-mouthed to the informal address of the husky, uniformed mountie.

This program of helping to train youth is now Canada-wide, and the work of the Mounties in some of the sparsely settled areas of the Dominion is said to be particularly valuable.

Constable Holman has to cover an area form Cochrane to Fort Erie and from Windsor to Cobourg, containing approximately 4,000 schools. Many of the single lectures are taken by one of the 20 men on detachment, but when the program calls for a series of illustrated lectures, he answers the call.

He points out that the aim of this project is not to glorify the RCMP, police work is dicussed generally. The sole object, he says, is to lend assistance to those responsible for educating children.

"Whether today's children will be good or bad citizens tomorrow depends largely on the influences they met today," said the constable, and that is where the Mounties are lending a helping hand.

Joe Jebson, Veteran Business Executive To Toss Hat Into Aldermanic Ring In 1949

Mr. Joseph A. Jebson, chairman of the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre, is a new candidate for the city council.

His organizing ability was demonstrated in the campaign for the financing of this project. At that time it was generally believed that the funds subscribed were sufficient for the erection of the Centre as it had been planned, but subsequent and steady increases in costs, with delay in finding a site, prevent the starting of building work.

Mr. Jebson is an executive of the Ernest C. Braund stores. He said today that citizens had been urging him to accept nomination for aldermanic positions, and he had decided to do so in the spirit of willingness to assist in promoting the interests of Peterborough through its municipal administration.

"It seems one almost has to get elected to Council to find out why there are obstacles to community enterprises, and if that's the only way to get the answers, then I am going to seek election," Mr. Jebson said.

300 Attend Band Concert At Collegiate Auditorium

A bright chain of melody was the concert of Peterborough Citizens' Band at the Collegiate auditorium Sunday evening. The first wet snow of the season kept the audience to three hundred.

One of the numbers was a medley of waltzes, including Blue Danube, Vienna Woods, Night of Gladness, Lojn du Bal and so on, the excerpts plainly chosen for their tunefulness. The audience liked the band's new number, "Jesu Joy of My Desiring" by Bach. It was smoothly played, and the reed section was quite effective in spite of its lack of instruments.

A trombone quartette was a little indication of Capt. Peryer's strength in brass. Assistant bandmaster W. Parnell, Bandsmen J. Thackeray, G. Parnell and G. Johns played two numbers, Hail Smiling Morn and Image of a Rose. It seems a long time since a concert band included this grouping of instruments. Their tone was splendid and the harmony delightful.

The band also played the Orpheus overture of Offenbach, the Hallelujah chorus of the Messiah, and several other numbers, providing an enjoyable evening. It was not an exacting program, but was entertaingly tuneful.

A men's choral party from the Salvation Army contributed two selections that sustained the fine quality of the concert.

One was the Long Day Closes set to the charmingly melodic Leibestraum and the other a negro spiritual "Look Away To Heaven." The singers were: R. G. Routley, R. F. Routley, L. French, J. Hodgson, M. J. Shadgett, Stan. J. Richardson, Roy Wilfong, F. W. Robinson, Alf Mills with A. B. Smith leader and Mrs. Smith accompanist.

Mr. Karl Monk, chairman, contributed interesting commentary in his announcements of the program details, and expressed the band's appreciation of the cordial cooperation of the Salvation Army musicians.

CIGARETTE BURNS UPHOLSTERY

A hole was burned in the back seat of a car owned by Mrs. E. Barns, 288 Burnham St. parked at Hunter and Queen Sts. on Saturday afternoon. Firemen extinguished it was a hand pump.

Steps From Curb Struck By Car

A. W. Quemby, 158 Parkhill Road, received hospital attention Sunday evening for hip and leg bruises received when he was struck by a car at George and McDonnel Sts. about 5.15 p.m. Driver was Fred B. Kemp of Lakefield. Quemby, walking south on George, had just stepped from the curb when the vehicle's fender and running board hit him. He was taken to the Peterborough Clinic by Kemp and later to St. Joseph's Hospital. PC G. J. Gillespie investigated.

Cow Goes On Tour Roped By Inspector

A cow with a yearning to travel was able to indulge that urged for about three miles on Friday night, before being roped and returned to her home barnyard. The meandering milker sauntered away from the farm of Clifford Lowes, on the western expansion of Sherbrooke St. about two miles from the city limits. Someone had left the door of the barn open and Bossie took her opportunity.

She got right into the south end of the city—apparently heading for the business section—before the unscheduled tour came to an end. Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford, advised by the police took the cow into custody, by roping her, cowboy style, at Wolfe and Bethune Sts.

During the long trek, no damage was caused. A considerable number of boys and girls followed in the animal's wake, enjoying the odd sight as the bovine solemnly parade along the city streets.

DAMAGE SLIGHT

Slight damage to both vehicles was caused in a collision at King and Stewart Sts. about 4.15 p.m. Sunday. Drivers were Donald Begley, 96 Stewart St. and J. Howard Hall, 577 Bethune St. Damage to the Hall vehicle was a dented and torn fender. The bumper and a spotlight on the Begley car were broken.

First Snow Falls Saturday Farm Wells Still Low Heavy Rains Badly Needed

The snow that fell on Sunday evening for three and one-half hours brought a change in weather conversations but produced little moisture according to Jim Harrison, official weather recorder at the Filtration Plant. His rain gauges showed a total precipitation of .11 inches and in his estimation would do little more than soak the sod a little.

Many people who see the least bit of moisture jump to the conclusion that wells and cisterns on farms are gaining by it. This is not the case according to Agricultural Representative Frank C. Paterson. He says there has been sufficient moisture to enable farmers to make a good job of their fall ploughing. Winter wheat crops, that are short of last year's moisture by ten to 15 per cent., look to be in good shape. Swamps and creeks are still dry and these tell whether or not there is an excess of water throughout the country. Most men who are concerned with agricultural and water levels say that a great deal of snowfall is required this winter to bring the wells back to normal by spring.

4 Charges Laid For Selling Gas

The City of Peterborough is continuing today charges under its bylaw regulating closing hours for gasoline outlets. Convictions registered last month will be appealed early in December. This morning, five new charges — against four service stations originally convicted and now appealing — were read in police court. They were adjourned until Dec. 14, when all the new charges will be heard pending the outcome of the appeal.

The charges today are: Two against Thompson's ervice Station; one each against Russelle's, Burke's and Bianco's Service Stations.

Dodged Rabbit But Wrecks Car

Swerving his car to avoid striking a rabbit scurrying across the road, Byron Karrys of Toronto, had about $150 damage done to his car Sunday morning. He was driving on No. 7 Highway about two miles east of Havelock when the accident happened. Striking a rock as it swerved, the car ended up in the ditch.

There were no injuries. Provincial Constable Emmett Crough investigated.

An Expensive Move

A accident Saturday night in Lakefield which caused less than $5 damage cost 18-year-old Elmer Lean of Apsley a $25 fine and $4.25 court costs today because he did not remain at the scene. Lakefield Chief Constable Garnet Samis testified that the accused youth had backed his car into the rear of another, breaking a bumper, resulting in "maybe three or four dollars damage." Lean drove off immediately, he said.

Mr. Lashbrook died suddenly at his home on Thursday night. He was born in Devonshire, England, and came to Peterborough 37 years ago. He was employed by the Quaker Oats Company and the CGE and had latterly been a furrier at Hamilton's fur store.

He was a veteran of World War I, enlisting with the 93rd Battalion and served in France with the 5th CMR's. He was a member of the Canadian Legion and one of the most active workers in the Salvation Army in Peterborough where he was sergeant-major of the Sunday School.

Attack Made On Nfld. Union

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 15 — (CP) — Anti-Confederate forces Sunday attacked on two fronts in their battle to prevent the old colony from joining Canada as a 10th province.

At St. John's, six former members of the old Newfoundland parliament have taken out a Supreme Court writ against Governor Sir Gordon Macdonald and other members of the Commission government, charging that the recent referendum on union with Canada was unconstitutional and illegal.

Meanwhile, a delegation from the Newfoundland responsible government league arrived in London Saturday to protest the plan of immediate confederation at the bar of the House of Commons.

The three-man delegation carried a suitcase full of petitions and will seek to have responsible government formed in Newfoundland before negotiations for Confederation are allowed to continue.

Hunting Fatalities Lead In 25 Deaths At Week-end

By The Canadian Press

A Hamilton boy who dared his chum to pull a rifle trigger died of a neck wound after the weapon discharged. James Gray, 13, said later that he didn't know the gun which killed 12-year-old Alfred Mayall was loaded.

Hunting mishaps figured in four of the 25 other fatalities reported in eastern Canada during the week-end, a Canadian Press survey shows. Traffic accidents took 12 lives.

Accidental discharge of a fellow hunter's gun fatally wounded Provincial Constable John S. Hare, 28, of Toronto, in the Espanola area, west of Sudbury. The officer was struck by a blast from a rifle a companion was unloading in the front seat of an automobile.

When a hunter stumbled at Iroquois Falls, Ont., a rifle caught in a tree and discharged and its bullet killed Delmar Cymbolski, 23.

Two duck hunters were drowned after canoes upset in Ontario's Peterborough district. They were Fred Hickey, 41, of Peterborough, and Vincent Simcoe, 50, of the Rama Indian Reserve near Orillia. In both cases, other persons survived.

The body of a 32-year-old woman patient in the Ontario Mental Hospital at Whitby, was found in a room used by the hospital to a house air-conditioning equipment. It was believed the woman, missing since June 6, was electrocuted.

Dead In Hotel

J. A. Miller, 61, of Detroit, was found dead in his hotel room in Windsor. An investigation into the cause of his death was started.

Lionel Bissonette, 38, of Montreal, a longshoreman found dead in a steamer's hold in Montreal harbor, probably fell into the hold, investigators said. A fall from a freighter to a pier killed another longshoreman, Harry Perry, 53, in Summerside, P.E.I.

Philippe Guimond, 49, was found drowned in the harbor at Richibucto, N.B. Police said they believed he fell out of his boat.

Rosario Aumond, 62, suffered fatal injuries in fall in his Montreal home.

A level-crossing crash near Joliette, Que., killed L'Omer Delorme, 29, and Lorenzo Dube, 32, both of St. Michel Des Saints, Que., and injured two others.

Traffic Victims

Other Quebec province traffic victims were: Sylvia Picard, 40, Lucien Marseille, 30, Roland Menard, 11, Zotique Delage, 68, Mrs. Emile Ares, 43, and Antoine Bergeron, all fatally injured in separate Montreal accidents; and Philippe Bishara, 48, of Boucherville, Que., who died in a Montreal hospital from injuries suffered in a crash Nov. 6.

Victims of Ontario highway mishaps were: Mary Ann Harcar, six, struck by a car in front of her Windsor home; Mrs. James Martin, 53, of Welland, knocked down on a Welland street; Almerian Johnson, 67, a retired farmer hit by a car near his Fort Erie home; Mrs. Clara Mansz, 49, Gowanstown, in a two-car collision; Lem Soon, 48, Barrie, whose whizzer bicycle collided with a car; and James Mizek, 47, Cochrane, who died in hospital at Timmins.

Try Passenger Plane With Turbo-Jet Power

TORONTO, Nov. 15—(CP)—A. V. Roe, Canada, Ltd., Friday announced that the first commercial airliner designed to use the power of the turbo-jet will take to the air in February for its first tests preparatory to going into Trans-Canada Air Lines service.

Seating 40 passengers, the Avro C-102 will have a cruising speed at 35,000 feet of 430 miles an hour, nearly twice the speed of TCA's Montreal-built North Star, and three times the speed of the Douglas DC-3's which are standard feeder-line equipment on major United States air lines.

The company claims the C-102 as the world's fastest commercial airliner.

At Winnipeg, Trans-Canada Air Lines officials said Friday night they were not planning to use turbo-jet airliners as passenger aircraft.

The year was 1835 . . .

. . . young Canada trudged off to school with a stick of firewood under his arm! For in that year an enterprising schoolmaster named John Holmes opened one of the nation's earliest schools. He called it "The Nursery of Science," with Mrs. Holmes in charge of the "Female Department." In addition to a fee of from 12s 6d to 20s per quarter, each pupil was required to supply his share of the fuel!

Holmes had made a start toward our present educational system—but it was many years before schools were free to all in Canada. Through those years it was public opinion expressed by vote that finally forced action.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

Fire Destroys Old Vessels In Quebec Church

By WILLIAM STEWART.

QUEBEC, Nov. 15 — (CP). — Not in a long time has loss from fire so stirred Quebec people as the blaze which burned the big Roman Catholic Church of Montmagny, Que., on Thanksgiving Day and destroyed so much that was linked to the earliest days of New France.

No amount of money can replace its destroyed store of robes, sacred vessels and examples, nearly two centuries old, of the wood-carving art of French Canada.

Officially the loss was estimated at between $700,000 and $300,000.

The edifice itself, modelled on the Church of St. John Lateran in Rome, was 126 years old, the fourth to serve ancient St. Thomas parish.

Treasures Gone

Canon Auguste Lessard, 73-year-old parish priest and his church wardens, have discussed plans to replace the church. The treasures it contained are gone for ever.

Th grey, stone Montmagny church with twin 130-foot steeples was regarded as one of the finest in the south shore farming district of the lower St. Lawrence.

The aluminum paint of its spires, a distinguishing mark of the rural churches of Quebec, could be seen from a great distance across the rolling countryside and attracted visitors motoring through Montmagny on Gaspe tours.

The gilt main altar had been carved by Francois Noel Levasseur, Quebec sculptor who lived from 1703-1794. Six old carved wooden candlesticks and the church's ornate pulpit, believed to have been carved by Francois Bailarge or under the direction of that old Quebec painter, sculptor and architect, were destroyed too.

A ONE-MAN GAME sanctuary has been developed from burnt-over, run-down acres. Herb McKnight (above) calls his wilderness domain, east from Cooper in the Central-Eastern Hastings County, Wildlife Resorts Ltd. There is plenty of wildlife of the strictly zoological sort.

Labor Candidate Wins By-Election

LONDON, Nov. 15.— (CP).— Labor candidate Austen Alsu won the parliamentary by-election in the London suburb constituency of Edmonton Saturday. He defeated Conservative Edwin P. Hubbard by a majority of 3,327, it was announced early Sunday.

Alsu, 45-year-old engineer, polled 26,164 votes to 22,837 for Hubbard in a straight fight. The Labor plurality in the 1945 general election, when 1,500 fewer votes were cast, was 19,069 in a three-way race.

Conservative leader Winston Churchill hailed the heavy increase in the Conservative vote as a "wonderful" sign.

Edmonton has a population mainly comprising working and middle class families. The district was hit hard by the depression of the 1930's and has been faithful in returning Labor members since 1935.

The by-election was necessitated by the death of Labor member Evan Durbin, parliamentary secretary to the works ministry, who was drowned last summer.

In the general election Durbin polled 33,163 votes to 14,094 for Sqdn.-Ldr. G. Sparrow of the RAF. An independent candidate, J. A. Ward, former mayor of Edmonton, received 1,382 votes.

Miss Finnimore Leads WMS Study Service

MILLBROOK, Nov. 13— (ENS) —Miss Maude Finnimore's group had charge of the November meeting of the WMS of St. Andrew's United Church Wednesday. Mrs. F. P. Stinson was hostess and led the worship service. Those assisting were Mrs. J. Rowland, Miss E. L. Hetherington, and Miss Finnimore.

The autumn thankoffering was received, and will again be taken at the December meeting, as the envelopes were only on hand by Wdnesday. Group leaders will distribute these, but it was gratifying to note that over $33 came in on Wednesday. Mite-boxes will also be brought in at the December gathering, when the election of officers takes place.

Mrs. J. Ridge will assist Miss Ethel Hatherly with the Missionary Monthly. The study was taken by Miss Finnimore, Mrs. Cooper, of Toronto, guest of Mrs. Stinson, and Miss Hetherington.

The December meeting will be at the parsonage.

In 40 Years News Service Million Dollar Business

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

TORONTO, Nov. 15 — (CP) — Forty years ago the distribution of news in Canada was a railway monopoly. Today the basic supplier of news to almost all daily newspapers is a $1,000,000-a-year co-operative, with world-girdling connections, which they operate themselves.

That transition from monopoly to co-operation, from external control to complete independence, is the subject of "(CP) The Story of The Canadian Press," just publisher here (by the Ryerson Press).

The author is M. E. Nichols of Vancouver, retired managing director of The Vancouver Daily Province and before that of The Winnipeg Tribune.

He was president of CP from 1931 to 1933 and a CAP director for many years.

Mr. Nichols says he write his 327-page book at the suggestion of other newspaper men who "earnestly believe that the achievements of The Canadian Press deserve a place in Canadian history." L. W. Brockington, K.C., of Ottawa, who writes the foreword, goes even farther.

Helped Unity.

"It could well be argued," Mr. Brockington says, "that no single happening helped more than the founding of The Canadian Press to fashion the pattern of modern Canada, to harmonize our warring economies in a growing unity and to give shape and substance not only to our appprehension of ourselves but also to our knowledge of the world forces which govern our destinies."

Mr. Nichols starts his story in 1907. The Canadian Pacific, which then had a virtual monopoly of collection and distribution of news in Canada, doubled its charges for the news service supplied to the three Winnipeg daily newspapers.

The author then was president of The Winnipeg Telegram. E. H. Macklin was general manager of Sir Clifford Sifton's Manitoba Free Press, and John W. Dafoe its editor-in-chief. R. L. Richardson was owner of The Winnipeg Tribune. These four decided to defy the corporation.

They formed the Western Associated Press, an agency destined to do the pick-and-shovel work for erection of CP.

WAP started from scratch, in a single room. Its lineal descendant, The Canadian Press, has an annual budget of more than $1,000,000; a new head office building in Toronto; bureaux in all major Canadian cities; offices manned by Canadians in London, New York and Washington; and well-established contractual relations with other agencies which blanket the world.

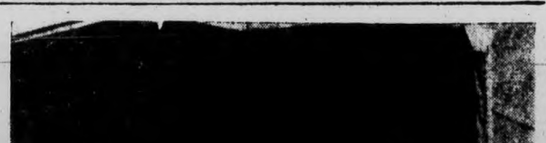
Get Equal Rates

Turning-point in the early battle came in 1910. The WAP appealed to the Railway Commission, which controls telegraph rates, against the high tolls its members had to pay for news transmission.

In 1910, when the Railway Commission declared in favor of equal rates for all press material, the battle was over.

Canadian Press, Limited, was formed early in 1911. It became a holding company for the AP service, with four almost-autonomous units: WAP in the West, a similar organization named Eastern Press Association in The Maritimes, and separate organization for morning and evening papers in Ontario and Quebec.

Anual Grand



An annual grant of $50,000 was provided by Sir Robert Borden's Conservative government. September 1, 1917, a national news service began to function, under Canadian Press, Limited, at last as a centralized unit. In 1923, by Act of Parliament, it became The Canadian Press, incorporated under the non-profit clauses of the Federal Companies Act.

A year later, the Liberal Government of Prime Minister Mackenzie King withdrew the grant.

The annual CP meeting in 1925 Mr. Nichols recalls, went on record that the co-operative should "never again accept assistance from this or any other government." Since then it has stood alone, each year bringing expansion.

In 1941 it set up a subsidiary, Press News Limited, to supply news to radio stations. By Autumn of this year, Press News served 81 of the 100-odd private stations — about double its competitor's total — and provided the basic service of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Latest CP venture mentioned by Mr. Nichols is a co-operative Canadian Picture Service, started Sept. 6 this year.

What kind of world will your children inherit?

● Probably it will be a better world in every way.

Certainly it will be a healthier world. For science is working ceaselessly to devise more effective ways of treating and preventing disease.

But the task is enormous—and costly. That is why the life insurance companies in Canada have contributed large sums of money for many years toward the work of medical science — particularly in the field of preventive research.

As a result, more men and women are enabled to work in well-equipped laboratories waging war against cancer, tuberculosis and polio. More facts are being discovered in order to promote better nutrition, prenatal care and dental hygiene. And, the skill and devotion which these scientists bring to their work promises new freedom from sickness in years to come.

By supporting their efforts, the life insurance companies help to raise the health standard of the nation.

By owning life insurance, you help to create a healthier world for your children.

Home and School Members Attend All Saints

About 175 members of Peterborough Home and School Associations opened the activities of Education Week by attending the evening service at All Saints' Anglican church Sunday. The Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite conducted the service and in his welcoming remarks said "It is my wish that every parent take the opportunity to become acquainted with this work."

An enlightening and interesting sermon was given on "A child in the midst." Rev. Kibblewhite stressed the importance of giving a child the inner sense of what is true, good and beautiful and the importance of belief and inner convictions. He said "No matter what the background of education, each one of us has difficulties."

Continuing, he remarked "The home, school and church are so linked that they must be interlaced in the building of the future nation. Religion binds us together. Every family and home is underprivileged because it cannot provide the enlightenment and enrichment necessary by itself. So many have let their religion go and it is hard to bring up children if the parents do not have any. Young people must see things that are derived from religious environment at home. Schools cannot be expected to provide this training."

"So many daily routines are havoc, but when it comes in the realm of religion, how many realize the havoc in prayers, church and Sunday School" he asked. "We must take the lead in the way in which a child's spirit changes. If we have sincere love we can lead the little ones on the right path and we must do all in our hearts to show them. Through these efforts we can bring about a better home, school and community.

Davies-Coones Vows Taken Honeymoon in Montreal

St. Luke's Anglican Church was the setting for the evening wedding Friday which united Dorothy Eleanor Coones and John Hugh Davies. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coones of Sandy Lake, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davies of Peterborough.

White 'mums were on the altar as the Rev. Walter Gilling performed the ceremony, and palms and fern formed a background. The wedding march was played by the Rev. A. F. Dowdall and during the signing of the register he played "O Perfect Love" and Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride's gown was of ivory crepe-back satin fashioned in simple traditional lines with sweetheart neckline on the tight-fitting bodice and long slender sleeves coming to points over her hands, soft fullness in the skirt falling into a short train. It was trimmed with sprays of tiny flowers and leaves on the skirt and bodice, formed of the reverse side of the material and appliqued. She wore a halo headdress, caught at each side with orange blossoms, and veil of silk net falling to fingertip length. Her ring bouquet was of pink roses and orange blossoms. Mr. Coones gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Lillian Coones was maid of honor for her sister, and the groom's niece, Miss Diane Pearse, was junior bridesmaid. Miss Coones frock or orchid taffeta was made on straight lines with puff sleeves and sweetheart neckline and full skirt with bustle. Each wore a flowered hat and gloves of the same material as her dress and they carried ring bouquets of golden baby 'mums tied with green and orchid tulle.

Mr. Elmer Pearse acted as groomsman for his brother-in-law. Ushers were Lorne Galley and Wm. Hepburn.

The reception which followed was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hepburn. The bride's mother received with the bridal party, gowned in black crepe with black hat and corsage of deep red roses. The groom's mother, who also received, was in Queen's blue faconne and wore a black hat and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies are spending their honeymoon in Montreal and will live at 279 Armour Rd. For travelling the bride wore a smoke grey dress with wine accessories and winter white topcoat. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses.

Hinze-Preston

St. Aidan's Anglican Church at Young's Point was crowded Wednesday November 10 with friends attending the wedding of Walter Edmund Hinze, younger son of Mrs. Hinze of Maynooth John Jacob Hinze of Maynooth and Jean Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Preston of Smith.

Mr. Hinze is principal of the Young's Point public school and the children ofrmed a surprise guard of honor as the groom entered and a few minutes later for the bride, as she arrived on the arm of her father. In the church tall pots of English Ivy and baskets of chrysanthemums formed a lovely setting.

The service was taken by the Incumbent, the Rev. Canon F. J. Fife.

The bride's dress was of white satin with deep inset flounces of lace and she wore shoulder length veil and carried red roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Isabelle McIlmoyle wore royal blue satin with bonnet to match and carried white roses.

The groom was attended by a cousin, Gordon Legrow of Maynooth. Ralph Preston, brother of the bride, acted as usher.

A reception was held later in Hooper's Palm Room, Peterborough where the bride's parents received.

NEW COMMISSIONER

NEW DELHI—(CP) — Lt.-Col. Daya Singh Bedi has been selected for appointment as Indian High Commissioner in Australia. He is a former senior member of the old foreign and political department of the government of India.

Knox Couples Decide Against Movies

Thought for the evening was given by Mrs. Ray Gillies as Knox Married Couples group meeting opened, was "Who To Thy Neighbor", Mrs. B. Lewis read verses showing that to be a good Samacritic one must not pass by on the other side leaving the newcomer—a girl without work or friends—the lonely—and anyone less fortunate than themselves to be without help, care and love. The Rev. H. G. Douglas led in prayer and the scripture reading was given by Mrs. Evan McIlraith.

Debate was Resolved that movies have degenerating influence"—the affirmative being taken by Mr. Douglas and Peter McComb, the Negative side by Robt. Hansion and Jack Clark. Judges were Mrs. Ean McIlrath, Ray Gillies and Gordon Morrison—who gave their decision in favor of the former.

Recreational period was in charge of Mrs. B. Charlton and at the close of the meeting Mrs. Stewart Frey, Mrs. Erie Pearson, Mrs. Harold Murduff served lunch and an enjoyable social half hour was spent.

Dyer-Harper Union Two Ring Wedding

A double ring wedding ceremony took place at All Saints' Anglican Church Saturday when Gladys Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harper of South Mountain, became the bride of William John Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dyer of Peterborough. The Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite officiated and Mrs. A. Logan played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a powder blue moire gown and matching accessories and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by Miss Ethel Avery of Brockville. Her twin brother, Mr. Emerson Harper was the groomsman.

A reception was held afterward at the home of the groom's parents, and later Mr. and Mrs. Dyer left to spend their honeymoon in Toronto and other points. Travelling the bride wore a loganberry suit and grey fur coat with black accessories. They will live in Peterborough.

Annual Purple 'n' Gold Tea Popular Event of Saturday

"Purple and gold" have become almost synonymous with the Peterborough Civic Hospital Alumnae Association through the immense popularity of their annual tea. The 1948 event was held Saturday afternoon in the YWCA Green Room, resplendent with decorations in the royal colors. Miss A. L. Thomson, nursing superintendent of Civic Hospital, was receiving with the president, Mrs. M. B. Pringle and Mrs. Earl Wellman, bazaah convener. The treasurer, Miss Jean Gillespie, presided at the entrance.

A beautiful white lace cloth on the tea table brought out the splendor of the keynote colors more effectively, and was the centre of admiring eyes. The closely worked pattern was chrocheted by a member and represents five years of spare time. A large mirror edged with trailing vines reflected the deep purple and gold 'mums and candles in varying heights which stood in a low silver bowl, and the glowing tapers, two in gold with a shorter purple candle in the middle, that were in flanking silver solders. A small bouquet of the darker flowers and purple candles were on the mantelpiece.

Tea pourers were Mrs. Eva Taylor, Mrs. P. Logan and Miss Marian Deyell. Miss Mary E. Greer was convener of the tea room, and assisted the hostesses, Mrs. W. L. McLaren and Miss I. Drope. Assistants were Mrs. W. H. Jones, Mrs. Dion Snelgrove, Mrs. Frey Revoy, Mrs. Clayton Ruth, Mrs. Wm. Bateson, Mrs. Gordon Morrison, Mrs. Fred Mason, Mrs. Ivison Walker, Mrs. Wm. Young, Mrs. Don Hill, Misses Dorothy Pigeon, Jean Preston, Mary Robson, Muriel Langmaid and Mary Nesbitt.

Miss Shirley Beer was in charge of draw tickets on an adorable doll with complete wardrobe and bed, and a smaller doll that had all the necessary "babies' things," perfectly fashioned on miniature liens. Miss Thomson drew the winning ticket which was that of Miss Patricia Brittain, of Lakefield.

Bazaar tables had frilled skirts of purple with bands of gold and their attendants wore aprons to match. "Touch and take" parcels were wrapped in purple and hung on a golden Christmas tree. Mrs. A. Watson and Mrs. P. Logan collected prices from the "takers."

Children's print overalls and fancy aprons were very popular with customers at the novelty table and many other attractive items disappeared too. The saleslaadies were Mrs. Rex Rose, Miss Alta Moncrieff, Mrs. T. Holyman, Mrs. J. Mortimer, Mrs. Roy Taylor, Mrs. G. Wainwright and Mrs. Jack Thornton.

Favorite baking recipes of members had been gathered and put up in booklets in purple covers with a gold ensign and were for sale at the heavily laden home cooking tables. Busy attendants there were Mrs. J. Yarn, Mrs. H. Tranter, Mrs. W. E. Conway and Miss Pearl Trethewey.

Skiing Twins Take Husbands

MONTREAL, Nov. 15—(CP)—Canada's famous skiin twins, Rhona and Rhoda Wurtele, inseparable since they started trophy-gathering as girls in pigtails, took husbands Saturday in a double wedding ceremony.

Rhona married Gene Gillis of Bend, Ore., an ex-United States marine and a member of the U.S. Olympic ski team whom she met in Ogden, Utah, while the sisters were racing to the two top places among women competitors in the U.S. nationals.

Rhoda took marriage vows with Arnold Evans, Montreal accountant. Rhoda will settle in Westmount with her husband while her sister will open a ski school and shop with husband Gene in Whitefish, Montana.

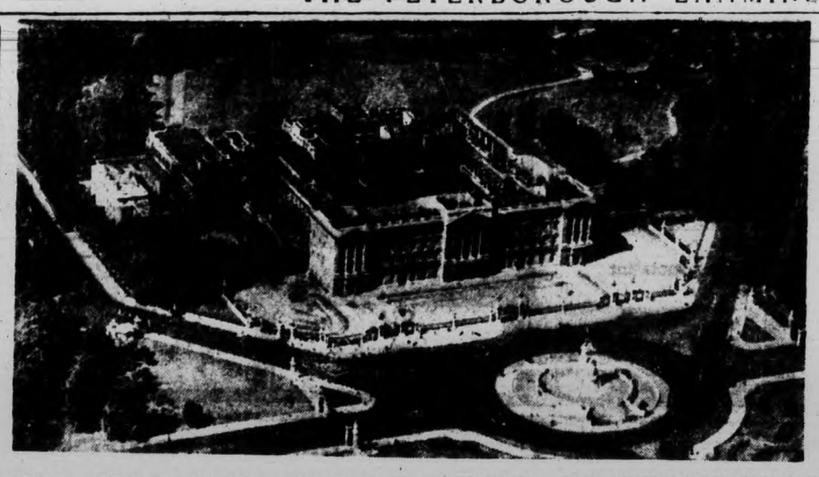
The two brides wore model gowns of delicate plush pink satin, the bodices, with sweetheart necklines having inset yokes of nét, finished with Peter Pan collars and long sleeves terminating in points over the hands. From wreaths of orange blossoms cascaded tulle illusion veils extended beyond trains of their full-skirted dresses and they carried bouquets of Sweetheart roses and bouvardia.

The service was held at St. Stephen's Anglican Church in suburban Westmount with Rev. A. T. Love officiating.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, November 16



It would be easy, according to astral testimonies, to become involved in all sorts of difficulties, snarls and perplexities through rash, ill-considered words, acts, any kind of carelessness, which could offend not only elders, superiors and employers, but as well friends, young folk and the family. Any hope of assistance or cooperation, personal or financial, will then be forfeited. Change, travel, new agreements should be decided on a basis of well-regulated or rationalized commitments. Also the health and peace of mind should be considered.

Those whose birthday it is should decide to carefully consider the advantage, happiness and friendly spirit of others, in making agreements, new contracts or change of plans and objectives. It would be hazardous to run counter to the wishes of employers, family or others whose support and friendliness may be vital for any real progress. The health and general well being could be jeopardized by hasty, distorted or confused judgments, in all relationships. For peace and prosperity adhere to regulation tactics and codes. Sign writings cautiously.

A child born on this day may be fond of change, imaginative, impressionable and given to sarcastic or equivocal speech, alienating friends or superiors, to its detriment and loss.

GENERAL VIEW OF BUCKING HAM PALACE IN LONDON BABY WINDSOR'S BIRTHPLACE

"BABY LILIBET"—Princess Elizabeth, shortly after birth, in arms of her mother, now Queen Elizabeth

"BABY STUART"—later James II

Totally unlike another royal child, the Baby Stuart, who became ill-fated King James II, Princess Elizabeth's first born comes into a world which finds the British folk united in their affection for and loyalty to the royal family. Baby Stuart was born in 1633 when his father, King Charles I, was bitterly quarrelling with parliament, which later dethroned and beheaded him. Later, when Baby Stuart becames James II, he was driven into exile. But all that is forgotten as crowds gather in front of Buckingham Palace to celebrate.

DOROTHY DIX

Women Get Home, Children Meal Ticket in Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of marriageable age, but recently I have heard so many gripes against marriage that I am beginning to wonder if I really want to marry, or if I had better play safe and be an old maid. Here are some of the discouragers that they hand me:

Dorothy Dix

"After you marry the thrill is gone, quarrels become common and there is no more love-making." "When a woman marries she loses more freedom than a man does, for she soon is tied down by babies." "After marriage most husbands barely make enough money for the household expenses and cannot give fancy clothes to a wife." "During the first year of marriage a girl loses the desire for dolling herself up and lets herself become fat and unattractive." "There comes a time in all marriages when husbands become tired of their wives." "All wives get on their husbands' nerves."

That is what married people say about marriage. Will you please tell me some of the advantages of marriage, if any.

LOUISE

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: Don't let the grouches get you down, daughter. There are bound to be more kisses than kicks in the holy estate, or else practically every woman wouldn't be breaking her neck to get into it. Of course, the charges against matrimony that you enumerate are true enough in many cases, but hope springs eternal in the feminine breast and every girl thinks that she is going to get a great lover for a husband and live happily ever after.

Marriage is Good Bet

No marriage is the romantic dream that girls think it is going to be; but taking it by and large, it adds up to being a pretty good bet, even when Friend Husband turns out to be just and ordinary guy instead of Prince Charming. To begin with, it saves a girl from the fate that she dreads the most—that of being an old maid. She can relax and take it easy because she has hooked her fish. She can assume the superior air that all married women wear because she has proved that she is attractive to one man, at least. Whatever it cost a woman to be able to write "Mrs." before her name is justified.

Another highly desirable quality in a husband is that he is a meal ticket, as a general thing, and any woman who ever has had to earn her own living knows that it is a mighty comfortable thing to be able to sit back and let George do it.

Still another advantage in having a husband is that a wife has a stooge upon whom she can vent all of her temper, nerves, disappointments and blunders. Husbands get all the blame for their wives' faults. They even have to pay their wives for divorcing them.

Many a wife, without beauty, brains or charm herself, rides into high society and sits in the seat of the mighty because she has a brilliant husband. And many a woman who couldn't make a dollar herself wears diamonds and rides in Cadillacs because her husband is a money-maker.

And chief of the advantages of marriage are the children and the home that represent the greatest blessing that life can give anyone.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 18 years old and in love with a man who is 34. I have told him that I love him, but he says he only likes me and perhaps some day he will feel the way I do. He also tells me that if I date any other boys or if he ever sees one here in the house that he will never come to my home again. Every time we are together he hurts my feelings so much that I cry.

What should I do? Should I wait and see if he will fall in love with me?

PUZZLED GIRL

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: You should sign yourself SILLY GIRL, for nothing shows a greater lack of just plain ordinary common sense than the way you are letting this dog-in-the-manger treat you. Can't you brace up and have a little pride and dignity, instead of letting him make a doormat of you and kick you around? For he tells you plainly enough that he doesn't love you and yet he is not willing for any other man to have you.

Of course, your age is your only excuse. You are too young to really know what you want in a husband. You don't even seem to want a gentleman. But I warn you that you are wrecking your life by the way you are acting. No man wants the girl who throws herself at his head.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My question is: How and where can a young man meet a young lady who will behave like one?

VITO

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: Oh, there are plenty of places where you can meet young ladies—churches, clubs, in the homes of people who entertain. But don't look for them in bars. Perhaps you have been looking in the wrong places.

Crosby Expects To Resume Recording Soon

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15 (AP). — The United States' top record star, Bing Crosby, expects to resume singing for wax this week.

The groaner tells me he will probably be recording again in a few days although the deal awaits the go-ahead signal from the East. It would be the first disc he has made since the Petrillo ban went into effect January 1.

Bing plans to be through with "Top o' the Morning" before Christmas.

Hope Hunt

Bob Hope says he is looking for a place in his picture for Bing's usual guest appearance. It is a shipboard film and Bob says "Maybe we can find a small trunk somewhere." Bob is mulling "My Favorite Redhead" or "A Date with the Duchess" to replace the "Easy Does It" title. He wants to inject some romance in the film's handle.

Vancouver born Yvonne Decarlo is hepped up about entertaining troops in Germany next summer. "They have been forgotten," she says on the "Calamity Jane and Sam Bass" set. "Entertainment has fallen off to nothing."

Noisy Note

Latest Hollywood story is about a radio gag writer who had an idyllic home in the San Fernando Valley — until his next-door neighbor put in a turkey farm. Maddened by the racket, the gagman put up a sign in front of his house which read "Lion Farm." Every time he leaves the house he turns on a loud speaker that blasts a record of lion roars toward the neighbor's house.

Dalton Heads Delegation

LONDON, Nov. 15 — (AP)— Hugh Dalton will head Britain's delegation on the new five-power committee which will meet Nov. 20 to study ways to strengthen Western European unity, an informed source said Sunday. Dalton's appointment is expected to bring a barrage of criticism from Winston Churchill and other Conservative leaders. Prime Minister Attlee was attacked by Churchill Sunday after he disclosed he had refused to name some Conservative and Liberal party members to the delegation.

Fly Out Missionaries

NANKING, Nov. 15 — (AP)— Twenty-five Roman Catholic missionaries were flown here Sunday from Communist-encircled Suchow. In response to an appeal by Bishop Philippe Cote, an American embassy plane and another from the Central Air Transport Company flew to Suchow to remove the entire missionary group. Upon arriving they learned 21 others already had boarded a plane for Shanghai.

Double-Edged Policy

DAMASCUS, Syria, Nov. 15. — (AP)—Competent observers said Sunday Russia appears to be carrying out a double-edged policy designed to keep the fires of war burning briskly in Palestine. The Soviet Union accomplishes this, these sources said, by supplying arms to the Jews through Czechoslovakia on the one hand and inciting Arab Communist parties against Israel on the other.

Clerk To Resign

HALIFAX, Nov. 15.—(CP). — Dr. Arthur Beachesne, clerk of the Canadian House of Commons, announced his retirement here Saturday after arriving from Liverpool on the liner Britannic. Dr. Beauchesne, who had attended the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference in London, said he would retire next Jan. 7, on the 35th anniversary of his entry into the Commons.

Engine Takes Fire

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(CP). —A Montreal-bound British Overseas Airway Corporation plane returned to London airport Sunday night when its inner starboard engine caught fire after the transport had taken off. BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SEVERAL WAYS TO DO IT

THERE ARE several different ways to play certain combinations of cards, in either a trump suit or a side suit. The method to be chosen depends on a variety of factors. One is of course the number of tricks, if any, that you can afford to lose in the suit. Another is the matter of entries and re-entries into your own hand or the dummy. And a third is the probable holding of one defender or the other, as indicated by the bidding and play that has preceded your operations on the suit.

	♠ Q 5 4 ♥ Q 9 6 2 ♦ A K 7 5 3 ♣ 10
♠ A K 10 9 ♥ J 4 ♦ 10 8 6 ♣ K 9 7 5	N W E S	♠ 8 7 6 ♥ A 8 ♦ J 9 2 ♣ Q J 4 3 2
	♠ J 3 2 ♥ K 10 7 5 3 ♦ Q 4 ♣ A 8 6

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥

Making that contract involves just one problem—how to play the trump suit. West peeled off two spade tricks and put South in the dummy with the spade 10 to the Q. Now the sole job to be done by South was limit his loss in hearts to a single trick. If he happened to lose two, he would be down.

There were plenty of different ways for South to operate on the suit, and of them all he selected what was probably the best way to lose two tricks. He led the heart 2 from the dummy, and after East played the 8, put in the 10, which lost to the J. Now the A was certain to take the setting trick.

South's explanation of that way of playing the suit emphasized the fact that West had made a bid and therefore was more likely to hold the A than East, who, however, could well hold the J. Furthermore, he said, the A might be a singleton since West had shown length in spades with his bid.

He did not stop to consider that West had disclosed enough high card strength for his bid with the two spade tops and the possible holding of the club K. Nor did he realize that, with spade length shown as only four, West might well have two of the heart suit, so that there was a good chance East had the same. If he decided to count West for the A, his right play was to enter his own hand and lead a small spade; if the A was not used, come in with the Q; if it was played, game would be sure.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ None ♥ 10 9 4 2 ♦ K Q 10 ♣ K Q 10 9 7 4
♠ A 10 9 6 5 4 3 ♥ A Q ♦ 8 4 3 ♣ 5	N W E S	♠ None ♥ J 7 3 ♦ A J 8 7 5 2 ♣ J 8 3 2
	♠ K Q J 8 7 2 ♥ K 8 6 5 ♦ 9 ♣ A 6

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West bids 1-Spade, North 2-Clubs, East passes and South 1-No Trump, what are his rights in correcting the insufficient bid?
